Tonight marks another milestone in the annals of Marian College athletics. For the third straight year, the Marian College basketball Knights are in the NAIA District 21 playoffs, and for the first time, Marian College will serve as the host. The game will be played tonight at the Naval Armory at 8:00 p.m., and the visiting team will be from across north, Tri-State College of Angola, Indiana.

I talked with coach Schilling Friday about the game's outcome, and I received nothing but positive waves. Earlier in the year, the Knights familiarized themselves with Tri-State, with a net too impressive one-point victory. I asked the coach about tonight's game, and his response was one of supreme confidence. "Tri-State has a real sound ball club, and they are now starting to play their best ball. But, we're at that point now also. Our performances are peaking right now, and I believe we are the best team in the district."

This point is certainly believable, especially in the wake of the two games played last weekend. Although the Knights could only come away with a split, there were many things the team did to make all Marian fans proud of their team. Two things stand out in my mind: the dazzling team effort and spirit exhibited by the players, and secondly, the never ending hustle and scrappiness that are the trademarks of a good ball club. Much credit is to be given to the players for their talents and their determination.

Another first in regard to Marian's brief playoff history is that the Earlham Quakers will not be able to humble the Knight's efforts as they were defeated by Steve Brand at Hunnington College. Since all our sights are set on Kansas City, the possibility of encountering a rematch with Hanover seems likely. I asked coach Schilling if he wanted to play Hanover again, and he gave me a drooping response. "Hanover is such a cocky team, and we'd really enjoy another shot at them. And the situation would be more ideal, as playing at Hanover." I know the Knights haven't their fair share of injury problems, so I asked the coach about the strength of the line-up, and he replied, "We're not a hard all week on practice, and looks stronger. We were finally able to plug in Dave Musselwhite with Mark's shooting arm, and it appears he'll be okay. Mel's ankle is a little tender, but if he can play, then one else is pretty healthy, so I feel our chances are extremely good.

With the close of our interview, I walked away with the same respect I have always had for the Knights. The players are very confident, and so for the first time, Marian's hopes of getting back to the NCAA is a definite possibility. If we, the fans, get behind this team and support the Knights, I believe we can do it."

Drum and Bugle Corps to March in D. C. Cherry Blossom Parade

by Elaine Watson

March usually brings with it the loading up of suntan oil and heading south down Interstate 65. However, the 75 members of the Marian College Drum & Bugle Corps are reversing this trend as they are plotting their course due east. After numerous hours spent both in practice and working on fund raising projects, plans have been finalized for the Corps to the Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D. C.

As a trial run, the Corps is marching in the St. Patrick's Day Parade, March 17 in Cincinnati, Ohio at 2:00 p.m. The Marian College Alumni Association is hosting a post-parade buffet for the Marching Knights open to the entire campus. At 8:00 p.m., on Thursday, March 28, two Greyhound scenic cruises are scheduled to show...—destination—D. C.!
When you can't think of anything to say, it is a sign of uninteresting, contemplative, and verbal propaganda (the essence of an editorial) you must resort to unimportant, irrelevant, and sequential bunk. But, sometimes this has more to say than current "red hot issues." With that rationalization established permit me to please the prophet of doom.

MIET MARIAN UNIVERSITY Bulletin for the Fall Semester September 1977

Marian University is located in the sprawling inner city of Garysienhapolzenburg (a megalopolis consisting of the cities of Gary, South Bend, Indianapolis and Oldenburg). The school seeks to serve in the public interest of the highest quality system of educational opportunities for all students. The school has a proud story to tell as it fought its way up from the small college level to finally achieve university status. The school no longer is a unified small college but rather house the highest quality system of independent schools of higher learning. The university caters to the needs of certain types of students as exemplified in its service to the diverse needs and varying capabilities of students in inchoate faculty and student body.

The curriculum offers majors in 531 specialty fields. Special programs are also planned for professional training and other odd jobs. Courses offered by the separate schools for degree work in psychology, education, and the fine arts are as follows:

THE PERC SCHOOL OF THE FINE ARTS
PC 101 (PE) Elementary figure tapping and paint brushing
PC 150 (BI) Special seminar on how to light a fire from excess tobacco inhalation PC 200 (MU) Study on how to derive self-confidence from your popular records. Also included are poetry jam sessions.
PC 250 (HE) 66 ways to prepare to cope with chuckwagon greaseballing

THE DOYLE HALL SCHOOL OF PHILOSOPHY
DO 102 (EN) A critical analysis of the basic ten vocabulary needed for intelligent interpersonal communication in the dorm.
DO 110 (CT) Study in playing stereo very loud at all hours. May be used as substitute credit for a required course in "Basic Community Disorder" DO 201 (CH) Analysis of destructive tendencies in man. Course will include fundamental research in smashed ceiling tiles and broken pool cues.

