RA's Car Vandalised
by Viviane Seumel

At 1:30 a.m. on October 31, 1998, a car belonging to Clare RA Samantha Baxter, was vandalized while parked in the lot behind St. Francis. Samantha Baxter reported the incident to campus police on the same day at 2:35 p.m., according to the Marian police report.

The side rear view mirror was hanging out of the mirror mount, the passenger side tail light was broken in three places, and the "front bumper had sustained a blow with something sharp enough to cut the bumper and paint and leave a dent," according to the report.

"We believe that Miss Baxter's car was vandalized because she is an RA. A while before the accident she had written up some students for visitation and alcohol policy violations. Three male students later admitted to having vandalized her car. One of them was among the people written up by Miss Baxter earlier," Jim Leke, Director of Campus Safety and Police Services, said.

"I have been really fearful for my life and my safety because I think this was done against me as an RA deliberately. The question remains in my mind what happens next time I bust someone," Baxter said.

Samantha Baxter has decided not to press charges against the students who vandalized her car. However, they will have to appear before Marian's judicial panel on Tuesday, November 17.

"The charges brought against the three students are destruction of property and hazing. The maximum penalty listed in the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities is dismissal or any lesser authorized sanction," Roland Rydstrom, Assistant Dean for Campus Life, said. "We believe that if Miss Baxter had not been an RA, this would most likely not have happened to her."

In past years there have been no complaints by RA's concerning similar actions taken against them. "Nothing major has ever happened to me because of being an RA. Stuff posted on my door gets torn down and people generally look at me as an enemy rather than as just another guy on the wing," St. Francis RA Brian DeRouen said.

"We have not had many vandalism problems here at Marian lately. Occasionally someone will run off the road onto the grass in the car, but nothing really major," he said.

The last time a car was broken into was last January," Officer David Hayes said.

Protest at School of Americas
by Norman Minnick and Staff

A contingent from Marian College is planning a trip to The School of the Americas in Fort Benning, Georgia to protest what critics claim is a military combat school specializing in counterinsurgency techniques. According to protest coordinator Michael Wallace, "The instructors are U.S. Military personnel and the students are foreign military officers sent by Latin American countries. The original goal of the school was to halt the spread of communism from Cuba to Central and South America and to contribute to the development of democracy. However, the school continues to operate in spite of the fact that Latin American countries are no longer facing external threats."

On November 22, 1998, demonstrators from the United States and Latin America will gather at Ft. Benning's main gate to protest for the closing of the School of the Americas. Wallace said that the date commemorates the murders of 6 priests in El Salvador who are said to have been murdered by graduates from the school. Wallace added, "One thousand people will 'cross the line' on to the property of the fort in an act of civil disobedience, as part of a solemn funeral procession to commemorate SOA victims and call for the closing of the school."

According to Wallace, "In 1997, 601 people 'crossed the line' into Ft. Benning and all 601 were arrested, processed at the Army base, and released by 8 p.m. the Protest Continued on page 4

Students Avoid Weekend Activities: Part II
by Christian Mehall

Marian has a diverse student body which makes it difficult to plan student activities that will please everyone. Surveys are taken annually by the Office of Student Activities and by MCSA to determine what students have to say about past and future activities. The one-person Campus Events Committee and Sandra Hester, Director of Student Activities, consider the information form the surveys to find ways of using the $18000 activities budget to the satisfaction of the majority. While students complain that they don't know what is going on at Marian.

What do other colleges do to entertain their students and how are their turnouts? The University of St. Francis, in Fort Wayne, has 1700 students; 300 live on campus. Unlike Marian, a $40 activities fee goes to the Student Activities Council, a group of paid students separate from the student government.

Chris Ford, Director of Student Activities said, "We do a lot like (Marian). We also buy tickets for the semi-pro baseball games, as well as hockey and basketball games and then have St. Francis night at the park." Lazerstag is also a popular activity with St. Francis students, and they rent

Weekends Continued on page 4

RA's Car Vandalised
by Viviane Seumel

At 1:30 a.m. on October 31, 1998, a car belonging to Clare RA Samantha Baxter, was vandalized while parked in the lot behind St. Francis. Samantha Baxter reported the incident to campus police on the same day at 2:35 p.m., according to the Marian police report.

The side rear view mirror was hanging out of the mirror mount, the passenger side tail light was broken in three places, and the "front bumper had sustained a blow with something sharp enough to cut the bumper and paint and leave a dent," according to the report.

