IABA PLANS BASEBALL STADIUM

by Stacey Nicholas

The Indianapolis Amateur Baseball Association (IABA) plans to build a 2000-seat baseball stadium at Marian College to continue building Indianapolis' amateur baseball teams.

The story, which originally ran in the Indianapolis News on September 24, said besides the increased seating, the stadium will include a scoreboard, concession stand, and club house.

Dr. Louis C. Gatto, President of Marian College, said that the average number of people attending would be 100, except for tourneys. He believes that the P.E. Center parking lot could accommodate the parking. The current ball diamond will be used in the expansion.

Marian would not be responsible for contributing any financial support to the building project. The IABA is responsible for raising the $260,000 needed. Indianapolis businessman Bart Kaufman pledged $100,000 of his own money to help the project.

Marian's baseball team benefits from the stadium, which will be their home playing field. Dr. Gatto says the IABA's two-month summer program should bring many highschool players, also perspective students, to campus.

Although, at press time all the contracts had not been signed, an administrative source commented that there appears to be nothing standing in the way. Coach Lynn Morcell, an IABA board member, replied, "It's a culmination of a lifetime, something all coaches dream about."

"DREAM" COMES TRUE

by Sara Matalik

Marian College, one of the 51 independent colleges and universities that accepted Lilly Endowment, Inc.'s challenge to improve their campus, will now receive a matching grant of $500,000, for the building of its Student Activity Center.

Besides Marian, 31 independent, four-year undergraduate colleges and universities in Indiana and 40 black undergraduate institutions, part of the United Negro College Fund (UNCF), developed major capital projects that could raise the quality of their academic or campus offerings. Lilly will match a total of $24.3 million to these 51 school systems.

Sixty schools submitted proposals. $12.3 million will be granted to the 28 schools from Indiana and $12.1 million to the 26 UNCF colleges in 12 states outside of Indiana. Individual grant amounts range from $125,000 to $500,000. Marian's grant comes as the top amount available.

Marian has from December 1, 1986 to December 31, 1989 to raise the needed funds, according to President Louis C. Gatto. Payments must be made for the building of the center from October of 1987 to December of 1991, as stages of construction are completed. Alumni, faculty, staff, and corporations are expected to contribute funds.

The different proposals of the

EDITORIAL

In his opening address to the Freshmen Class, President Gatto stated that students have to have a voice in school policy because they cannot be automated. I would like to add that the faculty cannot be automated either. Although valuable learning tools, computers cannot replace the care and understanding of a human professor.

Unfortunately, recent actions of President Gatto and the administration do not reflect his opening remarks. Until about ten years ago, the students had their own coffee shop, the Perc. It was phased out to open class space for Becker CPA. Again last year, the administration, in order to make more room for Becker, remodeled the relatively new library auditorium instead of trying to remodel the Marian Hall auditorium, which desperately needs it and would benefit more Marian students. This is only a recent example of actions that have been taken without input from either the students or the College Council.

Marian spends a great deal of time and energy projecting the family image. Parents know the best way for a family to survive is through dialogue between all its members. Communication is listening to others' opinions and ideas. Marian has channels of communication that are not being used to their fullest extent. College Council and Student Board have established committees for this purpose, yet the committees go unused. Moreover, why not conduct open fora to explain new policies to students as well as faculty?

President Gatto was right, students cannot be automated. Perhaps both students and faculty should be automated in order to prevent them from thinking and speaking for themselves.

SAINT FRANCIS DAY CELEBRATED
by Mike De Rosa

St. Francis of Assisi, born in 1181, will be remembered on his feast day, October 3. Founder of the Franciscan Order, he devoted his life to preaching the Word of God and helping the poor and needy. He was a humble man living in poverty.

The October 3rd liturgy begins at 4:00 p.m. Following it there will be a special dinner consisting of carved beef, baked chicken, mashed potatoes and gravy, baked potatoes, Scandinavian mixed vegetables, spinach salad and a special St. Francis Day cake.

During the meal Fr. Bryan and Fr. Leopold will be featuring ragtime music. Fr. Leopold will play the piano and Fr. Bryan will sing.

Marian remembers St. Francis and his followers in numerous ways. Alverna Hall was named after Mt. Alverna, near Assisi, Italy. Here St. Francis often prayed and in 1224, he received the stigmata, the imprints of Christ’s five wounds.

