The day will proceed with a buffet dinner held on Sunday, Oct. 24. Parents’ Day, an annual event, is being made in Peru and Bolivia to bring the long-neglected Indians into the limelight of nation. The success or failure of these efforts will be important not only to the future progress of Peru and Bolivia, but to the rest of Latin America as well.

Dr. Richard W. Patch of the Department of South American Affairs (AUFSS) will bring firsthand information of the current situation in the two countries to the campus on Nov. 3 and 4. A noted anthropologist, Dr. Patch will make two special presentations on Peru and Bolivia—implications for U.S. aid programs.

College To Host Parents Oct. 24
Parents’ Day, an annual event, will be held on Sunday, Oct. 24. Beginning at 19 a.m. with Holy Mass in the Chapel, the day will proceed with a buffet lunch in the college cafeteria and tours of the campus. At 1:30 p.m., Mag. Franchis J. Reine will deliver a address in the auditorium. He will be followed by Andy Wagner, president of the Students Board and Mr. D. L. Croaky, president of the Parents and Friends Organization.

The day will be concluded with student entertainment, including the Concert Band and the Drum and Bugle Corps, and a reception in the Music Building.

AUFS Specialist Analyzes Social Change in L.A.

In two of the Latin American countries, a dramatic change is now taking place in the centuries-old social order which has characterized the indigenous Indians in a life of poverty and subservience to their Spanish masters. The reawakening of the native Indian and the rejection of the old social order which has resulted in the present wave of student enthusiasm and writing for more than a decade before his research was conducted in Latin America.

Dr. Patch has also made a study of colonization for the Bolivian government and was a member of the Inter-American Development Bank’s mission for Rural Development to Bolivia.

Besides writing periodic AUFS reports on his research, Dr. Patch has also contributed chapters to Social Change in Latin America Today (1965) and Expectant Peoples (1965).

Fr. Frazee on TV

During the past summer Father Charles Frazee has been participating in an interfaith panel on the similarities and the differences of the Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish faiths.

The discussions, which have been taped for television viewing, are currently being run on Sundays, 12:30 p.m. as a public service feature on WFOM, Channel 6.

Dr. Malm Speaks On Asian Music

Dr. William P. Malm of the College of Liberal Arts is one of the foremost authorities on Japanese music, which will be the subject of the college music lecture that will be given by the Oriental Music Society, Tuesday, Nov. 9.

Two formal lecture demonstrations will take place, one on an ASIAN music in 3:30 p.m., the other on Japanese music at 7:30 p.m. During the concert, groups of individuals and student conferences with Dr. Malm are also planned.

Dr. Malm is the author of a volume, Japanese Music and Musicology, illustrated by Japanese artists and printed in Japan. Lectures are open to the public.

Life on Other Planets

Dr. L. M. Levis, scientist-astronomer and director of the Pan Am Observatory, Philadelphia, will speak on "Life on the Universe?" at the Nov. 4 assembly. This is a rescheduled from the “snowed-out” date, last Feb. 25.

Bugle Corps Looks Onward to Derby, Veterans’ Parade

The 300-member dollars of new drums and bugles, 24 fresh and a snappy new "odd ball" cadence give Marian the ability of the silver horns a new look. Under John Stearns’ award-winning drum-majoring, the second year corps will perform in the Veterans’ Day Parade, the Christmas Parade in Indianapolis, and, hopefully, in the Kentucky Derby Parade. Again, of course, they pray for a repeat in the "500" Parade.

College events for which the Corps will play are Parents’ Day, Homecoming and Field Day. The Corps repertoire will increase considerably this year because of the use of rotary valve buffalo which are capable of "chromatic" or complete half-tone scales.

TEMPerS run high as Becky Brunson and Dave Hixson, husband and wife in "The Public Eye," argue throughout the performance.

Administration Students Welcome New Faculty

The English department has been expanded this year in the persons of Mr. John L. Darretta and Mr. E. Forrest Scarchour. Mr. Darretta, a native of Youngstown, Ohio, received his B.A. from Fordham College in 1945, and his M.A. from Fordham University in American literature.

Mr. Scarchour holds a B.A. and an M.A. from the University of South Carolina and Indiana University, respectively, and is currently pursuing his doctorate in comparative literature at Indiana University.

Sister Mary Norma, O.S.P., a former Marian student and recipient of a Ph.D. from Ohio State University, teaches Latin and Greek.

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin with a master of science degree has become a full-time instructor in the mathematics department. He is Mr. Robert Gasp, who has taught in the evening division at Marian, on the Indiana University campus of Purdue University, and at the University of Wisconsin.

Dr. Malm Speaks On Asian Music

Dr. William P. Malm of the University of Michigan School of Music, one of the foremost authorities on Japanese music, will be the guest of the college music lecture that will be given by the Oriental Music Society, Tuesday, Nov. 9.

Amisison of Peace: But Will They Listen

Pope's Visit Evokes Comment

by Diana Mans and Maureen Northcutt

The effect of the recent appearance of Pope Paul VI at the United Nations is undoubtedly still being felt throughout the world. His visit was an undisputed precedent in the history of the Catholic Church and touched not only its members but Christian and non-Christian brothers alike. The students of Marian College expect an ex- pense of communications with the Pope in the near future. This will be borne by the Board of Directors.

The consensus was that it signified a true Ecumenical Spirit by its appeal to all mankind.

For men to lay down arms and to forget war would be the ideal, but the inability of the UN to act effectively was the main reason Marian students felt the Pope's words will not be heeded.