"We believe that Miss Baxter's car was vandalized because she is an RA. A while before the accident she had written up some students for visitation and alcohol policy violations. Three male students later admitted to having vandalized her car. One of them was among the people written up by Miss Baxter earlier," Jim Leke, Director of Campus Safety and Police Services, said.

"I have been really fearful for my life and my safety because I think this was done against me as an RA deliberately. The question remains in my mind what happens next time I bust someone," Baxter said.

Samantha Baxter has decided not to press charges against the students who vandalized her car. However, they will have to appear before Marian's judicial panel on Tuesday, November 17.

"The charges brought against the three students are destruction of property and hazing. The maximum penalty listed in the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities is dismissal or any lesser authorized sanction," Roland Rydstrom, Assistant Dean for Campus Life, said. "We believe that if Miss Baxter had not been an RA, this would most likely not have happened to her."

In past years there have been no complaints by RA's concerning similar actions taken against them. "Nothing major has ever happened to me because of being an RA. Stuff posted on my door gets torn down and people generally look at me as an enemy rather than as just another guy on the wing," St. Francis RA Brian DeRouen said.

"We have not had many vandalism problems here at Marian lately. Occasionally someone will run off the road onto the grass in the car, but nothing really major," he said.

The last time a car was broken into was last January," Officer David Hayes said.

Protest at School of Americas
by Norman Minnick and Staff

A contingent from Marian College is planning a trip to The School of the Americas in Fort Benning, Georgia to protest what critics claim is a military combat school specializing in counterinsurgency techniques. According to protest coordinator Michael Wallace, "The instructors are U.S. Military personnel and the students are foreign military officers sent by Latin American countries. The original goal of the school was to halt the spread of communism from Cuba to Central and South America and to contribute to the development of democracy. However, the school continues to operate in spite of the fact that Latin American countries are no longer facing external threats."

On November 22, 1998, demonstrators from the United States and Latin America will gather at Ft. Benning's main gate to protest for the closing of the School of the Americas. Wallace said that the date commemorates the murders of 6 priests in El Salvador who are said to have been murdered by graduates from the school. Wallace added, "One thousand people will 'cross the line' on to the property of the fort in an act of civil disobedience, as part of a solemn funeral procession to commemorate SOA victims and call for the closing of the school."

According to Wallace, "In 1997, 601 people 'crossed the line' into Ft. Benning and all 601 were arrested, processed at the Army base, and released by 8 p.m. the Protest Continued on page 4

Students Avoid Weekend Activities: Part II
by Christian Mehall

Marian has a diverse student body which makes it difficult to plan student activities that will please everyone. Surveys are taken annually by the Office of Student Activities and by MCSA to determine what students have to say about past and future activities. The one-person Campus Events Committee and Sandra Hester, Director of Student Activities, consider the information from the surveys to find ways of using the $18000 activities budget to the satisfaction of the majority. While students complain that they don't know what is going on at Marian.

What do other colleges do to entertain their students and how are their turnouts? The University of St. Francis, in Fort Wayne, has 1700 students; 300 live on campus. Unlike Marian, a $40 activities fee goes to the Student Activities Council, a group of paid students separate from the student government.

Chris Ford, Director of Student Activities said, "We do a lot like (Marian). We also buy tickets for the semi-pro baseball games, as well as hockey and basketball games and then have St. Francis night at the park." Lazerstag is also a popular activity with St. Francis students, and they rent
President Thanks Students

In our wrap-up evaluation of the October 6 "Opportunities for Excellence" Dinner Auction, the Steering Committee noted how extremely well regarded were the approximately one hundred student volunteers who helped make this event such a success. One behalf of all those who managed Marian's major scholarship fund-raiser: thank you, students; you not only functioned very effectively in handling a wide variety of tasks, but you visibly demonstrated to our nearly six hundred guests why this annual occasion is hosted in the first place.

by Daniel A. Felicetti, President

Unimpressed by CTN

After previewing the material sent to the college concerning CTN, I was not terribly excited. The quality of the video was poor and I am unsure what the focus was to have been. The only consistent emphasis I saw was "Over 400 colleges already have CTN, including colleges in your area."

Is the fact that some colleges have this system a reason for Marian to get it? I made a point to talk with ten students concerning CTN. Some know nothing except what they read in the Carbon (and Norm Minnick's reaction). A few have no opinion, and a few think it is a bad idea. Of the ten, no one "jumped for joy" at the prospect of CTN on campus.

We have Cu-Com and MC-18, and I have been told a number of times, "No one pays any attention to them, Sister." We have television in the cafeteria and a rolling marquee and I have watched people at breakfast and dinner primarily and no one gives them more than a glance.