Clare Hall received its name from Mother Clarissa Dillhoff, the first president of Marian. Mother Clarissa’s patron saint was St. Clare of Assisi, who at age 18 was the first female follower of St. Francis.

The Scotus Science wing bears the name of the Franciscan Friar Dun Scotus, a scientist and theologian.

The statue of St. Francis, located near the Allison colonnade, was erected in memory of Georgiana Feldman of Millhausen, Indiana. Georgiana was a sophomore at Marian when she died of a cerebral hemorrhage at the age of 19.

This celebration promises to be extra special in light of Marian's anniversary.

SENIOR PROFILE
by Michelle Beno

Becoming a freshman is not an easy step, but going to a small college makes the transition easier, according to Dave Garrettaaz. His best advice to the newcomers is to get involved, limit yourself by being able to say ‘no,’ but also, at the same time, take advantage of the special atmosphere and people offered at Marian.

DAVE GARRETTAAZ

Guerrattaz’s schedule keeps him busy. He is the Student Board President and a Residence Assistant. As Student Board President, Guerrattaz keeps occupied trying to come up with new ideas to interest everyone. He promotes MCSA (Marian College Student Association) and invites people, especially the freshmen, to know what it is all about. He would also like to promote the 50th Anniversary of Marian College and have a Parents’ Day. "I would also like to get rid of Marian College being a suitcase college," commented Guerrattaz.

As far as his future plans, Dave would like to continue schooling somewhere on the coast and study international law. Currently, his main academic concern is graduating with a degree in pre-law and Spanish.

Speaking of Spanish, walking into Guerrattaz’s room, a person finds pictures of Spain covering the walls. He recently studied Spanish for four weeks at the University of Madrid. He also spent a day in Africa to become more fluent with the language.

Like most men, Guerrattaz loves Monday Night Football. Other free-time activities include: skiing, playing racquetball, working out in the gym, making new friends, and studying.

"Most of my whole growing experiences were at Marian College," says Dave. He has learned more about his own potential from individual teachers. His overall feelings of Marian College are summed up when he comments, "The people you meet are real people and they don’t try to put on an act."

DRESS FOR SUCCESS PLANNED
by Kirsten Ostergren

"Dress For Success," the seminar coming Wednesday, October 7, promises to be helpful and informative for everyone who attends. Both representatives from Fashion World and personnel representatives from business and industry will be there.

The first half of the seminar will be about appropriate dress for jobs. Rodrick and St. John’s will model clothes for both men and women.

The second half will cover dialogue: how to be interviewed and what the interviewer will be looking for. Steven Teets, Vice-President of Personnel from Cambridge Inn, will be the speaker. He will conduct a mock interview with graduating senior Robert Altman. After the 10-15 minute interview, Teets will give a critique and comments.

Topics covered will also include jewelry, when to arrive, how to properly research the company for asking and answering questions, and when to ask what.

The Home Economics Department and Career Planning are joint sponsors for this year’s program. Seniors are especially encouraged to attend "Dress for Success," but everyone is welcome and could benefit by attending.
KNIGHTLY KNOTES

Attention: All students

There is a significant little film being shown on this campus that you all must see! It's named THE FACES OF THE ENEMY. The film is brief (53 minutes) but reflects quite pointedly on factors involved in identifying one's enemies, certainly a crucial issue with all the explosive situations among nations and the fluctuating alliances that are occurring before your very face each day. It reveals that while enemies for sure do exist, massive distortions of your fellow man are required to make people kill each other at all distortions which also miss the enemy. Good food for thought!

The film is being shown in the following rooms at the following times with compliments of the philosophy department:

Room 314 Mon. 10/5 9:30
Room 222 Mon. 10/5 1:30
Room 221 Tues. 10/20 3:00- 4:15
Room 222 Tues. 10/20 7:30- 8:45

FINANCIAL AID CHANGES

by Chris Beals

The Higher Education Technical Amendments of 1987, signed by President Reagan June 3, made 42 changes in Student Aid programs that may affect Marian students. These changes in the student aid program will change aid eligibility for a few students, some for the better and some for the worse.

Financial aid is taken from the cost of the school subtracted from the family contribution. The family contribution consists of what parents earn and 70% of what the student earns during the summer months. Those students could lose some aid next year. These aid changes are for a dependent student, one who financially depends on his parents.

