HOMEcomings:
A DING-A-LING WEEK

by Christopher Lowe

These fans. I love 'em. The old Bunch here. This time, live from Marian College where we are wrapping up last week's homecoming events. We'll switch now to a play-by-play rundown of what happened.

"Saturday Night at Camp "M," the tension is really mounting, and here it comes, the Variety Show! Oh wow, very exciting stuff here. Tension is growing even stronger now, who could be crowned queen this year? Who could it be?! It's Jill Bakker. Applause! Oh! I can't believe it!"

Now on to Sunday: "It's the Freshmen's turn for their gala event, and what could it be?! The Dating Game! The fans love it. It makes very little sense to anyone, but hey, free movie tickets, right?"

Monday night, "We're still live (I think) and it's time for the food eating contest. The Juniors prove they're the worst dressers, but they falter in the food eating contest. The Sophomores couldn't decide whether it's less filling or tastes great, and the Freshmen decided it was neither. The Seniors on the other hand make total pigs of themselves and pull out an upset win."

Later that evening, "The Seniors are out to prove that over-eating and athletics go hand-in-hand. Oh! And they do! They win the volleyball competition. Uncanny."

Tuesday afternoon, "Oops, must be in the front row. Can't wait to see this bike race. Oh no, it's cancelled. Oh, the pain of it all... But we still have Vana White to look forward to.

The Juniors win blue-and-gold day, and they get to host and win the Wheel of Fortune. Hey, but what about these Freshmen? Such charisma, such spirit! What a class!!"

Wednesday night, and what some have dubbed the climax event of this year's homecoming week. The Juniors switch to dressing up and win that competition, and still the excitement is growing for the upcoming Mock Rock '86. The bands come out blazing. The crowd is going into hysterics, it's total chaos, dogs with cats, cats with dogs; I can't take it! There are things flying out onto the stage; I think paradise is lost! Oh no, now I'm walking in the rain (with him, with him), and I can't find my ding-a-ling. And now the crowd is screaming at me. Get paid, get my bucks!! Yeah, I need a raise! And Mony Mony wins it! Amazing."

Thursday, "And a mild upset occurs. The Seniors win class color day. The Juniors finished next with the Sophomores in third and the Freshmen going nude for the fourth consecutive day."

Later that evening: "It's time for the great Class Feud. Live action, the Seniors have

HARDWOOD ACTION

By Stacey Nicholas

Last Saturday before an excited crowd, Marian's starting five, Darren Fish, Ron Wituski, Dave Back, Steve Leonard, and Dave Thwaits, took to the court against St. Francis. St. Francis took control after the tip and scored a fast two points. The Knights quickly followed with two points of their own.

At first the Knights had some trouble getting set up. But they did settle down and by half-time had captured the lead 36-33.

The foul trouble that had plagued the aggressive Knights in the first half continued into the second half. Marian produced its starting five, and the battle for control began. Until the final ten seconds, the game never truly belonged to either team. At ten seconds, Marian was up 63-61.

As president of the Booster Club, I feel compelled to write this letter to all of the students at Marian College after the reports I have received concerning Saturday night’s dance at the Columbia Club. After an entire week of competition between the classes (the junior class won by the way), everyone was looking forward to the dance with anticipation. Booster Club members, officers, and I worked especially hard to make this week the best that it has ever been, and we felt that the place we had picked for the dance was the most elegant spot yet. Everyone that attended enjoyed the prime rib dinner and danced the night away to the music of "Profile." Unfortunately, both Dean Woodman and I received calls on Monday morning reporting damages that had taken place Saturday night. Besides the extra clean up required because of all the trash thrown around the bathrooms and the ballroom, a sink in the men’s restroom was completely destroyed. This act of vandalism by one person has reflected poorly on the entire student body, faculty, staff and administration of Marian College. It has also caused undue embarrassment to the organizers and promoters of the event. We are investigating the incident, but it would be appreciated if the person responsible could maturely confess his guilt.