All students have cable in their rooms, so they have access to music videos on 24, 31 or 32, and 41. News can be found on 9, 12, 26, 14 (Chicago), 38 (CNN), business news on Bloomberg, plus sports news all over the place. Bulletin board topics are limited, but most are on the internet. Commercials seem to be all that is left to them!

Just for a moment, look past the surface of the concrete jungle, the traffic congestion, the violence, the smells, and the noise. Have you sat on the banks of the White River behind the Art Museum and just listened for the noises of nature? Have you visited Crown Hill Cemetery and viewed the city from James Whitcomb Riley's grave site? Have you taken a nature walk or observed the stars at night from a location high above the city? Have you visited the Whitcomb Riley's grave site? Have you taken a nature walk or observed the stars at night from a location high above the city?

Educating Jerrod

I read the Nov. 9 column Concrete Jungle by Jerrod Watson with great interest and amusement. It took me on a nostalgic trip back to the mid-sixties and my first encounter with living in the big city. That city just happened to be Indianapolis and I was working in a summer internship program at Methodist Hospital on the corner of 16th and capital avenue. Downtown! One recording on the top 40 that summer was "Hot Time, Summer in the City." If you know the lyrics, it was very appropriate. But that is not my point.

I was (am) a country girl from Southern Indiana. I could identify with all of the issues that were discussed in the article, well, with the exception of peeping in the yard. It is a little more difficult for a country girl, you know. And when I moved to Indianapolis that summer, I experienced the same fears and was amazed at the things I observed. Funny thing, I always thought that I would move back to the country, but now I can say with a great deal of satisfaction that I have lived in Indianapolis for 28 years. And I feel fortunate that I had the country experience and also that I could enrich my life by the ways of the city.

Just for a moment, look past the surface of the concrete jungle, the traffic congestion, the violence, the smells, and the noise. Have you sat on the banks of the White River behind the Art Museum and just listened for the noises of nature? Have you visited Crown Hill Cemetery and viewed the city from James Whitcomb Riley's grave site? Have you taken a nature walk or observed the stars at night from a location high above the city?

I used to refer to Southern Indiana as God's country. But I also found God's country in Indy, Colorado, Montana, Kentucky, Chicago and a host of other places. Here in Indy I found theater, art, architecture, literature, and music produced by humans with wonderful God-given talents. I found a wealth of history in Indy which helps to explain my existence. I have found the diversity in human beings that was lacking in my home town and have been enriched by their cultures. I have a multitude of options. I love reading the Arts and Entertainment Section of the Sunday paper to see what I can find to stretch myself a bit more.

--Connie Werner
Assistant Dean, Academic Affairs
ANTZ Has a Moral, whatever that means...

by Rachel Wiertz

Due to the trials and stresses of balancing parenthood with studenthood, I hadn't had the chance to take my three kids to see a movie since Fairy Tale: A True Story. The "true story" part had practically put them to sleep in less time than it had taken me to consume a small popcorn.

Perhaps I was feeling the pressure of the "super mom" commercials. Maybe I just got tired of hearing my children whine for my attention as I sweated it out behind my computer trying to earn a college degree so that I may someday better their lives. Regardless, I decided to take them to see Spielberg's latest experiment, ANTZ, and I finally convinced my undeserving angels that the posters for Ruggrats: The Movie was only an advertisement for its release in November, and that I had already bought tickets for ANTZ. I ushered three disappointed figures through the dark to the fifth row from the front, dead center, armed with enough movie munchies to dry up their lingering tears.

An ant named "Z" with the voice of Woody Allen innocently graced the screen after the characters from Sesame Street sang for about an hour insisting that we "don't forget to watch the movie." For those of you who haven't been to see your children's movie, these instructions from puppets before hand are necessary because children often do "forget to watch the movie." Z tells his shrink that he

The "true story" part had My kids took a vote and con­

AMERICA'S FAVORITE Sony Pictures

DANCE CARDS ARE EMPTY

The Carbon

November 16, 1998

EARN SOME EXTRA MONEY

Sitter needed for 7 year old boy.

$5 per hour after school for a few hours.

Also evening and weekends. Own transportation a plus.

Flexibility a plus.

726-0137 Leave a message.

Fox

College

Angela's Ashes

by Angela Hatem

The tension is so thick you could cut it with a switchblade.

Dance cards are empty and the Fall Formal is upon us. You can tell from the whispers, complaints and squeals of delight that this dance hangs over the campus like an ax; a few will be chosen while a good many will be driftedown. The female to male ratio, six girls for every guy, morphs formal dances from a time of celebration to an experiment in science's theory of specialization.