The changes can also affect the Marian independent students. An independent student is a single person with no dependents, who was not claimed as a dependent by his or her parents for the calendar years preceding the award year, and also has demonstrated annual total resources of $4,000 in each of those years. These students could possibly be entitled to more aid than in the previous years.

The returning student who almost always has trouble reapplying for financial aid will find even greater trouble, because some of their aid has been cut.

These changes will not affect Marian greatly because of our small size. John Shelton of the Financial Aid Office is willing to talk with anyone who needs help. He also has flexibilities in determining need. If you have any complaints, the person to get in contact with is your local congressman.
FROSH ELECTION RESULTS
by Beth Peter

Members of Freshmen Class elected this year’s officers and representatives on Wednesday, September 23.

Traditionally Freshmen class officer elections are held at the beginning of the fall semester, unlike the other three classes whose elections occur in the spring of the previous academic year. This year is no exception. There was an introduction of candidates September 22, during "Junk Food Nite" in the Clare Hall lounge. The following day, members of the Freshmen Class had the opportunity to vote for the candidate of their choice across from the cafeteria during lunch and dinner.

The only real race was between the candidates running for president. The other offices were uncontested.

The Freshmen Class officers are as follows:

President       Tracie Sexton
Vice-President  Gayla Schue
Secretary       Shari Anderson
Treasurer       Angela Fenoglio
Commuter Rep.   Regina Garza
MCSC Rep.       Robert Bowle

President Tracie Sexton commented on the strengths of the Freshmen Class: "It’s really too early to tell. I believe, however, that our class has a lot of potential. The majority of the freshmen that I have met already are very friendly people who, I believe, are willing to take the time to care about others." Sexton’s goal as president is to establish friendships with the entire Freshmen Class and do things for the class that will fill this year with unforgettable memories. "It would be more than happy to listen to any suggestions that any freshman might have. As President, I do not want to be an authoritative figure, but rather a friend working with them instead of for them."

Vice President Gayla Schue would like to make the year as interesting as possible by organizing activities to get the Freshmen class together not only as a class, but also as a part of the Marian College community. For a class motto, Schue suggests "Go Armadillo!" in remembrance of orientation.

CABARET OPENS WITH A HIT
by Tina Kunkler

The Indiana Repertory Theatre’s (IRT) Cabaret Club opened the season on September 23 with My Fair Lyricist, a tribute to Alan J. Lerner. Playing to a full house Friday night, the cast of Frederick Farrar, Bernadette Galanti, Steve Pudenz and Lynne Wienke performed a lively medley of Lerner’s best works.

"I’m On My Way" brought to mind images of the Gold Rush days from Paint Your Wagon. Young love on the prairie comes alive in "I Talk to the Trees/ How Can I Wait."

Several selections from the smash hit My Fair Lady, such as "Wouldn’t It Be Loverly," gave an English air to the show. Pudenz and Wienke’s performance of "I’ve Grown Accustomed To Her Face" displayed vocal talent as well as dramatic ability.

The show ended on a medieval note with themes from Camelot, quite fitting for the castle-like setting of the Cabaret Club.

My Fair Lyricist is an entertaining sample of the best of Broadway. The IRT will be presenting many more programs this season. Attending one of these programs is just another way Marian students can take advantage of Indianapolis’ cultural experiences.

CONVOCATIONS PLANNED
by Michelle Scheidt

In December of 1986, the Marian College Council approved a mandatory convocation program which will be implemented this semester.

The first convocation will be the Singing Hoosiers from Indiana University. They will perform October 20 at 12:00 noon in the Marian Hall Auditorium.

On November 10, Dr. Judith D. Johnson, M.D., the AIDS Division Director of the Indiana State Board of Health, will speak on AIDS. Johnson works with AIDS patients.

Next semester, two more convocations are planned. Dr. Langdon Gilkey, noted theologian from the University of Chicago, will speak on February 15 about creationism and evolution.

On March 15, Fr. Edward A. Malloy, the new president of Notre Dame, will speak on the role of a small, Catholic, liberal arts college.

All Marian students will be required to attend a minimum of three out of the four convocations. Academic credit will be offered on the basis of one quarter of a credit per year. If a student attends 12 convocations during his four years at Marian, he will receive one credit. Partial credits will also be awarded. Attendance will be taken at each convocation by the students’ signing admission cards.