It always amazes me how the students of Marian cry and complain that the administration won’t let them do this or that, or that they are too strict with some policy. But after incidents like this one, it makes me wonder if maybe the administration isn’t justified in some of their decisions. It is a real shame that an enjoyable evening had to be ruined by this one act. I only hope that it doesn’t affect future plans that other classes and clubs may have.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

I would also like to give a special thank you to my officers, Functional Board members, Mr. Henderson, Dr. Appleby, Mrs. Plascak, President Gatto, Mr. Lisle, and Dean Woodman for their help in planning Homecoming 1986.

PARENTS

by Stacey Nicholas

Parents. Much has been expressed about parents by sociologists, educators, and children. Some of it is good, while some of it is bad. Webster’s defines ‘parent’ as ‘a mother or father; one who brings forth.’

Different moments in high school are spent discussing our parents. Usually, that discussion revolves around the unfairness of a new rule they’ve handed down.

This past week I had an experience with my parents that I shall never forget. I had started coming down with a cold. Thursday I called my dad and asked him to mail my medicine. He offered to bring it to me, but I felt it was too cold to worry about it. I coughed and sneezed my way through Theology.

Upon opening my door, I found my dad, step-mom, and baby sister waiting for me with my medicine and my winter coat. Seems my dad got worried and didn’t want me to miss the homecoming dance so he “just dropped by.”

I don’t think we go home to be home. Rather we go home to be in the secure comfort of our parents. With the upcoming Thanksgiving holiday, we have some pretty special people to thank God for -- our parents.

Just the other day, I was surprised to find out that the college where I spent most of my time had changed its name! It is now... drum role, please... The University of Nayram! So anyway, I was walking around the campus trying to stay away from Batman and Robin, who were patrolling in their Batberry cruiser, and I decided to head for the Nayram Library. Penelope Igor Gladfelter was still the librarian and, as I was walking in the door, she was telling her 69 fleets of library wasps to attack this poor, helpless girl just because she owed the library $526,000 for overdue articles. The articles were for a paper due in Andy's class. He was busy at the Gun Rack, so he was no help.

Since I had forgotten my shorts, I went home and came back to watch the University of Nayram play, "Raggedy Stan and Landy." After the awesome performance, a bunch of us decided to head out for the evening. So, Gabba Wheeler, B.V. Fartington, Quincy Mitchener, Dow, and I went to Stan-Tilly's to watch Jenny dance. The surprise of my life came when I saw R.J., Batman and Robin, Kyle the crocodile, and Woody the Wonderdog in there tucking away to the music! R.J. was in such a good mood that he told Batman and Robin to shoot him! I guess the reason that the president of Nayram wasn't there was because he was busy in Death Valley, California testing his new form of vanishing cream on himself. Landy stayed with Kelly until after 4:00, at which time he left to go bowling.

Since it was getting very late, I decided to head back to Hammer Hall. When I got there, I noticed that there were no Ark.

"HOMECOMING" continued from p. 1 obviously found their ding-a-lings, while the Sophomores can't find anything. The Juniors are somewhere in Kansas, and, oh my gosh, it can't be, it, it, but, no, I won't believe it, it's the FRESHMEN! They win it. They are alive. Oh Miracles of Miracles, Wherefore art thou, Romeo?"

Friday, "And a close race is developing; the Juniors and Seniors are virtually dead, even in the race for that coveted spirit stick. The Juniors win 50's day. (Their momma's dress them funny.) They take a slight lead, but the Seniors pull a win in Mud Football. It all comes down to the cheerleading contest. The Freshmen, still celebrating Class Feud, don't show. All the Juniors have to do is beat the Seniors, and they do! The Juniors do it. It's so amazing! I can't take it any more! It's over, they have done it! Long live James Goebe!!"

Rangers to be found anywhere! Did they all quit, or did they get shot by Batman and Robin?!! Oh well, when all else fails, we can whip the horses' eyes until they sleep... or cry.

Have a happy Fourth of July!

IDOL THOUGHTS
by Pat Webb

Waiting longer than a couple of years in between releasing albums must be the trend with rock acts today. I mean, look at Boston; it took them six years in between their last release and the current one! There are three years between Genesis' last album and Invisible Touch! And just look at Led Zeppelin! It's been eight years since their last album and Invisible Touch! And just look at Led Zeppelin! It's been eight years since their last album! (Oh, they broke up? Sorry, I'm not a big zep fan.)

