Honor, Annual, Endowed Scholarships
Recognize Leaders in All Classes

Special Marian College scholarships awarded this year to freshmen fall into two classes—honor scholarships and annual scholarships. Honor scholarships are being held by Jane Brady, St. Agnes academy, and Rosemarie Both, St. Mary's academy, both in Indianapolis.

Freshmen Meet Requirements
Qualifying for the annual scholarships are: Joyce Baumann, our Lady of Angels high school, St. Bernard, Ohio; and Kathleen O'Gara, St. Mary's academy.

Broadcast Series
Presents Father Reine
Rev. Francis J. Reine, speaking over WISH, opened the current season of "Let There Be Light," Sunday, Oct. 1. The soul and its destiny will be the general theme for his broadcasts, extending through October and November.

Promoted by the Knights of Columbus as a modern method of following Christ's admonition, "Going therefore, teach ye all nations," this lecture series will continue through March. Music is provided by the K. of C. choir, the Columbians.

The lecture series may be heard every Sunday at 9:45 p.m.

School Publications
Receive Honor Ratings
The Phoenix was awarded "All Catholic," or highest rating in the Catholic School Press Association survey and rating. The Phoenix received "First Honors," or second rating. Associated Collegiate Press survey, including newspapers only, rated The Phoenix, "All American" with a score of 950 out of 1000 points. Both surveys evaluate content, writing, editing, art, typography, and make-up.

Sodality Organize
Crusade for Prayer
For Family Rosary

Recitation of the rosary by small groups of girls during free periods, lunch hours, and evenings is being fostered by the sodality for the success of the rosary crusade now in progress in Indianapolis.

The goal of Father Perton's crusade—"to have 10,000,000 American families pledged, by Nov. 1, to say the daily rosary—"is being realized through an extensive campaign conducted in radio, current publications, and billboards advertising along the highways. Thus, the fifth crusade in Canada and the U.S., was launched in the Archdiocese of Indianapolis Oct. 8.

Student residents and faculty recite the rosary together each evening during October before the exposed Blessed Sacrament, Friday at 12:40 is the complete "family rosary time."

Congratulations
Norma Lewis, senior, completed the requirements for the Mother Olivia Memorial scholarship, to be awarded to a student in the elementary teacher curriculum.

Sister Gonsalva Writes
Life of Berta Hummel
Sister M. Gonsalva, professor of Latin and of German, will be published this November by St. Meinrad press. This life of the Bavarian nun-artist is the first full length biography of a nun-artist's pictures and sketches. The art collection made by Sister M. Gonsalva includes copies of 385 paintings and sketches, over 200 of which were printed in Germany.

Berta Hummel is widely known for her figurines and still more widely known through the use of her paintings and sketches on Christmas cards.

Mother Cephas Heads Franciscans
Major Faculty Changes at College Include New Deans, Instructor

Sister Mary Cephas, dean of Marian college for the past nine years, was elected Mother General by the general chapter of the Sisters of St. Francis, Oldenburg, this summer. Under her administration the college experienced a significant increase in enrollment and teaching personnel and an end was placed on a long-range physical plant expansion program. The first units, Clark hall and the gymnasium building, were completed last year.

Sister Mary Clarissa, president emerita, in residence here since 1946, is now living at the Motherhouse.

Fall Polls Elect
Class Officers

Officers were elected for 1950-51 by their respective classes Oct. 5. Emerging as presidents were: senior, John Matzovich, of Indianapolis; junior, Mary Schuck of Evansville, Ind. and sophomores, Maxine Horner, of Cincinnati. Chairman of the freshman class is Alba McDonald, of Manchester, Ind. A new member of the faculty is Sister Margaret Ann, instructor in English.

Sister Gonsalva writes: "Life of Berta Hummel" is a scholarly study requiring a mastery of medieval and modern German and French.

Sister Mary Ellen at St. Mary's
Sister Mary Ellen, former dean of women, is now principal of St. Mary academy, Indianapolis. She is succeeding Sister Mary Etulie, present novice mistress at Oldenburg.

A new member of the faculty is Sister Margaret Ann, instructor in English. A new member of the faculty is Sister Margaret Ann, instructor in English.

A Cappella to Sing Vespers at Cathedral
Liturgical Vespers to be sung Oct. 27 at St. Peter and Paul cathedral will be a "first" for the A Cappella choir. The occasion is the Archdiocesan Teachers' institute, meeting in Indianapolis Oct. 26-27.

