11-17-1988

The Carbon (November 17, 1988)

Marian University - Indianapolis

Follow this and additional works at: http://mushare.marian.edu/crbn

Recommended Citation
http://mushare.marian.edu/crbn/312

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Campus Newspaper Collection at MUShare. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Carbon by an authorized administrator of MUShare. For more information, please contact emandity@marian.edu.
Allison preps for Christmas

by Corrine Wickens

Christmas already?!
Although many people have not started Christmas shopping or making ready for the Christmas season, preparations are being finalized for Christmas at Marian. As one of the opening activities, the school will be sponsoring a “Hanging of the Greens” party at Allison Mansion, November 28 from 2 to 10 p.m.

The “Hanging of the Greens” party is a time when students can help decorate the historic Allison Mansion with Christmas trees, garland, and other Christmas decorations, according to Alan Lyle, director of College Relations. All work will be done under the direction and supervision of Indianapolis floral designer, Bonnie Temperly, who is in charge of buying the decorations and overall design.

“The mansion is a real jewel on campus with the Christmas trees, lights, decorations, and candles. It’ll look just great (please see CHRISTMAS on page 3)

Knights take St. Francis for Homecoming victory

by Michelle Leman and Jeff Redenbaugh

Eric Zolman probably had one of the best seats in the house Saturday while watching the Marian College basketball team defeat St. Francis 96-74 for a Homecoming victory. Although Zolman never left his spot on the bench, he was as involved in the game as high scorers Rick Russell, 21, and Scott Fleming, 20. Ed Ertel also contributed with an outstanding nine rebounds.

After an agonizingly close first half, the Marian team filed into the locker room at half-time. With the Knights down 41-42, Coach Grimes encouraged his players to take more select shots, correct defensive errors, have some confidence and get the ball in the basket. “Go out and do what you are doing a little bit better,” he said.
Zolman felt that the score was close because the team was flat the first half. “The team played solidly for the first seven minutes, but then the intensity dropped,” said Grimes. “I didn’t feel good about giving up 42 points to St. Francis.”

The players obviously found the intensity they had lost, and executed their coach’s advice. Seven players scored in the second half. Fleming was responsible for twelve points, and Ed Ertel and Matt Mitchell both contributed eight points a piece.

Grimes and Zolman agree that this year’s team has the potential to be better than last year’s. The Coach’s Pre-season Poll of District 21 Teams ranked Marian (please see HOMECOMING on page 7)
To the Editor

Apology

At the first meeting of this year's Carbon I volunteered for and was given an assignment to write an article. It was to be turned in two weeks later for the second issue. I never wrote the article; nor did I give the Carbon staff any notice that I would not be turning it in. Instead, I chose to ignore the entire affair and just not care. I screwed up. To the Carbon staff -- and especially to my friend Stacey Nicholas -- I offer a very sincere apology.

Last spring, when I wrote articles for the Carbon it was not only a lot of fun, but a great learning experience for someone interested in writing. Everyone on the staff was willing to teach. They taught me more about journalism than I have the patience to learn from any textbook.

Sincerely,
John Brown

Heating problem

Have you walked through Marian Hall or around Clare Hall and noticed all the windows that are open? Whenever I am in class we have the windows open because it is too hot in the classroom (except for room 313 where we almost freeze to death).

When I walk by Clare Hall I see that the temperature control systems in these two buildings. Even though Marian has made these investments we are still throwing money away every day by heating these buildings to the point of being uncomfortable. I hate to see my tuition money paying unnecessary heating bills.

-- Frank Berger

Crime prevention program

On November 22, 1988, Student Affairs is offering members of the College Community an opportunity to attend an interesting and informative program on the subject of “Crime Prevention.” The program, which will be held from 3:30-4:30 p.m. in the Music Room of the Allison Mansion, is sponsored by Citizens Against Crime, a national public service organization. The program will focus on “personal assault crime: avoidance and survival.”

Because of the nature of the program, there is a limitation on the number of people who may attend. Therefore, if you plan to attend we ask that you make a reservation in advance by calling the secretary of the Office of Student Affairs, Mrs. Karen Childers at 929-0240 (X 240). Participation in the program is limited to fifty persons -- so make your reservation early to attend.