I'm pretty relieved when his new album Whiplash Smile came out recently since it had been three years since his Rebel Yell album came out. Now his fans can stop taking their aggressions out on old people, children, and security police and they can jam to his long-awaited album.

The album was worth the long wait however. With the credits belonging almost totally to Billy Idol and guitarist/bassist/keyboardist Steve Stevens, this album is a masterpiece. Side Five opens with "World's Forgotten Boy," which is reminiscent of "Rebel Yell" with its deep-throated vocals, screeching guitar work and hypnotic keyboards. The single "To Be a Lover" follows. This song is a refreshing change for Billy Idol and is uncharacteristic from the other songs on the album with the piano being played by Harold Faltermeyer. "Soul Standing By" and "Man For All Seasons" are Billy-Idol-type songs but his vocals and lyrical imagery are even stronger and Stevens' playing is even better than on Rebel Yell. "Sweet Sixteen" is a slow song that almost sounds Ric Ocasek-influenced. Steve Stevens did play on Ric Ocasek's new release, so maybe that's the reason why. Don't you think?

Side Six opens with the hard-driving tune "Don't Need a Gun". (Hey, maybe Billy Idol would want to be hired for Marian security!) "Beyond Belief" and "All Summer Single" show Billy Idol's growing maturity in lyrics while "One Night, One Chance" ends the album with a bang.

So, even though Billy Idol isn't as good a singer as David Lee Roth or Grace Jones, he's nothing to sneer at. Billy Idol will be touring pretty soon, so if you missed the award-winning Dietzen-Idol at Mock Rock last week, you should be able to catch the authentic punk in concert sometime in the near future. With a whiplash smile...

CARBON COPY
by Stacey Nicholas

Hi, I am a newspaper story. Actually, right now I'm just a concept. But someday I hope to be in the Carbon.

On Thursday afternoon, the staff and advisors straggle into the office for story assignments. I'll wait very patiently for the editor to call me off. Then one of the writers will choose me. What a horrible fate if no one chooses me -- file thirteen. Hey! what do ya know, one of the freshmen choose me! I hope she does a good job. I could just shine on the front page.

Over the weekend a big story breaks and I am temporarily forgotten. Monday, by noon, some of my friends, known as guest editors, have to be turned in. Staff stories like myself don't have to be turned in until Tuesday at noon. But I know my competition will be in on Tuesday evening at 8:30 p.m.

Tuesday evening with waxer and graph paper in hand, the staff begins to take over Mr. Cain's computer lab. We stories get typed, edited, waxed and laid out (with the help of Brother James). Our headlines are constructed and those of us who survive the man with the knife are finally Carbon hard copy.

Someone takes us to PIP, where photoplates are made and we are delivered back to Marian, hopefully. From here Mrs. Spallina and Ms. Blake are in charge of printing and folding us -- The Carbon.

Friday morning we are out for your enjoyment and the staff is already at work on next week's stories.

HEEERE'S MARTIN!
by Bob Bunting

After three years of hard work, Martin Spaulding is now ready to give his senior recital. As a music major, this recital is the culmination of his efforts here at Marian. It will be held in Allison Mansion, Sunday, November 23, at 3:00 p.m.

Martin will be singing six art songs, the Lord's prayer, one French piece, and an Italian piece. All of these songs will be accompanied by Sara Reid on piano, except for three of the art songs which Brian Johns will accompany with guitar.

There will also be various instrumental pieces by other students included in the recital.

It should be an enjoyable afternoon for everyone, so try to be there.

Congratulations to Martin for his achievements here at Marian College!
SATANISM: THE DEVIL'S INFLUENCE
by Michelle Scheidt

Satanism, worship of the Devil, has increased across America, especially among young people. Statistics show that over 60,000 people belong to Satanic groups. 20,000 of these are in California, which seems to be a world center for Satanic activity.

People become involved in devil worship for various reasons. Some people see the great power of the Devil and want to have that power for themselves. Dungeons and Dragons and other games attract young people to Satanism. Heavy metal rock groups also have some influence over today's youth; critics say that the music contains Satanic messages which listeners take literally.

