The Carbon (October 29, 1971)

Marian University - Indianapolis

Follow this and additional works at: http://mushare.marian.edu/crbn

Recommended Citation
http://mushare.marian.edu/crbn/391

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Campus Newspaper Collection at MUShare. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Carbon by an authorized administrator of MUShare. For more information, please contact emandity@marian.edu.
FRIDAY 29 OCTOBER: Nothing to do but get happy!

SATURDAY 30 OCTOBER: 9:00 to Noon, Biology & Conservation Club Clean-up. Clean-Up will start in the cafe, catching copulating cockroaches. 9:00 am to 4:00 pm is the In-Service Workshop by the Education Department. Braille and Body Geography to be studied.

SUNDAY 31 OCTOBER

MONDAY 1 OCTOBER: Feast Rehearsal. (If you want to be a part of Al Saints (and those on the way) Indianapolis Philharmonic, you must come.)

TUESDAY 2 OCTOBER: 8:00 to 10:00 am -- National Council of Christians & Jews Breakfast. Menu: Salted Peter and Paul on rye with a dash of Jewdas. Meeting: Social Sciences Division (Boyle and Clare exchange toilet paper brands.) 1:00 to 3:00 pm -- Marian Lecture: "Your Ancestors" -- find out how the 4-toed sloth turned into the 5-toed slob, OR Who's Who under the sheets. CHARLIE BROWN rehearsal at 7:00 in the Aud. See Linus dance with his blanket, a good role for Pat O'Hara.

WEDNESDAY 3 OCTOBER: 8:00 to 10:00 pm -- WAA Volley Ball. Double your pleasure, double your fun, double your AA. At 8 pm is the Social Council Film: "A RAISIN IN THE SUN!"

THURSDAY 4 OCTOBER: 9:30 am to 2:00 pm -- ICPRA State Meeting. Who or what is an ICPRA. It's certainly not White Cloud spelled backwards. Meeting: Division of Natural Sciences (Formula for Marian's toilet paper -- cut off bark, put on roll, wrap)

(Cowgirl in the Sand got by with a little help from friends Dianne and Joanne)

The views expressed in this publication are those of the individual writer. They do not and have no intention of reflecting those of the institution as a whole.

TO ALL THOSE WHO REMAIN IMMERSED IN THE FLUID OF THE WOMB AND CONTINUE TO UPHOLD THE INSTITUTION, 'TIL DEATH DO YOU PART

Do not think that I leave the womb early. All your years of nurturing and assimilation are over. Your job is done -- and mine, just beginning. Do not fear my mistakes for they are just that -- mine.

So it's with a sad heart that the umbilicle cord must be severed. Do it gladly and not maliciously -- then my memories will also be glad. I have come out of the womb with my eyes open and ready to make mistakes, and the cord that once gave me life must be cut -- I am ready to live for myself, but it's lonely out here.

CW
Next week you the students will be asked to pass judgement on whether or not the Officers of Student Association and the Editors of the Publications should or should not be paid. It is hoped that the students realize the importance of this particular referendum. It is also hoped that you the students do not allow your emotions to color and affect your opinions on this poll. Two years ago the Student Board began the policy of payment of officers based upon a student referendum conducted and based upon the Board's best judgement in regards to the ramifications of this act. According to the thinking then, these positions were chosen because of the constant, stated, and built-in responsibility connected with these positions. The officers and the editors are the only student positions. The officers and the editors are the only student positions on campus that have a built-in continuing obligation and stated functions. Editors are required to publish a paper weekly. That is constant. The Student Association President is required to conduct meetings weekly or bi-weekly as well as required to serve on an ever-growing list of all-campus committees -- Faculty Council, Presidential Search Committee, Steering Committee of the Self-Study Commission, meetings with Student Services in regard to Pub. Board, Conduct Appeals, Open Events, Orientation and many more. Vice Presidents are required to chair Publications Board and Constitutional Revision Committees in addition to his functions as the #2 man in the Student Association. The Treasurer and Secretary also perform innumerable everyday office work that is too detailed to explain.