Students will sing the antiphons and alternate with the Institute members in singing the first responsory. Another liturgical "first" is the formation in each college class of a group of students Propers for the students' Sunday Mass in the chapel. Voice students direct the groups. Six seniors, headed by Rosemina Vlcevitas, were the first to sing the proper, "Thanksgiving Day Mass." Director of A Cappella, Sister M. Vitalis, is the state coordinator of the National Catholic Mass Educators' association within the archdiocese of Indianapolis.

"You Are Better Than You Sound," a lecture by Lucille La Chapelle of Oak Park, Ill., will be presented at assembly Oct. 26. Voice and its relationship to personality will be its message.

Mrs. La Chapelle, graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1934, won more distinctions in the minor of speech than any other woman before her. As teacher, lecturer, and radio speaker she has worked with widely different groups. Her programs range from lectures on effectiveness in simple conversation to dramatic presentations.

To quote her managers, "Instructive, humorous, and stimulating, Lucille La Chapelle is an authority on the importance of voice in every-day living."

Family Rosary Can Be Fulfillment
Of Mary's Command to Pray for Peace

When Our Lady gave the Rosary to St. Dominic, she said, "Know, my son, that the means which the Adorable Trinity employs for the salvation of the world is the Angelic Salutation, which is the foundation of the New Testament." That was in the 18th century.

In our times Our Lady’s words are much the same, as she warns the world that it must return to her Son. "Unless you pray my Rosary and do penance there will be yet a third and more terrible war."

Slowly, after we have seen atistic communism on one side and capitalism on the other menacing the world as Mary foretold at Fatima, we are realizing how very true her words were. But many are not getting quite as near to her warning then, and went on through two world wars, becoming more materialistic after each one.

It took the zeal of Father Patrick Peyton of the Family Home Tour to bring about the return of the devotions of families who pray the daily Rosary as their part toward peace.

We of Marian are in a sense a family. Those of us who live with our families can carry out the family Rosary devotion by praying it in our own homes. We who live here can suggest the idea in our letters if our families are not already among the crusaders. In our "family" here we can join in the Rosary devotions each evening during October. It will not be seen, but our prayers will be heard, and we shall also make the saying of the Rosary easier by meditating on the mysteries or on some phrase of the Hail Mary while we pray.

Mary herself has told us that the Rosary is the most powerful prayer. It refreshes the soul. Like the Hail Mary in these words, "When I say the Hail Mary, the heavens smile, the angels rejoice, the world exults, hell trembles, the devils fly."

And from all Our Lady’s warnings there can be no doubt of the necessity of saying the Rosary. At Fatima she said she would not appear again if people were going to ignore her. Her Son was angry. If it is true that in love for her she has come again, surely the prayer of the group and the family is all that we should heed her. Even if it means sacrifice (she asked for sacrifice too), we should want to say the Rosary faithfully this month and continue after October—for peace.

Views of the News... by Marian Ryan and Helen Eckrich

Korea is where most of us are looking now. Students evidenced their interest when, at this year’s NSA convention, a memorial representing the Labor Youth league, was allowed to present the North Korean view of the war. His efforts were rewarded with a profound silence.

While speaking of the NSA, we might remark that many important resolutions passed this year are reaffirmations of previous stands, such as its support of academic freedom for teachers, and a federal aid plan including private and parochial schools. Perhaps the best resolution was its final decision to discontinue unsuccessful efforts to co-operate with communist-dominated USSR.

All sports fans are in mourning! It’s an unlucky year for the sporting world, for not only did the "under-dog" Phillies lose the World Series, but two ‘old reliables’—Joe Louis and Notre Dame—have fallen victims of more powerful opponents.

The League of Nations came and went. It had, we agree, its lasting achievements, and yet it proved unsuccessful in its main venture—PEACE. Its fatal diseases were: suspicion, mistrust, revenge and indifference. The United Nations, closer to the minds and hearts of all, fights on under the close scrutiny of citizens the world over. The diagnosis: still traces of suspicion, mistrust, revenge and indifference. But infections gone?...yes, but only to surrender its seat to its infamous opposite, ambition. The UN needs capable leaders—these leaders need capable followers.

Non-Catholics who are sincerely interested in the Faith can derive a great deal of good from a retreat conducted especially for them. Did you ever think to invite your non-Catholic friends to attend one? If so, we hope you noticed that the retreat here at Marian has been changed to Sunday, Nov. 19.

Are movies better? Recently, in most of the movie theatres, we have been glaring signs saying "Movies Are Better". Is this true? It doesn’t seem to hold in all cases, since divorce, secularity, and sex are still looked upon as fine material. But, to give credit where credit is due—Hollywood is making a sincere effort to please the public.