Over 800 crimes now under investigation have been linked to worship of the Devil. Many child molestations, murders, beatings, and human and animal sacrifices are attributed to Satanic activities.

Devil worship has become a "spiritual warfare," according to Roger Burt of the Christian Counseling Association. Satanism shows the age-old conflict between good and evil.

CAFÉ EL MARIANO
by Christopher Lowe

Welcome back to Café El Mariano. Tonight we'll serve you Chicken Nuggets, a non-west Omelet, or Baked Cod (boy-o-boy). Saturday night will feature Steak, Barbecued Ribs, or Fried Shrimp.

Sunday night Mariano will serve us Campers' Chips! Maybe a Cheeseburger too if you've been good this weekend. Also, the Deli Bar will have genuine draft Roast Beef on tap (no relation to alcohol).

Monday's dinner features Pork-n-foreign rice (they think it came from the Spaniards), a Turkey from Manhattan will also be cooked and some spaghetti got in the way.

Kosher Mariano presents a grand and splendid treat for all the Campers at Camp M. Frozen Yogurt! Yes, the cold, delicious treat, is now being served at Café El Mariano. The flavors are virtually endless, and your taste buds will leave you begging for more.

Have a Happy Thanksgiving and eat lots and lots of food! Amen. Dig in!

P.S. Mariano is conducting a poll. Please check one of the following and return it to the A.R.A. office. Thank you.

_ Yes, I love egg-plant parmesian. Serve it more often.
_ No, I think it's disgusting and I don't know what it is.
_ Ah, go ahead and serve it. I commute anyway.

ATHLETES & SUBSTANCE ABUSE
by Jim McKean

"Athletes and Substance Abuse" will be the topic of a special presentation sponsored by the Marian College Psychology Department, Wednesday, December 10, at 7 p.m. in the Marian College library auditorium.

Chris Carr, an adolescent community consultant at the St. Vincent Stress Center, will be the speaker.

According to Carr, "Student athletes have all of the same problems that most adolescents have with drugs, but in addition they have special risks brought on by the demands on their time and their role of being in the public eye." Much of Carr's discussion will be on the nature of these risks, why student athletes begin to use drugs and what to do about it when they do.

Carr says he developed his interest in student athletes after spending four years playing football at Wabash College and a year coaching at Ball State while completing his master's degree in counseling.

Before joining St. Vincent's, Carr was an adolescent chemical dependency counselor at Koala Center. In his present position he provides consulting services to high schools, colleges and other organizations with regular contact with adolescents.

The program is free and open to the public. For additional information, contact the psychology department.
All students are invited to attend prayer group meetings on Sunday night at 8 p.m. in the Campus Ministry Center. One need not be Catholic to attend.

THANK YOU!! I would like to thank everyone for your prayers, thoughts and sympathy in my time of sadness. --Betsy King Volunteers needed for Sunday, November 23 from 1-4:00 p.m. to distribute food baskets at Holy Cross Church. Please contact Sr. Rosemary in the Campus Ministry Office. Please share your time with the less fortunate in this season of Thanksgiving.

If you missed the earlier CATHEDRAL TOUR with History Professor James Divita, you are welcome to join him at 1:30 p.m., Thursday, November 20. RSVP

HAVING TROUBLE? NEED A TUTOR? The Transition Center can help!!! We have tutors for everything from accounting to zoology. Call Extension 317 today!!

Richard Rosenfeld writes the following to all residents regarding the Campus telephone service:

Recently we experienced a problem with the service of our campus telephone system. On Monday evening, November 17, we had a problem with receiving incoming calls to each extension, and the calls had to be received through the switchboard and manually transferred to the proper extension.

We thank you for your patience and apologize for any inconvenience this situation has caused. We are currently working with AT&T and Indiana Bell Telephone to resolve the problems.

PACKAGE PICK-UP: Students, when you come to the mailroom for your packages, please have your ID and the white slip you received telling you that you have a package. You will not receive your package unless you do this! Some students do have the white slip and I appreciate this. I would like to see your ID because it gives more security. Thank you! --Sister

Dr. Louis C. Gatto has been president of Marian College since 1971. Dr. Gatto received his B.A. from St. Mary's College; his M.A. from Case Western Reserve; and his Ph.D. from Loyola University. He is the college's fifth president since its founding in 1851.