The point that I'm trying to get across is not the fact these people deserve sympathy for the time and effort they put in, but the fact that this allocation could help insure the continuance of quality people desiring these offices. It is ridiculous to think that these people seek these positions for the sake of glory, for there is none. It is more ridiculous to think that they seek it for money. Their salary would average about $5.50 an hour. All the supposed glory and slave labor do not make up for the time, the effort, the sweat, the hassle, and the concern of your student leaders on behalf of you the students. Many times you may not see the results of all this work, but it is a fact that the area of most concern and effort on the part of student leaders has been and will always be the students' interests. Be it in regard to college policy, social atmosphere, social activities, or a general feeling for the students and the school, your student leaders have, will, and must always work in your interests. This allocation will not compensate them for their time and concern but it may insure that they can devote all their extracurricular time to you, the students, rather than to a part-time job or other interests. They are your representatives, your leaders; don't fail them for they won't fail you.

JAH

Last year the Student Board passed a proposal to pay its officers. No referendum was taken, no constitutional basis for it existed.

This year the same proposal has arisen with the addition of payment of the editors. There are good reasons for the payment of editors and officers. They spend a lot of time in their jobs and do a lot of service to the school. Because of the increasing amount of time needed each year on these jobs and can see how it will become harder and harder to get people to take the positions without any kind of reward. For that reason, payment may eventually become necessary. However I think this move should be backed both by student referendum and the Student Association, which would give it a permanent basis.

The officers and editors accepted their positions this year with no promise of salaries and if they find it impossible to spend the time required without being paid their alternative is to resign.

The proposal originated among the officers as a part of the budget. Three officers have voting rights on the Board. Two members from publications also sit on the Board. This makes seven members who can gain directly from the passing of the proposal. Conceivably their vote alone could pass the motion. It seems to be highly unethical for the Board to even consider it.

EMC

APPLAUDS

-- Halloween Supper
-- The coming debut of Patty Kane as Lucy (the perfect mouth)
-- Midnight Mass and Phyllis' slides
-- "All the Way Home"
-- Student Services new consistency in part-time student status (which should have been done in the first place)
-- No Homecoming parade
-- Our proposed cultural trip to England with our proposed salaries

HISES

-- Stubby, not squatty or stumpy
-- Off-the-cuff proposals
-- Sexist Homecoming activities
-- Salaries
-- Faculty pressure against students who sign petitions

REMEMBER:
The Student Leaders of today are the Student Leaders of tomorrow!
Concerning the first editorial of the Carbon of Volume 36, No. 5, published October 15, 1971:

Good for C.W. for such outstanding, fine, excellent wording in his or her editorial; there are so many fine sarcastic remarks I could use I cannot list them all. Please be sure not to break your arm patting yourself on the back for your fine work, unless you should happen to break your writing arm.

I'm not saying the word shouldn't ever be used mind you, actually I've probably used that word more times in one week than you have in one month. However, I know when, where, and with which company to use it. Sure that word sets a stage, but couldn't another word be used? Come on, please don't say "no!" and insult my intelligence and your own.

You may think writing that editorial and having it published would leave no impression on people, either on or off campus, but you are wrong (unbelievable as it may sound). Since you don't care too much about your college, except to down it, why not try writing for Playboy, they need your mind and great ability in the command of the English language. I'm sure there are some who would be more than happy to help you withdraw (you might just set a record for withdrawing from Marian).

Oh! I almost forget to give a "job well done" to the editor for letting the vulgarism be published. Really, Eddie, did you dare not permit that vulgarism be published? Yes, I know it was your "duty" to publish the editorial as it was written. Actually, I don't think you want to be in the CARRON HISSES column; after all, your prestige as Editor of the Carbon is at stake here. However, I do believe that the vulgarism printed did reflect their mood, just not their maturity.

Thank you very much editor for publishing this editorial in its entirety if it is printed.

P.T.M.

(Ed. Note: According to the policy set down in our second issue, the Carbon will not print letters or articles submitted anonymously. This letter as far as I can see was anonymous unless the identity of P.T.M. is widely known on campus. We must insist that we know the names of contributors, even if they want to use initials or pseudonyms, if we are to accept any responsibility for what is printed. I would think common decency would insist that people should be willing to take responsibility for what they write. In this case the editor of the Phoenix was able to tell us who the author of this letter is, and so we will print it. However we don't feel it should be our place to hunt down the authors of anonymous letters and we will not print them. However I'm sure if we had not printed this letter P.T.M. would have accused us of using our policy as an excuse to stop any criticism of the paper, as he implied in his letter. The editors are willing to accept responsibility for what we write and accept criticism of it that follows. Why aren't you?)