Convocations are sponsored by different departments. During each four-year period, every department will have the opportunity to sponsor one convocation. This system will give students information in all the fields explored at Marian.
ARA ADDS ONE
by Trisha Miller

ARA begins this year with a new face, Lisa Daninger, and some new goals which are from the returning managers Gail Nelson and Ron Tulf.

Lisa Daninger, originally from Bemidji, Minnesota, graduated from Bemidji High School in 1982. She then went to Bemidji State where she majored in Business Administration and Management. In February, 1987, Daninger earned her Bachelor of Science degree.

While in college, Daninger worked at resorts which proved to be a good way for her to meet people. Later, she was employed by ARA Food Services. It was through ARA that Daninger came to Marian.

Still new in the Indianapolis area, Daninger said, "I have enjoyed it so far. It's a good area." She also mentioned the friendliness of the people she has met.

Besides working, Daninger enjoys biking and camping with her husband Scott. The couple spent five weeks of this past summer traveling.

The returning managers, Ron Tulf and Gail Nelson, possess a bright outlook for this year. Both worked in the Marian cafeteria for one year. Their main goals are to provide the best service possible, and to maintain the standards of products and services that they have achieved this year. A proposed remodeling of the cafe will make this easier.

Nelson's most important goal is to "make the kids happy." Some things can be done to accomplish this, but the ARA managers need the help of the students. The main thing is to get your opinions to Nelson, Tulf, or Daninger. A suggestion mailbox is set up beside the exit of the cafe. Also, Nelson stressed participation on the Food Service Committee. If any are interested in this Committee, all they need to do is talk to Nelson.

In conclusion, the ARA managers asked that students respect the cafeteria. The best way the students could do this is by returning any dishes that may have been taken from the cafe. Last year, about 1,400 new glasses were bought to replace missing ones. It would be a help if any and all dishes could be returned.

SCRATCH & SNIFF
by Scratch and Sniff, of course

I've heard of getting written up for alcohol and visitation, but a pussycat? Come on, Pat and Mick, aren't you satisfied with each other?

How many times did you break vis. this weekend, Jenna?

Wally Blake, will you ever make it to computers? By the way, are you related to John?

Teresa Scheidler, we heard you enjoyed your 21st birthday. Did you have fun at Village Pantry?

Some R.A. cannot get enough write ups, so he has to roam the other halls and gets enjoyment from it.

I hear Jenna Morrow has a harem. Is this true?

When will the rematch between the Marian College boxers be? Huh, Mike?

Dave Roberts said he didn't cause the bust at Georgetown Thursday night, but we don't believe him. We'll try again this week! Just remember, not everything you hear is true... that means you, basketball team.

Until next time.

INDY COLLEGES RETREAT
by Michelle A. Scheidt

College students from throughout Indianapolis participated in a retreat held at the Center for Peace and Life Studies in Muncie on Sept. 25-27. The retreat director, Fr. Ron Voss, centered the theme around "What It Means to be a Christian in Today's World."

Nine people from Marian College, 20 from I.U.P.U.I., and one from Butler participated in the retreat.

The weekend provided relaxation, "back to nature" experiences, good friendships, and new insights into Christian faith.

The grounds of the Center are beautiful, with the lake for canoeing and swimming and the wooded trails for walking or running. The weather over the weekend was equally beautiful -- two sunny days with chilly nights, perfect for campfires.

Nearly everyone attending the retreat had a positive experience. "The retreat was exuberating. I really needed it. It helped me a lot," commented Victor Breckler.

"While I was on the retreat, I was able to be more open with myself and with those around me," added Barb Crock.

Beth Peter commented, "It's hard to get back into the routine of school after such a wonderful weekend."

Tramping through wooded trails, sitting at the campfire until 3:00 a.m., canoeing on a peaceful lake, discussing as a group, and sharing personal feelings, all contributed to the students' ending the weekend with a new outlook on life.

OUR SIDE OF PARADISE
by Tina M. Kunkler

Prayer. What's your image of prayer? Perhaps you see yourself kneeling in front of an altar covered by a white cloth and candles. Or do you see a dimly lighted room with a few comfortable chairs and good friends?

Prayer comes from us in many forms, both physical and mental. A day spent working in a shelter for abused children can be offered as a prayer. Attending Mass on a weekday as well as Sunday Mass could be a prayer.

