On the Labor Day Weekend 1987, Marian College opened its doors to the incoming freshman for the start of the fall semester. Hopeful faces sought out familiar or friendly faces. Crates, suitcases, furniture, and fans were lugger to dorm rooms by anyone who could be recruited. A typical college move-in day; the beginning of what promises to be an exciting year.

Orientation to the campus and college life began with a meeting for new students in the Library Auditorium where the freshman curse was introduced. All freshmen were ordered to wear "Rambo" headbands proclaiming their status as the class of '81. The headbands itched and the yellow lettering quickly came off when exposed to sweaty foreheads. Several people were caught bareheaded and were promptly forced to imitate various farm animals. At the freshman mixer, an Armadillo escaped but was recaptured and tortured at the second orientation session.

Library orientation did not last long and consisted mostly of questions about the interior design of the library. The knightly hunt gave everyone a nightly tour of the campus (with a guy or gal recently met). One of the winners was from (where else?) Brookville.

Everyone perked out at the Ice Cream Social on all the ice cream and toppings needed to gain the freshman 15. Between mouthfuls of ice cream, Michelle Thompson and Mike DeRosa discover a new twist while playing frisbee.

MARIAN DAY PROCLAIMED

by Scott Reinhardt

Last Friday the mayor of Indianapolis, William Hudnut, III, helped kick off Marian College's celebration of 50 years in Indianapolis by proclaiming September 4 "Marian College 50th Anniversary Day."

The proclamation was presented to Dr. Louis Gatto, President of Marian College, by Deputy Mayor John Krause during a faculty workshop in the Marian College library auditorium.

The proclamation cited Marian for its 50 years of service and involvement in the Indianapolis community. Hudnut also commented quite a bit of socializing went on among freshmen and upperclassmen who had begun to arrive.

On Monday, registration began for those unfortunate many who had not had the opportunity to register earlier. It was a merry-go-round of students, but the worst was the mug shots taken for the I.D. cards -- ick! The Golden Knight information meeting in Clare Hall Lounge produced many interested people. Look out admissions!

Freshman Testing was held that afternoon to assess the students. The transition center staff will meet with each individual to go over the test results and will help with studies, if necessary.

LETTERS TO THE EDITORS

DOYLE HALL RESIDENTS

It's that time of year again. Time to start complaining about the bathrooms, the halls, or anything else in the dorm that you pay for and think should be better. It is also time to get actively involved in dorm functions. In other words, it is time for Doyle Hall Council to start planning activities for another year. It is time for each wing to find a leader among themselves to represent that wing on Doyle Hall Council. It's more than fun; it's a challenge!

So come on freshmen, be brave and take a position on the council. We have an exciting new R.D., so let's make this year the best!

Shawn Nash
President

P.S. On behalf of the council we would like to thank the administration for the completion of the Doyle Hall basement. It looks great!

NEW CLUB ON CAMPUS

Look out academic clubs, there is a new club on campus... the Accounting Society. Join now and sign up for the field trip on October 23, 1987, to Allison's Gas Turbine Division, a General Motors Corporation. You will also enjoy speeches from several accounting organizations who will be coming on campus.

Please come to the Activities Fair on Wednesday, September 16, to see what we have to offer. The accounting fall social is on the school calendar for Monday, September 22. The place and time will be announced later.

With our 90 accounting majors, we hope to be the largest academic club on campus. The club hopes to draw people who are undecided about a major and to orient and guide them to an accounting career.

So, if you are an accounting major, business major, or someone who can't decide on a major, take the first step in finding out more about the accounting profession: join the Accounting Society.

Shawn Nash
P.S. Looks good on a resume too!

THE CARBON IS...

As the new year rolls in, various aspects of our life begin to take on new meaning even as the old is clarified. Such is the case with the Carbon. The Carbon is an open forum for all members of Marian College, as well as a source of news and information. Views expressed in print may or may not be the views of the Carbon editors, the Student Board or the college administration.

This year, as in the past, the Carbon is supported by funds appropriated by the Student Board from student fees. Although funded by the Student Board, the Carbon is separate from the Board. The Constitution of the Student Board explicitly safeguards the editorial freedom of the student press from arbitrary reprisal by students, faculty, or administration.

