Herbe Inducted President
Of Unofficial Student Board

In front of a crowd of less than 50 interested students, the 1970-71 Student Board was inducted last Friday. Following a 20 minute delay while a search was made for several delinquents participants, David Haire introduced the outgoing Board members, or "Chapel Board." Haire gave an account of his year as Student Board President, characterizing this year's Board as one which moved more fully into the realm of "political activity and personal freedom" and mentioned the possible future actions as the dress code removal, the UBI Constitution passage, and the working bread-and-water fast in the chapel. Before passing the gavel to newly-elected President James Herbe, Haire remarked, "Hopeful- ly student government will be alive and well and will continue to be a rigid and forceful organization.

After introducing his Board members, Herbe read from a memo dated April 29 to the Student Board from Dean Roy Pfiille. The memo concerned the eligibility of Stacy Smith's position of National Student Coordinator.

Mr. Herbe made these points concerning Smith's election:
1. The new Student Board has no jurisdiction in this matter. The constitution grants no procedure for removal of a Board member. We have no choice but to wait Stacy Smith.
2. According to the Student Handbook, an overall 2.5 grade average is required for Board officers. However, according to the constitution of the Student Board, the post of National Student Coordinator does not fall under the qualification of Board officers.
3. Student Services can only operate on academic or disciplinary grounds to prove a misinterpretation of the Student Board Constitution rests solely with us.

Two special awards were given during the installation of the Marjorie Turner for outstanding service to both the 1968-1969 and 1969-1970 Board; and one to David Haire, inscribed "A Loaf of Bread. A Glass of Water. Right on."

Saturday 'Soul Day'

Union for Black Identity (UBI) will sponsor Black Culture Day May 9 in lieu of Black History week which was cancelled in February.

Becky Ramsey, chairman, the theme of the day is Black Saturday. The day will open with a regular Operation Breadbasket meeting held on campus at 9:30 a.m. in Marian Hall Auditorium. A Black Business News display is scheduled all day, approximately 9:30 a.m.-7 p.m. in the Intramural Gym.

An afternoon of discussion workshops from 1:30-5 p.m. will center on recognition of the individual, his art, and contemporary Black art. Group leaders include prominent local Black citizens: Richard Bailey in literature, Michael Rossman and Wilma Green in drama, George Brown in education, Melvin Lee in urban affairs, Charles Hayes in art, and David Baker from Indiana University in music. Marian students Terence Smith, Roger Lyons and William Brodnax will also lead discussions. The discussions will be followed by a 'soul dinner' in the cafeteria. Tickets are being sold to interested members of the Indianapolis community.

At 8 p.m. an original composition of anthologies of poetry entitled 'voices of Fire' composed by Representative of WTL will be acted out by UBI members, IU drama students and some local citizens in the SAC auditorium. Following the WTL, SAC will follow. All are invited.

Ms. States Miss Ramsey on the purpose of Black Saturday, "We need to appreciate the past history of Indianapolis and the Marian community with the culture developed by the Black man. We're proud of our culture. We want complete community and participation in this event, not have it be just another Black observance day."

 Doyle Elections
Faracial ?

Patrick Oliver, former secretary of the Doyle Hall Council, has charged that the dorm elections were a farce. Mr. Oliver stated that there were numerous instances of illegal procedure followed in the elections.

Calling the biggest sham in Doyle Hall history, Oliver elaborated on the discrepancies. According to him the voting list was not kept properly. He also stated that the ballots were not counted legally as there were unauthorized people in the room while the counting was done.

Oliver's main complaint is that Harry Groton, the dorm president at that time, had instructed him to run the election. Oliver completed the task and when the polls closed, he went to collect and count the ballots. Upon arrival at the voting station, Oliver discovered that the ballots had already been removed and Mr. Groton was in the process of counting them. Angered over not being informed of the action, Oliver left the office. The following day he heard reports that unauthorized people had voted more than once. At this time he questioned Mr. Groton concerning the whereabouts of the ballots and was informed that they had been mysteriously disposed of.

On Thursday evening Herman Baerens and Harry Groton instructed Oliver to call a meeting to remedy the situation. This he attempted to do but he could not obtain a quorum and thus nothing was done. On Friday the new board took office. Feeling powerless now, Oliver stated that he still favors another election.

