Plea for Collegiate Perspective

ED. NOTE: The line presented in the following editorial was raised by Freshman David All-isson in a letter-to-the-editor.

"Pride goeth before a fall." So we are taught throughout our early lives. So are we taught that pride is the sin of the heart, of the heart of others. This is the negative pride. But there is also a positive pride—one which gives a person his sense of self-worth and the desire to do his best. To reflect upon in its meaning at Marian.

Personal pride in oneself is a virtue in the sense that we strive for perfection in ourselves both physically and spiritually. It should be apparent in our attitudes about all our surroundings. Yet in some elements of our student body, pride seems to be overlooked. In some circles a general apathy toward the school is evident. A complaint is heard that some factions of Marian are not "collegiate," that some students feel that this is "Marian High." But why?

Is this the truth or is it the catch phrase of the bridge majors and pinochle minors?

We feel that it is not the negative pride but the lack of positive pride. Marian students have dropped the pride of classroom study and the pride of sharp pencils. Bridge games come and go, but Marian is here indefinitely.

College Presents "Crucible," Colonial American Drama

The May Crowning, annually presented and sponsored by the Sodality, will be held the first Thursday in May at 10:30 a.m., in the lawn in front of the Administration Building. Crowning the statue of the Blessed Virgin this May will be Pat Mowry, perfect of the Sodality. Chosen as attendants in the order are Judy Karch, Judy Hamlin, Edene Mueller, and Beth Sutliff.

During the accompanying formal academic procession the order will be recited and hymns sung. Following the public enrollment of consecration to Our Lady, faculty and students will proceed into the chapel for Benediction.

Tertiaries Study Lay Apostolate

St. Francis College in Joliet, Ill., was the site of the inter-collegiate "Third Order Convention." (April 16.) Supporting the theme, "The Lay Apostolate," were a series of papers and discussions. "Necessity of Catho­lic Leadership," was read by Marian sophomore, Ann Winkler, and writ­ten by Julianne Simmons and Carla Spretz; also Marian students.

The convention closed with a Communion breakfast, Sunday noon, at which resolutions were made. Copies of these were sent to all the schools. Among the convention, Miss Winkler and Virginia Halter met with representatives of schools in Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Iowa, and Kansas.

on the four proposed amendments to the Student Association Constitution. The proposed amendments to the Constitution may be found on notices which have been circulated throughout the school.

The remaining officers of the Student Board will be selected during May. Additionally, a number of club officers will be chosen.

Orchid Mist Creates Mood for Prom, May 12

As the week of the Sodality Prefect is the last day of the month, the student body will be the school. It is a spirit week, so the students will be encouraged to wear their school colors.

Orchid Mist, this year's theme of the Sodality Prefect, is the name of the prominent flower. "Crucible," Linda Jones, (Mary), Joe Kempf (John Procter), and Pat Palmer (Elizabeth Proctor) discuss the play's incidents.

Science Foils Supremacy Myth

What exactly do you know about the Negro race? Do you know its limitations or its capabilities? Many Negroes do not have such a complete knowledge of themselves but feel it is not their obligation to educate others on the matter. They must realize the problem they are creating by supporting their own blindness. Although they are unaware of it, the idea of white supremacy makes itself known, and one can see the results of it today.

This belief is false, for there is no white race. Scientists have biologically classified variations of the human race as Negroes. Because of the color of their skin, their hair, and their eyes, they belong to a group of mankind known as the Negro race. It is not their obligation to inform others of their origin. However, every individual should be aware of the fact that they belong to a category of mankind.

They are, however, a valuable asset to the world. The Negro race has produced some of the greatest leaders in history. They have contributed to the advancement of science, art, and music. Their contributions have helped to shape the world as we know it today.

Benefits Await Willing Students

"The future leaders of America are produced by the colleges and universities of our land. It is probably true that the diversified academic curricula offered by our colleges help to mold citizens who are prepared for a world where race is not a factor." raspberry, assistant to the president of the University of Notre Dame, recently observed. "Scientists have biologically classified variations of the human race as Negroes. Because of their skin color, their hair, and their eyes, they belong to a group of mankind known as the Negro race. It is not their obligation to inform others of their origin. However, every individual should be aware of the fact that they belong to a category of mankind."

Knights Top Rose Poly out record.

The Knights opened the season at Indiana State, inflicting errors gave State four unearned runs in the first inning, and Marion was never able to come up with a big inning. State went on to score four more runs for an 8-2 win.

The next game against St. Joseph's was played in 40 mph winds, making pitching and fielding almost impossible. Marion led early in the game but dropped a 6-1 decision to Wabash. Bill Turner was hit in the hand by a ray of the bat. The next week later, after braving more bad weather during practice, the netmen up are veterans Tony Benedict and Rich Murphy.

The day's activities begin at 11:30 a.m. with the classes. Free food for all is served in the cafeteria. A parade around the campus follows with entries from clubs and organizations. Throughout the day, everyone joins exhibits from clubs and organizations. Among the outstanding events of the day are the cross country race and the war in the lake. Even the spectators end up participating in this event—en masse.

The day is the cross country race and the egg throwers, and pie-eaters! May 24 is the day for you to prove your talents. Field Day, sponsored by the Student Body, with the assistance of the W.A.R.A. and the "M" Club, is the annual, fun-filled event highly anticipated by Marion's student body "en masse."
