Pedtke Elected New Secretary

Miss Catherine Pedtke, a sophomore transfer student from the University of Denver, has been appointed interim secretary of the Student Board. She is filling Marjory Turner's vacant position.

At Denver, Miss Pedtke, an honors student, served on the Student Advisory Board for Scholars, a group which worked closely with the administration on the curriculum. At Marian she is a member of the Academic Affairs Committee and worked on the student evaluations. She plans to remain on this committee next year.

'Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?' is analyzed by the College Choral Society. The PCS Crisis sees Woolf's play as 'a wonder production and well directed.'

Federal Programs Offer Aid

by Linda Smith

Marian College students currently benefit from three federal financial programs - Economic Opportunity Grants, National Defense Student Loans, and the college Work-Study program. All of these programs are based on need determined by the Parents' Confidential Statement. The PCS is analyzed by the College Scholarship Service, a non-profit agency of the College Entrance Examination Board. If the college budget exceeds family contributions, the difference in the comparison represents the student's need. When possible, Marian will use federal funds to alleviate that need.

Economic Opportunity Grants are given on a scale based on parental contributions to the students' expenses. According to 1970 EOG guidelines, which pertain to incoming freshmen and initial year applicants, the EOG will be used to assist the most needy students from the lower income bracket. According to the 1970 EOG memorandum, 'Families whose gross annual income is above $9,000 cannot be considered "low," even though financial need may be clearly demonstrated. They are beyond the scope and purpose of the EOG program.' However, not all students with family incomes below $9,000 will receive grants; they must be further screened to exclude students with parental contributions of $625 or more and to favor students whose families have been 'historically unable to support them' and who lack assets. Renewal applicants are not subject to these guidelines.

Upperclassmen may apply for initial year grants, but 80% of EOG funds go to freshmen and transfer students. For initial or renewal grants, the maximum is $1,000, or one-half of the student's calculated need - whichever is less. The college must match each EOG dollar.

Matching sources available to Marian are state scholarships, MC grants, and scholarships, National Defense Student Loans, United Student Aid funds, and Work-Study jobs.

The United Student Aid Fund loans are available to students who may not qualify for other federal programs, such as EOG, but still have financial need. USAF is a private non-profit organization which loans money to college students. However, if a student should default, or fail to pay off his loan, the organization must have a guaranteed reserve from which to pay the debt.

Therefore, the college must pay $1 for every $12.50 that is allocated to its programs. This program is limited only by Marian's resources - for every dollar a student here receives $12.50 of a loan. Repayment must begin one year after graduation and extends over 10 years.

Moses, Stimming Join Trustees

Thomas W. Moses, president-elect of the Indianapolis Water Company, and Indianapolis businessman and civic leader Charles E. Stimming recently accepted membership on the Marian College Board of Trustees, formerly an all-religious governing body.

The two new members bring the total number of trustees to 15, 9 lay members and 6 religious.

President D.J. Guzzetta commented on Moses' acceptance of the position, 'Not only will his business expertise be of tremendous assistance in Marian's general operations, but his position in the community and his enthusiasm for Marian College will undoubtedly further our goals for quality undergraduate education and our desire to increase our general contributions to greater Indianapolis.'

Moses is a graduate of Washington and Lee University and Yale University Law School.

The other Side has Spoken

by George Baesem

Congratulations to the Silent Majority! I sincerely believe that the purpose of The Other Side is one-time thing. Hopefully it will help to allay the feeling of many at Marian that all student publications are left or semi-revolutionary. There has not been enough exposure to get any one's belief. It just seems to be true that most people care enough about what's going on to state their feeling publicly (at the risk of being criticized) seems to be a fact. If it is, I applaud your efforts because not only will you be making what you perhaps feel is a forgotten view (forgotten by the student writer) known, but equally important, it will be held up as a public scrutinization which may force you to examine ideas you always took for granted and which may lead all of us to more intelligent opinions.