St. Francis was fouled, and they were not to be messed with at the free-throw line. One free-throw was made, and the other was missed. St. Francis gained control of the rebound and put it up for two points. With four seconds left, Marian couldn't pull it off. The final score, 64-63.

The Knights played a good game against St. Francis. Senior guard Ron Wituski aided the team with his hustle on both defense and offense. Steve Leonard, junior forward, was a big help offensively with his shooting ability. Freshmen Sean Vandeventer and Rick Russell put forth impressive performances for their first collegiate game.

The team's next game is November 24, at Hanover.

Vicky Kraft  Jim Ridenour

by Scott Reinhardt

Last week Vicky Kraft and Jim Ridenour were elected as Sophomore and Junior Commuter Representative respectively.

Kraft wishes to bring the "commuters" closer to the on-campus student body through better communication and involvement.

Ridenour feels that the commuter students are not receiving a fair hearing by the campus as a whole.

"My first goal is to see a real improvement in the conditions in the Canteen," added Ridenour.
DREAM FULFILLED
by Michelle Scheidt

Seeing Tai Babilonia and Randy Gardner win the 1979 World Figure Skating Championship proved an inspiration for Trisha Miller. Miller, currently a Marian college freshman, began her ice skating career shortly after seeing Babilonia and Gardner.

The ice dancing Miller participates in consists of a series of tests; the skater tests approximately every six months, attempting to move up to higher levels. Miller is currently at the pre-sliver dance level. These tests qualify skaters for different levels of competition.

Miller has participated in two skating competitions. In 1984 she took fifth place with a solo dance at the Indiana State Figure Skating Competition. A year later, she captured a silver medal, winning second place at the same competition.

Saturday, Miller will gain new experience by competing at State Competition with a partner, Marty Storm. She is enthusiastic about the upcoming competition: “I intend to do my very best, even though I have had my moments of absolute nervous breakdown.”

Miller, a member of the Winter Club of Indianapolis for 2 years, has worked hard to earn her current position. Her coach, Sandy Lamb, has been a source of great help and inspiration. Practicing 9 hours a week shows the dedication she has to her sport.

FALL AWARDS
by Stacey Nicholas

During half-time of Saturday’s homecoming game, fall sports awards were presented.

Most Valuable Player (MVP) for golf is Kevin Conley. Amy Beckham and Julie Schoening are co-MVP’s in volleyball. Volleyball’s Mental Attitude award was earned by Renee Gilmour. Most Improved player went to Julie Nebbirolli. Schoening and Beckham received district honors and Schoening was selected for Athletic All American. Kris Sweeney and Schoening were also honored as seniors.

Bobbi Tucker was awarded MVP for women’s tennis. The Hustle Award and Most Improved Player was presented to Katie Lynch. MVP for men’s tennis went to David Cassis. Cassis, Clark Griffin, J.R. Spellman and John Joven were honored as graduating seniors. This year’s MVP for cross country went to Jerry Bessler.

I.M. TOURNEY
by Michelle Scheidt

Intramural football tournaments began on Wednesday. The two men’s leagues and the women’s league will compete for the championship on Sunday afternoon.

During the past few weeks, the intramural teams have not had great success. The weather had more victories than the football squads.

The MVP’s from the women’s league are Jill Davis of "The Muggers" and Kris Sweeney of "The Bud Lite Crew."

INTRAMURAL B.BALL BEGINS
by Michelle Scheidt

Beginning immediately after Thanksgiving break, the intramural department will offer men’s and women’s 3-on-3 basketball games. Play will lead up to the National Schick Superhoops Contest later in the season.

Clare Hall R.D., Karrie Rieman, has announced the opening of two R.A. positions for the upcoming spring semester. Information concerning necessary qualifications along with application materials are available in the Student Services Office. The application deadline is Dec. 5.
HELP WANTED
The Old Spaghetti Factory, 210 S. Meridian, is now accepting applications for part-time positions. Ideal for students. No experience necessary. Apply at the double black door on Georgia Street, 1:00-4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, or call 635-6325.