When asked to comment on the matter, Groton stated that although Oliver was placed in charge of the election, no election committee was formed and the two remaining executive officers, Groton and John Chakov, decided to count the votes. This they did and when during the course of the tabulation, Groton discovered that there were unauthorized persons in the room, he instructed them to leave.

Groton added that the reason of Oliver was not allowed to vote was that he was a candidate in election.

Mr. Groton said that he had no reason to believe that people had voted more than once. When asked why the ballots were disposed of, Groton replied that there was a majority tabulation for the election and that they saw no reason to keep them.

Groton stated, We agree that last year's council did not perform the duties concerning the elections as well as they should have had, but that shouldn't invalidate the elections. Any further action is up to President Larry Gannon.

News In Brief
Yearbook Needs Ad Salesmen

In interested in selling ads for the Yearbook? The staff needs you to help finance this year's Marian. Ads are sold on the basis of 1/8, 1/4, 1/2, and full page copy and are priced at $25, $40, $60, and $100 respectively. To increase interest, the yearbook is offering a 10% commission.

For further information and lists of prospective advertisers, contact Marsha Melz, Ext. 500.

Frosh-Soph Picnic at Spring Mill Park

The freshman and sophomore classes will be leaving for Spring Mill Park, Thursday at 9 a.m. Buses and cars will provide transportation. The cost of the trip will be $2.25 per person; two meals will be provided and anyone can bring a guest. The group will return at 6 p.m.

Thirteen Senior Honored

Thirteen Marian College seniors are new members of Delta Epsilon Sigma, national scholastic honor society for students attending Catholic-related colleges and Universities.

Membership criteria include outstanding scholastic achievement, promotion of intellectual leadership within each member's own interest area.

Murder

'Regrettably but unavoidably, several individuals were killed and a number of others were wounded.' Sympathetic words of Adjutant General Daniel Croton of the Ohio National Guard on the killing of four Kent State students yesterday.

President Nixon's escalation of war into Cambodia to "de-escalate" war is an unfortunate example of the logic which has been governing our conduct in Vietnam. To pacify, we must destroy; the liberators must become criminals; peacekeepers must be murderers, or at least Communists.

The National Student Association has called a strike against business as usual today. At Marian, the Student Board encourages the student body, as members of NSA, to boycott classes for which, I feel, has a wise comment on the futility of war. These lines are taken from a collection of poems by Stephen Crane.

Do not weep, maiden, for war is kind.

Because your lover threw wild hands toward the sky
Because your father tumbled in the yellow trenches
For me, my mind's eyes

Mother whose heart hung humbled as a button

On the bright splendid scum of your son,

Do not weep, babe, for war is kind
Because your father tumbled in the yellow trenches
Raged his breast, gulped and died,

Do not weep, War is kind.

Swift blazing flag of the regiment
Eagle with crest of red and gold,
These men were born to drill and die.
Point for them the virtue of the slaughter.
Make plain to them the excellence of killing
And a field where a thousand corpes lie.

Hoarse, booming drums of the regiment,
Little souls who thirst for fight,
These men were born to drill and die.
The unexplained glory flies above them,
Great is the battle-good, great, and his kingdom—
A field where a thousand corpes lie.

Thomas Gannon

Today in front of the SAC rally is in progress demonstrating against war and war. We must remain morally indecisive when a society shows overt disregard for human life. When a society places property value over human values all men are involved.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

This letter is being written in response to Mr. George Boreus's article in the last issue of the Phoenix. (It has been noted in some circles that you are no longer tagging his columns "Other Voices."
Significant?) Mr. Boreus seems that instead, "We must change the structure. Once this is done the rest will follow." It is difficult to read his article without getting the implication that he does not see the sincerity and the quality of the value systems held by those garbage pickers down by the lake.

Perhaps the accusation of bias will be lifted somewhat if I state here that I have been a member of the Organized Student March Upon Trach. I am a member of a group of students who feel the need to protest. Mr. Boreus did not (this week) come near to personally hurting my feelings or cutting down something I have tried to build up. But if I were an active member of this club, I can imagine how the article would appear.

Evidently, Mr. Boreus doesn't care for this bandwagon because it happens to look like a garbage truck, 'Bandwagon' is a relative term in my opinion. Perhaps Mr. Boreus is attempting to logically point out that if it can be so seen, then doubt can be cast on other points of view there are lots of bandwagons, and no one (especially the philosophical Mr. Boreus) can claim to never, or to never again, have ridden on one.