Amidst all of the deep

earn a college degree so that I may throughout and the in- your-face

co see Spielberg's latest experiment, the opportunistic presence of a gi­

ures through the dark to the fifth row from the front, dead center, armed with enough enough movie munchies to dry up their lingering tears.

An ant named "Z" with the voice of Woody Allen innocently graced the screen after the characters from Sesame Street sang for about an hour insisting that we "don't forget to watch the movie." For those of you who haven't been to see your children's movie, these instructions from puppets before hand are necessary because children often do "forget to watch the movie." Z tells his shrink that he

The "true story" part had My kids took a vote and con­

AMERICA'S FAVORITE Sony Pictures

DANCE CARDS ARE EMPTY

The Carbon

November 16, 1998

EARN SOME EXTRA MONEY

Sitter needed for 7 year old boy.

$5 per hour after school for a few hours.

Also evening and weekends. Own transportation a plus.

Flexibility a plus.

726-0137 Leave a message.

Fox

College

Angela's Ashes

by Angela Hatem

The tension is so thick you could cut it with a switchblade.

Dance cards are empty and the Fall Formal is upon us. You can tell from the whispers, complaints and squeals of delight that this dance hangs over the campus like an ax; a few will be chosen while a good many will be driftedown. The female to male ratio, six girls for every guy, morphs formal dances from a time of celebration to an experiment in science's theory of specialization.

Amidst all of the deep

earn a college degree so that I may throughout and the in- your-face

co see Spielberg's latest experiment, the opportunistic presence of a gi­

ures through the dark to the fifth row from the front, dead center, armed with enough enough movie munchies to dry up their lingering tears.

An ant named "Z" with the voice of Woody Allen innocently graced the screen after the characters from Sesame Street sang for about an hour insisting that we "don't forget to watch the movie." For those of you who haven't been to see your children's movie, these instructions from puppets before hand are necessary because children often do "forget to watch the movie." Z tells his shrink that he

The "true story" part had My kids took a vote and con­

AMERICA'S FAVORITE Sony Pictures

DANCE CARDS ARE EMPTY

The Carbon

November 16, 1998

EARN SOME EXTRA MONEY

Sitter needed for 7 year old boy.

$5 per hour after school for a few hours.

Also evening and weekends. Own transportation a plus.

Flexibility a plus.

726-0137 Leave a message.

Fox

College

Angela's Ashes

by Angela Hatem

The tension is so thick you could cut it with a switchblade.

Dance cards are empty and the Fall Formal is upon us. You can tell from the whispers, complaints and squeals of delight that this dance hangs over the campus like an ax; a few will be chosen while a good many will be driftedown. The female to male ratio, six girls for every guy, morphs formal dances from a time of celebration to an experiment in science's theory of specialization.

Amidst all of the deep

earn a college degree so that I may throughout and the in- your-face

co see Spielberg's latest experiment, the opportunistic presence of a gi­

ures through the dark to the fifth row from the front, dead center, armed with enough enough movie munchies to dry up their lingering tears.

An ant named "Z" with the voice of Woody Allen innocently graced the screen after the characters from Sesame Street sang for about an hour insisting that we "don't forget to watch the movie." For those of you who haven't been to see your children's movie, these instructions from puppets before hand are necessary because children often do "forget to watch the movie." Z tells his shrink that he

The "true story" part had My kids took a vote and con­

AMERICA'S FAVORITE Sony Pictures

DANCE CARDS ARE EMPTY

The Carbon

November 16, 1998

EARN SOME EXTRA MONEY

Sitter needed for 7 year old boy.

$5 per hour after school for a few hours.

Also evening and weekends. Own transportation a plus.

Flexibility a plus.

726-0137 Leave a message.

Fox

College

Angela's Ashes

by Angela Hatem

The tension is so thick you could cut it with a switchblade.

Dance cards are empty and the Fall Formal is upon us. You can tell from the whispers, complaints and squeals of delight that this dance hangs over the campus like an ax; a few will be chosen while a good many will be driftedown. The female to male ratio, six girls for every guy, morphs formal dances from a time of celebration to an experiment in science's theory of specialization.

Amidst all of the deep

earn a college degree so that I may throughout and the in- your-face

co see Spielberg's latest experiment, the opportunistic presence of a gi­

ures through the dark to the fifth row from the front, dead center, armed with enough enough movie munchies to dry up their lingering tears.

