Twenty-four seniors accepted by Who's Who

Twenty-four Marian College seniors have been nominated and accepted for the 1974-75 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Chosen by a 10-member committee of faculty and students, based on academic achievement, campus and civic involvement were:

Kenneth L. Aust, Guilford, Ind., an English major.

Marilyn E. Bauer, Cincinnati, O., elementary education.

Patricia D. Baumer, Centerville, Ind., physical education.

Theresa Belles, Clayton, Ind., art education.

Brent A. Blaine, Tulsa, Okla., business administration.

Monica R. Camp, Fremont, O., Spanish.

Thomas F. Cebulko, Canton, O., accounting.

Jayne Gillman Enneking, Brookville, Ind., music education.

K. Brigid Flannery, Cincinnati, elementary education.

Mary L. Haefli, Bay Village, O., medical technology.

Kathryn Harbor, Indianapolis, sociology-psychology.

Vicki Jarrett, Speedway, Ind., biology.

Rita Kirchgassner, Guilford, Ind., history.

Christine A. McMillen, Alliance, O., music education-psychology.

Ruth Merkel, Batesville, Ind., mathematics.

Anne Marie Monnot, Alliance, O., physical education.

Maxine C. Ray, Indianapolis, biology.

Joseph Rea, Indianapolis, chemistry.

Gregory Rodick, South Bend, psychology.

Alan Roell, Indianapolis, psychology.

Diana Ryker, Oldenburg, Ind., art.

Thomas Sluss, Louisville, O., English.

Joseph G. Stockrahm, Linton, Ind., English.

Jason will be played by Greg Rodick, a senior psychology major from South Bend. Denis R. Kelly, assistant professor of philosophy at Marian, will be featured as Creon. Portraying Aegeus will be Brian Fouat, a senior theatre and psychology major from Hagerstown.

Twenty-four seniors accepted by Who's Who

The weekend of October 19 and 20 will be characterized by much visitation from high school students.

Saturday, October 19, has been designated as High School Science Day with activities scheduled from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Chemistry students from the city high schools will attend the event sponsored by the American Chemical Society.

Among the planned activities are two lab sessions—a quantitative analysis on chromatography and a water analysis to be done by the lake. Following the labs will be a discussion period centering on the value of chemistry in our present lives and the possibility of careers in chemistry.

As this event is yet in its developmental stage, an evaluation of the workshop will be taken while refreshments are served.

Prospective high school students will visit the campus on Sunday, October 20, which has been designated as High School Senior "Meet Marian" Day. Students from throughout the state of Indiana are expected to attend the event.

Activities scheduled from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. will include campus tour, a Wetlands presentation, a preview of the basketball team, and a preview of the theater production MEDEA. Information sessions will be held in the Rock, where students may acquire information concerning admission and registration, financial aid, ROTC, student activities, student government, and various other activities.

Optional evening activities available to the students include an evening Mass, the play production MEDEA, and a possible overnight visit.

"Meet Marian" Day will be sponsored by the administration.

Frosh elections final

Diane Stier was elected president of the Freshman Class during elections held Wednesday, Oct. 9. Other officers include: Bob Melevin, vice-president; Paula Dwyer, secretary, and Elaine Rohe, treasurer. The Day Student Representative is Joe Cochran and Mark Trieweiler will be Student Board Representative.

"Working together" is the motto of the newly-elected officers. Bob Melevin summed it up: "Our goal is to unite the Freshman Class so that our voice can be heard on campus."
MC Mardi-gras

To the Marian Community:

As president of the Booster Club, I heartily invite all of you to take an active part in this year's Homecoming by participating in all preparations of the Homecoming festivities, as well as attending the events themselves.

The Marian College Homecoming is for and by Marian College, not merely Booster Club members. Although we organize the week, we welcome any ideas, help and suggestions. You, the Marian College Community, are the reason for Homecoming. You can make it memorable by your help, enthusiasm and attendance.

Wednesday, October 16, is your first opportunity to take part in Homecoming when voting for Homecoming candidates will take place in front of the Marian College auditorium. All students are urged to cast a vote for the two girls of your choice. A final voting to determine the two candidates to represent each class will be held the following Wednesday, Oct. 23.

As a final note, many activities are planned around the Mardi Gras theme of this year's Homecoming. Keep your eyes open for time and places. See you there.

-Patti Lampkin
Booster Club President

How to live

To the Editors:

We have sent this letter to The Phoenix for the benefit of those students who are furthering their education at a higher institution of learning. In other words, how one can live with a nut in a dorm, (and the kind squirrels gather)

Here are some tips on how to get along with your "roomy." Since you have picked him or her for at least one semester up to four years (usually the basket cases), it is best to accept each other's idiosyncrasies with a grain of salt, or a pound of pepper (whichever you prefer).