For additional information about the sponsoring organization and the program on November 22, contact the Office of Student Affairs or one of the leaders of student government.

Carbon photo contest

The Carbon is sponsoring a photo contest designed around the theme “Typically Marian.”

Any student of Marian College may place a mounted photo entry into the entry box in the Theology/Philosophy Department office.

Prizes will be awarded for the best three photos. Businesses contributing prizes include Show Biz Pizza, Chi-Chi's, Subway, and Cuts and Curls.

Mr. Denis Kelly, Jr., a professional photographer, will judge the contest.

For additional rules, consult prior editions of the Carbon or call Stacey Nicholas at ext. 170.

Deadline for entries is November 17, 1988. The winners will be announced on November 31.

Photo talents, here’s a chance to get some great food prizes and show your stuff. A picture is not only worth a thousand words. This time it can bake your bread.

Carbon meetings are held each Monday at 8:30 p.m. in the Student Board Conference Room.
You are welcome.
Senior Profile

by Karla Chrsiiler

Matt LaGrange came to Marian College from Washington, IN, where he attended Washington Catholic High School. LaGrange admits that Marian was not his first choice, but a letter from coach John Grimes inspired him to check out Marian. He was impressed with what he saw and decided to attend. Having a very supportive family has been inspirational for him. He is third of seven children and he is happy to share the company of his sister, Donna, here at Marian. LaGrange comes from a family of teachers and engineers. It was hard for them to understand why he chose psychology, but they supported him. LaGrange is a psychology major and a computer minor who aspires to attend graduate school at Indiana University where he is leaning towards the clinical side of psychology.

At Marian, LaGrange has been involved in a multitude of activities. He is currently Student Board Secretary. Served on the Judicial Panel, on the Student Affairs Committee, on the Publications Committee, as a resident assistant, and has been involved in sports. LaGrange is currently working at the Center for Neuropsychological Rehabilitation where he helps supervise the patients who live there. When he is not working or involved with activities at Marian, he enjoys reading. He prefers science fiction and fantasy, but enjoys other types of literature also.

LaGrange feels that Marian has given him opportunities that a larger school could not give him. What he values most is the individual attention he receives from his professors.

Ceilings falling on campus

by Micheal Rinard

On Wednesday evening, 9 November 1988, the ceiling in the hallway of Fisher Hall (next to room 24) began to fall. As the Art Appreciation class was busily viewing slides from the Baroque Period, a 2' by 3' piece of plaster crashed onto the floor. After this initial falling, more plaster began to fall, until an 18" by 18" hole developed in the ceiling and the insulation began to tumble downward. At which time, the instructor, Mrs. Maureen Suelzer said, "I think we really should dismiss class tonight."

Similar sightings of falling ceilings have been reported on campus: the ceiling is falling in the West Dining Room at Clare; the ceiling in James Goebel's office; as well as the ceiling and walls in the Radiology Technology building. Last year alone, $72,000 was spent repairing and maintaining damage caused by water and steam leaks in the Library, Chemistry labs, and Doyle Hall.

The leak in the West Dining Room at Clare was a result of someone who attached a shower head to the existing plumbing fixtures. The pipes in Clare Hall date from 1948 and to completely repipe Clare would cost about one million dollars.

In Goebel's office, the ceiling leak was caused by a steam pipe running along the original roof, and a new roof, 14 inches higher, was constructed over the existing one when they added on to the building. "Flat roofs will always leak," said Ron Schmoll, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds. "Some of the roofs date back to 1926, and we have been patching these leaks with hot tar patching, which does a pretty good job. The new roofs have been done with insulation and a rubber membrane, then gravel is placed over the top. We just don't have the money to do everything all at once."

In the planning stages are a new roof for the Cafe and the Physics Buildings. When they're done," Lyle said. He encourages students, both groups and individuals, to help decorate the Mansion.