An ant named "Z" with the voice of Woody Allen innocently graced the screen after the characters from Sesame Street sang for about an hour insisting that we "don't forget to watch the movie." For those of you who haven't been to see your children's movie, these instructions from puppets before hand are necessary because children often do "forget to watch the movie." Z tells his shrink that he

The "true story" part had My kids took a vote and con­

AMERICA'S FAVORITE Sony Pictures

DANCE CARDS ARE EMPTY

The Carbon

November 16, 1998

EARN SOME EXTRA MONEY

Sitter needed for 7 year old boy.

$5 per hour after school for a few hours.

Also evening and weekends. Own transportation a plus.

Flexibility a plus.

726-0137 Leave a message.
Sports Highlights by Jerrod Watson

Volleyball

Marian's volleyball team, led by first year coach Dan Findley, has a record of 19-10. They have by error had them in third place in the Mid-Central Conference standings. Marian is also currently ranked eighth in the Great Lakes Region pole. The conference ranked eighth in the Great Lakes tournament where the Knights began on November 12.

The team was led in scoring by freshman Matt East. The Knights are a very young squad and look to be a very good team in years to come.

Cross Country

Marian's men's and women's cross-country teams recently completed their respective seasons. The Knights competed in the Mid-Central Conference championships hosted by Marian College. Both teams struggled, but there were some good individual performances.

Junior Jackie Sides leads Marian in assists with an average of 10.8 per game. The Knights are having a solid season and coach Findley expects his squad to perform well in the tournament.

Weekends Continued from page 1

two very large, very nice facilities" Ford said.

"We try to make sure we cover different age groups," Ford said. St. Francis makes trips to the Children's Museum in Indianapolis to cater to adults who have children. For students who live off campus, "We like to give them something to want to stay on campus. We give away a lot of things: t-shirts, cash. Our budget allows us to do that. Kids do anything for t-shirts and cash," Ford said.

Huntington College is 30 miles from Fort Wayne and has 900 students; 541 live on campus. A $20,000 budget for a group of paid student activities coordinators funds film programming, concerts, coffee houses, and a variety of major events and sports broadcasts on their 12ft by 12ft TV at the campus restaurant, Norm's Place. They also do square dances, roller skating, late night bowling, and mud volleyball. Associate Dean for Student Development, Ron Coffey, also said the college rents out movie theaters and has a Huntington night at the movies.

Manchester College is 45 minutes. from Fort Wayne, and has 1000 students, 785 live on campus. Paid student Manchester Activities Council has $20,000 for weekly movies and dances, but they are trying to broaden horizons with magicians, bands, and comedians.

"We started a shuttle program that goes off campus for shopping once a month to Fort Wayne and Wabash," Student Activities Director Anne Lester said. Although a new program, MAC also makes trips to museums in Indy and Fort Wayne. MAC also sold tickets and shuttled students to the USA vs Japan volleyball match in Fort Wayne.

Publicity methods and most activities at Marian are nearly identical to other schools yet, they don't have a problem with turnouts or students not knowing about the activity. These schools come to Indy for activities while Marian students complain about nothing to do and go home. Other schools don't serve alcohol and their turnouts are extremely high. The only way to get activities that you want is to tell the Student Activities planners what it is.

"We could plan from Friday till Sunday, and there would still be people who say there is nothing to do just because they don't want to do what is offered," Lester said.

Bake Sale & Salvadoran Jewelry Sale

November 16-20

Marian Hall Auditorium during lunch hours profits will go to help the victims of the hurricanes in Central America

Lazarus: We've Got It! A Great Career For You.

LAZARUS

We've got great opportunities for you. You can earn a living while you go to school. We will train you on the job. You can work part-time or full-time. You can work where you want. You can work at Lazarus. For more information call us at 219-874-5678.

Give us some of your FREE TIME and receive some GREAT BENEFITS!

At Lazarus, if you give us some of your free time this holiday season, you could receive some great benefits. Not only will you be working in a pleasant work environment, you will be receiving a competitive salary, flexible scheduling, and a generous merchandise discount that can help you with your holiday shopping this year.

ON THE SPOT INTERVIEWS FROM 10AM - 4PM ON FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 27TH AND SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 28TH AT THE INDIANAPOLIS AREA LOCATIONS.

JOBLINE

Call the jobline of the location nearest you and start receiving the employment benefits you deserve!

Carleton Square 579-4212 Washington Square 899-6211
LaFayette Square 298-2012 Greenwood Park Mall 882-6212
Glenlake Center 254-2411

Please apply at the Human Resource Office at the Lazarus most convenient for you. Store hours: Mon.-Sat. 10am-9pm and Sun. 11am-6pm.

EOE M/F/D/V

Got an opinion? carbon@marian.edu

November 16, 1998

The Carbon

4

The Carbon

The Carbon