To the Student Body,

"The Marian College Student Association is the campus student government organization which plans and organizes most of the extracurricular activity of the student community. Its jurisdiction extends to all students and student groups. It seeks to foster student responsibility and leadership, to provide a means of student cooperation and communication with the faculty and administration, and to demonstrate that students may effectively and reasonably govern themselves with only a minimum of administrative regulation.

The Student Association exercises its function as the voice of the student opinion through the Executive Board, which strives to better life in the College Community by solving problems and creating outlets for student interest. The Board's meetings are open! (page 38, Student Handbook)

"As constituents of the academic community, students should be free, individually and collectively, to express their views on issues of institutional policy and on matters of general interest to the student body. The student body should have clearly defined means to participate in the formulation and application of institutional policy affecting academic and student affairs. (MCAS Constitution)

The above quotations clearly define the students' rights of participation and involvement.

As a member of the Executive Board, and working with only 12 other "involved" students, such rights are being wasted.

Presently, there are two committees working under the Board, the Extension of Guest Hours and the Alcoholic Beverage Policy. Each committee is headed by a Senior and consists of Fellow Senior members. Maybe one forgets, but unless the underclassmen are involved, effective approval and enactment of such policies cannot be carried through. We will be leaving in a few months (not meant as a sad note) and who will then work for the changes this campus needs? Many students complain about policies (including Seniors) on this campus, but complaining is not enough. Unless you can further our cause for improvement through articles in the Carbon or membership and assistance on committees, you should not complain.

Admittedly, this campus needs "help" in many areas, but the students have to notice the need, participate on committees, and help see and fight for it through Student Services, College Council and on to the Board of Trustees. The Student Board and its committees need your support and those of you have 3 or more years here. Are you going to be satisfied with what you have now, or are you going to help change things?

Committees seem like a drudge sometimes. There are disappointments like having to get vol-

FROM THE MASSES

M.C. Students, Faculty, Staff:

THANKS! for your cooperation with Campus Visit Weekend. We had 57 high school students in attendance, and from the feedback we received, they seemed to have had an enjoyable time. This is due primarily to your willingness to make these people feel welcome.

Over the coming months, we should be having prospective students on campus, often. Your continued cooperation in hosting these people is vital to their receiving a favorable impression of Marian. I know sometimes it is an inconvenience to house somebody in your room on short notice, or to find the time to write a personal letter to a prospective student, or to refer a name of a friend to the Admissions Office. But...it seems to me that only through these kinds of things do we, as a part of the Marian community, show that we are interested and involved in its future. If we are not, how can we hope that others will be? Enthusiasm about this school has got to start with us!

PLEASE give us some feedback about this weekend and/or other parts of the Admission's program. A note or a call or comments in person will be greatly appreciated.

Rick, Dan, Sr. Ruth, Jerry

To the Masses:

Recently, the Drum and Bugle Corps held its annual rummage sale in order to help pay for their annual trip. I feel this is a legitimate event which is most of the time, very beneficial to the Corps itself. Everyone on the college was asked to bring old "junk" to be sold for the event, which again is a good idea that I agree with. Most people, I believe who contributed to the rummage sale, did so, believing in good faith that their items would be "sold" or at least attempted to be sold. It has come to my attention that some of the organizers (who happen to be Corps members) decided to sift through the junk and, shall I say, partake in the materials provided to be sold.

"Keeping the Benefits" without purchasing the items monetarily. Maybe these people felt they deserved something for their efforts. Here's what I have to say to that: (1) They should never have taken these extra responsibilities if they felt they needed something else in return. I don't feel many people, including outsiders, would have contributed to the rummage sale, had they known these people were keeping some of the items to be sold; (3) In keeping the items, I feel these people were obviously selfish in that they put their best interests ahead of the Corps. A mistake I hope the Corps can remedy. If the Corps leaders do not correct this situation, I feel the Corps could acquire a bad name which will inevitably put it out of operation, due to the fact that no one person will contribute to its money drives.