First, listen to his opinions on room decor, then do just as you please...on your side of the room. In cases of all-out disagreement resulting in guerilla warfare (such as the case of waking up in the morning with a three-foot cactus needle hanging over your bed), a room divider may be purchased at the nearby campus bookstore.

If you lack the funds to purchase such a handy device, empty the soil from your roomy's giant cactus and make an abrasive wall. However, many people get along with their roommates, very few, in which case talcum powder and tape are sufficient to create barriers.

Second, learn to laugh occasionally at your roomy's jokes, though they may grow. To build up his ego, a necessity in some instances, fall into the closet after the 34th elephant joke and with one end in sight lacking your head off, close the door, snuggle down with a book in between the tennis racket, dirty laundry, and ancient tennis shoes, and there abide for the evening. Believe us, it may be a long evening.

Third, learn to look with a smile at your roomy upon going to bed and arising. This is called the "grin and bear it" policy. For instance, as in our case, we set both of our clock radios at different stations (WXLW and WNAP) LOUDLY.

Upon arising, warn your roomy that you are going to sneeze at the window, blinds, door, and-or water faucet before doing so, as it may cause severe permanent damage to his shocked brain cells, and you do not want that as it means bringing a slick tear from the eye.

When going to bed, it is convenient to have a roomy with your tastes. Many a night we entertain our floor with our cute antics in batrobones on the way to, from, and in the shower. We say "I don't care," because we are known as the Clare Hall, three main, Shower Singers, in harmony no less. We have even been known to sink down the halls at midnight, knocking on the doors, crying out desperately: "Food... I thought smelled food!" Unfortunatelly, two ferrented grapes were our only consolation.

Fourth, be patient and understand when you find your roomy sampling the plants growing in your room. Cafeteria food is not all that it is cracked up to be. You'll know that you should not worry if he turns around sheepishly with a fern hanging from his lips, only to say "I was just testing just like wild hick'ry nuts!"

We have found that once these four tips have been mastered, you'll be able to put up with just about anyone. The most important benefit you can reap from the above is getting through the year with your health. And remember, if you have your health, you have just about everything.

-Marylis and Terry

Congrats!
The PHOENIX staff extends its congratulations to co-editor Lynn Shewmaker, and his new bride, Linda Sue. They were married last Saturday in St. Jude Church, Cincinnati. Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Day of Cincinnati.

When Lynn and Linda return to Indianapolis, they will live in the Colonial Place Apartments at 44th and Moeller Road.

肺炎 we congratulate Lynn and are anxious to have Linda join him as "the woman behind the man" in his future endeavors in the Marian Community.

The Staff

THE PHOENIX
Published twice-monthly by the students of Marian College, 3200 Cold Spring Road, Indianapolis, Ind. 46222.

Co-Editors:
Elaine Watson, Lynn Shewmaker

Stacy Vereen

Photography:
Charles Peters, Noel Kurtz, Mike Murray, Tom Kasper

Artists:
Sue Fullerton, Bob Parker

Comosition:
Sue Songer, Lisa Shewmaker

Staff Writers:

Business Manager:
Mel Arnold, Mark Fischer, Ann Monnat, Paulette Shaw

Advertising Director:
Jackie Thiesing, Maryleece Happel, Sheila McGuire

Circulation:
Clare Stickan, Dave Record

Staff Advisor:
Mary Wessel

Mike Murray
Margie Giesting, Colleen Danger

Paul G. Fox, Director of Public Information

THE NEW Hero

Wednesday Night Special

with purchase of
Any Large Pizza
2 20¢ Pepsi's
free

Hours

8 to 3:30 5 to 11:00
Mon thru Thurs

8 to 3:30-8+12 8+12
Fri

7+11
Sat

0-0
Sun

BLA CK SOUNDINGS

BY CURTIS GOAR, O.S.B.

Meditation on a white cross with J.C. hung on it.

Upon once a time—hell, this is really none of that fairytale stuff. When I was a "naive" youngster, as quoted by the press, I kneel down to pray in this large chapel. It was one time marked for "whites only." Then they did allow a few "colored" in to prove they were Christian.

I looked up, high up there, and there was this snow white figure staring down at me. You know how white folks just love lookin' down on niggers. I couldn't pray. I looked at him and he looked at me. Then we both came to the realization it couldn't work, cause no honkey gone die to save no poor lost black soul from hell. (Read what they say about Black soul in the Baltimore) to have us live together with white folks in heaven and with this cat couldn't even get his own folks together.

Deep in my heart I cursed—yay blasphemed because I knew I was in the wrong place, at the wrong time, on the wrong side of the tracks, and this dude just wasn't perfectly clean, this honkey's mission is like the rest—seek out whom you may devour.

Niggers, if your God ain't Black, you in for a big surprise.
The weekend of September 27-29 was one enjoyed and shared by a number of Marian College students and faculty. This weekend was based on forming a community of togetherness in the pursuit of finding our more about oneself and others.

