TRANSITION CENTER RELOCATED

by Corinne Collings

Everyone should be aware of a change that will be taking place during Christmas break at Marian. The important and useful Transition Center will be moving to Clare Hall Annex to further facilitate the academic and social needs of the student body. The change, a result of a suggestion from the Marian College Executive Board, is because there has been an increased use of the Center's services over the past year and a half causing them to need more accommodating offices.

This new center will provide a more friendly, homey, personable atmosphere. The Transition Center staff is very excited about the change and believe the larger facility will provide more privacy and more space for its users. Even though it may be somewhat out of the way for some, they are hopeful that it will not deter the student body from taking a few extra steps to find it.

During Christmas break the annex will be refurbished by the maintenance department. Along with the installation of new heating and air conditioning units and telephones the annex will be painted and furnished. Some of the furnishings will be provided by the center's personnel who will provide paintings and other wall hangings as well as some furniture. Students can look forward to the re-opening of the center upon their return from break. Do not be afraid to drop in and say hello.

WHO'S WHO ANNOUNCED

The 1988 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges will include the names of 25 students from Marian College. They have been selected as nationally outstanding campus leaders, based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

They join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,400 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Students named this year from Marian College are:

- James Aultman
- Patricia A. Koors
- David H. Back
- DeEtta K. Million
- Laura A. Basch
- Michael Hinton
- Shawn D. Nash
- Melissa J. Billman
- Teresa Deiter
- Linda Piotrowski
- Angela M. Ricci
- Jeffrey D. Curtis
- James Ridenour
- Michele M. Pohl
- Nancy M. Hoing
- David A. Guerrattaz
- Janelle L. Stevens
- Patrick M. Webb
- Philip H. Gulley
- Paige Anne Hunt
- Lynda H. Thackrey
- Kellie Lynn Jarvis
- Sharon A. Young
- Patrick D. Kiley
- Christopher A. Worley

SMOKEOUT
DEAR KARAN

disappointed because

The

does the worst being able to security

once per hour crack year. The extent this problem has what's a group of people can break into security

in a ten cars, try to hot-wire one of them, and get away unnoticed, how much further will they go before they are stopped? Evidently the security of the students has been seriously undermined.

The responsibility for this serious lack of security should not be put on the present security force. Security has only one car and usually only one security officer to patrol all 114 acres of the campus. Evidently that one person cannot be everywhere at once. The responsibility for this terrible security problem belongs to Mr. Ryan. As head of security, it is Mr. Ryan's job to ensure that the students have adequate security. Evidently he has failed, since a group of people were able to break into ten cars and leave unnoticed.

Mr. Ryan has not yet taken any action nor has he proposed any plans to improve security. Since this problem has existed for at least a year if not longer, he has had plenty of time to take some sort of action. Yet he has done nothing. Evidently he is either unwilling or unable to do the job that the students are paying him to do.

DEAR MARIAN COLLEGE,

In the last issue of the Carbon, a report was given on the

"Doyle Hall Massacre." It

described the terrible vandalism that happened that night. The thought of vandalism anywhere on this campus makes me feel disappointed because it shows that some students just do not care.

The feeling turns to anger when the situation becomes outsiders being able to come on campus and destroy students' private property.

The article told us that now security will patrol parking lots once per hour in an attempt to crack down on these problems.

Here are some things I wonder:

1. Before the school year, security said (in the article) that they would patrol parking lots once per hour; at that time they were told that once an hour was simply not good enough. So what's the new part?

2. In light of the most recent incidents, security also said that they are going to crack down on vandalism and theft. Does this mean they weren't doing things to crack down on these things before this night? So what's the different part?

3. In the real world, can someone think that once per hour is adequate while once per hour has not been adequate? So what's the real part?

4. The boys on my hall have outscored security 4-0 in catches of thieves in progress, while security has successfully outscored my hall in needless parking tickets to Marian College students. So what's the good part?

5. Security does not catch Marian College students coming back from studying at Denny's late at night and does harrass them. So what's the Marian part?

6. When vandalism and theft occurs, students are told not to bring such luxuries as car stereos to campus. So what's the fair part?

Finally, a committee has been established in order to re-evaluate security's policies.

Here's what I don't wonder: It's work is cut out.

SENIOR PROFILE

by Ellen Frommeyer

Tim Delehanty, a senior business major, will be graduating next spring from Marian College.