One of the main purposes of decorating the Mansion is in preparation for the Madrigal dinners, performed by the Chamber Singers and Marian Chorale. The Madrigal dinners, an annual event in dinner/show style, will be presented Dec. 2-4 and Dec. 8-10, forming the highlight of the Christmas activities at Marian.

"With the decorations, the Mansion itself, music, and dinner, they always put on an unforgettable program," said Lyle.

Along with the "Hanging of the Greens," and the Madrigal dinners, a "Make it and Take it" workshop will also be conducted by Bonnie Temperly, Dec. 3 from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. Students will be instructed in making their own garland decorations to decorate their dorm rooms or give as a gift.

Student Board meetings

Nov. 20
Dec. 4

All meetings are in the Student Board Room from 6 to 7:30 p.m.
Lighter side

by Michael Rinard

Have you taken a real close look at the back of your Camp "M" calendar? Have you noticed a rather blue square labeled “Proposed Student Activity Center?” When is this thing supposed to be built?

I asked Campus Controller Joe Wagner about this, and he said, “Why are you people always bugging me? I don’t know anything. Why Don’t you go ask the President of Camp “M.”

So, being the dutiful camper that I am, I asked the President of Camp “M,” Louis B. Catlow, about the plans for the “Proposed Student Activity Center.” He said, “Well, we got caught with our pants down when we cut the trees, so we will be moving more cautiously with these plans. I would prefer to let the next President worry about this Center. Until then, I’ll just be coasting along, keeping my nose clean, and waiting for the school year to end.”

Right now, we sit with a labeled square on the map. When this new Student Activity Center will be built is anyone’s guess.

Maybe a contest would be in order: The first person to correctly identify the completion date of the Activity Center will have it named after himself. Enter early, enter often, maybe your name will grace Camp “M.”

---

Academy of Hair Design

Hair Styling & Tanning Center

2150 Lafayette Rd.
(5 minutes from Marian College)

Advanced Cutting and Perm Room

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Prices</th>
<th>Reg.</th>
<th>Marian ID</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Perms</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Conventional</td>
<td>$29.95</td>
<td>$24.95</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spiral (long hair)</td>
<td>$34.95</td>
<td>$29.95</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Styles</td>
<td>$6.50</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(Prices good only in Advanced Room)

Free consultation

Tanning Beds

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>12 sessions</th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Reg.</td>
<td>$29.95</td>
<td>$24.95</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Appointments

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>hair: 635-0013</th>
<th>tan: 637-7227</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Tues-Fri 9:00-5:30</td>
<td>Sat. 8:00-4:30</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Mark Hall joins art department
by Tina M. Kunkler

"I'm one part Peter Pan," said the new professor in the Art Department when asked who is the real Mark Hall. In explanation, Hall said that he "loves a good joke occasionally." The second part is scholar because he enjoys research. Thirdly, Hall claims to be a dreamer. "Why?" is his favorite question.

The Indianapolis native attended Hanover College and has completed graduate studies at three institutions including the University of Louisville, Indiana State University, and the Christian Theological Seminary. Currently, Hall is attending the University of Chicago to complete a doctorate degree.

This semester Hall is teaching three courses including the Humanities Art sections. He has four courses scheduled for the spring semester. When asked why he came to Marian, Hall answered, "I enjoy teaching... the Art Department has a great deal of potential for making a really dynamite program."

Hall is constructing an exhibit with a fellow student, Rafael Chacom, at the Art Institute of Chicago. The exhibit of satirical political art features work by French artists such as Daumier from the period between 1830 to 1835. The theme of the exhibit is the artist's rights to freedom of expression within the good of the community, according to Hall.

Voted most likely to adapt at Hanover, Hall says he will cheer for Marian at any event. Hanover, according to Hall, only wanted his money and not to educate him.

Along with jokes, research, and questions, Hall is drawn to theater, cooking, especially chocolate desserts, and biking. He and his wife have purchased season tickets for a local theater.

90 million vote in U.S. elections
by Jodie Skelly

Close to 90 million Americans went to the polls on Nov. 8 to select a successor to Ronald Reagan, and to choose one-third of Senate and the entire House.

The long 1988 campaign, often more negative than enlightening, is over. The candidates took their final swings.

