- Kite Making and Flying Contest- 5:00 pm at Clare. White House with Light House will be on hand to lead everyone in flying.
- Pioneers of Modern Painting- Lib. Aud. at 11:30. An interesting glimpse of how Michelangelo cured his hemorrhoids and back aches after painting the Sistine Chapel. Where were Preparation H and Carts Pills when he needed them? Probably being recalled from the shelves!
Thanks for the memories of visits to the Dean because we were "obscene". Those talks with good ole Fred the one's we'd always dread. Oh Thank you - SO MUCH

Thanks for the memories of Dr. Gatto's note: the one we always quote. It got so much publicity that Damioli, Catholicity. Oh Thank you - SO MUCH

Thanks for the memories of all those new G.I.'s they're such swell, wonderful guys. They bring in all that dough, but have no brains to show. Oh Thank you - SO MUCH

Thanks for the memories of drinking every night with all those Maids and Knights. They wouldn't condemn that booze if they were in our shoes. Oh Thank you - SO MUCH

Thanks for the memories you pass Conduct Appeals when Dean Brame squeals, after pressure from the Board. Curse the devil and praise the Lord. Oh Thank you - SO MUCH

Thanks for the memories of Sister Carol's decisions on the Self-Study Commission. Their work has taken its toll. Let's flush it down the howl. Oh Thank you - SO MUCH

Thanks for the memories of all those rash decisions ignoring students' positions, demeaning their petitions. Will this help admissions? Oh Thank you - SO MUCH

... AND SHOVE IT!

Seriously, though, we owe a lot to several people who have devoted a lot of time to helping us with the Carbon. The paper probably would not have gotten out on a number of Fridays had it not been for people like John Costerison, Rich Vanes, Dave Stark, Steve Hammerle, Carol Luthman, and Diana Ryker. To these people, and to all our contributors, and the many people who have just stopped by to visit on Thursday nights - Thanks... for the memories.

FROM THE MASSES:

To the M.C. community:
A recent poll of faculty members, regarding the calendar for next year, shows that of the 47 persons who responded, 34 preferred the new calendar with 50 minute class periods.

If you take the time to sit down and figure this out (which I did), you will discover that such a system would mean that during Fall semester, a 3 hour course which meets on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, will meet a total of 39 times. The same class, if held during the Spring Semester, will meet 44 times. Thus, if a student were to take, for example, Developmental Psychology, in the Fall, he would attend 39 classes, each one for 50 minutes. If a student were to take the same course in the Spring, he would attend 44 classes, each one for 50 minutes. In either case he receives 3 hours credit for a course in Developmental Psychology.

I can imagine several different reactions to this. Some students may rejoice and take Developmental Psychology in the Fall. Some teachers may wonder how to teach the same amount of material (3 credits worth) in two different time segments. But probably most people will say, "Who cares?"

My reaction is to ask some questions. How can Marian College offer two semesters of unequal length and give equal credit to both? Granted, 5 class periods may appear to be a small number, but if consideration is given to the number of students, the number of teachers, and the number of classes offered each semester, is 5 class periods really a big number? All the 34 faculty members who chose this option consider the above and decide that this is not a real problem? If 39 class meetings are enough, why not shorten Spring Semester to the same length? Are 38 class periods enough? Or 37? I do not expect any answers to the above questions, of course. My intent is to express concern about this particular issue and also the greater issue of how do people arrive at decisions they choose.

To You:
Well kiddies, it's time for another episode in the continuing story of this year's freshman class president. All year, long tall Eddie has been the butt of everybody's remarks. Criticism has been plaguing him since the election. Can't say he hasn't deserved most of it, but if there is one thing he doesn't deserve, it is his latest suffering.

Now kids, if you can stretch your minds back to last December, Eddie Krasa played a practical joke that cost him his job and the freshman class lost a not-so-illustrious president. He hid a term paper from a fellow student. The paper was returned before the due date and no harm was done to the student's grades, but never the less Ed was placed on Social Probation. Now there is a rule that a person on probation can not hold an office. This is a good rule when it is properly applied, but I ask you, where is the justice when the freshman lose their president on account of such a harmless, though childish prank.

Some may say "no big loss", but that is not the point. Ed Krusa was elected president by the freshmen and now the administration has taken the elected freshman class president away. No matter how poorly the job was done, we are left without the president of our choice.

Happy Trails,
Bill Platt

begins Wednesday 8:30am runs through midnight Friday, Come to the Park (open all night - grill too)
The weather has finally broken and now the softball season can go on as scheduled... hopefully. So far the Over-The-Fence Gang has grabbed the lead behind the efforts of pitcher "Studs" Merkel. MFIC and Pit Shift opened their seasons this week and are undefeated so far. The Moppit Men have also been playing 'em as the hard-hitting former Claws have regained their winning style. Not far behind marches Sergees Raiders, who, under the co-1 managerial skills of Tom Dembeck, have built their record up to .500. The schedule for Sunday is posted below.

Comes here to me, my merry men,
Said a sergeant loud and clear,
And the young men all were very merry men,
And they all came running near,
And the flag flew in the air,
And the drummer drummed his share,
And the sergeant spoke of liberty
And pay and opportunity,
And the lads cried out
HELL NO!
WE WON'T GO!

Greetings health fans! Being young healthy students made possibly only through your dedicated and competent medical staff you certainly do not ponder the ominous and probable health conditions of old age. So to help combat this, we suggest prevention and cure to allay this senile sequela by the following gerontological goop:

1. Take care of yourself. Don't drink or stay up past 7:34. This way you can create a good habit for the later years.
2. Think juvenile. Keep rattles rattling pacifiers moist and stereotypes blaring till 3:00am.
3. Partake of the fountain of youth. It has been relocated from the private garden of Ponce de Leon to the third floor drinking fountain of the Scotus Science Wing. This playful philter may not stop aging but it will sure make you feel like a dumb little kid when you try it.
4. Refrain from reading stuff like this, it will reduce brain cell deterioration by 92%.
