Act Now Don't Be Found Without a Job

A few Marian graduates of last year have not found satisfactory employment. This means that these young men and women have not found jobs after looking for a position for six months after graduation.

Placement offers help

Seniors are being urged by the Placement Office to take action now so that they do not find themselves in a similar position. There are steps that seniors can take to enhance their employability and find the job they want. The Placement Office is equipped to advise seniors as to the type of tools and basic information that can function in the finding of the position they want. Services available are explained below.

The PLACEMENT SERVICES handbook provides information that will help design a resume and make initial contacts with employers. It also provides suggestions about appropriate interview behavior and what kind of contacts to make with an employer after being interviewed.

In addition to a resume, all students seeking positions in the business, industry or government areas should develop a credentials file. This includes the basic information that employers want to know about a candidate. Letters of reference are an important part of the file since they are considered a very useful means of evaluating a candidate for a job. The blank form needed to construct this file are available in the Placement Center.

Planning continued

The OCCUPATIONAL OUTLOOK HANDBOOK (1972-73 edition) is available at the OCCUPATIONAL OUTLOOK QUARTERLY are the most widely used sources for information about professions. A publication entitled INDANA MANPOWER TRENDS (1967-1973) provides local data in these areas. All three of these sources are available at the Placement Center. A listing and thorough description of opportunities within the U. S. government is also available in the Placement Center. The application forms and information on the Federal Service Entrance Examination can also be secured.

The COLLEGE PLACEMENT ANNUAL is a source which lists hundreds of employers by major and geographic location. It describes each company and lists the name of the personnel director.

The members of the 1973 Sweetheart's Ball court were announced last evening. Senior candidates are Peggy Lauer and Barb Campbell. The juniors are Kathy Gagen and Cathy Curran; Tracie Martin and Trish Baumner, sophomores; and Andrea Wells and Mary Lou Mitchell, freshmen.

These eight girls were chosen from a list of nominees selected last week. The other girls who were nominated are: Linda Burks, Mary Stockham, Nancy Perkins, Helene Mulhan, Jeanne Heilman, Barb Forman, Chris McMillen, Margie Bauer, Jane Bruns, Anne Monett, Carol Jones, Elaine Ellis, and Kathy McMillen.

The queen will be crowned at the Sweetheart's Ball on February 10 by last year's queen, Barb Moll.

The cubicle adjacent to the Counseling Offices and the Financial Aid Office in the SAC building will be used as the center for placement activities. All of the materials mentioned above are available in this center.

Discussions planned

We have made arrangements for Bill Hawkins (who works in the Placement Office at Indiana University) to conduct a program that seniors find most helpful in their job-seeking efforts. Some of the topics are Planning Your Career, What the Jobs Are, Where the Jobs Are, Job Interview, Job Opportunity, and The Job Interview. This will take place on Friday afternoon. The program will be divided into several sections. Interested seniors should contact Mrs. Muster, Ext. 262.

We have sent letters to over 140 employers throughout the state. As a result, a number of employers have indicated that they have openings. Other companies have called due to our contacts with them last year. A list of the job opportunities that we are aware of is available in the Placement Center.

The most useful service that is available is the individual conference. Any senior wondering who to contact for a job, how to contact them, what goes into a credentials file, how to design a resume, what to include in a letter of application, should feel free to contact John Victoryroom (Ext. 262) or Fred Brans (Ext. 262). All this information is available in the Placement Center.

RULING BY SUPREME COURT ON ABDUCTION

The Supreme Court yesterday ruled that abortion during the first three months of pregnancy is a matter to be decided between a woman and her physician.

The court further stated that medical abortions, those deemed necessary to preserve the health of the mother, are permissible up to the end of the sixth month.

The ruling of the high court invalidates the laws concerning abortion in every state of the union. States have power to interfere only during the second three months of pregnancy when a medical decision is necessary in the decision to abort.

This ruling, then, gives American women the right to a legal, medical abortion during the first six months of her pregnancy.

HOST-GUEST GROUP

An information session will be held Thursday, January 25, from 10:30 a.m. to 1:20 p.m. in the Red Room across from the cafeteria to acquaint students with the newly formed Marian College Host-Guest group.

Marian College and Butler University have signed an agreement to offer a joint program to Marian College students.

The signing came after determining that there was no serious student or faculty opposition to the inclusion of this arrangement into the Marian curriculum. Students who participate in the Butler program will take the AFROTC courses on the Butler campus, Enlistment credit, and tuition procedures will be maintained under the administration.

The new arrangement goes into effect February 1, 1973 and is initially available to freshmen and sophomores. Interested students may obtain information about the AFROTC program, its benefits, and enrollment procedures from Captain Pickens who will be available outside the auditorium from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on January 24-25, 74, or by calling 342-2620.