The polls gave George Bush the lead going into the final week. Bush did not fail the poll's predictions.

On January 20, 1989, George Bush will become the first sitting Vice President since Martin Van Buren in 1836 to claim the presidency.

Of the 33 Senate seats contested this year, 18 were held by Democrats and 15 by Republicans. Six incumbents--three in each party--did not run for re-election. The Democrats kept their majority and gained a few seats.

In the House, strategists in both parties were predicting minimal shifts from the current line up of 255 Democrats, 177 Republicans, and three vacant seats.

No one was predicting a shift of more than seven seats for either party, however, the Democrats did keep majority control.

Evan Bayh and John Mutz knew it would come down to the two of them going one-on-one for the governor's office of Indiana. Bayh, the 32 year old Secretary of State, ended the 20 years of Republican rule. This year's gubernatorial campaign brought competition back into Indiana politics.

This year's Presidential and Gubernatorial campaign caused divisions to be drawn. Now the nation and state gathers again, trying to accept new leadership.

Dancers present convocation
by Mary Pedtke

The convocation committee presented Dance Kaleidoscope in the Marian Hall Auditorium on November 15. The midday performance was sponsored by the Drama department.

The title of the performance was "Perfect Bodies in Perfect Motion." The dancers performed African ballet, jazz, and modern movements that relate to contemporary black history.

The performances centered around various issues. On October 19, Dance Kaleidoscope and another company, Jubilation!, performed together at the Indiana Repertory Theater.

Two of the performances that Kaleidoscope performed on it's own were "Games," a tribute to the Pan-Am games about Physical prowess and technical skill, and "Issue," which is a dance-drama about two parents arguing and a daughter trying to resolve the conflict between them.

The performance was an exciting experience.
AIDS spreading on college campuses across the nation

(CPS) -- As many as three out of every one thousand college students may have AIDS, the preliminary results of a nation wide study show.

The results, if they hold true when the study is completed in February, would indicate that students are not paying much attention to efforts to get them to change their sex habits. It also means that a significant portion of the American student body is at risk of catching -- and dying of -- AIDS.

"If the figures hold up, there are more concerns than anticipated," said Dr. Rolan Zick, director of the University of Colorado health center.

"At this point, the numbers are so preliminary it's practically meaningless," cautioned Anne Sims of the Center of Disease Control (CDC).

The CDC, along with the American College Health Association, is gathering and testing 1,000 blood samples drawn from students on 20 campuses to see how far AIDS has spread.

AIDS (acquired immune deficiency syndrome) is caused by a virus which destroys the body's immune system. The virus is most typically contracted by having sex or sharing intravenous needles with an infected person, or by contaminated blood products. There have been more than 76,000 cases reported in the U.S. since 1981, with 43,000 fatalities.

Campus lifestyles, health administrators believe, leave students especially vulnerable to the disease.

"Students are a sexually active group," says Dr. Florence Winship of the University of Georgia. And because they tend to be young and inexperienced, "they feel immune, even when they know the problem's out there."

"In general," said Rich Wolitski of the AIDS Education Project, "college students have a fairly high knowledge about AIDS. They know how it can be transmitted and how they can protect themselves."

"But in general, they do not consider themselves vulnerable."

In September, the CDC reported that the AIDS scare apparently had not markedly changed students' sexual habits, prompting Assistant U.S. Secretary of Health Dr. Robert Windom to urge campus officials to try harder to educate their students about AIDS.

"Since the average incubation period (for AIDS) is seven years or longer, it's clear that many of the 14,000 patients in this group were high school or college age at the time of their infection," Windom said.

Virtually every campus in the U.S. now has some kind of AIDS program.

"Students are not mature," Winship said. "They don't plan ahead." Condom machines, especially in the dormitories, "let's them have better access later in the thinking process," just before they have sex, she said. "It's controversial, but its realistic."

Higher Education Week

by Mary Pedtke

Reverend John Pollard will speak at Allison Mansion this week as part of Higher Education Week ceremonies.

The talk had been rescheduled from the original date in October to November 17 because of the full schedule of the Archdiocese.

