ARTS FESTIVAL IN THE PLANNING

by Sara L. Matalik

The Spring Arts Festival, scheduled for April 21-24, 1988, is in its second year of existence. This year’s theme is "The Middle Ages: The Not-So Dark Ages." The festival will be presented by the Music, Visual Arts, and Theater Departments.

Many of activities have been planned for these four days. Beth Taylor, of the Theater Arts Department, explained that there will be four plays performed, known as cycle dramas. The plays' themes will be based on happenings of the Church, the Bible, and the saints. The specific themes include: the Creation story, an Old Testament story, the Nativity, and the Crucifixion. Like the original dramas of the Feast of Corpus Christi in Europe, the plays will be done by trade guilds on wagons.

The Music Department will give medieval concerts each night before the plays. Under the direction of Sarah Reid, part of the performances will be given with medieval instruments by strolling musicians throughout the festival.

The Art Department, under the direction of Megan Rohn, will have medieval brass rubbings as part of an art exhibit in Allison Mansion. There will also be a mall on the grounds.

TO THE EDITORS

A few weeks ago Ms. Hausman put forth a very important issue in the "Our Side of Paradise" column. She is right in raising that the students, and faculty need an opportunity to develop into a community through sharing of ourselves. Even though there are many backgrounds and faiths represented here at this college, we all have something worthwhile to give to each other. Hopefully with an opportunity to share ourselves, we can grow into a true community.

The Campus Ministry has begun to provide a few such opportunities. One opportunity is a prayer group that is open to people of all faiths. This prayer group, which meets every Sunday at 8:00 p.m., provokes discussion and sharing on many areas as well as giving time for quiet reflection.

The Campus Ministry is presently planning a one-day retreat that is, of course, open to the whole college. This retreat will focus on how we are called to be open to each other's needs. Hopefully the theme of the retreat will inspire and encourage a drive for unity among the college community.

Of course, these two activities are not meant to be a final solution. Instead, we hope that this will be just the beginning of a developing sense of unity among the college community.

Rah! Rah! This is about the extent of our Marian Knight cheerleaders.

While it is admirable that they put so much time and effort into the season, their routines are both uncoordinated and uninspired. The cheers themselves are no more complex than those left behind in high school and, as such, should at least be executed together, if not properly.

At a recent game, we found ourselves far more interested in our opponent’s cheerleaders than in our own. This is nothing unusual in recent times. Even if they can’t bring themselves to do the repeated cheers they know, maybe a wider variety of cheers would hold the crowd’s interest.

However, we are thankful to have a cheerleading squad, and we don’t wish to insult or offend anyone involved. Perhaps a few fresh and new cheers, as well as some added enthusiasm, would go far in creating more school spirit and would keep the fans interested in going to the games themselves.

Keep in mind, fellow fans, that your support at these games will not only encourage our cheerleaders, but our basketball team as well.

So we hope to see you at future games.

SENIOR PROFILE

by Michelle Beno

"I enjoy a challenge, and I feel it's a challenge to run a business and communicate with people," replied Kevin Conley when asked why he chose business as his career. Kevin says his main career goal is to be happy doing his job as a salesman or manager.

From Warsaw Indiana, he is the oldest of three sons. He said he knew he had made the right decision about Marian College when he didn't know the person sitting next to him at his high school graduation.

During his free time, Kevin enjoys playing golf, racquetball, and intramural sports; he is an active member of "The Slim and White Bodies" basketball team. He also likes to travel and has done much traveling because of his avid golf playing.

"Since high school, I've come out of my shell," Kevin said when asked how he feels he has changed. As far as accomplishments since he has been at Marian, Kevin feels that what he has learned in the classroom he has already been able to apply to his jobs.

Some of the things about Marian which Kevin likes are the small size and the family atmosphere, and the fact that he is not a number. He dislikes that people go home every weekend, but he definitely makes the best of it. He feels Marian needs to grow just a little and that students need a recreation center where they can study, hang out, or grab a bite to eat.