Since you have exposed your thought, I feel the necessity to comment. First, if Agnew is the only one who dares to say what you are thinking, perhaps it is time some more said it. (Heyen knows, there are enough quiet radicals) Agnew speaks about what happened to our culture, but what was that culture? Was it the fact that we had a society of hippies who closed their eyes to what was happening around them? That is a mis- take! You say Spirit's only weapons are words. Crap! You know he speaks for Nixon and when he threatens the media with censorship he is not speaking as a citizen but as Vice President and all the power of the legislative branch of govenment is behind him. Yes, it's true, Agnew speaks for a large segment of America, but we are under the assumption of statements like these that the planner who has not read a book since he flunked out of the eighth grade has more astute insight into politics than the Ph.D.'s of Political Science. I'm sorry, I don't buy it. One member is not as good as another and if you tell me that the philosophy of the average Hoover on the street deserves as much merit as that of Plato or Immanuel Kant, et al. I'll have to disagree. Secondly, a few comments about the two Vietnam articles. If all war is immoral, why do you favor our involvement? Does the war the decision was made for, the decision any more war immoral? (from p.I) on page two an analogy is drawn between Hitler's Europe and contemporary Southeast Asia. I don't think the shoe fits. I somehow cannot picture the Viet Cong or North Vietnam over-running North America. The two situations are too dissimilar. Our policy is based on the Dulles Doctrine of the Fifties and sees all Communi- st overthrow it with blood. Hopefully someday we will recognize that North Vietnam fears China as much as Yugoslavia fears Russia. Hopefully someday too, the United States will stop threatening the country as if it is own back yard. By what right do we treat the world as our possession? And by what right do we send troops into a country each time we feel the least bit threatened? Our right-wing friends who say that the war is the case that makes us better than Hitler?

In quest of Maturity

Ah! So the Suffragettes finally won their vic- tory. Women of the maturity of 21 or the mature senior women which Marian produces will be al- lowed to vote--to return to Clare Hall at any time that their enlightened minds would so design. It seems that the ladies of Clare Hall have traded the hours of Cinderella for the age of Cinderella. It had become more and more obvious that there was some inequality when a 21 year old Marian maiden did not even have the hours of a 19 year old male sophomore. Noting the dissimilarity if it existed, our policy was: Student Services give our 21 year old women (with parental permission) the hours of our 19 year old men.

It is an interesting phenomenon that women everywhere in the world except Marian reach men- tal and physical maturity before their male counter- parts do. Marian is no exception to the mental problems in coping with this transition from youthfulness to adulthood. The school, however, not only breeds but takes care of the girls having these problems. There are counselors with special training in this area, and a counselor at the dormitories (The Phoenix) which is one of the two women's dormitories, is a counselor at the dormitories (The Phoenix) which is one of the two women's dormitories.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Mental Health is setting up a volunteer program at State Hospital for next semester. We have had a good response for volunteer, however not all of these students can provide direct, in person transportation. If anyone would have an evening free next semester, the University would like to provide transportation for some of these students. Mental Health will pay the driver $2.50 each time. If you are interested please call ext. 511.

Sincerely,

Leaoral Knueve

My Dearest Editor Baby:

After much research by our own "CIA" there is a great deal of evidence that a certain aonym- ous alumni of Marian College is a Black Panther and has dona- ted a financial gift to certain ra- dical journalists on your campus to print a paper called 'The Other Side.' We also have indi- cations that certain off-campus students of the University who do not feel its side is being heard. Those groups that asked our a- gents send a public congratula- tory note to the Young Repub- licans and their advisor for set- ting such a democratic precedent. This is the fulfillment of that re- quest.

Other Facts on the Side

The long-awaited conservative answer to the liberal challenge made its appearance last Friday in a middle-of-the-road editorial sheet, The Other Side. The new publication is an attempt to provide another "section of the Carbon." According to one of the staff, the publication paid to use Carbon facilities and was to publish an anonymous column. The Carbon editor wasn't aware of this arrangement, nor was the journalism class, which put the Carbon out last week. Apparently, the conserva- tive Other Side had to go underground to print!

The new paper is entirely anonymous show- case of the chemistry department, a resident of the Cincinnati area. As to Penny Stiglisch, the newspaper's frequency is dependent on the interest and response of the first issue brings. The staff felt it would be the second semester before another issue would be con- sidered.

The articles as a whole could have very well appeared in the Phoenix as well. In fact, Stephen Sweeney's ideas on the war did appear in the Oct. 14 issue of the Phoenix. (He expressed his contradictory logic at that time, also.) The enigmatic N.G.S., who ties together Guerrero, Century, and Central with a name. It is Nicholas G. Schmidt, a 1960 graduate of the school.