It was called a "Challenge" to exemplify the struggles that are met in answering the questions: Who am I? Why am I here? How can I better communicate with God and individuals? And Why make commitments?

Arriving Friday evening at CYO Camp Rancho Framasa in Brown County, Indiana, the 33 challengers were introduced to staff and co-directors. Under the motto, "Don't anticipate...participate!" the program was tentatively scheduled for February, 1976. Further Challenges planned. One is for Marian students. Coordinated by Sr. Ellen Miller, the SEARCH program. Similar to the Men's SEARCH program. It was called a "Challenge" to exemplify the struggles that are met in answering the questions: Who am I? Why am I here? How can I better communicate with God and individuals? And Why make commitments?

DECISIONS in Brown Co.

The program was designed to increase the advertising to make this year's edition of the yearbook steps into full swing. Now of 5500 topics. Enclose copy, layout and proofreading. This year the ACADEMIC RESEARCH LIBRARY Thousands of Topics $2.75 per page Send for catalog, dated 176 page, mail order catalog of 5500 topics. Enclose $1.00 to cover postage (1-2 days delivery time). 519 GLENROCK AVE. LOS ANGELES, CA. 90024 Our materials are sold for research purposes only.

Another new idea will be a different format of student patronage. The first subscription drive has been scheduled for the month of November, beginning on the 4th. Meetings held to discuss plans have been held every Monday evening for general staff, and at various times during the week for departmental staff.

These six staffs include: business, publicity, photography, copy, layout and proofreading. Interested? This makes you a member of the yearbook staff and the art department faculty. The prize will be a complimentary yearbook and $10 cash.

Editor Thiesing is hopeful that the yearbook staff will be joined by more upperclassmen before homecoming activities start, as the yearbook steps into full swing. Now all of Marian's artists can show their support by entering the cover design contest in November, and this year one can help by subscribing to the yearbook.

STACY VEREEN

As each year rolls on, the events and happenings are recalled by day, but only the yearbook can remain a faithful reminder of "what was," in years to come. This year's Marian College staff is beginning with a fresh start, accompanied by new ideas.

To begin with, the staff so far is composed mainly of underclassmen. Editor Jackie Thiesing hopes that upperclassmen will join the staff, getting all four classes involved in their yearbook. New ideas in the making include a cover design contest. Entrants will sign up for the contest between October 28 and November 4, with final art designs being handed in by November 22. Judging will be held November 24, with the winners to be announced by the yearbook staff and the art department faculty. The prize will be a complimentary yearbook and $10 cash.

Another new idea will be a different format of student patronage. The first subscription drive has been scheduled for the month of November, beginning on the 4th. Meetings held to discuss plans have been held every Monday evening for general staff, and at various times during the week for departmental staff.

To begin with, the staff so far is composed mainly of underclassmen. Editor Jackie Thiesing hopes that upperclassmen will join the staff, getting all four classes involved in their yearbook. New ideas in the making include a cover design contest. Entrants will sign up for the contest between October 28 and November 4, with final art designs being handed in by November 22. Judging will be held November 24, with the winners to be announced by the yearbook staff and the art department faculty. The prize will be a complimentary yearbook and $10 cash.

Another new idea will be a different format of student patronage. The first subscription drive has been scheduled for the month of November, beginning on the 4th. Meetings held to discuss plans have been held every Monday evening for general staff, and at various times during the week for departmental staff.

These six staffs also conduct a SEARCH program. Similar to the Men's SEARCH program. It was called a "Challenge" to exemplify the struggles that are met in answering the questions: Who am I? Why am I here? How can I better communicate with God and individuals? And Why make commitments?

Although the Challenge program is a co-ed venture, the CYO organization conducts a SEARCH program. Similar to the Challenge program, SEARCH is divided into two weekends, one for men and one for women. At this time, Diane Miller, the women's SEARCH coordinator, is tentative to schedule February, 1976. Although we only have access to office use in the SAC, you can have office hours in Clare and Doyle Halls on Wednesday nights from 7 to 9 p.m.

Although the Challenge program is a co-ed venture, the CYO organization conducts a SEARCH program. Similar to the Challenge program, SEARCH is divided into two weekends, one for men and one for women. At this time, Diane Miller, the women's SEARCH coordinator, is tentative to schedule February, 1976. Although we only have access to office use in the SAC, you can have office hours in Clare and Doyle Halls on Wednesday nights from 7 to 9 p.m.

Although the Challenge program is a co-ed venture, the CYO organization conducts a SEARCH program. Similar to the Challenge program, SEARCH is divided into two weekends, one for men and one for women. At this time, Diane Miller, the women's SEARCH coordinator, is tentative to schedule February, 1976. Although we only have access to office use in the SAC, you can have office hours in Clare and Doyle Halls on Wednesday nights from 7 to 9 p.m.