When Kevin was asked what he would change about Marian if he had the chance, he replied the attitude of the student body. "There's no school spirit, and we need some sort of traditional weekend that everyone would look forward to and wouldn't miss for the world."

Rodney Dangerfield, comedy movies, John Cougar Mellencamp, and being an avid Chicago Cubs fan are some of his favorites.

Well, if you don't know Kevin Conley by now, you just may spot him at a Marian ball-game dressed in a toga!

T.C. GEARS UP FOR NEW SEMESTER

by Michelle A. Scheidt

Since the Transition Center has moved to its new location in the Clare Hall Annex, a number of changes have been effected to upgrade existing systems and formulate new programs.

Dr. Rosalie Rohm, Transition Center Director, and her staff are pleased with the move they have made. "It's more conducive to our needs. We're not here to jail people, we're here to make them feel better about their success," Rohm said. The new building allows staff members to have bigger offices and more privacy. "It's just more homey," she added.

Doug Daugherty, a new counselor at the center, is working with counselor Mary Lou Gheen to form support groups for students. Daugherty hopes that through these support groups he and Gheen will get to know more students and create a comfortable atmosphere in which they can discuss their problems.

Daugherty also hopes that the groups will help mobilize some support in specific areas. Students will be able to share common problems with others in similar situations. Support groups are currently organizing for bereavement, eating disorders, assault/rape, healthier coping, and senior transitions.

The tutoring program, organized by Rohm, is also expanding. After a semester of hard work and dedicated service to the program, Sarah Holmes is handing the job of Tutor Supervisor to senior David Guerrettaz. Guerrettaz's job involves organization of the existing system and supervision of the student tutors. The program has 14 new tutors this semester.

According to Rohm, student tutors are a very viable solution for those having academic problems because students can relate to each other. "People don't want to show the instructor just how much they don't know. They find it much easier to show a peer," she said.

The Transition Center tutoring has diversified into a wide variety of subjects. Free tutors are available to all Marian students in these areas: Accounting, Anatomy/Physiology, Art, Botany, Introduction to Business, Chemistry, English, French, Global Studies, History, Humanities, Math, Natural Science, Philosophy, Psychology, Sociology, Spanish, and Theology.

Anyone needing a tutor may contact the center at ext. 317. If you are interested in becoming a tutor in any field, contact Rohm at ext. 316.
Hello everybody! It's time for another exciting episode into...the Lighter Side! This is the column that dares to tell you to look at what's going on around you, and remember it's never too late to think! Things are not what they seem!

It has come to the attention of the journalistic offices of the Lighter Side that there is a vast misconception among the residents of Camp "M". We all complain about problems that we see with the staff of the maintenance department. However, should we complain about them? Not really. They are just doing what the head of the maintenance department tells them to do. So, should we complain about the person in charge of the maintenance department? No! He is just doing what his boss tells him to do. Should we complain about this person? Yes! This Big Boss (we all know who he is) is the mastermind who is responsible for all the problems that we see with the maintenance department. The conclusion? Let him know about it! However, as the residents of Alverna Hall are fully aware, you will be lucky if you are even granted permission to see him! When the residents of Alverna Hall wanted to talk to him about overcrowded parking, he had his secretary send them to the head of the maintenance department, who was simply doing what the Big Boss told him to do. So, good luck and good hunting!

Whoa! Slow down Sid, take it easy. Don't let your facts run wild! You may be making justifiable accusations. But I believe that the terrible idiosyncrasies, such as ignoring the problems occurring at Alverna are disrupting the lives of Clare Hall. Changing a lightbulb would be too much to ask. The "BIG BOSS" obviously has more important matters on his mind. Far be it from me, a lowly college student, to question the intelligence and integrity of the "Big Boss."

Now I don't think the maintenance guys are too bad, they can't help or choose their boss, so next time ya see one, just say hi.