Tim believes Marian is "a beautiful college in appearance and in the people who constitute the college community." Tim recalls his first year at Marian, when a handicapped student was treated with great respect and admiration. Tim stated, "Everyone went out of his way to let him know they were behind him." Through this experience, Tim knew he had chosen the right college.

Tim is an avid reader. He attributes this to his father. Tim believes "reading expands a person's mind and perspective!! For that reason he says having an English minor will be a great asset to him in the business field. Tim's favorite author is William Faulkner. "He writes about his personal experiences, small towns, and common occurrences in a person's everyday life."

After graduating, Tim plans to go into investment management. Eventually, he is interested in co-owning a business with his father and three older brothers. Presently, he is a bookkeeper for all three Candy and Company stores which his family owns.

In his spare time Tim enjoys many diverse activities, such as: jazz, collecting antique watches, playing basketball, restoring old cars, biking, and, of course, reading. Tim has great respect for those who write because they "have control on how they communicate to the reader."

Jon Satchwill, a fellow student, believes Tim is a member of his extended family. "Tim would go out of his way for anyone. He is a person who is very down to earth and I can honestly say he is one of the best friends I have ever made."

STATE MARIAN DAY PROCLAIMED

by Kini Huckaby

Governor Robert D. Orr declared November 14th Marian College Day in celebration of the college's 50 years in Indianapolis. In an official proclamation to the school, Orr recognized many of the accomplishments made by Marian. He praised the consistently modest tuition at Marian and its growing enrollment; for a college that started out with 24 females in 1937, this growth is something to be very proud of.

When asked about their reactions to Marian College Day, many administrators commented, "We should be very proud, very honored." Jenny Richart, RD at Doyle, commented, "It is fantastic. It's about time Indy recognizes the contributions of Marian College to our city."

Marian should be very proud to be recognized for its achievements and services. 50 years of outstanding education is something we should all be excited about.

TALENT AWARDS

by Chris Beals

The Talent Awards are awards to bring on campus a talented student that will help enhance that program and make that department stand out. The awards is $1,000 and is applied towards tuition, the award can be renewed for 4 years subject to a board review.

There are five departments offering awards in the fall of 1988. There were two awards this year, one in the Music department and one in the Home Economics department. The Music award recipient is Belinda Emily. She plays french horn and is involved in the band and woodwind quintet ensemble and in the future also to solos in recitals. They choose an instrumentalist to strengthen the band program. The Home Economics department recipient is Gretchen Fagen, a transfer student majoring in dietetics. Currently, she is very involved in recruiting prospective students for next year.

The new talent awards being offered are in Theology, Foreign Languages, and two in Theater. The Theology award is looking for an outstanding person with leadership qualities. The Foreign Language department is looking for someone with a high degree of proficiency in a foreign language. The recipient of this award will help assist teachers for five hours a week. The Theater Department has two awards, one based on acting and the other on technical aspects. The recipients of these awards are expected to work in every production on campus.

These awards are a great help in trying to get a higher quality of students to attend Marian. More information concerning the awards can be obtained through the individual departments.
The Fioretti, Marian's literary anthology, is the oldest publication of Marian College. The first Fioretti was published in 1943 under the advisement of Sr. Gertrude Marie Zieroff.

As stated in the Foreward, the Fioretti, of which this is the first issue, has a two-fold purpose. It aims to give some degree of permanence to student literary works of merit and to encourage among students to the cultivation of the art of writing. Forty-four years later, this goal still stands.

The name a Fioretti is fitting to both its literary content and to Marian's Franciscan heritage. "The Fioretti de S. Francesco d'Assisi, Little Flowers of Saint Francis, is the name of a classic collection of popular legends about St. Francis and his early companions as they appeared to the Italian people at the beginning of the 14th century. These historic tales recreate the early Franciscan spirit, replete with poetry. The Canticle of the Sun, St. Francis' well known poem, voices that spirit eloquently. The earliest known Italian version of the Fioretti ranks with the finest specimens of literary Tuscan."

The Fioretti has undergone progressive changes over the years. Originally, the Fioretti was typeset and contained photography as well as literary works. As the processing for these techniques became more expensive, they were eliminated. Today, the Fioretti contains drawings, sketches, prose, and poetry. Poetry is all hand lettered, while prose selections are word processed.

Sr. Stella Gampfer, a Marian alumna and English professor, has been the advisor for the Fioretti since 1976. She first became involved because of her interest in calligraphy; she still does the lettering for all of the poetry.

Volume 46 of Marian's literary magazine will be published in January. It will be a special edition celebrating Marian's 50th anniversary. The Fioretti will feature a special section of alumni works.