Mr. Boreus's article left him wide open for a lot of angry comments and legitimate challenge. It is difficult not to indulge in the fun of answering so easy a target. But that is not my purpose. My purpose is simply one of ordinary defense: a clear up or point out of one significant fact out of the many Mr. Boreus has overlooked. The fact is that the Biology and Conservation Club began its clean-up job long before it was the popular thing to do—like last year and before that. The fact is, that if there is a bandwagon, a number of biology majors and interested students were driving it a long time before the rest of us saw the need to jump on. Perhaps this is the problem that this time the "right people" aren't behind the wheel?

Sister David Mary Bowman, O.S.F.,

To the Editor:

This is an answer to the article printed in the Phoenix by George Boreus concerning pollution. I am concerned with the problem of pollution not out of fear but out of concern for my fellowman, his health and enjoyment of a cleaner, better world. I believe this to be vital part in being a human being. Here, I want to defend the work of pollution fighters.

Amid the ever-increasing scientific society, we solve problems with scientific methods and measure success in the amounts produced. Too much emphasis is placed on this one aspect and one can see that we need to change our system. The time in the meantime we have created problems, pollution among them. When we change this system will the "rest follow" simply, amid the mess, and in spite of pollution workers, I have not been able to solve if we the problems that are here with us?

An important point concerning the environment was brought up during the teach-in. If society doesn't care about its environment and doesn't want it cleaned up then the movement will "fall in the dirt" it is trying to clean up. The same principle works for changing a value system. If society doesn't want to change, then it won't. But since it obviously needs changing, shouldn't the ill of the value system be brought out so that the then educated society will want to change?

Mr. Boreus: We see a piece of land in terms of how many acres of soy beans it will produce.

(continued on page 3)

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

This letter is being written in response to Mr. George Boreus's article in the last issue of the Phoenix. (It has been noted in some circles that you are no longer tagging his columns "Other Voices."
Significant?) Mr. Boreus seems that instead, "We must change the structure. Once this is done the rest will follow." It is difficult to read his article without getting the implication that he does not see the sincerity and the quality of the value systems held by those garbage pickers down by the lake.

Perhaps the accusation of bias will be lifted somewhat if I state here that I have been a member of the Organized Student March Upon Trach. I am a member of a group of students who feel the need to protest. Mr. Boreus did not (this week) come near to personally hurting my feelings or cutting down something I have tried to build up. But if I were an active member of this club, I can imagine how the article would appear.

Evidently, Mr. Boreus doesn't care for this bandwagon because it happens to look like a garbage truck, 'Bandwagon' is a relative term in my opinion. Perhaps Mr. Boreus is attempting to logically point out that if it can be so seen, then doubt can be cast on other points of view there are lots of bandwagons, and no one (especially the philosophical Mr. Boreus) can claim to never, or to never again, have ridden on one.

Mr. Boreus's article left him wide open for a lot of angry comments and legitimate challenge. It is difficult not to indulge in the fun of answering so easy a target. But that is not my purpose. My purpose is simply one of ordinary defense: a clear up or point out of one significant fact out of the many Mr. Boreus has overlooked. The fact is that the Biology and Conservation Club began its clean-up job long before it was the popular thing to do—like last year and before that. The fact is, that if there is a bandwagon, a number of biology majors and interested students were driving it a long time before the rest of us saw the need to jump on. Perhaps this is the problem that this time the "right people" aren't behind the wheel?

Sister David Mary Bowman, O.S.F.,

To the Editor:

This is an answer to the article printed in the Phoenix by George Boreus concerning pollution. I am concerned with the problem of pollution not out of fear but out of concern for my fellowman, his health and enjoyment of a cleaner, better world. I believe this to be vital part in being a human being. Here, I want to defend the work of pollution fighters.

Amid the ever-increasing scientific society, we solve problems with scientific methods and measure success in the amounts produced. Too much emphasis is placed on this one aspect and one can see that we need to change our system. The time in the meantime we have created problems, pollution among them. When we change this system will the "rest follow" simply, amid the mess, and in spite of pollution workers, I have not been able to solve if we the problems that are here with us?

An important point concerning the environment was brought up during the teach-in. If society doesn't care about its environment and doesn't want it cleaned up then the movement will "fall in the dirt" it is trying to clean up. The same principle works for changing a value system. If society doesn't want to change, then it won't. But since it obviously needs changing, shouldn't the ill of the value system be brought out so that the then educated society will want to change?