The Carbon encourages students to be actively involved in the newspaper in a number of ways. Students may address letters to the editors, join the staff, and suggest stories. Letters to the editors should not exceed 150 words, must include the writer's name and signature, and must be dated. Editors reserve the right to edit all letters for content, clarity and brevity.

In short, the Carbon is defined mainly by student news; its value and content are determined by the students of Marian College. Have a good year.

TIPS FOR THE FROSH
by Chris Beals

Welcome back upperclassmen and welcome freshmen. Now that orientation is over and classes have begun, here are a few helpful tips.

The most important concerns the shower situation. When the shower makes a funny noise or if it starts getting unusually hot, someone has flushed the toilet. If you think your room is hot now, wait until the winter months. Rooms will either be a toaster oven or an icebox; be prepared for the harsh climate conditions in your room.

Currently the cafe food is not that bad. A little bit has proven to be better than last year's. The only two foods to watch out for are, first, the unrecognizable casseroles smothered with cheese. Ham happens to be the other culprit, notorious leftover, being served for breakfast, then on sandwiches at lunch.

FROM OUR HEART TO YOURS
by Lucy Griner

As the new year begins, faces of two longtime faculty members are missing due to serious heart problems. Professor Denis Kelly, professor of Philosophy and Professor Bill Cisco, professor of Sociology have both been in and out of the hospital for the past few months.

Kelly, who has been teaching at Marian for 25 years, is at home recuperating from his second quadrupl bypass surgery. Kelly's family has had a history of heart problems, as both of his parents died young because of heart problems. His first bypass surgery was eleven years ago when his life was saved by the vast medical advances of that time. That surgery had typical success, but about a year ago Kelly's symptoms started reoccurring. In spite of fear of complications Kelly underwent his second bypass surgery in late August. Through a combination of Kelly's hopefulness and strength, the inspiration of Fr. Bryan, and the support of other colleagues, Kelly's second major bypass surgery has been a success to this date. If all continues the way it is, Kelly should return to teaching in the second semester.

Cisco has also suffered with serious coronary problems. Throughout the last several months, he has been faced with a heart blockage. Saint Vincent's Hospital administered a diagnosis and therapy from August 28 to September 5. Diagnosis and therapy are still in process. If all goes well, surgery may not be needed as other methods can be utilized to solve the problem.

Both men are strong but need encouragement and support throughout their trials. Notes and cards can be sent to their homes at the following addresses:

MARIAN DAY

James McKeen, Marian College Director of Public Information, stated that the proclamation allows "city leaders to recognize in a positive way Marian's accomplishments over the past 50 years."

Currently proclamations are being sought from the Pope, the Governor of Indiana and the President of the United States. Mayor Hudnut's proclamation is being displayed on the showcase on the first floor of Marian Hall.
OUR SIDE OF PARADISE
by Michelle A. Scheidt

"Better dead than red," demonstrators chanted in favor of the nuclear weapons buildup. These "pro-nuke" advocates appeared at nuclear weapons testing sites on the forty-second anniversary of the bombing of Nagasaki.

The scene makes one look at humanity as a whole, and a question emerges: What ever happened to love of neighbor? Here are a large group of people -- a significant portion of the world's population -- and some are wishing them dead. These people may be communists, but they are human beings first and foremost.

Nearly half a century ago, a similar scene began to emerge in the world. In pre-war Germany, anti-Semitism had risen to a peak; thousands of Jews were being persecuted and killed in concentration camps. The result was a world war, with its tragic ending at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. An ending which today's demonstrators are once again advocating.

It seems ludicrous that people would even consider supporting a cause such as "pro-nuke." In an age when there are enough nuclear weapons to destroy the world multiple times, everyone on earth should be looking towards peace.

"Peace," whether on an international or a personal basis, begins with the age-old "love of neighbor." "You shall love ... your neighbor as yourself," Jesus tells us (Lk 10:27). He teaches this commandment through the parable of the Good Samaritan (Lk 10:30-37). The person who helps the injured man -- "the one who treated him with compassion" -- exhibited true love of neighbor. Shouldn't all of mankind try to follow this lead?