Plans are currently underway for Volume 50 of the Fioretti, which will highlight alumni works which have appeared in previous editions: "the best of the fifty years," according to Gampfer. She is already collecting prose and poetry and working with past editions to plan for one of the best Fioretti ever published. After 44 years, Marian's oldest student publication is still going strong.

Do drivers know where to park their cars at Marian? According to Chief of Security Roy VanArsdale, Marian drivers apparently do not know. Drivers are receiving tickets and towings for parking in the fire zones (unless loading and unloading for a minimum time limit), handicapped zones, on both sides of the streets, and wherever else it is prohibited.

Officer VanArsdale explained that most of the violators are the same Marian College students who receive tickets every day. Most of these students are also without a Marian parking sticker, which violates school policy and is also subject to a ticket.

VanArsdale indicated the violations he wished stopped immediately were parking in the fire and handicapped zones. VanArsdale explained that the Fire Marshal comes to Marian on unannounced visits to check whether the fire zones are clear. If they are not clear, Marian can be subject to a $500.00 fine. VanArsdale commented, "Firelanes are marked for a purpose; I don't think people realize firefighters are fighting time too."

VanArsdale also expressed his disapproval of the disrespect that people have for one another when they illegally park in a handicapped zone.

VanArsdale wants to see people getting stickers on their cars. He explained that missing stickers cause a problem because security needs to ensure that only Marian students park here, especially late at night. Visitors can easily get a temporary parking permit from the Business Office.

Security understands that more cars park on campus this year and we do need more parking areas, but instead of crowding in front of Marian and Clare, students should park near the gym or Admissions Office. It may be a walk, but it beats a ticket or two. Four cars were towed just this week and more would have been towed if students hadn't arrived back in time to pay the wrecker. The fee includes tow and impoundment, which can cost up to $80!

Among those who have been ticketed are Kimberly Karamela with five tickets, three for parking in the Doyle fire zone and one in the Clare fire zone, and Susan Hill with seven tickets, most from parking in visitors' parking and in a fire zone. Joe Barrett had his car towed from the fire zone. Most of these students complained about the crowded parking.
R.A. CHRISTMAS ACTIVITY PLANS

The R.A. Staffs of Clare, Alverna and Doyle Halls will set off Marian's Holiday Festivities with a Christmas Dance Saturday, December 5th, in the Clare Hall Lounge from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Jane Plummer will be the featured D.J. Food and drinks will be available along with a drawing for some special gifts from Santa.

A Christmas Film Festival will be offered by the R.A. Staffs on Wednesday, December 9th, in Clare Hall Lounge. Check upcoming posters for exact starting time. Many of your favorite Christmas specials (i.e. Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer) will be featured. Bring your blankets, pillows, etc., so you can get comfortable and don't forget your coffee mug for hot cocoa. Donuts will also be served!

CAP AND GOWN MEASUREMENTS

December 3, 1987, Marian Hall Conference Room, 11:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. All degree candidates completing associate or baccalaureate degree requirements should complete these measurements before leaving campus. There will be another measurement date March 17, for those who do not get measured in December.

There may also be an opportunity on December 3rd for degree candidates to tell class officers which style gown their class should order. More information should be forthcoming concerning these articles.

ATTENTION ALL STUDENTS:

All newspapers will be destroyed. Other mail will be saved in the mailroom until you return.

If you expect some important First Class mail which you wish to be forwarded, please notify the mailroom personnel before you leave for the holidays.

WANTED, DEAD OR ALIVE, GOLDEN KNIGHTS!

We are having a special event in late January for all Golden Knights who have given tours or worked in the Admission Office. So, if you haven't done either you should do so. For every point you have you get Admissions "Big Bucks", $1.00 each, the more points the more "Big Bucks" and that means more money for you to spend on our fabulous prizes. If you have any free time and want to earn Admissions "Big Bucks", you should come to the Admissions Office and put some time in. Just ask for Barbara, Elisabeth or Dorie and they will be glad to put you to work, either typing, filing, stuffing envelopes or many other fun jobs we have to offer. Also, don't forget we always have our special Golden Knight banquet in April. We'll have more on that later.

EDITORIAL

by Stacey Nicholas

Club presidents, were you a little upset with your budget allocations? Students, are you often surprised to find out the policies enacted by your Student Board or the College Council? I thought we were the government; after all both these bodies are participative governments. Participative government was established to prevent any one part of the government from becoming overpowerful. It provides for every student to vote and to have the right to express his opinion on issues that are important to him. The election process itself demands that persons holding an elected office remain in contact with their constituents.

