Christian Home Life Is Today's Salvation

Lack of home life is wrecking the nation. In today's busy world, man is constantly rushing without any destination in mind. His day is an eternal schedule. No longer is home considered the center of family activity, for in many homes family life barely exists. Each member of the family automatically accepts the idea of seeking recreation outside the confines of his own family.

No wonder, then, no one thinks it unusual that the home is merely a resting point in modern man's schedule, and the family is a social unit with positions in harmony only when a great crisis arises.

The cause for such an outlook is not complicated. When man began to forget one of the foundations of the family—Christianity—he also began to lose the importance of the family itself.

Nowhere else is the need for unity and love as desperate as in the Christian family. Religion must be drawn into the home life so intricately that it becomes not only a part of his life, but rather the essence of it. In this way only will the family return from the small role it now plays into the dominant part it should hold.

Bringing Christianity into the home requires little actual work, only a spark of willingness, cooperation, and perseverance.

Although each member may at first feel as if he is sacrificing some of his "pleasures," when he once realizes how much more enjoyment family activities can bring to him, he will assume another attitude.

The establishment of this attitude does not mean that other activities should be neglected. Liturgical feasts could be celebrated in the home and the Christian appreciation of Church occasions.

Installing Christianity into home life is the tie which will bind individuals together.

Among Our Students

Lebanese Freshman Majors in Business; Junior Plans to Enter Teaching Field

"I like everything about the United States! high standard of living," states Albert Najem, one of Marian's foreign students. Albert, a 23-year-old native of Beirut, Lebanon, came to the United States last December. He is a first semester freshman majoring in business administration.

Albert attended French College of the Sacred Heart in Beirut from the first grade through high school. All the studies are in French although the native language is Arabic. After the seventh grade, higher mathematics, such as algebra and geometry, and physics are required. Albert also took one year of English.

Studying is emphasized more in Beirut than in America, Albert believes. But he feels that subjects themselves are on a higher level here. "This may be due to the fact I don't know too much English. If I did, possibly the subjects would seem on an equal level."

Differences between Lebanon and the United States aren't many.

"The small things which I dislike about the United States, however, are just being put to use in Beirut. Albert was surprised at all the crowded stores. "There are crowded crowds in Beirut, but not many," he stated. And for anyone who dislikes the necessary evils of stop-and-go lights, Lebanon is the place to be. There are no stop-and-go lights or automobile horns."

PLANNING layout are: Becky Yarber, Patricia Quarto, Larry Bowman, Margaret Harmening, Mike Eberly, Deanna Metzner, and Larry Sweeney, members of the Freshman Phoenix Staff.

Students Assist At Daily Mass; See Importance Of Lenten Penance

"Have you noticed that recently the cafeteria line at noon is as long as the lines at 11:00? It is due to the fact that a great number of students have discovered the satisfaction of participation in daily Mass and reception of Holy Communion. This is their Lenten practice.

It isn't an easy thing to do, either. Observe closely and you'll find many of them rushing to limit their afternoon meal in order to be at a 12:30 class. Then, too, when an important meeting occurs, there is no time at all for lunch. Nevertheless, these same students continue to attend Mass faithfully, realizing the importance of the merit of their sacrifice."

Dialogue Mass

Both men and women join the priest and servers in reciting the Latin prayers—a practice which the late Pope Pius XII strongly advocated. First Fridays and important feast days give another example of student participation. On these occasions, conscientious Catholics gather to assist at 1:30 Mass. Basil, St. Mary Canto members, directed by senior Cara Karch, lead the singing through the morning Mass, while Becky Yarber, freshman, plays the organ.

Benediction Attendance

Other students are using the pontifical season of Lent to attend Benediction every Friday afternoon at 12:15. Again, the benefaction is welcomed.

Freshmen 'Turn Out' to Investigate
Honors Program Booked for Fall

Approximately 65 freshmen and sophomores have indicated their interest in the Honors Program to be inaugurated next semester.

The program is designed to supplement regular college work. A tentative study program has been outlined to include such topics as world literature, social science and history, science and math, and theology and philosophy.

Every two weeks the participating students will meet for a two-hour seminar. Successful completion of the program leads to an honors diploma at graduation.

The date for formal application has not yet been announced, but it will be in April. The committee members include: Sister Karen, chairman; Sister Constance, secretary; Miss Mary Malsanto; and Mr. Harold Petipas.

Judy Straub Receives Chemistry Award

Judy Straub, a freshman from New Castle, chemistry major, has been awarded the Certificate of Chemistry and Physics for earning the highest average in the freshman chemistry class.

The certificate is awarded on the basis of their answers in a test compiled by a panel of freshman chemistry instructors.

ACS-SA Enters Menagerie Society in Urban's and Chicago's College of Science and Industry. The society's first meeting of the fall will be held on Oct. 12.

The members will be divided into three sections: Enthusiastics, Junior Enthusiasts, and Engineers.

Amy Lynch and Patricia Stringer, members of the Enthusiasts, will present a paper on the history of the American Chemical Society and an outline of the activities of the society.

The Junior Enthusiasts will discuss the work of the American Chemical Society in the field of education and its role in the development of science. They will also discuss the activities of the society in the field of public relations.