The viewpoints expressed are those of the editors and do not necessarily reflect those of the entire Marian community.

The will to be

Often a person may discover himself faced with the necessary task of creating a plausible illusion, after all, one cannot continue to live without a reason to live. Indeed, means such as looking forward to "Marcus Welby" episodes, the big two-week vacation in Hawkeye, Iowa, or by patronizing Ritter High School candy sale. The University specifies situations by which one may discover himself faced with the need of certain types of students as exemplified in its service to the diverse needs and varying capabilities of students in inchoate faculty and student body.

The First Food Committee meeting with the new Food Director, Thomas Thompson, was held Feb 19, 1974. The reason for the changes in cream service was discussed. Tom explained that it is a matter of sanitation. The contamination possibilities are high with all the students dipping into the free food supplies. The contamination variable and available on the amount one can eat. The students are in their quasi function as to whether or not the short line would be open for the lunch rush. It is the policy of the Food Committee next fall to improve conditions and practices in the kitchen and food line. The Food Committee encourages any interested students to join. There are only three spots left open for the current meeting. Our next meeting is tentatively set for March 5, at 12:30. So, come this is one way you can voice your opinion and give Tom some feedback on food service. The committee also provides students with a better perception of the food service situation.

Letters to the editors

To the Community:
The FIORETTI is returning. Once again, I cannot do the job alone. I need you help to fill the page.

Any material you wish to submit may be left at Clare Hall desk, in the Information Office or in my mailbox (203 A).

I need prose, poetry, photography and artwork, and will publish it if it is possible to print on paper. I could also use anyone with a few free hours who likes to rub on letters or glue down copy.

The FIORETTI is returning and it can help you come back.

Kathy Gesing

Blest are you poor, you who thirst for truth who wish to right the wrongs of society, the reign of Good is your reward.

Blest are you who hunger for ways to end the problems of bigotry, hatred, injustice, and institutional racism, you shall have your fill.

Blest are you who wish to bring about peace yet meet unmitigated hostility, and laugh. Blest are you who are weeping over the sickness of our society, churches, and educational institutions, and call yourselves Christians, you shall have your fill.

Blest are you who yearn for way to end the problem of bigotry, hatred, injustice, and institutional racism, you shall have your fill.

Blest are you who yearn for ways to end the problems of bigotry, hatred, injustice, and institutional racism, you shall have your fill.

Blest are you who do not take pleasure in the wealth and materialism of this world, but continue to sacrifice and avert the needs of the community.

A faithful student

Any interested student or member in the Third World Movement please contact one of the council members of the Union for Black Identity.

Dean Outlines Student Service Aims

Early last week, Mr. Dan Janich asked if he could interview me for an article in the Phoenix. Welcoming this opportunity, I fully expected Dan to drop by my office with a pencil and note pad to get his story. He did not! Instead, Dan submitted to me a list of questions and asked for a response. It was apparent that I could not do justice to all of them within the limited scope of one article.

The first question was an easy one. "Briefly describe your personal and professional background in the educational field?" As a native New Yorker, I can empathize with some of you 'sophisticated' Easteners, and big city types who experience cultural shock upon arrival in the midwest. The cultural shock has worn off long ago, having spent most of my adult life in Ohio. My undergraduate days were spent at Capital University in Columbus, Ohio. This was a school much like Marian in many ways - small, rural, friendly and deeply committed to liberal arts education. I pursued a Master of Education at Wittenburg University in Springfield, Ohio. I then went south to Ohio University in Athens where I received a Ph.D. in Student Personnel Administration.

In terms of my professional work experience, I have been Residence Hall Counselor (Capital), graduate Assistant Instructor in Health and Physical Education (Wittenburg), Residence Hall Director (O.U. and O.S.U.) and Assistant Dean of Students responsible for discipline coordination, commuter student programming and orientation at O.S.U.

Traditionally, Student Services has always been concerned with behavior control, social and recreational programs, environmental regulation and remedial services. Furthermore, on a great many campuses the majority of students, faculty and administrators still expect from student personnel workers only the protection and central functions inherent in the older tradition. We must recognize that the traditional concept is not adequate for student development goals, and the exclusive emphasis on support, control, and remedial services is too limited.

In order for Student Services to move beyond the traditional role it has always played, Student Services staff must be actively involved in assessing student needs and in developing programs and services to meet those needs. Before this can be accomplished, however, we will have to recognize that:

(1) The value of all life is acknowledged.
(2) Each individual student should be considered as a whole physically, socially, emotionally, and spiritually as well as intellectually.
(3) Each individual is unique and his dignity and worth as an individual is preserved.
(4) Each individual has his own heredity and has had experiences unique to himself. Therefore, he can be expected to act and react in different ways from people whose life and experience are different.
(5) Every individual is responsible for his own action. Each individual has some measure of choice and must make choices for himself.
(6) Each individual should help others because no one can meet all problems alone or develop all of his potentials alone.
(7) Each individual has the potential to develop his life's possibilities if the opportunities for growth experience are provided and used.