Making a participative government work is not an easy task. It requires making phone calls, signing petitions, and voicing your opinion to the representatives that you elected. In a system of participative government, Student Board members must seek out and adhere to the reasonable needs of their constituents. When participative government is not functioning, people do not accept responsibility for their political actions. Student leaders act in a vacuum concerning policies that should be made concerning the entire student body.

The absence of participative government leads to a situation where one faction learns the habit of vulgar mumbling, grumbling, and incantations about decisions decreed by the gods, while the other faction is forced into a position of acting as though they are gods. It is the responsibility of all students to inform the Student Board in order for Student Board to make intelligent and informed decisions. At the same time it is the responsibility of the elected Student Board Members to seek out the advice of the students whom they serve.

Participative government may result in conflicts. But, contrary to what some believe, these conflicts are a healthy expression of ideas that must not be ignored.

PROPOSAL TO BEGIN LATE IN THE FALL

by Stacey Nicholas

Sr. Claire Whalen would like to hear students' opinions concerning possibly starting the fall semester on a later date. Marian and IUPUI have been starting school in the early 20's of August, while Butler, Franklin and University of Indianapolis have been starting two weeks later. At one college the class time is extended to 55 minutes because the school opens after Labor Day.

Sr. Joel, of the Business Office, says that starting later is "comfortable. It gives us more time to get the bills ready." Sr. Rosina, from the same office, states that she "can go either way."

The faculty and staff members that were interviewed stressed a variety of opinions. Dr. Ray Craig, English Department, commented, "I like it! I never think we get anything done before Labor Day Break. Sentimentally, I hate to start back to school in the summer."

Admissions Director Mr. Don French thinks starting later "probably helps us. We have a longer time to recruit students. Of course, students also have some time to change their mind about going to College." French is concerned with what effects starting late will have on athletic teams who have contracts with other schools.

Dr. Steve Kristoff holds a differing viewpoint. "I talked it over with a couple of other faculty members who agree that we prefer the original starting date. We feel like we've got a certain amount of material we want to get across to the student and it's hard to do in the shortened semester. I've had to shorten or cut out some lectures that I feel are important." When asked if 55 minutes would help, he responded, "Not really," because already some of his classes run 55-60 minutes.

Other reasons for considering a later starting date include:
1. Longer time to work at summer jobs;
2. A 2-3 day professional conference for faculty before classes begin;
3. Possibly a chance to beat the heat.

Students are asked to mark the following questionnaire with an X or, using a 1, 2, or 3, to prioritize their choices for starting the 1988-1989 academic year. (Note: These are the first day of classes. Students would arrive the weekend before.)

WHEN SHOULD THE FIRST DAY OF CLASS BE NEXT FALL??

August 22, 1988
(date published in catalogue)

August 29, 1988

September 5, 1988 (Labor Day)

September 6, 1988

Please tear off your completed form and place it in the boxes provided on the stands on the first floor of Marian Hall by November 23, 1987.
HONORS MEMBERS INDUCTED

by Sara L. Matalik

The Marian College Honor Society of Nursing held its Annual Dinner Meeting on November 11th at the Iron Skillet Restaurant. The general theme of the evening was 'Onward and Upward in Nursing.' The evening began with a warm welcome and an introduction of officers by President Mary Cassidy.

Sister Claire Whalen gathered everyone in prayer before the dinner. Dinner consisted of a full-course meal, including steak and chicken, and sundaes for dessert.

After dinner, Vice President Kathy Creggar detailed the history of the Honor Society. She listed the group’s characteristics: to improve standards, career mobility, and achievements. The Honor Society was started almost ten years ago. Its long-term goals are to have 25 members or more, have a budget consisting of $1,000, and to get involved as a group in community service. If these goals are met, the Honor Society will apply for Sigma Theta Tau, the National Society for Nursing.

The members-to-be were then inducted. They included: Sally Beckman, Pam Blake, Tina Brickert, Veronica Cabrera, Karen Cronin, Linda Dugan and Maureen Kopatz. Each new member received a certificate and membership pin, along with a few other gifts. They, then, recited the Honor Society Creed.

The evening’s guest speaker was Dr. Lois Meier, of the Indiana University School of Nursing. Her talk was about graduate study of nursing and her own personal account of her nursing career. Meier was a nurse during World War II, she set up a critical care unit in the early 40's, along with other "doctors' work." She received her Bachelor of Science degree in nursing education, and later went on for her masters and doctorate.

