OPEN LETTER TO MARIAN STUDENTS

On Wednesday, April 29, 1981, members of the College community are planning to participate in the annual Field Day celebration. Field Day has become a highlight of Marian's activities calendar and the careful planning and hard work of the Booster Club insures a highly successful and enjoyable event. An added attraction this year is the all-school picnic at Eagle Creek Hideaway.

Unfortunately, the success of some past Field Days has been marred by a few individuals who have used the occasion as an excuse to get drunk and/or damage property. This disorderly, and often-times destructive behavior of a few significantly detracts from Field Day and jeopardizes the future of the event.

My purpose in writing this letter is to eliminate any misconception about the rules governing the possession and use of alcohol on campus during Field Day. That is, the use of or possession of alcohol is prohibited on Field Day just as it is on any other day of the school year. There is no waiver or suspension of the policy on Field Day. Second, I want to appeal to those responsible students and student groups (Student Board, Booster Club, etc.) to use their influence to discourage the illegal use and abuse of alcohol on campus. With your help, we can have an enjoyable time without experiencing the negative side-effects of campus-wide alcohol abuse.

Sincerely,
William H. Woodman
Dean of Student Services

A CALL TO ARMS (PREFERABLY WITH MINDS ATTACHED)

In view of the recent disgrace that has been disclosed about the Marian community (and in particular the few high-ranking student officials), we feel that it is imperative to use the instrument of the free press to incite the student body to something short of riot. This unsightly boil must be cut out before it is allowed to fester. We must not permit this noxious and morally corrupting virus to penetrate our bonds to the values which sustain our very existence. Our pond of pure intentions has been spat in. We say "Out, damn spit! out, we say!" Our life's blood has been infected by toxic parasites, sucking the integrity from our rejuvenating marrow, damning us to a slow and nauseating death. We must react with action. It is our only defense. We have been stripped bare. But in our collective determination we can revitalize the remnants of our dignity and regurgitate the vermin that has been shoved down our throats. We must act to purge that which would destroy our right to flourish. But we must choose the responsibility to act swiftly to counter the effects. And it will be done by none other than ourselves. In the words of Sophocles, "Heaven ne'er helps the men who will not act." But then to quote Plautus, "Such things are easier said than done."

BIGGER SPLASH

The outdoor pool will be open for your pleasure beginning Monday, April 27th. The traditional transformation of waste (perhaps the oldest preoccupation of man) celebration will be held the Saturday before the opening, from 9:00am-2:00pm. Come for a few hours -- you don't need to bring anything -- all legal supplies will be provided.

The pool will be open to the student body from 1:30 - 4:30 daily. Anyone who wishes to use the pool before or after the established time period and does so and gets caught runs the risk of promptly being drowned.

William H. Woodman
Dean of Student Services

JONI - A GREAT MOVIE

Looking for a good movie to see? Try "Joni" now showing at Castleton Square Cinema III. It is a good way to get a better understanding of the feelings of a handicapped person (This is the International Year of the Handicapped Person). Being a handicapped person, it is a film I can relate to very well.

Do not be too moral. You may cheat yourself out of much life so. Aim above morality. Be not simply good; be good for something.

Thoreau

Love is an angelic word used in very many different angles, giving very different meanings, quite different from its original and real. The word 'love' is so loosely used in modern society that its true meaning seems to fast die out. Two people "madly in love" utter "honey", "sweetheart", "I love you". But is it real? Is it true? Do their actions approve of what they say? Do their words and actions focus on reality? Words have meanings, actions have intentions. A couple, romantically involved with each other, are generally blindfolded. Their ears seem to hear what they whisper, but their eyes fail to see what they do.

Love and romantic love are two separate entities. When one "falls in love", it is an attraction covered in romance. During the courtship, budding romance blossoms and blossoms, giving out an aroma of sweetness between a couple's relationship. But does this sweetness last? If it does, how long?

A boy and girl relationship, after surviving the need of patience and endurance towards each other is still likely to survive the serious path of "going steady". This is because, still, there is romance in the air. The true test of a lasting relationship comes when the boy-girl relationship matures into a husband-wife relationship by the bond of matrimony.

Marriage is different. It is real. It is challenging, it is testing. It is indeed the real bond of love. Two become one and love becomes the life-blood of matrimony. When this life-blood is infected by the virus of petty jealousy, competition, unfaithfulness, lack of communication and the like, the body of matrimony is infected with pain, agony and misery.

What is the cure?--pure blood. This pure blood is true love. When one faces reality, one cannot be carefree any more. One has to be careful and responsible. Romantic love becomes the story of the past. The marital set is no place for romance. Problems and hurdles are a natural order in marriage.

If one feels insecure, love is the answer. Love is the answer for the insecure. It is love that calms through seas in life with its gentle blowing and soothing, serene temperament. Love can melt a hard heart and snap the head of any green eyed monster that threatens the foundations of the marital mosque.

Love is divine. It is so refined that anyone can confuse and feel fine. It never uses the word "mine" or "your" but "ours". Romantic love is an illusion. It is a deception that prevents the conception of reality. It is a reflection of a relationship as it is, not how it should be. Romantic love is not real. The lasting happiness is in Love. Love is true. Love sees no boundaries. Love is caring, love is sharing, love is lasting! --Neel