Briefly, the AFROTC program is open to both men and women and is oriented toward students interested in becoming pilots or navigators. The basic benefits are:

1. Full tuition scholarships, including books and a $100/mo allowance.
2. Guaranteed $100/mo allowance for all juniors and seniors.
3. Free flying lessons to private pilot license for pilot candidates.
4. Guaranteed job at graduation

MARIAN — INITIATED AT AFROTC

The Marian College Home Economics Club hosted a dinner meeting for the 1972-73, 74 state officers of the Indiana Home Economics Association student section last Saturday, January 20th from 4:30 - 7:30 p.m.

The club will also be hosting an initiation dinner tomorrow at 6:00 p.m. for new members. Mrs. Fred Brames is scheduled to be the guest speaker.

This group, when selected, will act as hosts to all campus guests of the college. Anyone interested should stop in, ask questions, view the uniforms, and fill out an application.

starting at $855/mo and advancing to $1,200/mo after 3 years. Salary increases continue to occur regularly every two years.

Effective credit toward the college degree.

Draft deferment.

Students to Share Views

OCS is offering students the opportunity to share their views on various topics. Regular weekly sessions will be held in the Student Activities Center Room 1. These sessions are open to all students, faculty, and administrators. Some topics that have been suggested are listed below. Other topic suggestions will be welcomed.

Those interested should contact Mr. John Van Hoore or Mr. M. Diga (Ext. 26) or 262 as soon as possible.

Suggested topics are:

- Sharing Something of Yourself
- What are the Goals of Life
- Establishing Self-Worth
- The Place of Feelings and Emotions
- Developing Emotional Freedom
- The Struggle to Become a Person
- Thoughts and Feelings - The Grass is Greener Syndrome
- Six Techniques for Coping with Tensions

The Two Most Important Principles of Human Behavior
- The Generation Gap
- The Lonely Person
- The Person of Tomorrow
If you see me walking around campus and I don’t have the happiest of smiles on my face, there’s a reason. There are a few things I’m distressed with that don’t look any better to me even after I put on my rose-colored glasses—and sometimes they look worse.

Trying to buy my books somewhere other than “The Bookstore”, I find that Marian College book lists are confined to the Marian College bookstore. That bothers me. It’s not at all fair that they should have such a monopoly on our business. It’s un-American.

I could use the situation with a ‘grin and bear it’ attitude and a mock-up of an explanation about the college needing money—if “The Bookstore” had an adequate supply of the necessary texts. It too often comes down to basically trying to get the best deal on the book to get the last book available. If he beats you, you get a line about the indicated number of students in the class (according to pre-registration) is smaller than the number now taking it and “We just didn’t order that many books.” You are told they will have to be ordered from the publisher.

From last semester’s experience, you could go through three-quarters of the semester without a book and then be told you have to pay for a book you would only get a few weeks’ use out of when it comes in? Is it so much to ask that our book lists be sent to at least one other book dealer in the city?

If this were the only thing bothering me, you could see me smile whenever it happened to slip my mind. But when “The Bookstore” is forgotten, I have a few other things to complain about.

The spirit of free expression is truly encouraged at this school. To begin with, the four student publications shared only one phone—now they share none. Caretaker pigeons don’t like cold weather, and none of us know Morse code so a telegraph line is out. It’s very ironic to me that we’re unable to get to a phone to communicate, but lately nearly everyone has been able to enter our offices through a door we are not permitted a key to.

We lock the door behind us when we leave, only to find it open the next day.—And none of our staff has entered or left the room in the meantime! We’re expected to be responsible for the equipment we use, but obviously evil spirits are working against us. Maybe we should padlock the door, like the Theatre Department. Padlock the door to our phone—excuse me, their phone—now.

While I’m getting things off my chest, I may as well take this opportunity to thank whoever pulled the fire alarm Saturday night. I’m sure the fire department is almost equally grateful to be gotten out of bed for your little prank.

The incident did bring a question to my mind. Why do we never have fire drills in Marian Hall? From the placement of stairwells and the large number of people in it at certain times it could be quite a tragic scene if a fire did start there. A lot of the day students don’t even know what the fire alarm sounds like!

I feel a lot better now that I’ve put down some of what’s bothering me. I decided not to include my views on Mr. Nixon and his war because I wanted to devote my space to things that I might be able to get something constructive done about.

Due to technical difficulties—most of the headlines are by Mark O’Connor.

Letter

December 20, 1972

Dear Dr. Gatto,

As spokesman for the young men confined at the Indians Youth Center I wish to express our appreciation to the young ladies of Marian College who attended the Christmas parties sponsored by PACE (Public Action in Correctional Effort) last Wednesday and Thursday.

