EDITORIAL

The recent decision of the Supreme Court seems to me exceptionally rash in light of the fact that they have no established criteria for what constitutes human life. This should have been the first consideration which would act as the basis for any judicial pronouncements.

Continual references to "viability of the fetus" seem to point to that as the significant factor in not permitting abortions after the sixth month of pregnancy. This could not be used as the solution to the problem of what constitutes a life since it is defined as "capable of sustaining independent life." After all, what is the purpose of medicine? Many diabetics could not sustain life if it were not for insulin. Some people are dependent upon kidney machines to continue living.

Even if viability referred to the ability to sustain life with the aid of technology, its being the basis for assessing whether an organism is human or not is invalid. Does the definition of man depend upon his technological advancements? Less than 50% of the near all people suffering from small pox died. Now this disease is almost completely under control.

Justice Blackmun, making the statement for the majority, said, "The unborn have never been recognized in the law as persons in the whole sense." What does "in the whole sense" mean? It seems that the mentally retarded and criminally insane might not be regarded by the courts as "persons in the whole sense" since these people are not considered responsible for their actions. Surely, no court would make question of whether they are human or not.

The point here is that the Supreme Court has made a decision to legalize the destruction of a living organism which may be human (they aren't sure yet). If it is, they have destroyed the constitutional rights guaranteed to all and have established a law sanctioning 1st degree murder. It's a risky position they have adopted--and tragic considering the possibility of a mistake.

To Marian College students:
The following letter is to be discussed at this Sunday's meeting of the Student Board as a proposed letter to be sent to the President and the Indiana Congressman.

"The Marian College Student Association, realizing its position as a conscientiousness segment of this country, would like to express its objection to certain policies of the administration.

Vital social programs are being short changed due to military expenditures. As students, our primary concern is the cutback in educational programs, such as the appropriated grants for educational loans, and special education programs for the underprivileged. Other programs for public housing, health, public employment, and rural assistance are all being affected. These are the domestic programs which we deem necessary in fulfilling this country's needs.

The President's failure to consult Congress or inform the public on relevant issues reflects a gross negligence of duty. This is directly contrary to the concept of democracy."

The Board would like to have some student response to this proposal--if you have any reaction you should either contact any member of the Board or come to the meeting on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the Social Council Room.

Macbeth

Come to "Macbeth" and hear such touchings and sensitive endearments as:

I have given suck, and know
How tender 'tis to love the babe that milks me,
I would, while it was smiling in my face,
Have plucked my nipple from his boneless gums
And dashed the brains out, had I sworn
As you have done to this.

(I, vii)

(What can you expect from a play where the men wear, not one, but two pairs of opaque panty hose.)

The performances are:

Friday, Jan. 26--9:00 p.m.
Saturday, Jan. 27--2:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m.
Sun., Jan. 28--2:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m.
Tuesday, Jan. 30--7:30 p.m.
Wed., Jan. 31--7:30 p.m.
Thursday, Feb. 1--7:30 p.m.
Saturday, Feb. 3--2:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m.
Sunday, Feb. 4--2:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m.
SELF-REGULATED HOURS FOR FRESHMEN WOMEN

Finally some action is being taken to remove that outdated vestige of inequality at Marian-freshman women hours. Self-regulated hours for freshmen women will be discussed at this Monday's Student Services Committee meeting. Clare Hall Board should be complimented for the work they have done in this matter.

A Lesson in Scientific Inquiry

Science majors are often frustrated with the humdrum of lectures and the flood of trivial facts that confront us. Some feel as though science often needs a bit of pragmatic info to aid them in considering the vital issues of our time. Therefore, in keeping with the true spirit of a Catholic institution, I have taken it upon myself to communicate my observations in order that this info may allow students to see the importance of interdisciplinary work.

The following is an endeavor which will shed some light on the genetic origin of the most salient characteristics of our Savior, Jesus Christ.

Below is a table with symbols representing each of the genetic characteristics in question:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Let:</th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>W=non-winged</td>
<td>w=non-winged</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>M=helioed</td>
<td>m=helioed</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>H=miracle worker</td>
<td>h=miracle worker</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Therefore: D.B.V.M. X (Holy Spirit) W-HHMM-SSST

Thus, it becomes perfectly clear how J.C. is the non-winged, helioed, miracle working, transfigurable, and non-sinkable Lord.

MACBETH LOTTERY

Although outlawed by the state of Indiana as "gambling", those involved in the production of Macbeth have taken upon themselves to advance the course of interdisciplinary study here at Marian by sponsoring a lottery. As well as furthering our knowledge of Probability and Statistics, this could prove to be the social and/or monetary highlight of the school year.

Each participant specifies the dates on which he thinks the actors in the roles of Macbeth, McDuff, and Young Siward will be physically injured or killed. One need only contribute a paltry 50c to the general fund to reap the benefits if he has guessed correctly--for each correct guess 1/3 of the general fund will be awarded as the prize. If, perchance, there should be multiple wins, the prize money will be equally divided.

Just to demonstrate how good your chances are, Dr. Jefferson has already suffered the pain of 1 broken finger during a rehearsal (note: it will not be counted if Dr. Jefferson breaks the same finger during any of the actual performances).

So, fork the money over to any member of the Macbeth cast (or anyone who will take it) and remember: Root your favorite actor on to calamity or worse.
