Long Live Rock & Roll

Artwork by David Harrison

The Applauds and Hisses were cut from the Carbon because they were not encouraging students to write quality articles and also because they became quite disgusting at times. I think that editorials are a good replacement yet the authors above did not follow some of the most basic rules of editorial-writing: their articles rang more of the crude tone of Hisses.

J. Stuart Innerest, author of "How to Write a Letter to the Editor," (contained in David V. Edwards' The American Political Experience) states that violent language should be avoided. Ap. A. Thetic used the word hell while Enterprising Businessman used the term "pissed off." If there is a place for vulgarity it is not in a newspaper editorial. Vulgarity never persuades the reader to accept your point of view.

An editorial should also contain the truth. If it is the truth that persons over 6'4" wearing canvas shoes year round inhabit sleazy bars that it infers that Big Rock Candy Mountain gained this truth from witnessing. Mudslinging may be regarded by some as a form of catharsis but it served no useful purpose in the afore-mentioned articles. Burl Ives could in keeping with the aims of an editorial offer some constructive alternative to the existing problem rather than just let slung mud lie.

One word that is abused around campus is apathy. It appears that is always talked about but no action is taken. Academics are the primary concern of the majority of students at Marian. I see no reason, however, why there can't be a happy medium between academics and all extracurricular activities including drama productions, art exhibits and athletic events.

Last of all an important rule of writing is to sign your name. My belief is that if you take a stand or have an opinion about something you will admit that it is your viewpoint and will not cower behind an alias.

P.S. Has kindness and friendship left Marian and been replaced by apathy and complaint?

KNOTHLY NEWS

The Knights' record has dropped to 15-10 after a heartbreaking defeat by Franklin Wednesday night 52-51. Leading scorers for the Knights were Ron Brothers and Brian Feldman with 10 each. The Knights will play their last home game of the regular season tomorrow against Indiana Tech. The Knights owe Tech some misery after getting some one-sided calls up their earlier in the season. The Knights' last regular season game will be one week from Sunday against IUPUI at Market Square Arena. Thanks to everyone who came to the game last Wednesday and special thanks to Ritter's band. See you at the games.

Hot News Flash

President Ronald Reagan has ruled that all female employees who work at the White House should wear skirts. He does not like to see them in their pants or jeans. Also he had requested that the xylophone cups be replaced by pure china. President Reagan also asked all who worked under him not to call him Roney but Mr. Reagan.

THANK YOU MARIAN

Once again Marian has helped its neighbors through the semi-annual blood drive. Thanks to all the others who helped make the blood drive a success but special thanks to those who donated on such short notice. This time 45 pints were donated; this amount is still greater than it has been in previous years.
SHALLOW MINDED

I believe it's time to open the door to the real world for a few people who seem to be standing behind a locked door. I really don't think the term "Neanderthal" is appropriate or acceptable in describing a basketball player. The amount of time and effort involved in developing a complete athlete is overwhelming. The ability to play basketball can lead to a career of being a professional basketball player. This is where I open the door to you. If you are not aware of this next point, which I'm sure you are not, you may enjoy yourself. The amount of time and effort involved in developing a complete basketball player surpasses the amount of money earned by the President of the U.S. by a considerable amount. This being the fact it is, where does "Neanderthals" capitalizing on all this wealth? Maybe if you were to watch a basketball game once or twice you might enjoy yourself, and then again you may not, I really don't care. But I do believe it is time to unbury your head from the two book cover ends and see the light, you have been in the dark too long.

RETURNING TO COLLEGE AFTER A FEW YEARS?

SPECIAL THANKS

To all the students who spent their time and effort making the posters and supporting the basketball team and to all the students who showed up at the game to cheer us on, we want to thank all of you.

OPINION

I would like to comment on the interesting issue of the Carbon which was published on February 6. It seems as though the former "gossip and slander" machine has become a useful vehicle for the expression of intellectual viewpoints and campus communication. I have a second comment regarding the Back and forth argument about "lumbering Neanderthals" and "apathetic fans." It is often easy for us to get so caught up in our own world that we forget to respect the dedication and hard work involved in other people's pursuits. Marian College does have a group of talented athletes (men and women). But, it also has those who are talented scholars, talented musicians and actors, and talented student leaders. Granted, each student must be allowed to pursue his own interests and work toward his personal goals from athletics to zoology to creative jock watching. But, pride in ourselves and the institution with which we are affiliated should warrant respect and support of other students in attaining their goals. As Marian students, it might be well for us to accept the betterment of the quality of education as a common goal for jocks and pencilheads alike. Each of us has his own talents to contribute and utilizing each of these talents is essential for our personal well-being and the welfare of the school —— even if our only talent manifests itself in the form of yelling, screaming and jumping around at a basketball game.

THANKS

I would like to express my appreciation to the Marian College Community for the great fan support at the Franklin game. It was a fun night except for the final score because of the basketball atmosphere you created. My special thanks to all of the people that put in a lot of time and effort in decorating the cafeteria and arranging for the Ritter band to play. Don't forget Saturday at 7:30 we play Indiana Tech. His will be very instrumental in Marian to secure a spot in the District Play-Offs. Please come and create the same type of atmosphere again. The basketball team certainly appreciates your backing.

3000 REMS

Ronny's got the button
Let's get down on our knees
Pray to God that he don't use it
Lord hear us, won't you please
Nowadays I'm not so sure
If we'll live till six o'clock
Cuz what we saw in '45
Is more than future shock

3000 rem's could take a mean toll
3000 rem's could mean a black hole
And we won't have to worry
About the bomb no more

Ronny says let's get tough
Go back to '45
Radiation, neutron love
Cuz God is on our side
Wake up in the morning
The flesh falls off your arm
All at once you realize
Mankind has bought the farm

3000 rem's has taken its toll
3000 rem's has taken control
3000 rem's

DO US A FAVOR . . .

A few weeks ago a notice was put in the Carbon concerning beer cans found after the showing of "Breaking Away." The notice read that the Student Board would discontinue showing movies because beer cans were left on the floor.

Ok, sowe've lost Student Board movies, but we still have the International Club. The video movies every Friday night are the best thing I've seen happen to this campus in the four years I've been here.

Unfortunately, I see a short life to "Friday Night at the Movies." Last week, at the showing of the "Blues Brothers," I sat in the same row with a few fellows who seemed to think they were pretty cool. They'd managed to sneak in some beer, and also managed to drink it without being noticed. I personally have nothing against drinking beer, but I believe there is an appropriate time and place.

I guess the bellies turned yellow when it was time to get the beer cans out of the auditorium without being seen. Come on guys — why screw it up for the rest of us? Don't force the International Club to cancel Friday night movies just because you're too irresponsible to pick up your garbage. Besides, I don't think Coach Grimes would like it if he knew you boys were drinking during the basketball season. Oh yes, I know who you are.
