Booster Club puts finishing touches on Homecoming Week

With Homecoming only a week away, Booster Club has been busy planning the week's activities.

Sunday starts it all off when the 1972 Homecoming Queen is crowned during halftime ceremonies of the Intramural Football Championship game. Starting time is set for 5 p.m. Each candidate will be escorted by a member of the basketball team and the queen will be crowned by co-captains, John Springman and Bill Smith. Performances will be given by the Marian College Drum and Bugle Corps, the Pep Band, and the Color Guard. Following the theme Those Were the Days, Monday has been designated "50's Day." It is suggested that the campus dress and use the behavior and word terminology like that of the fifties. Ron Morgan and his troupe will be participating also by sponsoring a 50's nite in the cafeteria. During this time a dance contest will be held. At 8 p.m. in the Old Mixed Lounge there will be a Sock Hop. Judging will be done on each individual's dress and behavior and at the end of the evening "Teen Angel" and "Betty Lou" will be chosen.

Tuesday at noon is the Little 500 Bicycle Race in front of Marian and Clare Halls. A total of one-hundred laps must be covered by 5 members from each class.

A Free Folk Concert will be in the Marian Hall Auditorium starting at 8 p.m. It will feature campus and local talent.

The Perc will be the setting of a Hull Hoop Marathon starting at 8 a.m. and ending at 8 p.m. when Monte Carlo begins. Sponsors for all the classes, Monte Carlo will be held in the I.M. Gym.

A telephone pole sitting contest lasts all day Friday and the Annual Variety Show is at 8 p.m. Admission is $1.25. This includes admission to a buffet which follows in the cafeteria.

The Homecoming Game starts at 2:30 p.m. Saturday with the Color Guard Presentation, Ritter High School Gym is the scene of the forthcoming battle of Marian vs. Marion. At half-time the Drum and Bugle Corps will perform and the Pep Band will provide music throughout the game.

At 9 p.m. in the ISTA Building will be the annual Homecoming Dance. Tickets for the dance go on sale in front of the I.M. Auditorium tomorrow from 1:15-2:45. A scoreboard will be set up in the back of the Administration Building and Clare Hall showing how many points each class has accumulated throughout the week.

Pre-registration held November 9 through 16

Pre-registration for the second semester will be held November 9th through 16th in the study lounge on the ground floor of the administration building.

Juniors and seniors consult with their department heads November 6th to the 10th. They may sign the pre-registration books from 8:30-11:30 a.m. and 1-4 p.m. on Thursday, Friday, November 9th and 10th.

Sophomores pre-register with their department heads on Monday, November 13, and Tuesday, November 14. They are scheduled to sign class registration lists from 1-4 p.m. on Tuesday, November 14, and from 8-11 a.m. and 1-4 p.m. on Wednesday, November 15.

Freshmen consult with their department heads the 14th to the 16th of November. If a freshman has not chosen a major or, he must consult with the Academic Advisement Center in SAC 3. Freshmen complete the class lists from 1:00-4:00 p.m. on Wednesday, November 15, and from 8:30-11:30 a.m. and 1-4 p.m. on Thursday, November 16.

Chairs of classes for the spring semester are available in the registrar's office. On the final page of these schedules is a rough schedule outline. After this mock-up is completed by the student, it must be approved by a department head or advisor. The department or advisor then signs an official schedule which is completed by the student and handed in at the pre-registration desk. The individual must personally make his appointment with his advisor or department head.

Final registration is scheduled for December 13th and 14th. All fees for spring semester must be paid at that time.

Parents experience life on campus this weekend

The Marian campus will greet a group of "greenies" November 11 and 12. These "greenies" will be the parents that attend Parents' Weekend sponsored by the Social Council.

The activities planned for the weekend are diversified, aimed at acquainting parents with the atmosphere of the Marian campus. Saturday, Doyle Hall will be open for registration from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Members of the freshman class will be on hand to direct the parents to their rooms, and the Academic Center.

After registration there is a choice of activities. Parents can either make use of the shuttle bus service to the Indianapolis Museum of Art or take advantage of the open house in Doyle and Clare Halls.

The evening hours are set for a Hull Hoop Marathon starting at 8 p.m. when Monte Carlo begins. Sponsors for all the classes, Monte Carlo will be held in the I.M. Gym.