Mr. Boreus: We see a piece of land in terms of how many acres of soy beans it will produce.

(continued on page 3)
Nixon Termed Shortsighted

by Michael Quinn

'Shortsighted' was the term used by Senator J. William Fulbright, in a speech at Indiana Central College last Friday, in characterizing the decision of the Nixon Administration to send American troops into Cambodia in an apparent widening of the Vietnam conflict. Fulbright spoke to a crowd of approximately thirty-five hundred at a protest sponsored by the Students for Peace, an organization calling for immediate withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam and advocating resistance to American militarism.

Fulbright, a Democrat from Arkansas and chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is considered to be among the best known and most influential critics of American military involvement in Southeast Asia. He has also expressed dissection of views United States policy toward Latin America, particularly the intervention during the 1967 war.

In his speech the senator expressed his belief that President Nixon has followed the example of his predecessor by attempting to secure a victory in an all-out effort to crush the forces of the Viet Cong and North Vietnam. Fulbright called attention to the previous optimists of the American military leaders in 1965 when they said the war could be won by a quick military victory. In addition, Fulbright seriously questioned the nation's wisdom and legality under international law of the present student studying in Germany. Last semester he wrote of his experiences in Europe.

The Marian Yearbook was cited for two honorable mentions in the area of 'Best Cover' and 'Best Over-all Photography.' Both publications received the awards last Saturday at the ICPA convention held at Franklin College.

The convention consisted of a series of panels and speakers dealing with the problems encountered by the student press. Phoenix - editor-in-chief Michael Holz participated in the panel 'Student publications rights, freedom.' Phoenix staff attending the convention included Thomas Cannon, William Collel, Lynn Schwartz and advisor Sr. Elizabeth Pelleman.

continued from page 2)

not in terms of its beauty and never as a gift form God. There are those who see a field of soybeans as the results of hours of planting dead work and God's blessings. This beauty is as immeasurable as the beauty of a Michelangelo to an artist. Beauty lies in the appreciative eye of the beholder.

Beauty and health are the reasons for the anti-pollution movement. An example will show how the dead need a different look. One botanist from Indiana was taking a sample of polluted water for lab tests and as he bent over the sample, he accidentally knocked over his pocket. Instead of sucking it, it stood in the scum. Beauty? Health hazards are obvious.

One other comment was raised concerning the production of 'scrap of soybeans.' When a farmer has a number of acres, say ten, for soybean production, he will not attempt to see how many acres he can produce. For even with the most advanced technology, he will still have only ten acres.

Mary Ellen Bittner

THE STOKELY ESTATE POOL awaits action as the freshman sponsored pool party approaches. The party from 7:30-10 p.m. will follow a scavenger hunt from 6:30 p.m. tomorrow. Teams should register with freshman officers.

Pool Opens Tomorrow

The operation of the pool, lighting, guards, water change, and general maintenance of equipment costs Marian College in excess of $3000 per year. In addition to the painting job is required every other year. Extra such as roof repair this year will cost $273. Water alone costs $1.26 per summer.

In the past, no one administrator had the assigned responsibility of the outdoor pool. Beginning two years ago, Col. Wagner, as controller, began operating the pool through Booster Club and volunteer guards. Problems with the supervision schedule have led to a new system. Clean and the Booster Club and volunteer guards.

The 48 by 100 foot outdoor pool is in use for students, the indoor pool in Madonna Hall will be used by the sisters.

Care-a-thon Colossal!

A 'Care-a-thon' to raise funds for Operation Uphill will climax National Uplift Week May 9-17.

Mary Knoll and Sue Smith are chairmen of the daylong activity which will help to meet the $15,510 expenses for the summer portion of the Uplift Program. The Care-a-thon activities include skits and records from 7:30 a.m. May 10 to 2:00 a.m. May 11. As a take-off on the Cable Television of live television, the 24-hour-a-day, 7-day-a-week show will accept contributions while the entertainment continues in the gym.

The eight-week Uplift Program will afford inner city students the opportunity to obtain a new look at education while living on the Marian College campus.

John O'Kane is Project Director for Uphill and Kenny Rogers is his assistant. The six summertime counselors who will assist in the program are: Linda Scott, Sheila Farrell, Mary Knoll, Richard Geithner, Barry Smith and Kazimierczak.