Tribute of Appreciation... Of Peace

The student body collectively joins in a greeting of heartiest congratulations and best wishes to Mother Mary Cephas in her new role as Mother General. To express in some way our gratitude for what she has done for us during the nine years of her devoted service at Marian, we shall carry on, as she would have us do—"with Mary." We shall always remember her personal interest, her wise direction, her total dedication. And our appreciation is especially deep and earnest, and particularly the resident students, extend a sincere message of thanks for their inspiration and their thousand-and-one helps in everyday needs.

A cordial welcome to Sister Marie Pierre, to Sister Margaret Ann, and to Sister Mary Carol in her new capacity as dean of women. Our leaves-sharer and co-operator with the student body in this, and particularly the students, extend a sincere message of thanks for their inspiration and their thousand-and-one helps in everyday needs.

Phoenix Footnotes

Freshmen are fast feeling "at home." Here are some good examples:

1. Changing the little newcomer met the door of the first floor of the dormitory. But the other day and cleverly requested that Sister lend her our personal property. A more confident maid stopped at the office and asked the.'' Are you at the student registration desk?'' The key was given by some Dayton friends this morning.

"On any fall day at mass you might want to sing some Francisca item each Sunday night. The set was gave by some Dayton friends recently."

"Would or you rather be a Fellow?" The National Poetry association has announced its annual contest for college students. Any subject or form may be used, provided the manuscript is in by Nov. 6.

The field of O. Henry and Poe is open. The Kappa Gamma Pi is sponsoring a short story contest with deadline Dec. 15. Entries must not exceed 3,500 words—not a lift.

Needlecraft Guild of America received its first quota of new garments in fall—single garment—40 pieces of children’s wear ready for distribution to the poor. See Purdue defeat Notre Dame.

Would or you might want to sing out of some incident that has happened to you. The set was given by some Dayton friends recently."

Will welcome your comments or suggestions, "Why ask us to imagine the next year, if we have seen glaring signs saying "Movies Are Better." Is this true? Pilgrims Find Assisi Genuine Marien and Martha, on separate Holy Year pilgrimage, got their impressions of Assisi for this story.

Our tour motor coach sped over the road with much beeping of the horn and screeching to avoid black flies while we sat quietly, still thinking of our wonderful pilgrimage to Assisi. Gradually the scenery changed from the low hills overlooking Rome to the higher covered plains surrounding Assisi.

As we climbed the picturesque road to Assisi, we entered the famous city, with its steep and narrow cobblestone streets, stone archways, and quaint houses. Time seemed to have reversioned and we were back in the middle ages. Assisi is unaffected by modern hustle and bustle. The days of St. Francis are easy to picture and, with a little more stretching of the imagination, you might expect to see II Peverello around the next corner.

Visit Basilica

In the Basilica of St. Francis, comprising three churches built one above the other, we visited the saint's tomb and saw many interesting relics, such as the habit St. Francis wore, his hair shirt, and a blessing written in his own hand. Our Franciscan guide, who spoke very broken English, had a cheerful sense of humor and an interesting way of describing the frescoes.

We also visited the immense church of St. Clare, inside which the little chapel of the Porziuncola, pictured here, stands. Our guide told us that the name Porziuncola, meaning "small portion," was borrowed from that of the fork of the map on which the chapel stood when it and the church were given to St. Francis by the Benedectines.

Its decorated, well preserved interior contrasts sharply with the damages of centuries. One of the reconstructed stone walls and rude altar remain exactly as they were 90 years ago. In this, the tiny radio of his order, St. Francis gathered his first disciples. Here he received St. Clare. See Statue of Saint

The last place we visited in Assisi was the courtyard alongside St. Mary of the Angels in which stands the small chapel, holding a crown of thorns. In the crown a white dove had built a nest and was present when we passed by. This tender scene was so appropriate for our departure reminding of the gentle simplicity of the Saint.

Voice soloists for the music program were: Ethel Jame Spacke, Lucy RaymondGood, Loretta Spaulding and Mary Carson and Harriet Reifel. For Margaret Morella the "pomp" was definitely tucked away, Sept. 9, when she crossed the threshold of the convent of the Sisters of St. Francis.

The "pomp," with major variation, was vaguely repeated on the wedding days of Ethel James Spacke, Lucy RaymondGood and Catherine as estimator Procedure. Martha Doucheuse, last heard of from Mexico City, is awaiting a visa renewal in view of prospective permanent residence in the States.

Parliamentarian Gives Pointers

Points of parliamentary procedure were explained at the 1950-51 assembly, Thursday, Sept. 21, by Mrs. Rose Marie Cruzan, who is a member of the Indiana Association of Parliamentarians. Explaining the procedure for making and passing a resolution, Mrs. Cruzan stated eight important steps to follow. Club members should (1) address the chair and wait for recognition before speaking; (2) make a motion formally; (3) second the motion in the same formal way.