News Briefs

January 12, 1955

Coordination at Marian college made first place in the 1954 archdiocesan news summary published by the archdiocesan news summary. This is a new column which will be seen weekly. It purpose is to acquaint you with a few of our library's newer books in which you might be interested.

The Formal Organization of Ernest Hemingway (1971) is a study of formal organization, which act as both the instrument of change and as resistance to change. It is an analysis of a group with a main focus on organizational structure.

The Winning Independence of Marshall Smeler (1972) is a study of the American Revolution between the years 1774 and 1783.

Identifying Suicide Potential by Dorothy B. Anderson (1971) focuses on the extent of suicide potential and the forces effecting this tendency.

Painting in the 20th Century by Werner Haftmann (1965) describes the various movements and the artists in the 20th century and contains many illustrations.

Islands in the Stream by Ernest Hemingway (1971) is a novel set in the mid-30's in the Gulf Stream. It describes the psychological conflict of a painter named Thomas Hudson, during the years before and during World War II.

The Movement and Man by Richard H. Wagner (1971) describes the significant changes undergone by man's environment with emphasis on water and air pollution, biocides, chemical and biological warfare, overpopulation problems, and the growing food crisis.

Dear Editors:

Being one of the many cross-country buffs on campus, I have been very disappointed that the PHOENIX has failed to cover the cross-country meets in its last three issues. I am sure that there are hundreds of students who are equally upset. The sports section has consisted of stories about intramural football and volleyball. How can these intramural sports be considered more important than the intercollegiate sport of cross-country? Besides, we can read about these sports in the CARRON. If the PHOENIX sports section does not become more responsive to the needs of the student, I, for one, will cancel my subscription.

Dave Martini

The INDIANA DAILY STUDENT, in the November 1st issue, printed an article released by Associated Press which made public a secret White House study of plans to wire every campus. While I believe the details of the study are of some importance, I do not believe that the opposite suggestion in the article is true. TheNullspace Nullspace, a paper with a "wired" nation, that would provide the government with a disaster-warn-sing system and a means of dispatching a wide variety of services and information. However, as Moorhead says, it also provides a blueprint for a government-operated propaganda and spy system.

The study was a preliminary response to a request for such plans by Dr. Edward E. David, Jr., Nixon's science advisor. A spokesman from David's office said he thinks Moorhead's copy is "a rejected one." (Artie gone now?)

Only one brief reference to any concerns that might arise over the issue of government in

Letters to the editors

The good ole' days are here!

Remember that closet your mother has been waiting for you to clean out for almost seven years now! Now is the time and, while you're busy throwing out stuff, be on the lookout for

1) a jar of Vaseline Hair Tonic
2) one pair of baggy pants
3) one white shirt
4) the dirtiest-looking old saddle oxen you can find
5) bobby sox
6) a black leather jacket
7) an Edsel (?)
8) old records that you have been saving to make a new artistic with.

If you find any three of the above you're in luck and set all for Homecoming week which will be set off in the theme "Those Were The Days."

With the help of the entire campus, Booster Club will try to bring Marian College back to the fifties era with appropriate events like sock hops and hula hoop marathons.

But there will be more to Homecoming week than just a change of dress and happenings.

For the first time in Marian's history, the U.B.I. and the Booster Club will join forces at the Homecoming dance. Those at this dance will be able to dance and be entertained by two bands, JIM DANDY and WESTERN UNION.

Another new feature at the Homecoming dance will be the availability of alcoholic beverages to those with proof of being legal age. It is important to remember that this case is an exception to school policy and applies to the Homecoming dance only. The only alcoholic beverages permitted at this event will be those sold at the I.S.T.A. building and there will be checkers at the door to make sure that this is carried out. Students are expected to exercise responsibility and correct judgement in the implementation to this exception to school policy.

If you have presently become tired of Nixon and McGovern; at the layered look of the natural, look of long hair and short, short skirts, here's your chance to get away from it all and escape for awhile, to the spirit of the fifties.

Nancy Miller—Student Advisor

"We tried to provide as many opportunities for students to support sports events."

Karen Ringwald—Biology Club

"We tried to clean up the lake area and semi-circular pool and sponsored field trips. We enjoyed ourselves in working."

Susan Kneune Wong—Manusa

"We tried to make the Marian community aware of the needs of the mentally retarded and disturbed of Indianapolis and Indiana. We attempted this through volunteer work at Noble School, LaRue Carter Hospital and Christmas projects for Logansport State School. I hope we succeeded, and any help was greatly appreciated."