MC Natters Seek Backing

The Marian College Tennis team (yes, we have one!) has gotten off to a slow start. Carrying an 0 and 6 record, the team just can’t seem to break out of its slump. This record is quite deceiving, however. The team’s strongest point lies in its doubles partnerships. Joe Lustig and Dan Kernan show the best with six wins in seven outings. Dan Eha and Hal Mahar lips sport a three and four record.

The single team consists of Dan Eha, Joe Lustig, Hal Mahar, Dan Kernan and Pete O’Conell, playing in that order. In their last match with Butler they lost six out of seven games. But again the doubles teams of Joe Lustig and Dan Kernan won the four game.

Publications Commended

An award of Honorable Mention was made to the Marian College Phoenix for a column Io come about Jack Lane. The award was presented by the Indiana Collegiate Press Association. Mr. Lane is an exchange volunteer party Sunday.

The patients at Stoney Creek Hospital are sponsoring a party for volunteers at Marian, Indi ana Central College, and walsh College Sunday. Anyone who has volunteered throughout the year at any time is invited to attend. Reservations must be made in advance with Kathy Schwilch, Ext. 248.

The patient of LaRue Carter, brother of LaRue Carter, has accepted the Derby winner. But if you bet ten dollars on a horse at race 6 p.m., you're a Spartan. But, if you're like us 50 MC students, worry not, for the betting is simple. You can pay only three dollars to be in the infield. Remember to take your own money, kennel, money, money, stomach, Purple Passion, rest area and patience when dining, you won't think of making you want to leave the zoo.

We (bowl quantitatively South Carolina, here's just the best of the Kentucky Derby TV sitting in leather chairs in the 6:30 p.m. your skin, kidney, nepthys, monopoly, a beach umbrella, plastic bags, transpilars, an ambulance and pool patrol. With all this, you should be able to stand it for a few hours if a base ball out of nowhere doesn't suddenly land in your $15.00 patience.

There's at least a half-hour between each race (there are 10) so you have almost enough time to trample to place a bet or collect one; rarely do you collect one. Don't expect to win a fortune unless you own the Derby winner.

If you can stick it out from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the races, 6 p.m., you're a Spartan. But, if you're like us 50 MC students, worry not, for the betting is simple. You can pay only three dollars to be in the infield. Remember to take your own money, kennel, money, money, stomach, Purple Passion, rest area and patience when dining, you won't think of making you want to leave the zoo.

We (bowl quantitatively South Carolina, here's just the best of the Kentucky Derby TV sitting in leather chairs in the 6:30 p.m. your skin, kidney, nepthys, monopoly, a beach umbrella, plastic bags, transpilars, an ambulance and pool patrol. With all this, you should be able to stand it for a few hours if a base ball out of nowhere doesn't suddenly land in your $15.00 patience.

There's at least a half-hour between each race (there are 10) so you have almost enough time to trample to place a bet or collect one; rarely do you collect one. Don't expect to win a fortune unless you own the Derby winner.

If you can stick it out from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the races, 6 p.m., you're a Spartan. But, if you're like us 50 MC students, worry not, for the betting is simple. You can pay only three dollars to be in the infield. Remember to take your own money, kennel, money, money, stomach, Purple Passion, rest area and patience when dining, you won't think of making you want to leave the zoo.

We (bowl quantitatively South Carolina, here's just the best of the Kentucky Derby TV sitting in leather chairs in the 6:30 p.m. your skin, kidney, nepthys, monopoly, a beach umbrella, plastic bags, transpilars, an ambulance and pool patrol. With all this, you should be able to stand it for a few hours if a base ball out of nowhere doesn't suddenly land in your $15.00 patience.

There's at least a half-hour between each race (there are 10) so you have almost enough time to trample to place a bet or collect one; rarely do you collect one. Don't expect to win a fortune unless you own the Derby winner.

If you can stick it out from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the races, 6 p.m., you're a Spartan. But, if you're like us 50 MC students, worry not, for the betting is simple. You can pay only three dollars to be in the infield. Remember to take your own money, kennel, money, money, stomach, Purple Passion, rest area and patience when dining, you won't think of making you want to leave the zoo.

We (bowl quantitatively South Carolina, here's just the best of the Kentucky Derby TV sitting in leather chairs in the 6:30 p.m. your skin, kidney, nepthys, monopoly, a beach umbrella, plastic bags, transpilars, an ambulance and pool patrol. With all this, you should be able to stand it for a few hours if a base ball out of nowhere doesn't suddenly land in your $15.00 patience.
Rising Fortunes Descend

The fortunes of the Marian College golf team alternately rose and fell this week with a win against Rose Poly and losses to Butler, Ball State and Indiana Central.