Although the Challenge program is a co-ed venture, the CYO organization conducts a SEARCH program. Similar to the Challenge program, SEARCH is divided into two weekends, one for men and one for women. At this time, Diane Miller, the women's SEARCH coordinator, is tentative to schedule February, 1976. Although we only have access to office use in the SAC, you can have office hours in Clare and Doyle Halls on Wednesday nights from 7 to 9 p.m.

Although the Challenge program is a co-ed venture, the CYO organization conducts a SEARCH program. Similar to the Challenge program, SEARCH is divided into two weekends, one for men and one for women. At this time, Diane Miller, the women's SEARCH coordinator, is tentative to schedule February, 1976. Although we only have access to office use in the SAC, you can have office hours in Clare and Doyle Halls on Wednesday nights from 7 to 9 p.m.

Although the Challenge program is a co-ed venture, the CYO organization conducts a SEARCH program. Similar to the Challenge program, SEARCH is divided into two weekends, one for men and one for women. At this time, Diane Miller, the women's SEARCH coordinator, is tentative to schedule February, 1976. Although we only have access to office use in the SAC, you can have office hours in Clare and Doyle Halls on Wednesday nights from 7 to 9 p.m.
BY PAUL KERN

The intramural football season moved into full swing with its usual color, noise, and excitement, with a kaleidoscope of action. This tempo was set when the (? ) turned in just that and forfended to the Bad Joses (who celebrated by playing an intrasquad game). Following that, the MFIC (is that a finance company?) took a surprising 7-0 lead over the Harvey Wallbangers before being out-tricked, and being defeated 14-7.

The biggest surprise of the afternoon came when the Bootstrappers, apparently back on firm financial ground, and under new management, came storming onto the field to meet the pesky, high-spirited Nads. The game that followed was nothing to the buildup, however, both teams played respectfully, with the Nads winning 14-8.

The last game of the day was played between the Hops and a perennial favorite, the Storied Stonged Rangers. The Rangers had hoped to frolic and cover all over the Hops, but instead registered a below-par tempo, being defeated 14-7.

Wednesday’s action was played on a balmy evening in which the thermometer hovered at about 2 degrees Kelvin. Without a doubt, the first game provided more than enough excitement as the MFIC and the Rangers squared off. Both teams played tough defense during the first half and it ended in a scoreless tie. Tom Koesters, of the Joses to get back to work against a tough Ranger defense.

The Bootstrappers got on the board first half, but a brilliant in-aid of the offensive line, put the score 7-0 in favor of the Bootstrappers.

Unfortunately, the game proved to be nothing to the excitement, joy, sorrow, agony and ecstasy that watching the Indiana Indians and the Indianapolis Racers can bring.

All Pacers’ and Racers’ home games are available to groups of 25 to 500 persons. Tickets are available at the Market Square Arena Ticket Office, 300 E. Market St., all Marion County Banks. For additional information, call 638-4444.

THE OCCULT CORNER

LIFE OF A LIBRAN

A librarian strives for peace and harmony, usually at any cost. A librarian can be a mediator, friend, or one who balances all opposing views in an effort to appease people. Decisions are often difficult for librarians. Analysis of the outcome provides for a unified contentment. Because of the nature of librarians, they become effective leaders, through their innate ability to handle people.

Although a librarian under an ongoing sign, librarians are capable of listening patiently and curiously to their friends, when it is felt they have good, sound criticism to offer. Yet, being intellectual, librarians tend to rationalize, very sensibly, that what they don’t want to hear, they don’t have to hear!

Librarians are born seekers of new ideas. They also desire to know and uncover knowledge and truths that are hidden in plain sight. However, a librarian does not accept advice given during a quarrel, being very strong willed, yet sometimes stubborn. All librarians are people who are aware of other people, and of a need for general harmony.

There are many famous Librarians: Brigitte Bardot, Margot Freeland, Pope Paul VI, Tom Sesslar, Julie Andrews, Maureen Brendahl, Angela Lansbury, Elaine Watson, Johnny Mathis, Tom Koesters, Maureen Dowley, Mr. Paul Basler, George C. Scott, Tom Cebulisko, Ed Sullivan, Sally Wagner, Catherine Devine, Mrs. Denis Kelly, Randy Washington, Chung Hee Park, just to mention a few.

I ndy is . . . places to go

As a new slant on people to see, I’d like to suggest that you enjoy the excitement, joy, sorrow, agony and ecstasy that watching the Indiana Indians and the Indianapolis Racers can bring.

All Pacers’ and Racers’ home games are available to groups of 25 to 500 persons. Tickets are available at the Market Square Arena Ticket Office, 300 E. Market St., all Marion County Banks. For additional information, call 638-4444.