"The fact that the Vatican recognized the UN as a body with whom it might participate in efforts to end war was an important and significant step to a better understanding between the Catholic Church and other faiths." according to Freshman Steve Gutzwiller.

In regard to the large welcome given to Pope Paul, senior Sue Charbonneau felt that "everyone went to see the sight rather than to hear his words.".

In general, many Marianites agreed upon the diplomatic success of the Pope's visit, but few were optimistic concerning the political impact.

A Browser's Find

The real man needs no proof that he is a man. Only the individual who is not sure, desperately reasserts his masculinity. The real issue, then, is whether or not we want to be considered, and if so, by whom?

Just is. He is for that, a richer human being, more sensitive to his own feelings and more capable of poising, controlling, and sharing with others. There is a certain irony about the Pope's remarks to life, no need to hurt in order to win, no need to pander the impression he will make and with this comes a sure grace of maturity. (Excerpt from "Self-Conscious Catholicism" by Eugene C. Kennedy, M.M., in American, Oct. 16).

Dear's List

By Colleen Skarver and Eileen Witte

Have you looked beyond your boring resume and list of courses yet this year to notice all the improvements and additions on campus? Even if you've examined only the public areas so far as the Purse, you've discovered old friends in new, modernized surroundings. Those fortunate enough to have cars on campus may have noticed improved roads and those on foot may enjoy a new sidewalk shortcut through Park School.

Student residents can't help noticing several important changes. A second wing on the men's dorm contains a study-to-be-completed lounge. Both residence halls have been repainted and improved over the summer. Clare Hall is under new management in the person of Miss Eleanor Farrell. Father John Efford now proposes to aid in the maintenance of peace and order on South Campus as a resident in the new dorm.

First floor rooms feature individual closets with the new ruling allowing Bernadesas and slacks on campus. Among all these new rules, along with the recent schedule yet this year, one new building as well as the old, is Marian's newest and largest addition, 888 smiling freshmen.

That Was... The Dorm That Was

Attention, inhabitants of the new man's dorm! Were you thinking about any mirrors in which you will study yourself in the near future? Did you lack a recreation room before? Did you ever have nothing to do after spending a few weeks in the new dorm?

But relief has come! You are now the proud first residents of your dorm, the new dorm, and those on foot may now enjoy improved roads and those on foot may enjoy a new sidewalk shortcut through Park School.

Changes Add Beauty, Comfort To Campus Living

Baritone Finds Receptive Group

Marian College was proud to present a distinguished personality in the world of art, Eugene Holiman, as this year's premier for the annual assembly series. Mr. Holiman, a baritone of established fame, entertained the students and faculty with his rendering of the German liedler, the aria and the Negro spiritual.

A native of Brownsville, Tenn., he has invested in a busy concert career, performing with the St. Louis Opera Guild and at the Grand Opera Workshop in West Virginia under Boris Goldovsky. At the moment, Mr. Holiman has a full schedule at the Indiana University School of Music working as a graduate assistant and singing the lead baritone in the Opera Theater associated with the university. He has also sung with the Washington University Opera and appeared as soloist with the St. Louis Symphony.

Phoenix, Fioretti Win CSPS Honors

The Phoenix and the Fioretti recently received honor ratings from the Catholic School Press Association.

These ratings are presented to publications which exhibit outstanding achievements in literary and journalistic endeavors. As criteria, the panel of judges analyzed the artirical layouts, the systematic organization, the journalistic content, and the overall appearance of the publications submitted. Also, major considerations were given to the presentation of a Catholic viewpoint.

Nine Teams Kick Off '65 Pigskin Panorama

Marian's Intramural Football League started off with a bang Sunday, Oct. 3. Eight teams braved their opposition. The team posting the biggest threat appeared to be the Carpetbaggers who defeated Manuah's Mixers by a 13-0 margin.

Another contender for the championship is the 68-plus-Tax who played the McCoys. The Nutty Nines beat U.N.C.L.E. 38-13 in a high-scoring contest.

Probably the most hard-fought and exciting game was played between the 1969'ers and the Umgawas. The freshman 1969'ers fought the Umgawas to a 0-0 tie. It was a very exciting game was played between the two teams. The McCoys beat the 1969'ers 25-0.

The standings after the first two weeks of play are as follows:

Freshman Track and Cross-Country

Graduating seniors who have taken up the sport of track and cross-country have been involved. With such material as Bernie Schneider, Maury Bubb, Larry Schmalz, George Gerencser, and Jean Ancelet, and the big three who drove the team, Mary Stiles, Dan Gonzalez, and Joe Byer, the team has its own murals have gotten under way with a quick start. The girls' Volley Ball League has opened its sessions.

Sports Them Self

Mr. Larry Bridges, our new coach from Indiana State, promises an improvement on last year's record.

The staff of the Phoenix and the student body wish the cross country team the best of luck in its future outings. Marianists also hope that the team never runs out of breath!

Fall Lectures Feature Series

Marian lectures this fall comprise five series. "The New Mathematics" deals with the modern approach in the teaching of elementary mathematics, while "Law for Women" discusses legal questions of special concern to women. Three distinct series are devoted to aspects of religion, namely "The Early Church," "Religion and Modern Psychology," and "The New Testament." Speakers include faculty members of Marian College, Loyola University in Chicago, and Cardinal Ritter High School in the city, as well as Indianapolis attorneys.

This series, which began the week of Sept. 26, will continue through November.