The evening ended with closing remarks by Creggar. Congratulations to the new members.

STUDENTS ATTEND CONVENTION

by Beth Peter

On October 9th and 10th, education students participated as workshop hostesses or membership volunteers at the State Fall Conference of the Indiana Association for Education of Young Children (IAEYC) held at the Adam's Mark Hotel.

This is the fifth year Marian students have participated in the conference. Rosanne Pirtle and Jim Stroud, Education Department faculty members, coordinated the students’ involvement. Those who attended the conference included Diane Ciciora, Mia Downey, Katie Eades, Jennifer Foster, Lisa Hay-Durchoholz, Nancy Hoeing, Karen King, Patty Koors, Helen Lester, Bernadette Schaefer, Laura Serrani, Cindy Vriesman, and Marcia Worthington. These students received complimentary registration for their contribution to the conference.

The day began at 8:15 a.m. with several workshops lasting an hour and a half. In the mid-afternoon, keynote speakers Constance Kami (October 9) and Randy Hity (October 10) made presentations. Workshops and displays continued until 4:00 p.m.

Karen Eades attended October 9 and felt last year's program was better organized and had more workshops than this year. On the other hand, Patty Koors and Karen King, who attended the October 10 conference, were very impressed by Randy Hity’s speech on music and movement in education.

BOOKROOM SECURITY

by Bill Pedtke

Student Board is aware of the security problems of the book-room nearby the cafeteria. It still has not decided what kind of action to take. Some ideas are creating a work-study position to check books and other articles in and out, buying and installing lockers in the book room for students to use, or a combination of both. If anyone has any solutions or thoughts about these or other ideas, please contact Bill Pedtke at ext. 507.
BYLAWS NEED TO BE RATIFIED
by Bill Pedtke

Soon Marian College students will exercise one of their rarest privileges. This special event will be to vote, not on a king or queen, but on an amendment to the Constitution of the Marian College Student Association (MCSA). All current students at Marian are members of the MCSA.

About a month ago, President Guerrettaz presented an absentee policy to and for the Student Board members. It met much opposition.

People who backed Guerrettaz's proposal argued that the Student Board meetings were small and few and that attendance was essential to getting anything accomplished. Some others also said that the proposed amount of absences was reasonable.

Some of the opposing speakers said that, just as in the U. S. Congress, losing the privilege to vote on issues presented during an absence is a just consequence, and the constituents of the representative should be responsible for their representative's attendance record that is published by the Board's Secretary. Some even said that Student Board should not be able to enforce anything like this because while the Constitution says that the students have the right to be heard at the Student Board meetings, it does not say that Student Board has the right to hear from the students. Also, the Constitution already includes impeachment procedures for cases of dereliction, which is the abandonment of duty with malicious intent.

Guerrettaz decided to meet with the opposition privately. The decision they came up with is that while it is important for people to show up at meetings, there is no set number of absences that can be used for such a policy.

In essence, the idea agreed upon by these people is that some effective policy is needed, but it cannot be one which is too restrictive towards the Board members.

These people decided that instead of placing a number of absences in the policy, to place the judgment of absenteeism a problem of Student Board members on the Board itself as in the Constitution's impeachment procedures. Thirty percent of the voting members is required for an instigation of an impeachment, and two-thirds of the vote is required to put the impeachment into effect.

The amendment also goes on to state some forms of dereliction which may be judged as reasons for impeachment.

This amendment finally passed at the last Student Board meeting, but this is only the first of three major stages of the proposed amendment. This amendment must still be voted in by two-thirds majority of the votes cast by the MCSA, and then approved by the Board of Trustees. So it's still just a bill!

KNIGHTS DEFEAT ST. FRANCIS
by Stephen Tweddell

Saturday, November 14th, the Knights defeated St. Francis, 79-64. Head Coach John Grimes said, "I felt it was a good opening game. We got a great performance from a number of people."

Leading scorer for Marian was Dave Back who poured in 21 points. Rick Russell scored 15 and Mark DeHart added eight. Scott Fleming contributed seven points.

In the first half of the game, the Knights trailed by as many as 11, but by half-time, they had cut the deficit to four. Grimes added, "They didn't play as good a defense the first-half as they did the second. We're looking to build on this game for future games."

SCRATCH & SNIFF
by Scratch and Sniff

You guys in Alverna Hall, is it true that Dave Shaw doesn't wear deodorant? Find out what scent he likes -- it'll make a good Christmas present.