Sincerely,

A disgusted Bye Stander

Dear Bye Stander,

Although it is against my general principles to reply to an anonymous letter, I feel that your letter places the integrity of the Corps and some of its members in jeopardy—a situation that I feel is so blatantly unjustified, that I must reply.

I am aware of both the members involved and the merchandise you are referring. The fact is, however, that the person donating the object was fully aware of the fact that it would not be sold—she had to, considering she told the Corps members involved that they could just keep it. It was not a case of expecting it to be sold and then having a Corps member take it—it was a case of the donor giving it over to a member outright. Because of this, I see nothing that needs to be remedied. I can't possibly judge the donor's reasons for wanting to give it to a Corps member without it being sold, but she certainly had the right to dispose of it to whomever and under whatever conditions as she pleased, being here in the first place.

In the future, I have a few requests to make to make to "Bye Stander." First, if you ever plan to ever write such a slandering letter again, please ascertain the facts before shooting your mouth off. Where did you find the facts?

Ask me, and if I don't know them, I'll find out. Second, if you aren't mature enough to have the guts to sign such a letter, don't send it. I have no respect for a person who collected facts, but doesn't have enough courage to identify themselves and stand up for what they have said.

Sincerely Yours;

To the Masses:

For the benefit of the students at Marian, the Social Planning Committee sets a number of films a year. Money for the films is allocated by each class (Clare and Doyle Halls). When the films are relatively inexpensive we can afford to show them free of charge. But the higher priced, usually the better films must be shown for a minimal charge. These films collected from these movies goes back into the film fund to pay for additional films to be enjoyed by all.

When we ordered our films this spring we operated on the theory that we could order more films than we had the actual money for. And if each student who attends the films would pay $.50, we would have enough money to order all the films. This way, we could provide a variety of films for the enjoyment of the entire student body. $.50 is not too much to ask for the privilege of seeing a movie you'd pay $2.50 for elsewhere. Unfortunately, a few students feel that if it is their privilege to see the movies free, then this is不公平 to the rest of the students who may their share in order to have entertainment on campus. If a minority of students see the movie at no charge, why can't everyone else? Fine, we can show all movies for free and we can have films instead of 16. The films would still be for your entertainment, for "something to do." There's absolutely nothing we can do to take your money from you once you've managed to get into the auditorium. We can only rely on your honesty and your willingness to adhere to certain policies in order for the entire student body to have a good time.

IT'S YOUR CHOICE

ADMINISTRATIVE ACTION PROCEDURE

RATIONALE:
Certain forms of behavior which disturb or offend others, which violate rights of others living and working on campus, run counter to a major goal of the College. For this reason, and to protect the rights of the community, the Hall Directors and their staffs have the responsibility and the authority to correct, to counsel and to administer sanctions when necessary.

SPECIALS:
The Residence Hall Directors and the Dean of Student Services shall be authorized to administer certain specified sanctions for violations of College or Residence Hall policies to students within their jurisdiction.

AUTHORIZED SANCTIONS:
1. Monetary fines not to exceed $25 for each offense.
2. Residence Hall Work penalties not to exceed 10 hours per week for a maximum period of two weeks for each offense.
3. Letter of notification to parents or guardians specifying that a violation occurred and the behavior which led to the violation (consistent with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, 1974).
4. Any combination of the above.

PROSCRIBED CONDUCT SUBJECT TO ADMINISTRATIVE ACTION
Any violation of published rules of Residence Hall living units or any act of misconduct specified in the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities shall be subject to administrative disciplinary action.