Nancy Perkins—Student Advisor

"I think the student body of last year, through its experience, brought about a better understanding of the real importance of students in college affairs and a better understanding of student's activities. We learned our mistakes and our good points."

Jay Farrell—Booster Club

"Booster Club, through involvement, did away with the attitude that a spirit on campus is high-schoolish and by its planning and organization of homecoming week and field day transformed the campus into a unified spirit that will hopefully continue throughout the coming year."

The study was a preliminary important to consider on this election day. It clearly shows Nixon's basic lack of commit-to the principles of individual liberty on which this coun-tory was founded. If Nixon is re-elected for more years can we be sure individual liberty will be protected?"
Cookware demonstration to be given Thursday

by Sherry Meyer

Tomorrow's homemakers will be given the opportunity to learn something about cookware, silverware, stone ware, crystal, and china at a meeting sponsored by the Marian College Home Economics Association. On Thursday, November 9, at 11:30 a.m., in Room 129 (Clare Hall), Pat McGraw will speak to all interested students about the development of cookware.

Pat McGraw, a sophomore here at Marian, hopes to differentiate between what is commonly called "pots and pans" and the cookware of today. A demonstration of the construction of cookware will be made with the aid of a cut-away of a piece of cookware. This cut-away model will help the student visualize the new five-layer cookware.

Today's cookware is composed of three alloys in five layers: stainless steel, iron, stainless steel, aluminum, stainless steel. As the local representative for West Bend Corporation, Pat McGraw will be demonstrating only quality brand name items. He hopes to emphasize that cookware, stone ware, china, and crystal must all be judged by "quality, not quantity."

All interested students are encouraged to attend this demonstration of Oriental and Bavarian china, crystal, and silverware on Thursday. This meeting is open to all students and a door prize will be awarded. The door prize, valued at $5, will be a gift from the items to be shown.

Black Comedy given this weekend

by Sherry Meyer

Contrary to popular belief a round the campus, the next production of the theater department to do with races or race relations. The title BLACK COMEDY refers to the plot, which is the series of zany events that occur in an apartment where two young black girls from all the lights go out. One of the cleverer comedies in years, BLACK COMEDY will be performed on the weekend of November 10, 11, and 12 in the Marian College Auditorium.

Martin Risch plays Brinesly, a nervous sculptor and owner of the London Flat. The reason for Brinesly's nervousness becomes apparent as the story unfolds. His kooky, sexual girlfriend is expecting the arrival of her father, a stuffy English Colonel. The laugh that continues as an art collector and assorted oddballs, including a little old mad, and a "gay" not so liberated, interior decorator come in the picture.

Janet Kitchen is the girlfriend, Kathy O'Rourke is the famous art collector, and the decorator, Phyllis Bizarowski is the old maid spinster, Brian Mullen, Elyse Aislin and Tom Schommer and Kevin Carter complete the cast.

Knights previewed in pre-season games

by Ken Hornback

Ladies and Gentlemen! May I have your attention!

One of the greatest shows on earth will be unveiled. It's something you won't want to miss; it's the chance of a lifetime. A perfect team, only 1972/73 edition of the Marian Knights, which could prove to be the biggest show on earth.

Ringmaster Ed Schilling has the squad ready to roll before the public eye, and feels that these games will give him a chance to evaluate his personnel under fire as well as offer his fans the chance to get accustomed to the atmosphere of game conditions. Performances will be on Wednesday, November 8, against the third best AAU team in the country—Marion-Kay, and again at Athletes in Action next Sunday.

Both of these teams are stocked with former collegiate stars that played in big schools and were standouts on the court. The two contests should prove interesting as well as valuable to all participants.

Price of admission is only one thin quarter, a trivial amount that will help the Knights buy laundry materials and furnish you, the fan, with a chance to see what may be one of the top small college teams in the nation.

Watch for a report on each of the individual Knights in next week's PHOENIX.

Women's still full of surprises

by Mary Beth Blankman

Although the top teams are well known, this past week was perfect evidence that Women's Intramural Volleyball is still full of surprises for all the teams.