Because the talk centers around the future of Catholic education invitations have been expanded to include not only elementary and secondary administrators and guidance counselors, but also the directors of religious education from the Indianapolis Archdiocese, the Diocese of Lafayette, and the Diocese of Fort Wayne.

The dinner is cosponsored by the Departments of Theology/Philosophy and Education.

Education students volunteer at conference

Students in Early Childhood classes recently served as volunteers at the Indiana Association for the Education of Young Children, State Fall Conference at the Adam's Mark Hotel.

The students are to be commended for their commitment to the profession and for the very positive way in which they represented Marian College.

Those participating were as follows: Kenny Allison, Jennifer Foster, Melissa Graybiel, Kelly Reynolds, Tammy Poling, Kathy Cuse, Karen King, Shawna Owen, Melissa Frechette.

This is the fifth year that Marian students have been involved with the IAEYC conference under the coordination of Rosanne Pirtle, Education Department.

Mock Rock a success

by Lucinda Griner

Mock Rock was a success! Each act involved deserved an award for the quality of their acts and the effort they put out.

The winning act was "The Leader of the Pack." The group of Angela Fenoglio, Regina Garza, Rita Neitzel, Kelly Hodnett, Mark Matthews, Ray List, Bobby Archer, Mike Reimbold, and Michael Beckiewicz did an excellent job acting out the lyrics.

Coming in a close second was the rap song "Wild, Wild West" featuring Rick Hertel, Mike Stein, Randy Domingo, Ray Denning, Donald Ferguson, John Jones, and William Van Cleave.

Third place was given to the Nerds doing "Revenge." Pointdexter Shaw, Lewis Mauer, Gilbert Rennekamp, Booger Bunting, Takashi Van Alst, Lamar Allison, and Wormser Richards showed us that Nerds are best.
Knights prepare for Brooks Classic

by Jeff Redenbaugh

The third annual Brooks Peach Basket Classic will be held at Marian this year. The dates for the Brooks Classic are November 28 and 30.

The Knights will play the IUPUI Metros at 8 p.m. on November 28 after Franklin College plays the University of Indianapolis at 6 p.m.

On November 30 the consolation game will be held at 6 p.m. and the championship game will be played at 8 p.m.

The Knights are determined to win this year’s Brooks Classic, so come out and cheer the Knights to victory.

Lady Knights optimistic

by Stephen Tweddell

Women’s Basketball Head Coach, Molly Totten, has reason to be optimistic this year. She returns three of five starters with 5’9” forward Terrill Reed, 5’6” forward Amy Beckham, and 5’5” guard/forward Tammy Poling. Also returning is 5’7” forward Nora Murphy.

Totten also adds depth to her bench with seven freshmen and two transfers.

The freshmen include 5’8” forward Jodi Yonts (Cardinal Ritter), 5’8” forward Donna Wetzel (Salem), 5’10” Angie Heitz (East Noble), 5’8” forward Kris Leory (Ben Davis), 5’5” guard Lori Weaver (Edgewood), 5’4” guard Kim Ballou (North Judson-San Pierre) and 5’7” guard Stacy Redenbaugh (Owen Valley).

The transfers are 6’0” center Kate Murphy (Purdue) and 5’7” guard Jeanna Wright (Hanover).

Their goals are to repeat as Mid-Central Conference champs and to get a bid to the District Tournament in March.

Totten says that defensively, they are working on defending the low-post area. Offensively, she sets her sights on a strong inside game.

The Lady Knights will open the 1988-89 campaign at home on Nov. 29 with Mt. St. Joe as the opposition.

State Board of Health called to examine maggot reports

by Karla Jo Chrisler

It was on Sept. 30 that Corrine Wickens and Yvonne Spartz, two Clare Hall residents, first noticed the carpet beetle larvae falling from their ceiling. That same day they reported the problem but it was not until the week of Nov. 7-11 that something was done to correct the problem.

On Oct. 25 the room was sprayed, but this apparently did not work and both Wickens and Spartz reported the problem again. The dorm residents talked to a number of people including Phil Bernard, Clare Hall Resident Director; Mary Saucerman, Clare Hall Resident Assistant; William Woodman, Dean of Student Affairs; and Joe Ryan, Controller, giving samples of the larvae to each.