GENERAL PROCEDURES:
1. The Residence Hall Director in consultation with the Dean of Student Services, shall have full power to determine which sanctions shall be applied and the severity of the sanction.
2. After notification by the Residence Hall Director, payment of monetary fines shall be made at the Business Office by the appropriate due date. Income from fines levied shall be deposited in the Residence Hall maintenance and improvement fund.
3. Work Penalties will be assigned by the respective Hall Directors. These may involve performing various maintenance tasks in or around the hall such as moving and waxing floors, washing windows, vacuuming carpets, picking up trash, etc. Upon completion of the assigned task(s), the Hall Director will determine whether or not it was satisfactorily done. If not, the Hall Director shall be authorized to assign additional work hours, not to exceed the maximum number designated above, until the job is satisfactorily completed.
4. If the student is not in agreement with the sanction imposed, he may request a hearing before the College Judicial Panel. Requests for a hearing shall be submitted to the Dean of Student Services within three (3) days of the date the sanction was imposed and shall specify in detail the reasons why a hearing is requested. The Dean will then arrange for a meeting of the Panel to hear the case.
5. The Residence Hall Directors, in consultation with the Dean of Student Services, shall have sole discretion concerning whether or not administrative fines will be assessed. The Director and Dean shall retain the right to refer situations directly to the College Judicial Panel.
6. It is understood that these administrative powers shall be used in a professional manner with care and discretion. Sanctions should never be administered arbitrarily or capriciously. They are designed for the individual who fails to respond to other methods (i.e., counseling, admonition) of behavior change or control.

FAILURE TO COMPLY:
This procedure is basically an agreement or "contract" between the Hall staff and the student. If the student fails to comply with the terms of the agreement he shall be subject to one or more of the following:
1. Cancellation of Residence Hall Contract and removal from the Residence Hall.
2. Withholding of official College transcript and/or registration for subsequent semesters.

Dear Masses,
As a custodial employee of the maintenance staff, my job entails dusting and mopping Marion Hall daily. While making my usual sweeping rounds, I inevitably "rub elbows" with my fellow residents, faculty, and students, and thus acquire much current information of the various new trends and the controversial ideas that circulate within this community. Last week, I heard a proposal concerning "preferred parking," which is being initiated within the 'student services' committee of the College Council. I wish to address myself to this issue, as I have calculated extensively over it, and I feel competent to proffer my views concerning it. First, I will present the up-to-date facts as I understand them.

The discussion taking place in the Student Services committee deals with preferred parking for Seniors, at the north lots of the resident halls. So far, the means for assigning the spaces themselves has not been unanimously decided by the committee, although most of the members are affirmative towards a lottery assignment system. The method of imposing sanction for violations of the assignments will be distribution of parking tickets to the violators, with the enforcement of the policy resting on the resident hall assistants working under their usual delegated bureaucratic authority.

Preferred parking is not necessarily a new idea, for many schools have designated assigned parking areas for student use. This policy generally is designed such that students are given priority over non-college affiliates (e.g. visitors, etc.) as a service of the college to ensure that a minimum of parking area can be utilized with maximum efficiency for those students' use. Some colleges even further this service by providing Preferred parking position to their upperclass students, probably as a consolation-privilege intending to reward their students' achievement of the upperclassman status. At surface value, this may seem to be a somewhat prejudiced rationale; yet, after closer examination, it becomes an unquestionably valid service of the institution for the benefit of those students who have remained with that institution for three or four years. However, because of its disputable nature, I further speculated upon the preceding statement wherein my speculation was to justify whether this particular situation would be meritorious within the Marian College community. I arrived at the following conclusions.

Although I do not possess concrete statistical information, I suspect that each class that has entered Marian suffers a 15-20% attrition rate after freshman year, only 50% are for each given amount of students which enroll and accepted to Marian per annum, only 30-35% of that number will reach upperclassman status. To, those students who have remained as members of Marian College until they matriculate to graduation have become definite assets to this institution, for not only have they immensely contributed to the school financially as well as socially, but they have realized the inherent purpose of this institution, and as a consequence of this realization, they will have received their degree from Marian College. Therefore, why shouldn't the institution grant them privileges to these upperclass students, either as an institutional service rewarding those students' loyalty, or as a community-consolation commemorating their educational, emotional, and physical stamina?

The context of this proposal would not directly affect me in any way; however, I have become personally compassionate towards the Marian College senior. I can currently ascertain no definite reasons why this would be either contrary or threatening to any Marian tradition; as contrary, I feel that if preferred parking does become a senior privilege, it would become a subtle positive incentive for upperclassman as well as magnificently increase enrollment. Hence, I encourage the support of this proposal.