KNIGHTLY NOTES

Information and planning meeting for all interested Accounting students. Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors welcome. Monday, September 21, 1987 at 2:30 p.m. in Room 313. If you are interested in our Co-op in Accounting program and are unable to attend this meeting, please see Tim Akin as soon as possible in the Accounting Department. Office MH 201, phone ext. 221.

Marian College students interested in representing the college to the Model United Nations Security Council to be held at Butler University October 22-24, 1987, should contact William Doherty of the History Department. There is room for six students. The History Department has paid the fees. The college has participated every year for the last seven or eight years.

LIGHTER SIDE

By: Pat Webb and Brad Landerwerlen

So, as the weather turns hotter and the nights become longer, we are back. Yes, we have all returned to Camp "M," otherwise known as Marian College. Experienced sophomores, juniors, and seniors all moved their many, many furnishings into their large air-conditioned rooms, which Pan Am visitors enjoyed immensely this past summer. The 1987 edition of the New World Encyclopedia have been placed in every upperclassperson's room totally free of charge! (However, what about the freshmen?)

As parents kiss their sons and daughters goodbye never to see them again for the next four years, the freshmen put their headbands on, which they will cherish for many years to come.

As we settle in, a feeling of tranquility settles over each and every one of us as we prepare for yet another busy, yet productive year. We are choked with emotion as we contemplate the intricacies of the life that we will experience in the next few months. We hunger.

So, we, the "Lighter Side," wish to salute you returning and arriving students! May you soar to new and exciting academic heights this semester!

P.S. Long live Dean Woodman!

WOMEN CAPTURE THIRD
By: Michelle Beno

Coach Tot ten was very pleased with her Lady Knights’ first performance of the year at the Bellarmine volleyball tournament on September fourth and fifth.

Taking third in the tourney and playing five matches, the Knights triumphed against Kentucky Westland in two exhilarating games, Oakland City twice, and Bellarmine once, while losing to Georgetown and Kentucky State.

"They played well together," commented coach Totten, "and they also played an outstanding game against Bellarmine."

GET SET INTRAMURALs
by Corinne Collings and Sheri Bernat

Welcome back to a new year in fun-and-exciting Marian College intramural sports. The number-one gala affair of the fall season will begin Monday, Sept. 14, with co-ed softball. So come on everyone, get motivated to have some fun and form a team. The more teams playing, the better it will be. To make things easier, there will be a list on the bulletin board with names of people who want to be on teams. Games will be at 4:30 and 5:30 on Monday and Wednesday afternoons at the Wetlands. How about it? It’s a chance to meet new people as well as to do something other than homework. But who does homework anyway? That’s all for now, but please keep looking for more updates.

Freshman Field Day in the Wetlands aggravated allergies, hayfever, and asthma, but the competition was still fierce. The chiggers had a picnic as students competed in frisbee carry and toss, blanket carry, pyramid building, and water balloon toss.

For dinner, a Luau was held on the outdoor basketball court. Good food, good times, and good friends were plentiful. Recordio, a popular Indianapolis band, performed in front of St. Frank to close the weekend before classes officially began on Tuesday.

A special Thank You from the Freshman class goes out to the Orientation Staff for all the work done in making the weekend a success. Thanks Guys!

NEW POLICY

Attention all clubs, music groups, and theater groups. This year the Carbon has a new policy regarding the advertising of events. It is the responsibility of the group sponsoring the event to submit a copy ready 4 x 5 ad to the Carbon mailbox in the faculty mail room a week before the ad is to run. The Carbon will run the ad for the two weeks preceding the announced event. Although all ads must be submitted as copy ready, the editors reserve the right to edit.

PUZZLE SOLUTION
The Democratic Caucus of the Indiana House of Representatives will have nine legislative internships available for the 1988 session of the Indiana General Assembly. Any undergraduate or graduate student is eligible to make application. Strong writing skills and a basic understanding of government and the legislative process are important.

The internships will begin the first part of January, 1988, and conclude sometime in late March. Salary will be $135 per week. Course credit will be determined by each intern and the respective university. Interns are responsible for making their own living arrangements. The deadline for applications is 12:00 noon on Friday, October 16, 1987.

Given the partisan nature of the staff system in the Indiana House of Representatives, priority will be given to applicants with a Democratic political preference. The House Republican Caucus offers a similar program.