To sum up, the area of Student Services perceives that its role to students is to support their human growth and development through the following:

(1) Educational programs and experiences that are remedial, preventative and developmental.
(2) Student personnel services such as financial aid or health services which enhance the student's effectiveness in his/her educational programs.
Listening with dog  by Jon Randall and Mere Tolle

Greetings, listeners. There are a few changes this review, and all have been made possible through the benevolence of Ginseng Records. Ginseng is located directly behind the Waffle House, and approximately three doors down from the infamous Georgetown Lounge. Now that you know where they’re located, all we ask is that the next time you are in the mood to purchase an album or two, stop in and give ‘em a try. Lowest prices in town on stereo LP’s and 8 track tapes. (See ad.)

Should you notice a rating consisting of 1, 2, 3, or 4 stars, be it said that this system connotes: * Superior album  Excellent  Run, on of the mill * Sub-standard * A sure loser

And now, on with the reviews:

Robert Flack—“Killing Me Softly” (Atlantic)

This album is a credit to the talented songwriter and performer. Side 1 starts out with the standout track special (or itself since everyone is familiar with it). It was written about Don MeCLean, first done by John Lennon in her right own. Cut number 2, ‘Jesse’ written by Samantha rates above “Killing Me” in my estimation. A well-conceived tune with much use of strings and piano, superb arrangement and vocals. Definitely one of the best if not the best of Ms. Flack’s. Side 2 rounds out with two cuts about life, love, and their interaction. The first, ‘No Tears’, is about the nonchalant, free-wheeling care of today’s swing philosophy with an upbeat tempo employing guitar, piano, and vocale horns arrangement. I’m ‘The Girl’ has just the opposite message, being sad that one can be someone’s favorite ‘releasing mechanism’ while lacking love in the relationship; a soft melody with much feeling and depth.

Side 2 has much diversity. ‘River’ is good listening and tends to get one moving with the pick-up-6 beat. ‘Conversation Love’ is the only sub-par number on the album, if indeed there is one. ‘When You Smile’ is a raging-time hyper-jobbie that’s bound to get your toe tapping and knee slapping. Roberta lets herself go a little on this one. ‘Somewhere’, the last and longest cut, departs from the usual renditions of Neil Diamond, Judy Collins, etc. Upon first listening I expected further development in the song after 3.5 minutes but was still, still a good account. Overall, a  rating.

The Marshall Tucker Band—“A New Life” (Capricorn)

“Marshall Tucker who?” you ask. Well, need I remind you that people asked the same question of The Doobie Brothers? MTB is a blues rock band, hailing from Mecmem, Georgia, home of (!) The Allman Brothers. Therefore, it is any wonder that these two groups should have an almost identical sound? Of course not, though MTB does employ a bit of steel guitar and adds a horn section to a good portion of their work. The end product is a very mellow, country-flavored sound which is sure to appeal even the most ardent rock fan.

‘Life’ is the only cut on side 1 LP and it departs from the group’s original sound. But, the change is very welcome, and after listening to both albums, the audience to a ‘softer’ sound definitely improves the boys’ chance for success. The highlights of this at least album include the title track, as well as a country flavored tune, “24 Hours At A Time,” the former offering a very lively jam session thrust in the middle of the number.

The mild jazz influence is felt throughout the LP, and this just might be the band’s calling card. Yet the country flavor as well as the very evident hard rock beat are equally strong.

In this reviewers estimation, this is going to be the album which carries MTB from rags to riches. And at only $3.75, how can you lose? A superb  rating.

Graham Nash—“Wild Tales” (Atlantic)

Friends, ‘Willee’ is back, but I must say that his latest offering is anything but grade A material. It appears Mr. Nash has attempted to fuse rock, country, and folk, all simultaneously...with the end result being a sound which leaves much to be desired.

High points on the album are few; ‘On The Line’ is superb. ‘The Prison Song’ reveals such a childish point of view, both musically and lyrically, I have to stop and wonder; it leaves me wishing I’d spend my money on kitty litter.

Sorry, fans, but the album REEKS! Even the album sleeve smells of undiluted sewage. But I’ll give Graham days and today’s they have grown. Not shared ignorance but shared realization. Students, a teacher, a nun, maybe you: we gather Sunday evenings because of questions, and discover—not so much answers as ourselves, who we are individually, and who we have become not so much the boy or the girl, but the man or the woman. The problem is familiar: lots of easy laughter, teasing sometimes, and asking and answering and answering and answering, but one thing that issue is because of the people who raise them, out of whose yesteryear are so important.