It was not until the State Board of Health was notified and came to Clare that Wickens and Spartz feel that anything substantial was done.

The visit came at the initiative of Diane Schmutte, who encouraged the students to contact the State Board of Health. Board officials instructed them to obtain a sample of the larvae, which they did. Later, maintenance returned and took the sample and when the representative from the SBH came, there was nothing to show the inspector.

Wickens and Spartz spent two days in Saucerman’s room and their belongings were dispersed among four rooms and the hallway.

They missed two days of classes attending meetings with college officials but apparently things are being taken care of.

Students participate in model U.N.

by Dallice Hesselgrave

From Thursday, Nov. 11, through Saturday, Nov. 13, five Marian College students attended the Model United Nations at Butler University.

At this event, these students, junior Stacey Nicholas, sophomores Steve Swinford and Kent Cook, and freshmen John Zielinski and Brian Easterday, participated in a mock Security Council.

The participants from colleges and high schools in Indiana represented 15 different countries and composed three security councils. Zielinski and Cook represented the United Kingdom, Nicholas and Swinford represented the USSR, and Easterday represented Argentina.

The students discussed issues including problems in South Africa, Central America, and Israel and Palestine. They then had to present resolutions and vote on whether or not to accept these resolutions.

This seminar gave these five students insight into the problems of foreign affairs and the difficulties of resolving disputes.

When Zielinski was asked if this seminar changed his view of foreign affairs, he replied, “No. It confirmed my beliefs that the U.N. gets nothing done.”

Swinford enjoyed the seminar and found the most interesting part to be “getting to act out the roles of other countries.”

(HOMECOMING, continued from page 1)
The last day to withdraw from a course with a WP or WF grade is December 2, 1988. Students wishing to withdraw should leave themselves enough time to get all appropriate signatures. There is no guarantee that an advisor or instructor will be on campus on the deadline date.

On Friday, Nov. 18, the ACS will sponsor a tour of the Police Forensic Lab. We will leave Marian at 1:30 and return at approximately 4:30. Transportation will be provided. Meet at 1:25 at the Marian Hall Auditorium. Please sign the list on third floor science wing if you plan to attend. All are welcome. Contact Katie Carson, ext. 180, if you have questions.

Saturday, Nov. 19, there will be an ACS Workshop on Careers in Chemistry. If you are interested, contact Katie Carson, ext. 180.

On Sunday, Nov. 20, the ACS will sponsor a trip to the Museum of Science and Industry, the Field Museum, and the Aquarium in Chicago. There will be a shuttle between the two sites. We will leave Marian at 7 a.m. Meet on third floor science wing. Transportation will be provided. Each participant is responsible for her/his meals. We will return to Marian at 11 p.m. Please sign the list on third floor science wing if you plan to attend. All are welcome. Contact Katie Carson, ext. 180, if you have questions.

Marian College Theatre will present Charles Dickens’ classical tale A Christmas Carol. The only public performance will be Sunday, Dec. 4 at 7 p.m. in Marian Hall Auditorium. This production is offered at a special half price ticket of $2 per person. The story of Scrooge’s transformation has delighted children and adults for countless Christmases. Call 929-0292 for reservations.

There will be regular trash collection over the Thanksgiving holidays on Thursday, Nov. 24, 1988, and Friday, Nov. 25, 1988. Residents are reminded to have their trash out by 7 a.m.

International club meets

by Illka Tabb

Last Sunday, Nov. 3, the International Club met with their elected officers. The officers are Craig Griffith (U.S.), President; Tania Wathers (France), Vice President; Rob Deems (U.S.), Secretary; Gary Zammers (U.S.), Treasurer.

Selected club activities are: Foreign film series, student carnival, and a downtown excursion at Christmas. These activities are designed to improve relations among international students.

For more information about these activities or for obtaining interest sheets, contact the club officers or Sister Rosanne Taylor at ext. 272. The International Club meets in the Clare Hall lounge on Sundays, 6-7 p.m.