As public servants through the media, we, SID and I, feel that it has been our patriotic duty to report the wrongs of this camp.

Remember:
"Man is born free, and everywhere he is in chains."

OR
Camp "M" is not just a camp, it's a ripoff!

(The preceding was a public service announcement from the people who know best. Any similarities with Marian College are purely coincidental.)

You’ve Got the Look if...

What's the latest look in the college fashion world? A quick poll around campus reveals the newest trends. One might say "You've got the look if...

You are a girl and complying to the vogue fashion statements by wearing the more contouring and slendering fashions. A majority of the girls here at Marian are into the crop sweaters, knit outfits, straight long skirts, and straight short skirts. Once in a while we'll see those who try to be even more fashionable by wearing a crop top with the puffy 'balloon' skirt. In casual wear there is still the more traditional statement made by the wearing of the stone or acid washed jeans with a rugby shirt or sweatshirt.

The hip happening with the men seems to be the ever long-lasting impressionable sweat suits. Lately they too will "dare to be different." They, too, have succumbed to the acid washed jean craze. Occasionally, you will see a man with a more dressy yet still casual outfit made up of casual dress slacks along with dress shirt and/or sweater all accompanied by loafers or Eastlanders.

Another fad continuing through both sexes is wearing friendship bracelets, those braided strands of floss put together in various color schemes. The girls are still very much into boots as well as the more conservative styles of shoes, like the men, the loafers, Eastlanders and sneakers.

Do you have the look?
MONTANA WORK
RETURNED

Marian College has returned a sculpture by Pietro Montana to the family of the artist. The piece was returned to the family because of the strong emotional ties between the two.

The 18 inch high plaster bust, valued at about $1,500.00, was molded for the artist's nephew, Ignazio Mirabella in 1914 when Ignazio was one year old. The sculpture is now being presented to Stephen Mirabella, the model's son and grand nephew to the artist.

Mirabella spent ten years looking for this particular piece and Marian College was his last shot to find this piece. He was going to give up after checking this last chance shot and he was very glad to find this piece.

Marian College obtained the bust in a 1986 donation of the artist's work. Other pieces of Montana's work are in various places throughout the United States and Europe.

ARTS

in which weavers, calligraphers, stained class makers, and jewelry makers will allow observers to see their work. Adding a little extra color to the scene, there will be a "Punch and Judy" type puppet show and jousts.

There will hopefully be a student theme dance, with costumes and a king and queen chosen. Thursday night of the activities, there will be a dinner of medieval foods for students.

Planned for Saturday and Sunday is a panel discussions on medieval theater and the Bubonic plague, under the guidance of Mr. Andrew Hohman. A dinner/theatre package at Allison Mansion on Saturday night will add a bit of elegance to the week.

This year's festival, with its relationship to the Church, will fit right in with Marian's 50th anniversary celebrations. Marian's Humanities students, will be able to see what they are learning first hand.

A grant proposal will be brought before the Indian Committee for Humanities to help with the expenses of the festival.

FORGE AHEAD
BE AN R.A.

by Sarah Back

Being a Resident Assistant for Marian College has been a truly interesting and rewarding experience. It has given me the opportunity to meet and work hand-in-hand with other students, faculty, and administrators. It has taught me the benefits of cooperation and teamwork.

A few of the many responsibilities involved with being a Resident Assistant are to encourage students to participate in programs and activities that are available to them, to maintain an orderly environment for the students, and to be available whenever a problem arises with a student.

Not only do Resident Assistants engage in these activities, but also in some of the less serious nature. I'll never forget making the "Cub run" with all the other Resident Assistants from Clare to buy ingredients for our annual cupcake bake on Halloween. The R.A.'s also sponsored a dance and a bake sale to benefit Clare Hall Lounge.