The Engineers will discuss the work of the American Chemical Society in the field of industrial chemistry. They will also discuss the activities of the society in the field of research.

Bel Canto Joins In Choral Fest

The Marian Bel Canto Chorus, directed by Sister M. Vitalis, will participate in the fourth annual Indiana Catholic Choral Fest at St. Mary-of-the-Woods, Terre Haute, March 24.

In addition to the Bel Canto group, the following other Indiana Catholic groups will be participating:

- St. Paul's Men's Choir, Indianapolis
- Men's Choir of St. Joseph's College, Brownwood, Texas
- Collegeville; St. Francis College, Fort Wayne
- St. Mary's College at Notre Dame, South Bend
-院校 laxible

Each group will present a ten-minute performance.

The Bel Canto program will consist of selections from the repertoire of the Bel Canto group. The selection will be announced at a later date.

Southern Home Mission Work Entices Marian Students

Several Plan Participation Throughout Summer Vacation

The Marian College CSMC unit is sponsoring lay catechetical and social work in the southern and western missions this summer. Several Marian girls are taking part in the program, and have their transportation paid for by the CSMC treasury. Free rooms and board will be prided by the mission.

Possible sites chosen for this work include Alabama, Arizona, Louisiana, and North Dakota. Word has been received from the Missions Committee of the Missouri Conference of Catholic Women in St. Louis, Missouri, that they are interested in having Marian girls work in the Missouri Conference of Catholic Women. Word has also been received from the Missions Committee of the Missouri Conference of Catholic Women in Iowa, that they are interested in having Marian girls work in the Iowa Conference of Catholic Women.

Knights Face Complete Spring Schedule; Competition in Golf, Tennis, Baseball

In spring a young man’s fancy tends to the great outdoors. Here at Marian you’ll find it no different. For already the Marian lads have begun to limber up for an extensive round of spring sports. This year the Knights will open competition in three sports: baseball, the granddaddy, being three years old; golf, now in its second year; and the baby of the spring activities, tennis, an addition this year.

Coaching the Knights of the baseball will be Walt Fields; Father Patrick Smith will hold the reins of his Knights of the past links; our tennis newcomers will be guided by Father Albert Albaugh.

Because of the stubborn nature of old man winter, the spring sports’ practices have been confined to the gym. But as spring sports’ practices have been conducted in the gym, let us bet the Knights will be out of old man winter, the springtime, and you can undertake. Clean out the lake drainage and the athletic field will be ready for release this spring. There was little doubt of the success of the swimming team to hopes of being back in competition next year; and don’t forget our new athletic field.

Speaking of that athletic field — in case you haven’t noticed, every time it rains the lake floods the field. Here is a project you, the students, can undertake. Clean out the lake drainage and the athletic field will be ready for a cucumber. And with a nucleus of four returning regulars, it’s not hard to understand. Our sports program will be on the rise at Marian during the next few years. For example, a desire for a track team is in the air; the swimming team has hopes of being back in competition next year; and don’t forget our new athletic field.

Our programs will be on the rise at Marian during the next few years. For example, a desire for a track team is in the air; the swimming team has hopes of being back in competition next year; and don’t forget our new athletic field.

For the second year George Waning led the Knights in scoring honors, bringing home 445 points. Add to this the 388 points George garnered in last year and you come up with 833 points, the most ever scored by a Marian player.

Don’t forget the three spring sports’ titles. You will have plenty of chances to see the spring Knights at home, tennis matches, golf meets, and baseball games.

Let’s BACK THE SPRING KNIGHTS!

We are jubilant about the coming season titles for the best nurses’ basketball team in central Indiana. Yep! St. Vincent’s, our girls, won it by beating Methodist Hospital. Congratulations, girls!

On behalf of the student body I would like to congratulate our cheerleaders for the fine job they did during the season. Well done.

INDIVIDUAL SCORING

Cagers Finish Season With 9-14 Record; Future Looks Bright

Look to the future and you will see only good fortune in store. Marian’s Knights. Proof of this is the just-finished basketball season with its encouraging record of 9 wins and 14 losses. Not really had considering four starting regulars will be returning to the hardwood next season.

A real loss to the M.C. cagers will be the absence of senior center, George Wash, coaching assistant, however, has expressed an optimistic view for the 1950-51 season; and with a nucleus of four returning regulars, it’s not hard to understand.

Jazz Assembly...

As Woody Herman and Sam Kappen, this group made a recording of "Mountain Greenery" two years ago and will have another record ready for release this spring. His group also played at the French Lick Jazz Festival with Four Freshmen, and Duke Ellington.

Local Talent Shares Spotlight

The band includes three men from Indianapolis: Al Kiger, jazz trumpet; Dan Johnson, lead trumpet; and Jack Gilford, drum. Other members of the group include Marvin Chandler, trumpet; Joe Maggio, on tenor; and Buddy Baker, versatile trombonist. The latter, upon his recent discharge from the Air Force, received immediate offers from several symphony orchestras and from the Woody Herman Band.

Two selections to be played at the assembly were "Mountain Greenery" and "Rites of Spring."