The interest, friendliness and enthusiasm of these attractive girls contributed greatly to the success of the parties. The fact that they would give of their time to help young men, whose self-esteem has been somewhat shattered by present circumstances, is certainly improved morale and spirit.

Marian College may well be proud of such representatives entering into community affairs to help those fortunate than themselves.

Yours truly,

W.C. Eblary
Superintendent

It's time to get your Marian College Phoenix.
A Marian College Zip Trip program is being planned by the Student Activities Office during the spring semester of 1973. The intended purpose of this program is to provide the students with the opportunity to attend a wide variety of programs throughout the city. The tentative schedule is listed below. All students and faculty members are invited to indicate which trips they would be interested in participating in and to include any ideas for additional trips.

Zip Trips survey forms should be returned to Linda Kolb in the office of Student Services in the Student Activities Center on or before Wednesday, January 24, 1973, so that the spring program can be confirmed. The results of this survey will appear in this week's CARBON.

$100 a month for a few good men in college.

The U.S. Marine Corps Pilot Leaders Class offers an undergraduate a convenient way to work towards both diplomas and a Marine Corps commission.

PLC members attend only summer training sessions, so there's no interference with their academic, athletic, and social life.

Members who become eligible may apply for a monthly stipend of $100 every month of the school year. That's $900 dollars a year, with a maximum of $2700 during a college program.

PLC-Law

If you're going to law school.

The PLC program does not preclude you from attending law school. In fact, there's a special PLC program that encourages and rewards you for it. If you're a member of the PLC program and achieve a score of 450 or better on your Law School Admission Test and you're accepted at an accredited law school, you may qualify. You'll be commissioned when you graduate from college, and you will be deferred from active duty for the three years you are in law school. While in law school you're not permitted to receive any pay, but the Marine Corps pays the entire cost.

Look into the unique advantages of a most unusual program. PLC. See a Marine Representative.

The PLC program offers its members an opportunity to earn a civilian pilot's license before graduation.

And a chance to earn a civilian pilot's license at our expense.

The PLC program offers its members an opportunity to earn a civilian pilot's license before graduation.

The unique program gives a student a chance to see if he's suited to flying. Those who complete the program average about $800 worth of lessons.

The Marine Corps pays the entire cost.

The Marine Pilots Officers Selection Team will be available to discuss various commissioning programs with Marian College students from 12:30 until 3:30 Monday through Friday, April 63-1766 or 633-8149 in Indianapolis.

After ripping off a four-game winning streak during Christmas vacation, Marian's hard luck Knights fell to a sharp shooting Thomas More squad by a 94-75 count.

Marian, playing at somewhat less than full strength, battled courageously to make it close for the first half, but were buried by an avalanche of Rebel points shortly after intermission that all but sealed their doom.

Spurred on by an energetic and extremely vocal crowd that gathered to witness what was supposed to be a Thomas More romp, the blue and gold rode the hot shooting of Rick Ebinger and Stan Benge to charge into contention in the first half. But a bit of less-than-super free throw shooting did in whatever chance at victory the Knights seemed to have.

Ed Schilling, coach of the Cold Spring Road-based Knights, had his boys really up for this one, but every time it got close, the Rebels put on a spurt to move away.

Mr. Schilling, who wheeled and dealt out four straight before Saturday, tried several combinations in an effort to get a blend of board strength and good shooting, but a Knight victory just wasn't meant to be. One thing can be said though, although Marian was beaten they weren't outhustled.

Ebinger, playing one of his best games of the year, led the scoring parade with 19. Bill Smith and Benge joined Rick in double digits with 12 and 10 respectively.

Ebinger, Smith, and Joe Wade each grabbed 10 caroms to lead that department, and amazing John Springman continued to pace the assists makers with 6.

The game wasn't all that bad for Marian, particularly from the standpoint of the outstanding hustle displayed by all who participated.

The Knights play at Huntingdon on Wednesday. Try to be here, and back a winner.

Dave Jongleux in a rare scoring role paced his team with 19 points as Golden Nails took a 60-47 victory from the hands of the Dry Heaves despite an excellent effort of 25 points by Ken Ollier. Mark Simko, having an exceptionally good day from the field, netted one basket in ten attempts.

Rick Martin kept pace with scoring leaders, netting 19 points and helping MFIC edge past the aggressive Rim Shot 54-52. Jim Kilps collected 9 field goals for 18 points, but Mark Mauer's sloppy, lazy play just kept the team from cashing in on a victory.

CRUDDY PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Mark Fisher, who even though his team won, did everything possible to change that, which included: bad passes, double dribbles, travelling, three seconds, bad shots, and easy shots that were missed.