Generally, we are happy that the publication came out, inasmuch as the silent majority felt that they couldn't get their views adequately expressed in the existing publications. Their attitude is un- fortunate, however, both for them and for us. Despite their own paper, we must respect their views, enthusiasm and know-how to work on the established publications. This will give them an opportunity to express their ideas and in fact to change the editorial viewpoint of any one publication. It is the established papers on campus that reflect the tone of the school to outsiders, not a heroic but sporadic publication of any one interest group.
Unique Yearbook Arrives

An item Marian students have long awaited has arrived. The Marian, the campus yearbook, made its appearance after some editorial difficulties.

This year's approach is rather unique, although the theme is eavanic. The message seems to be that the student is the essence of Marian and both are looking toward the future.

The cover and section introductions are creative. Marian's interviews with Dr. Guzzetta involving topics ranging from campus expansion to the role of a Christian college is optimistic in its outlook.

The student life segment is attractive with expressive photographs. Another forward look is the article on the Student Board.

and its growing involvement and functions on campus.

A great deal of space is devoted to sports and very little to clubs. Why the Marian would fail to include its own staff and six of the campus clubs is a mystery.

Page layout has improved. For the most part the photographs and copy are well balanced. However, too many of them are of poor quality. Staged photographs and inferior cropping need improvement.

Most of the cutlines are good, but their absence and inconsistency leave some photographs vague or meaningless. We also wonder about the absence of many faculty members.

The quality of class photographs (with the exception of Paula's seniors) can be blamed on the photography layout. Several new names have improved and the Marian photographer snapped some good candid pictures of various class individuals.

The printing itself is attractive, but the large hand-lettered headlines are not well done.

Generally, this year's Marian has a very contemporary outlook and layout. The imperfections do not deprive the yearbook of its unique, artistic quality.

MM Sponsors Drug Seminar

The Student Activities Center lounge was the scene Wednesday of a Mental Health Club sponsored drugs seminar. The guest speaker, Gerald Alpern, Ph.D., of the I.U. Medical Center opened the seminar by explaining various drugs and their uses. "Marijuana," he explained, "is quite benign;" and that so far, no evidence has provided any information showing harmful effects of the weed. He then listed several types of drugs: narcotics, including "speed," methedramine, hallucinogens, LSD or acid,

Drugs and Their Effects

After his short talk, Dr. Alpern opened the floor for discussion. Topics varied from the legal status of the drugs to the methods of getting high. Emphasized again by Dr. Alpern was the benign nature of marijuana, and also its illegality. It was generally agreed by the group that a change in the existing laws was necessary to fight the organized crime aspect of the drug scene. Dr. Alpern predicted the legalization of marijuana in 'five to ten years according to my sources in California.'

Concerning LSD, Dr. Alpern stated that the government has banned the use of the drug for experiments on humans. He added that he felt the government was at fault in scarcity of knowledge of the drugs' effects, and also debunked the notion that LSD causes chromosome damage. He told that LSD can be dangerous, particularly for the 'pre-psychotic,' a person who may be able to function normally in society without having emotional difficulty but who may experience serious difficulty after taking LSD.

Dr. Alpern was ably assisted by Clark Goodwine, a college student who gave a students' point of view, mainly on the cultural aspects of the drug scene and his personal experiences.

Lilly Awards $50,000

Lilly Endowment, Incorporated, has awarded Marian College a $50,000 grant for the 1969-70 academic year.

The unrestricted gift to Marian, made for the first time in the history of the college and the endowment fund, brings to 15 the number of Indiana colleges and universities receiving such grants from Lilly Endowment. Marian has received special purpose gifts from Lilly in the past.

Marian President D.J. Gazzetta explained that because the grant is unrestricted the college will use it to defray costs on miscellaneous non-recurring capital needs connected with construction of a new $1.8 million library.

Thiesman Of ND Visits

Joe Thiesman, quarterback of the Notre Dame team that lost to the number one ranked Texas Longhorns (courtesy of UPI, AP, and Richard Nixon) made an impromptu visit to Doyle Hall last night. Thiesman was visiting Jim Przyzazny who attended the same high school with him in New Jersey.

Unfortunately for Thiesman all of Doyle Hall heard the news of his arrival before he could walk through the lobby. He was soon surrounded by starry-eyed ball fans, seemingly incapable of closing their little mouths which hung gawkishly ‘about their noses.

All attempts by Thiesman to relax were of course thwarted by his hero. The crowd that formed around the pool table when Thiesman decided to play a few games was proportionately of the magnitude of the Cotton Bowl crowd.

If anyone is the personal friend of James Street, please, for the sanity of Doyle Hall and his own personal safety, bring him incognito.