Formal prayer is valuable for large groups. It is a way to express a general concept for the entire gathering. Formal prayer brings together many minds and the ideas inside. A large gathering allows for a sense of fellowship and cooperation as in a Mass or a convention.

Informal prayer is on a more intimate level with a small number of people. A freedom to share thoughts and feelings with others is experienced. Discussion of these thoughts is also possible because of the size of the group.

Informal group prayer works well with a flexible pattern of music, open prayer, and silent prayer.

Personal prayer is a one-on-one communion with God. Reciting words or speaking are not necessary. The mind should be open and thoughts be allowed to flow freely. Personal prayer can be done anywhere quiet and peaceful, without distractions. One could go in his room and close the door or go out into an open meadow and admire the sunlit beauty of nature.

Physical prayer can be spending free time doing a job nobody else wants, but must be done. Raising money for charities or campaigning for a moral issue you feel strongly about are other ways to pray. Fasting on certain days or for a certain cause can be another.

The point is that you do not have to pray only in church or some type of formal setting. Prayer can be very relaxed and rewarding in an informal setting. You can also benefit other human beings with your prayer by filling both their inspirational and physical needs.

INVITE A FRIEND TO CAMPUS
by Mike Harnishfeger

On the weekend of October 24-25, the Marian College Admissions Office is sponsoring "Bring a Friend to Campus." Join the fun and help make this a success.

The idea of these days is to promote and make Marian College better known. By October students may feel the newness and excitement of college wearing off. During this weekend NC students invite friends to visit, enticing them with complimentary meals, lodging, and fun-filled activities.

The activities for the weekend include: admission to the play The Odd Couple, cross country meet, exhibits in the intramural gym with the opportunity to talk to professors from individual departments, campus tours by Golden Knights, an art show, a swing choir performance, movies, games, a dance, and a bonfire. Each visitor receives a free Marian College T-shirt.

Invitations are available at the bulletin boards in the dorms or at the Admissions Office. Get yours today. For more information on how to bring your friend to campus, contact Jeanette Findley at ext. 321.

TRANSITION CENTER

by Ray List

The Transition Center offers help for the emotional and social needs of the student. Mary Lou Gheen of the Transition Center has set up programs to assist the students in getting through the tough times that we all experience.

One very important idea Gheen has implemented is the support group. The support group gives the individual an opportunity to share problems, ideas, etc., with people who are in the same situation. She has started a support group for the nursing students which meets 11:30 to 12:30 Tuesday and Friday. Gheen is also presently organizing a support group for the freshmen so that they can discuss with each other how they are adjusting to college life. In January she is going to start another support group for seniors to help them make the big step of leaving college and taking on more responsibilities. Gheen would also like to start a support group for sophomores and juniors in order to help them resolve big decisions, such as choosing their major, and to help them continue adjusting to college life. The basic idea behind these support groups is that people can explore how they can help each other through the transitions, adjustments, etc. that we all go through. After all, it is easier to go through a tough situation with people who are experiencing the same thing than to struggle alone.

Another program that has recently been started is the peer counseling sessions. In these small group sessions, people learn basic counseling skills with the emphasis on developing listening and intervention skills. Gheen would like to see people taking the knowledge they gained in these groups and starting their own groups on campus. Her main goal is to make all the people on the campus better listeners and, in the process, better able to spot someone in trouble.

Of course Gheen, as well as Sister Olga, offer individual counseling to all the students. Gheen wants the students to know that counseling is not just for people with serious problems. As she puts it, "The counseling end of the Transition Center is for everybody who is having personal difficulties to feel free to come over to discuss them, to try to help them find other resources." The counselor, then, helps the person gain a better perspective on the situation and helps them explore alternate solutions. As Gheen points out, "Counseling is for greater personal growth since we all get stagnant." That is basically what a counselor is for; to help us conquer situations in life and to develop as a person.

If you are interested in any of the groups mentioned here or if you want to start your own support group just contact Gheen at the Transition Center. More importantly, Mary Lou Gheen is always willing to listen to anyone who needs to talk.

ICE HOUSE CONVERSION

by Stacey Nicholas

A group of interested Alumni and faculty plan to convert the old ice house here at Marian College into a student snack bar within the next few months.

The ice house is located next to the outdoor basketball courts, across the road from the tennis courts. The plan calls for the ice house to be renovated into a student snack shop. The snack shop would eventually have fountain drinks, as well as indoor/outdoor dining facilities.