In Monday night's game, the major win was for 8-Pak Plus One For The Road, who needed only two games to defeat previously unbeaten Wazur. In other upssets, the Main Ingredient poured on their competitive strength to oust the Mars-Mellows. Spatiquity and Friends had a perfect week, rolling over East Wing, L&M outmaneuvered Volley of the Dolls, and Flischel's Farm Oasis foil the attempts of the Red Hot Mandas. Gagen's Gangsters illustrated their winning power to L&M, and Flischel's Farm Outs won a class competition over 3M. The Marsh-Mellows burnt the Indiana Bombers, while the Snatchers had an easy win through Brandx's forecast.

Wednesday night the Voluptuous Vollies came back on the winning side by trampling 3M, the Blue Yarn did likewise, easily sailing over the Indiana Bombers, and Wazur added another win by their victories over the Marsh-Mellows. Spatiquity and Friends had a perfect week, rolling over East Wing, L&M outmaneuvered Volley of the Dolls, and Flischel's Farm Oasis foiled the attempts of the Red Hot Mandas. The Snatchers gave 8-Pak Plus One For the Road a win through their forecast, while one team did the same for Gagen's Gangsters.

Football battles leave Gods, Rangers in contest

by Ken Hornback

Placed on a perfect day before an enthusiastic crowd, they were typical intramural football playoff games.

Characterized by flaring tempers, name-calling, and poor sportsmanship, this spectacle of spectacles was more of a free for-all rather than a football game.

GODS OF HELLFIRE 13
BUTT 7

The infamous Gods of Hellfire, although not quite the powerhouse they used to be, still had enough left to come charging from behind and defeat the surprising Butt team, who played extremely well and certainly deserved a better fate than their season-ending defeat.

Aided by a questionable call, the Gods drove 40 yards in the last minute to score the winning touchdown. Bill Doherty, quarterback, began the drive when he launched a long pass far downfield that was intended for flying Tony Formato. Although the pass was short, in the ensuing tangle of receivers and defenders Fran Ketter was detected as being guilty of interference and the Gods were awarded a first down deep in Butt territory. From here they had no trouble in walking in for the score on a Doherty-to-Mike Reisen pass that gave them the victory as time elapsed.

The Gods scored first in the contest on a Doherty-to-Herbe pass for six big ones and this score stood up till halftime. But the inspired sophomore grabbed the lead on a Joe Kuzmitz to Rick Martin pass for the touchdown, and a Ketter extra point made it a 7-6 lead that looked like it would stand up.

So, once again the Gods move to the coveted title game, and in doing so are trying to capture some of the old mystique the former Gods of Hellfire teams featured. Butt, on the other hand, will put away the uniforms for another year and dream of going all the way next year.

LONE RANGERS 13
VICE LORDS 6

In the most electrifying game of the year, the upset-minded Rangers pulled off, in my opinion, a whale of an upset when they edged the talented, defending champion Lords by a narrow 13-6 margin in a highly emotional game

The first half was about as evenly matched as you could get. The only score came when Dan Hayden flew 80 some yards with a pass from quarterback Ken Aust to give the Rangers a lead they never relinquished.

After the halftime intermission, the fireworks began. Jay Farrell sparked the drive with key receptions, but it was a big pass to Paul Gerth that covered most of the yardage. Farrell carried over the pigskin on a Zapp toss and a spirited Lord team had narrowed the gap to 7-6. But the crucial extra point failed, perhaps an omen of things to come.

Ken Tyrrell, taking over at quarterback, accounted for an insurance score when he collaborated with Aust for a final touchdown on a 35 yard pass. The game, after several flare-ups and disruptions, ended and was entered into the finality of the record books.

Stars were abundant for the victors, including such notables as Roy Buffington, John Smith, Tim Ellinger, and Dale Hemmelgarn. And, although he didn't see action, the place-kicking wonder Steve Hammerle was constantly warming up on the sidelines and lending moral support to his team mates.

The Vice Lords, too, deserved a better fate than losing. They played their hardest, but when you're on top, everybody tries their hardest to knock you off, and it's a long fall for those involved.

The Lords, even though they had a tough time controlling their tempers, proved their championship calibre after the game when they congratulated the winners. Although emotions were high and tempers flared, these things will soon be forgotten by all involved. One must realize how easy it is to let your emotions carry you away, and we are sure that there are no hard feelings among the participants.

The Lords should be proud, and stars like John Purcell, Jim and Jerry Leugers, Dave Jonge and others are thankful that they have another year yet to get back on top. We are betting they'll be back there next year.