Although plagued by a 45-minute thunderstorm Tuesday, Marian handed a respectable Rose Poly team (who came into the match with a 4-match winning streak) 108. Mike Komplance, senior golfer and captain of the squad, was medalist, posting an even par 70 over his home South Grove course. Mike Pacheco and Terry Wiseman and sophomore Dick Buegler also posted strong scores, and all team members won points in a good effort. The final score was 108.

Friday’s story was a bit different. Difficult wind conditions and the poor conditions of the golf course contributed to high scores for the Knights, who met Ball State, Butler, and Indiana Central at Riverside. Mike Komplance was again low for the Knights with 75, followed by Terry Wiseman, 78, and Mike Pacheco and Dick Buegler, 81. The loss to I.C.C. was a heartbreaker -96-80, but the Knights were tumbled by Ball State 106-15 and Butler 13-5. At this time the team record stands at 3-7.

IU Pits ‘Little 500’

An atmosphere of fun and merriment will prevail Friday and Saturday at Indiana University’s Bloomington campus, as the annual ‘Little 500’ weekend swings into action with a jam-packed variety of festivities.

‘Kickoff’ for the array of gala activities will be Friday at 3 p.m., in I.U.’s new stadium, where the Cream and Crimson football game, the traditional intrasquad clash concluding spring practice, will get underway.

Knights Enjoy Second Game Winning Streak

by William Gillespie

Marian’s baseball team swept both ends of a doubleheader from Anderson College at Anderson Saturday by identical 8-2 scores, as the Knights streaked to their third win in a row and their 11th in 12 games.

The Marian team went into town ready to face a tough show from Anderson’s highly touted pitching staff. Their remarkably low team earned run average indicated that Anderson Coach Carl Enkine, a former pitching great for the Brooklyn Dodgers, had tutored his boys well.

When Coach John Harkin’s Marian crew boarded the bus to leave town, Mr. Enkine was last seen frantically digging through his old pitching notes, seeking a method of handling courageous Knights errant who brandish loaded baseball bats.

In their 8-2 twin killings of Anderson, the Knights rocked six opposing pitchers for twenty-one hits, twelve in the first game and nine in the second.

In the second encounter, Mike Mills checked superbly, going the complete route, and matching Brunette’s six-hitter, to record his second win of the season.

Statistics released last week by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) reveal that Mike Brunette and Mike Eimer are at the head of the pack among individual performers in District 21. Brunette has the lowest earned-run average, allowing merely 1.00 earned runs per nine innings, and Eimer paces the district in hitting, ripping the horsehide at an incredible .449 clip.

In addition to Marian, other teams in NAIA District 21 are Indiana Central, Anderson, Tri-State, Earlham, Grace, Manchester, and Franklin.

The Knights resume their bulky schedule this week with two doubleheaders on their home turf. This afternoon they take on Ball State and Saturday afternoon they host Marion College in twin-ball attractions.

The initial four innings of the opener, however, showed another streaking pitching performance by an Anderson moundman. Only 13 of them were layed via the strike-out route.

The sole Marian player to break the four-inning spell cast by Anderson pitcher Scott Kirksey was Richie Granthor, who chucked a 35-pack among individual performers in District 21. Brunette has the lowest earned-run average, allowing merely 1.00 earned runs per nine innings, and Eimer paces the district in hitting, ripping the horsehide at an incredible .449 clip.

In addition to Marian, other teams in NAIA District 21 are Indiana Central, Anderson, Tri-State, Earlham, Grace, Manchester, and Franklin.

The Knights resume their bulky schedule this week with two doubleheaders on their home turf. This afternoon they take on Ball State and Saturday afternoon they host Marion College in twin-ball attractions.

The initial four innings of the opener, however, showed another streaking pitching performance by an Anderson moundman. Only 13 of them were layed via the strike-out route.

The sole Marian player to break the four-inning spell cast by Anderson pitcher Scott Kirksey was Richie Granthor, who chucked a 35-pack among individual performers in District 21. Brunette has the lowest earned-run average, allowing merely 1.00 earned runs per nine innings, and Eimer paces the district in hitting, ripping the horsehide at an incredible .449 clip.