EMC
Commentary on Intramural Football

Upon our return from our vacation in the Bahamas, we were told that the Wild Bunch and Gods of Hellfire had been defeated. "Can't be," we said...but it was. So let us now review the four teams who are in the running.

The Gods of Hellfire has the potential to make a shambles of the league, but this season they seemed to have lost some of their fire. Maybe they aren't hungry enough. Whatever the case may be, there are few teams who can match the God's defensive line. Joe Hoag and John Kirchgassner are not to be argued with...on or off the field. Their secondary has been spotty though, putting that much more pressure on the line. On offense the Gods are solid with Jim Herbe and Larry Unser giving them able receivers. Quarterback Bill Doherty has a fine arm but his inability to leave the pocket could put the Gods' fire out.

War surprised everyone by upsetting the Gods last Sunday. The question is, could they do it again. Jim Fisher has a good arm but lacks consistency, but with Randy Stahley receiving, Fisher can afford to be off the mark now and then. A hard-hitting defense paced by Bill Eckman and Richard Buerglar can put the clamps on everyone. Another factor in War's success has been the improvement of "Plato" Pedtke and "El Roncho" Morgan. War has come on too late to win it all, but they won't be embarrassed by anyone.

The Wild Bunch thought this was going to be their year. It still could be, but Terry Smith can't be expected to do everything. Offensively this season the Bunch has proven vulnerable. Kenny Tyrrell will have to keep his players under ice to solve this by the play-offs. Defensively the Bunch will be ready. They aren't giants and they aren't lightning, but they love the sight and smell of blood, except maybe Dale Hemmelgarn. The loss of Mike Mills hurt the Bunch, but they have too much balance not to be considered a possible champion.

Then there are the Vice Lords. If any team has momentum it is this one. Dan Brangan, Jerry Leugers, and Stubby Jay provide a sample of the Vice Lords scoring punch. Defensively the Lords are solid, but an injury to 'Moose' Morse dampens their outlook. The Vice Lords have a reputation for getting up for the big games. They'll have to if they expect to come out champs.

Our pre-playoff pick is the Wild Bunch.

Next week the Carbon All-Star Offensive Team will be named. All nominations should be addressed to the old lefthander. Until then, he a sport and don't forget the beer blast.

Hammerle

TRIVIA QUIZ

"Voravit Chinosornvathana" is:

a) a little known suburb of Tegucigalpa, Honduras
b) an exotic oriental concoction with a lot of kick
c) a rare fruit from Cotopaxi, Ecuador
d) the official designation for a tie in a football game in a small midwest college
e) none

INPIRG--

On Wednesday, November 3rd at 7:00pm, in the Sac Auditorium, there will be a meeting to establish the Marian College Chapter of INPIRG (Indiana Public Interest Research Group), an organization working in conjunction with Ralph Nader in Washington, D.C.

If you're interested in ecology, auto safety, Food & drug standards, honest advertising or public safety, be sure to attend.

Ken

STUDENT BOARD REPORT
(or Marian College Faculty to play Cincinnati Reds and obtain true happiness and gratification)

In meetings last Sunday and this Thursday, the Student Board discussed and passed a motion to sponsor a basketball game between the Cincinnati Reds and the Marian faculty. The game will be held at Brebeuf on the Monday of Homecoming week; tickets will be $1.50 for students with ID's and children under 12, and $2.00 for others. The Board must guarantee the Reds at least $1000 or 60% of the take to the Reds. Any profit will be used to refurbish the Perc.

The Board also passed a motion to give the Cheerleaders $150 for uniforms and gas money but turned down a motion to give the Athletic Dept. $175 for bus transportation for the basketball team to away games.

The Board passed the proposal submitted by the dorms for open visitation. The proposal now goes to proper channels. Where it stops nobody knows!

Alive

No Phoenix next week...!