The Maintenance Department will be responsible for removing their materials from the building and tearing off the roof. Students are needed to help paint the snack shop, give it a name and other small jobs. The snack shop would be a student gathering place until the Student Center is built. Anyone interested in helping with this project should contact Mary Lou in the Transition Center, ext. 317.

"DREAMS"

51 schools touched on a number of different investments. A majority included major improvements of libraries and computer or scientific laboratories. Others included upgrading facilities for academic offerings of the schools. Several others plan to build campus recreational and cultural facilities to improve student life. One creative project was from St. Paul’s College in Laurenceville, Virginia, who plans on building living accommodations for single mothers seeking undergraduate degrees and for their young children, attending on-site day care and preschool programs.
INTERCOLLEGIATE GOLF
by Mollie Coan

The Intercollegiate Golf Tournament this past weekend didn't hold much luck for the Marian golf team. The weeks of hard practice did not pay off for Kevin Conley, who shot low 84 and 86 rounds. The other players shot in the high 90's. The golf course conditions were the hardest the team had ever encountered. The players ran into a lot of sand and water, which brought out problems they had not faced before.

Their last invitational will be held at the Speedway Golf Course against Franklin and Butler. This course is shorter. The team hopes to end the year on a good note.

GAMES COMPLETED
by Jenna Morrow

Coach Brad Kolter's women's tennis team opened their season September 16th against Franklin. In the middle of the match, however, it began to rain, and the conclusion of the match was rescheduled for September 25th.

Before the rescheduled match, the Lady Knights had their first home match on September 21st against St. Mary-of-the-Woods. In a long match, the Knights were defeated 6-3.

Because of illness, the Lady Knights were forced to forfeit two games in the Franklin rematch. The team lost 8-1.

When asked about the match, Coach Kolter said that his team had "potential, and just needed more playing time."

They lard their lean books with the fat of others' works.

CROSS COUNTRY RUNS 8TH
by Chris Beals

Last Saturday, the Marian Cross Country team placed eighth out of thirteen teams in the Manchester Invitational.

The Anderson team placed first again this weekend. Marian defeated Findlay of Ohio, St. Joe's, Earlham, Franklin, and Defiance of Ohio.

Coach Roberts was pleased with Brad Bechler, who placed fourteenth. Bechler said that this was a good flat course and a fast paced course.

VOLLEYBALL UPDATE
by Stephen Tweddell

At the P.E. Center last Wednesday night, the Lady Knights' volleyball team defeated St. Joseph's Pumas. Scores were 15-12, 12-9, 15-9. Amy Beckham had 13 kills and Terril Reed contributed 6, followed by Sharon Effinger with 5. Kathy Deenger and Kelly Via chipped in with 9 assists each.

The Lady Knights also participated in the Purdue-Calumet tourney this past weekend. Overall, they placed 5th out of 8 teams in the 2-day tourney.

Friday night, they started with losses to Illinois Institute of Technology by scores of 10-15, 6-15, and to Manchester with scores of 2-15, 15-5, 12-15. Coach Molly Totten said they played a good game.

Saturday began with a loss to Thornton by scores of 7-15, 15-13, 13-15. Then Marian turned things around by defeating Taylor 15-12, 11-15, 15-6. The Knights also avenged their loss to Manchester by scores of 12-15, 15-9, 15-6. Junior Amy Beckham was the outstanding player for Marian with a total of 17 kills against Taylor and Manchester. Beckham was named to the All-tourney team.

MENS' TENNIS BUSY
by Kirsten Ostergren

The men's tennis team has been extremely busy practicing and playing these past two weeks.

Tuesday, Sept. 15, was a home meet against Grace. The Knights lost to the best team in the district this year, according to Coach Brad Kolter.

The Sept. 17 match against Hanover was rained out.

Saturday's match was at Franklin. Marian lost 6-3. "We should have won, but the guys need more practice to be able to go the extra mile that is needed to win."

The match at Goshen on Tuesday, the 22nd, was the best match of the season. The Knights lost 6-3, but the singles players showed much improvement.

Friday's match at Marion was not a good game. Marian lost to a strong team that has been district champions for the last five years.

Kolter says, "they have improved since the beginning, but they need more match play to get stronger."

There is a meet at North Central on Oct. 5, and the District Tourney begins Friday Oct. 9.