The president should then (3) state the motion made (2) ask if the members are ready for the question and passing (4) if discussion is wanted (4) entertain questions after discussion and lead the voting (5) give the return of the voting.

Mrs. Cruzan's syndicated column, Point of Order, has appeared in the Indianapolis Star and other newspapers for over eleven years. Here she answers questions for Indianapolis clubs and others who write to her for advice. College and high school clubs and national or state organizations.

LEGION INVADERS

Old St. Joseph's

Newest project of the campus legonaries of Mary is the opening of a Saturday afternoon recreation and instruction center where 25 or 30 grade school children may play games and receive lessons in handwriting. House to house surveys have been made to recruit the children, most of whom are non-Catholics.

This work was undertaken at the suggestion of the Rev. Victor L. Goosen, pastor of St. Mary's church. Through arrangements made by the Rev. Richard Kavanau, CYO director, a room in the former St. Joseph church will be made available for this purpose.

Legion members interested in children's clubs or Girl Scout work are finding that they can express their interest through another new project, a parish unit of the Catholic Daughters of America at St. Mary's parish.

Work connected with this year includes: Conducting the weekly Legion of Mary junior praisemaster meeting at Holy Trinity school, helping the Sisters with Sunday morning instruction classes at Brother Rice, assisting with Sunday Mass preparation and conducting an instruction class at the Catholic Instruction center on Twenty-fifth and Shriver streets, and visiting several homes.

Personal satisfaction through prayer and active work is the primary end of the Legion of Mary. Meetings are held in Room 135, Claro hall, each Monday at 4:30.

Elections

positions are: Mary O'Hara, social chairman; Rita Sheridan, secretary, and Barbara Griffin, treasurer.

Sodality leaders are: Mary Alice Miller, senator; Mary Wansel, junior; Alice Larson, sophomore; and Mary Wechsler, freshman. CSMC responsibilities will be carried by Noraa Lewis, senior; Marian Ryan, junior; Mary Harmon, sopho­more, and Evelyn Thompson, freshman.

GOAL LINES

School time is study time but spare time is sports time! Volley ball is in the foreground at present, with resident teams engaging in evening battles. A junior-vs.­senior game is also planned.

Winners from tournaments now in progress in the three physics ed­itions will vie for the championship in play-offs at 1:30 on Tues­days and Thursdays. Captains are: 1 o'clock—Anne McNulty, Alice Rabon, Peggy O'Hara, Mary Mor­lin; 2 o'clock—Mary Laethod, Joan McNath, Anna Larson, 3 o'clock—Jane Kuebler, Edna Fioro, Norma Salmes.

Marta Kieker, sophomore, spoke at a breakfast meeting of the Butler University Newman club Oct. 16.

"The Hope of European Students" was the subject of Marta's speech. She pointed out the differ­ences between the hope of Euro­pean students and that in the mind and lives of American students.

Evelyn Thompson, freshman, ad­dressed a city-wide CSMC rally in Louisville, Oct. 4. She spoke to 1966 high school students on the plans of China to America to save it from communism. In her address, she used a personal feeling as presented in an open discussion at the national CSMC convention at Notre Dame this summer. Evelyn, president of the Indianapolis CSMC last year, is a member of the resolutions committee at the convention.

Philosophers to Meet Here

Marian college will be host to the Indiana Philosophical associ­ation when it meets Oct. 28.

The association, which meets twice yearly at colleges throughout the state, is composed of a senior division, chiefly of professors, and a junior division of college students. Monsignor John J. Doyle of St. Mary's University Newman club Oct. 16.

Science club has captured a bit of the campus autumn glory for display in Charter Hall.

Here clusters of older-berry's, wild grapes, climbing bittersweet, and Japanese barberries peep out between sheaves of popcorn and sugar cane. Fern-like wild carrot sprays, ving, in gypsy red, with silver and sugar maple leaves, off­set the six-inch leaves and sturdy fruit of magnolia.

This collection was found and gathered by a group headed by Suemma Balser.

Red Cross Volunteers Bring Cheer to Vets

Exhausted "servants of humanity" have gotten the Marian College Red Cross unit off to a good start. Weekly Friday night ward entertainment has been organized. Blood donors have responded gener­ously to the corps chairman's apeal. Peggy Lants, field director at Veterans' hospital and supervisor of Marian's Red Cross activities there, was present at the first meet­ing, Oct. 11. With members she discussed plans for the coming fall, and urged all students to cooperate.