Yours,

Bernie Jonik Sapinski,
Maintenence

Soccer Report:
The weather may not be to our liking but the soccer club will whip up the season this Sat. night against the University of Cincinnati Bearcats.

Game time is 8:00 PM on the astroturf at Merton Stadium. The team is hoping to finish with 500 season after dipping to a 3-4 record, with all four losses being only by one goal.

Last Wednesday the team travelled to St. Joseph's College to be met by a freezing wind and adverse conditions. St. Joe's had the wind in their favor in the first half, but Marian scored first when Joe Putz put one in, using his patented bank shot. St. Joe's put two away to lead at the half.

In the second half both teams traded goals, with Mark Fischer putting one away and a St. Joe player throwing the ball into the net, which is illegal.

On that controversial call go in Wendell Creek strongly protested. The goal stood, and game was lost.

Good play came from Van dell, Tom Rockhart, smooth-as-silk Luyard, and Curt Stoll.

Last Friday the Irish of Notre Dame reversed an earlier 2-1 loss to Marian at the victors home field. Playing perhaps their best game of the season, the Fighting Irish just couldn't bring home a winner as their forts continually just missed, for scores. Marian's long goal was nailed by Jimmy Merson.

I.M.

It happens every year at this time, the I.M. Football season will come to an end, this Sunday in the annual championship game, which also sets off the beginning of one of the most exciting weeks at Marian--Homingcoming Week. Yes, this gala week is filled with Fun, Frolic and Lots of hangover.

April Fool's trick to the seniors at last football game of the season at 2:30 p.m. on famous Flatt's Field, senior defensive champion, and Joes will face the very impressive, I ETA TII. But, how did these two fine physically fit and mentally developed teams get to the finals? First, they had to finish as the top two teams of one of the two divisions. That wasn't all that hard, with only three teams in each division, the others dropped out after financial difficulties. Then they had to win the play-off game held last Sunday. In these two well played games, Ead Company gave the Joes all the cold handle, but eventually fell short, 18-8. For, I ETA TII racked the 6-1 in the only shot out game of the day, 18-14. The Club Walls 3-teats beat the ever improving Platt's Play oys, 20-9 in a real grinding defensive struggle.

So, you have the layout. I have yet to see I ETA TII play, due to some powers beyond my control, I am going out on a limb to predict the winner. The Yeis. Well, they sounded like a winner to me. I really hate to see the same team win twice, so I'll give the edge, I ETA TII by a touchdown.

So I hope to see all out at Reynolds Field Sunday, at 2:00 p.m., come early, and to order my (Continued next page) predictions. Until Florida and Indiana change places; sometime in the next million years...

To The Masses

The state of affairs concerning the different publications on this campus, is in sad shape. The possibility of having a yearbook this year is a definite maybe. The Phoenix staff and many members of the Marian community have apathetic feeling towards the future of the said paper. No material has been submitted to the Fioretti as of yet. They are not alone though, the Carbon also has their share of problems.

At the end of last year, I became co-editor along with Paul. Over the summer I decided to withdraw from Marian for the fall semester, and Bill, kindly heartedly, volunteered his services to fill in for me. Since school began, it seems the Carbon become more disorganized; letters were lost, and derogatory comments were made regarding the "anglish" used in the Carbon from previous issues. The whole staff became bored and disgusted. Two weeks ago, Bill resigned as acting co-editor and I resumed my original position a few weeks early in order to help Paul out.

After a week’s vacation, the Carbon staff is back at work. Throughout the remainder of the semester, some different ideas and changes will be introduced into the paper. Our whole objective is to make the Carbon, more student oriented. There have been times when people have criticized us for not writing about some event or happening on campus and even articles concerning world affairs. The rationale for the oversights is not because we’re not interested in what’s going on, or that we’re being selective in what we print. The truth is, we don’t always know everything that happens. All of you can help, by submitting articles, stories, comics or advertising for print. If possible, all material should be in by 3:30 p.m. every Thursday. We welcome any suggestions, comments, or complaints about the changes that are being made.

Thank you