I've really enjoyed being a R.A. and being a member of the R.A. staff this year.
KNIGHTLY NOTES

Are you looking for an experience to last a lifetime? The Resident Assistant position at Marian can offer you a definite challenge for the 1988-89 school year. During the next several weeks, look for informational signs with application pick-up dates.

The Bowl-A-Thon will be held February 28, from 6:30 to 11:30 at Lynhurst Bowl. This is co-sponsored by Student Board and Doyle Hall Council. It is free to all faculty, staff, and students.

An exhibition of the work of Marian College art instructor Richard Patterson will be open in the Marian College library, Monday, February 1 through Friday, February 19, 1988. The exhibition will feature a selection of works completed between 1966 and 1988, including non-objective etchings, pastel landscapes and figures.

FORREST BRANDON MEMORIAL EXHIBIT

The Art Department cordially invites you to view the Forrest Brandon Memorial Exhibit now on display in the Marian College Library until January 29.

Forrest was a valued member of the art department and the humanities division of Marian College, as well as a friend and colleague. We know you will enjoy Forrest's work. We ask that you please sign the guest book that is to be given to his wife, Patricia.

SCRATCH & SNIFF

by Scratch & SNIFF, of course

Because of the lack of our column in the last two issues, there’s a lot to catch up on. Like before break, we had a great time with Zane, Brad, and Brian Johnson at Denny’s. Then, we enjoyed the time that was spent with Kirk and Tom Ehle, while Tom quoted, ROCK THE HOUSE! the whole night. Thanks Wally Blake for driving us to Steak-n-Shake.

Kelly Shaw was trying to protect herself in the cafe, but instead she initiated one of the ELS students with a big tomato. Smack dab in the forehead. She’s sorry, but admits it was hysterical.

Congratulations Bill on the ski trip. We’re proud of you. Which is better though, skiing or the fritters at the Brown County Inn? Jay Wurz, maybe you should’ve had the Tom Collins before you hit the bunny slopes.

Beno, next game, let’s get it "Hooked up" before we play.

That’s it for now, but before we go there’s one question we need to ask: What is the difference between nuts and beer nuts? Do the meatball and look at Pat!

REASONS TO DONATE

Donating Blood is Safe and Necessary

Blood is in great demand and shortages occur frequently. About 10 million units of blood are needed each year in our country to fulfill the demands for cases of trauma, surgery, debilitating chronic illness, and many other conditions. This amount of blood is roughly one pint per year for donors throughout the year. There is no way to contract AIDS from donating blood.

However, if you have been exposed to the AIDS virus, have been diagnosed as having AIDS or another infectious disease, or are in a high-risk group for any infectious disease, you should not donate blood.

If you would like to get involved in a blood donor program, there will be a blood drive in the Clare Hall Lounge on Wednesday, February 2.

KEEP WARM WITH IM'S

by Beth Peter

To help keep bodies slim and trim during these blustery winter months, there is a lot of action with intramural sports.

Currently, the men of Marian play basketball twice a week, on Sunday afternoons and Wednesday nights. There are nine teams. Some of the more unique names include: "I Tappa Keg," "Guess Who?," "Debril," "Slim and White Bodies," and last but not least "Staff Infection" (a traditional team composed of younger staff members).

The ladies' volleyball games started January 24. The favorite of the recreational division, as selected by Jimmy the Greek, is the "Pleasure Donners," a team comprised of Ellen Frommeyer, Lisa Piaggio, and the Carbon's very own Scratch and Sniff.

Two promising teams for the competitive division include "Ready or Not" and "The Bacchanallians." This prediction was also made by Jimmy the Greek, who measured their thighs! Ladies' teams may still sign up for both leagues, which play on Sunday and Thursday nights. Single players are more than welcome to join. Please leave your name with Mr. Henderson.

Co-ed volleyball will begin after Spring Break.

An interested student recently suggested soccer as an intramural sport. Henderson said it has been considered before at Marian, student response was poor. We could make this year different! If you are interested in playing soccer, contact Beth Peter, ext. 408.