What a Thursday -- first Michelle Beno gets lost at Union Station, then buys salami and French onion dip, spends the night in my room while Sniff and I find out from Tammy Poling that someone was brutally knocking on Tammy's door. So all three of us (expecting to see the night-stalker) put Sniff to bed. We find out the next day, Michelle was the brute knocking. Next time Beno, take it easy on the salami.

Whoever has been calling Don Hammond and asking for me, please stop! I don't know where anyone got the idea that I live there.

Hey Duck, how's the batting average? We heard you haven't been doing too well. How do you spell P-E-R-O-C-A-T-I-V-E again? One more time. I didn't know Marian offers a major in underwater basketweaving. But according to Mike Hammerich, it does.

I just want to say the Notre Dame vs Alabama game was awesome. Sorry, Jim Aultman, but the Crimson Tide didn't roll this time.

Sniff has a word of advice for everyone; 'Watch out for young ones!' And believe me, she knows what she's talking about.

Danny Galvin, what were you doing in the women's restroom at the Homecoming Dance -- trying to look for a last minute date? Until next time, stay kosher and have a great pickle, I mean, have a great Thanksgiving.
NURSING TO GO BSN

by Sara L. Matalik

The Marian College Nursing Department announced its new Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN) Program, which will change the present CO-OP program (two years at Marian and two years at IUPUI) and allow the students to stay at Marian for the entire nursing degree. The program will begin with the sophomore class next year, if it is approved by the Indiana State Board of Nursing.

It takes the department three months to prepare and apply to the State Boards. The application includes an application, a certificate, and a self-study compiling of information of Marian's particular program. As part of the self-study, a psych-visit is done by the State Board representative. Marian is really on top of things, thus far, because Sally Beckman, the Nursing Program Director, worked for the State Boards prior to coming to Marian.

There will be curriculum changes made that have already been approved by the Academic Affairs Committee. The new curriculum will include interdisciplinary courses, along with Philosophy, Theology, Sociology, Psychology, Art, Music, and Literature. According to Beckman, students need to know how to analyze situations and to be expert problem solvers. Along with these courses, Humanities and other Nursing courses will be offered to help teach the importance of caring in a nursing profession.

The plans being made also include searching for new nursing faculty. The department plans on hiring seven more members to add to Marian's staff. The nursing instructors will specialize in the fields of medical surgery, critical care, psychiatric community health, obstetrics, pediatrics and gynecology. This search will be printed in national magazines and at present, students are involved in the search. The department is looking for applicants interested in a liberal arts college and working on an individual basis with students. Work experience in their field is one of the requirements.

Along with new faculty, new facilities are also in the planning. For the first year, the present facilities will be acceptable. For the following years, a part of the convent will be transformed to fill the need. The department is getting support to purchase models and video tapes to allow the learned skills to be less threatening.

Besides new curriculum, the program includes three years of clinical work (most programs offer only two years) at five area hospitals: Wishard, Methodist, St. Vincent, Community and Westview. This extra year of clinical work will help the nursing students be clinically confident more than clinically competent.

As an extra boost to the nursing students involved in this new BSN program, Marian's Associate Degree program has been accredited by the National League of Nursing in May of 1986, which is now using MC's criticism-free self-study as a model for other schools.

"The students seem very pleased to be able to stay at Marian. They had been concerned about leaving friends and faculty," says Beckman, "they also look forward to the smaller class size, along with the individualized attention." Excited about the nursing department's future, Beckman and Linda Dugan, the new BSN curriculum coordinator, feel that by staying here for four years, Marian nursing students can get involved with campus activities and maybe take on a minor area of concentration.

What does it mean to be a Christian living in a Christian community? I like to think that it means the people in the group share some common ideas, values, and philosophies of life. In a Christian community, at least some of these principles should concern helping one's fellow man.

On a day to day basis, many opportunities arise when someone needs a helping hand. Giving of one's time, gifts, and talents can really help someone in need. If people would stop 'looking out for number one' and start sharing a little concern for others, we would all be much better off.

Last week, the Marian College community was offered an excellent opportunity to lend a helping hand to those in need. The Central Indiana Regional Blood Center held a blood drive right here on campus. The turnout for this worthy effort was indeed sorry.

My hat goes off to the 42 donors (as well as the 12 prospective donors who were turned away). There is no doubt that these people saved some lives.

What I do question, however, is what happened to so few? The gift of life? The gift of life?