Diamond Knights get 'final tune-up'

by Ken Jast

The 1974 edition of the Marian College Baseball Knights is getting its final tune-up this week in preparation for its season opening trip to Jacksonville, Florida, where it will open an impressive 54-game schedule.

This year's model is somewhat of a cross between a Volkswagen and a Cadillac. The 10 senior members and 14 returning lettermen have the experience and polish to give it that Cadillac look. A solid corps of freshmen provide the extra mileage you find in that efficient VW.

Third year coach Lynn Morrell, named 1973 NAIA District 3 Coach of the Year after guiding the Blue & Gold to a 22-8 mark and the school's first District championship, is the chief mechanic. All the parts must be in running order by Sunday, March 10. That's the day the 1974 model gets its final tune-up.

The Remaining Few, with the hot hand of Rick Martin and strong board work of Russ Pavlak and Pat Zapp, defeated a strong Wazuri squad 53-36.

From the opening tip-off, both teams held the other in check until eight minutes left in the first half when John "Fatman" Parcell put the Few in the lead with a driving lay-up. The Few were never headed as Rick Martin hit two more jumpers as the Few started to pull away.

With the score 16-10, Randy Washington hit a jumper from the side for a 16-12 score. Russ Pavlak countered with a 15 foot jumper for a 18-12 score. John Parcell showed off his throwing form hitting one of two for a 19-12 score. A missed shot by Wazuri was snagged off by Zapp who quickly threw to Martin. From the top of the key, Rick's shot hit only the top of the 12-12 score. Wazuri came back on two lay-ups by Simpson and a foul shot by Pavlak ended the scoring at 22-16 in the half.

The Few came out gunning the second half. Dan Pickett took the tip-off and quickly scored on a 20 foot jumper for a 24-16 lead. Wazuri's Bill Fox drove the lane for 2 and a 24-18 score. Martin took quick 15 foot shots for the Few as they increased their lead 28-18.

The Few's inside men took over as they scored 8 unanswered points. Pavlak's tip-in made it 30-18. Zapp connected on an 8 foot jumper and a lay-up for a 34-18 score, and Martin twisted one from the top of the key for a 36-18 score. Mike Hall drove for a bucket for 36-20 count.

Zapp and Pavlak hit for a basket before Washington and Simpson hit two lay-ups for a 38-24 score. Pavlak came back with a tip-in and an 8 foot jumper for a 42-24 count. Martin took an outlet pass on a missed shot and went in for a 46-24 count. The score in the first three-point shot of the game to make it 45-24.

"Dazzling" Dorko replaced Pavlak and quickly scored on a lay-up for a 47-24 count. Wazuri, forced to play catch-up, got 4 points from Fox to narrow the margin to 47-28. Washington scored on a jumper for a 49-30 score. Steve "Coach" Padgett entered the game and got in the scoring column with a 15 foot jumper to make it 51-30. Hall and Victor French made lay-ups for Wazuri for a 53-34 count. Another basket by Martin and Wazuri's Mark Gunson made the final 53-36.

Statistics clearly show the Few on top. The Few connected on 24 of 54 shots for 44% while Wazuri hit 16 of 46 for 34%.

Wazuri hit 4 of 9 from the foul line while the Few hit 5 of 6. Scoring leaders for the Few were Martin with a game high 19, Pavlak with 9, Zapp with 11, Jay Farell with 4, Pickett with 3, Parcell with 3, Dorko with 2, and Padgett with 2.

Wazuri had Fox with 8, Washington with 6, Hall with 8, Simpson with 8, French with 4, and Gunter with 2 points.

Honorabe mention goes to the Few's star center Mike Buley, who injured his ankle in the pre-playoffs. His moral support was a definite factor in the Few's victory.

The director of intramural athletics, Steve Padgett, should also receive recognition for the work in putting together the intramural leagues. As a great Phoenix sportswriter says, "Work comes easy, but recognition is hard to get."

Well, it's time to put away the smelly basketball shoes and get the softball spikes out for the softball season is just around the corner.

Yes, it's that time again to read about our Women's Varsity Basketball team to read about another defeat. This one was a loss to Earlham College by a score of 22-29 thus bringing Marian's record to a dismal 1-4.

With thoughts of pizza and beer, if victory was theirs, the Marian women took to the court to play catch-up ball the first quarter and then tying it at 8-8. All from here on it was a teeter-totter battle with both teams changing leads several times. A last second shot by Jean Mills put Marian ahead by 3 at the half with the score showing 17-14.

What can I say except that Marian should have won again and their record should be 3-2 not 1-4.

Scorers for Marian were Rose Costen and Joan Mills with 6 points, Patti Edler with 4, Linda Niesen with 3. Mo Kiess and Elaine Luthman contributed 2 apiece.

Final game of the season is with Butler tonight in the I.C. gym.
