EDITORIAL

It seems occasionally our supposedly well-intentioned school throws us back to grade school instead of furthering the maturation process. The current guest hours policy is a prime example. During our "sleepy, innocent" high school days there was never a consideber absence imposed by week-day hours of visitation. Some of us elderly ones who attended all-girl establishments never ran across the situation, but if the occasion arises, most certainly there would have been no resistance from the supreme command of the house. On the contrary, any action was destrucrionly encouraged. So how are we strictly forbidden to meet a friend or friends in a dorm room? Instead of enhancing social interaction, this restriction makes the dorm room during the week a hermit for social relation candidates.

There is not really a suitable place for a small group to sit and have a relatively private conversation. Since the seminar rooms are now off limits, there is no proper environment available for proximity.

The moral aspect is of course a factor in cases of one to one relationships. I hardly feel, however, that weekday visitation will increase promiscuity or deplete a baby boom on our fear campus. Those few persons who would engage in such activity most likely are already flavors of the game.

In conclusion, I see existence of a new guest hour policy as definitely a novelty for Marian College. Things always seem radical during the changing process, but in retrospect, I'm sure the current policy will seem archaic.
Yesterday, I reported to the Publications Committee that as Editor of the Carbon this year I have had many problems developing and maintaining a staff. Coupled with the fact that I have neither the time, nor the desire that is necessary to produce a worthwhile, weakly publication for this Community, leads me to the inevitable. Therefore, effective Nov. 5, 1976, I resigned from my position as Editor of the Carbon.

These are my only reasons for this action; none other. This is the culmination of my feelings for the past several months. In no way was I forced to resign by any individual or group.

It is only appropriate at this time for me to thank all of the individuals who have worked on the Carbon with me during the last two years. Thank you,

At the Publications Committee I made the motion for the Committee to accept Mary Clare and Mike Heim as Editors for the remainder of this semester, since they have worked on the paper in the past and have expressed an interest in the Editorship. However, in the interest of fairness, the Committee decided to postpone their decision until the entire College Community was made aware of the fact that the Editor position was open. If interested, come to the PUB Board meeting Sunday night at 6:00 p.m. in the Student Board Office.

Again, thanks and goodbye!

From the masses:

This letter is in regards to the article "coming Attractions" published in the January 30th edition of the Carbon. The by-line which appeared with the article was "W. House" which gave the Marian College Community the impression that the article was written by the occupants of the White House. We would like everyone to know that we had no connection with the writing of this article and we did not encourage the implication that the article was written by us. You would have saved us a lot of embarrassment and explanation to others. The author of the article may argue that by using the by-line "W. House" he did not mean to imply White House but rather Waffle House or something else. However, the fact remains that, in this capacity, "W. House" implies White House and its occupants. We feel the editor(s) and/or author(s) should have used more discretion in their choice of a by-line and we feel that we deserve an apology.

Yours truly,
Women of White House

I personally support the efforts for extending visitation hours during the weekdays Mon. thru Thurs. from 6:00 m. to 10:00 m. and the 2 hr. extension on Sun. nights. However, I think a sizable majority of students in both residence halls should be in favor of this extension is granted. The disadvantages of the increased hours would be identical to the present problems: a) residents not registering their guests properly, b) guests being in the halls unescorted by their host, c) guests not leaving when visitation hours are over. However, most residents are not "guilty" of these violations of the present policy. If these problems become more prevalent due to the extension, the residence hall staff should offer sanctions or the Judicial Panel can be called upon to judge for habitual offenders.

The extension of visitation hours has many potential benefits. It could promote more interaction between Clare Hall and Doyle Hall residents as well as with "day" students. It could help create quieter residence halls (most residents entertaining guests are quieter than the norm and thus the floor tends to be less noisy - the exception is parties which I do not think would occur during the week. Parties occur with the present policy because weekend nights are a time to " unwind and break from the books." It could provide a comfortable place for two trustee people to study aloud together, work on a class project, or plan campus activities. It would allow students greater latitude in socializing and better approach the usual "life style of young adults.

It is the students' responsibility to monitor their own behavior so as not to violate others' rights to quiet, privacy, and to observe certain moral principles. If individuals do disrupt or offend others, than the residence hall staff will have to intervene. I do not feel this extension of visitation hours would encourage lax moral codes within the dorms since this ultimately must be decided by each individual's internal guidelines, and those choosing to deviate from the accepted codes of a Christian community will do so whether or not the extension is granted. I think college students should be treated as adults until proven otherwise; and then only those individuals treatment should be readjusted, not the total group's treatment.

Sincerely,
Marie V. Tehbe

Is Marian College dying? Anyone who is attending Marian now should ask themselves this question. There is much evidence which indicates that Marian is on its way somewhere, and that somewhere depends upon first, Marian's Board of Trustees, who hold the deepest strings: secondly on the M.C. Administration and Faculty; and last but not least the group that keeps the doors open, the students. A few weeks Dr. Olin announced that Marian will receive a 3500,000 (cont. page)
Marian has come a "pretentious" institution. If Marian has become so prestigious, is it a secret? I have not seen a line of high school seniors fighting to get into the admissions office. In fact, with nationwide statistics indicating increases in college enrollment in undergraduate institutions, Marian's is still declining.

Marian also boasts of having the lowest tuition in comparison to the rest of the private schools in the state. Along with that boast should go the smallest amount of faculty, student services, and programs. So you DO get what you pay for. In the last two years Marian has experienced practically nothing but cuts in faculty members, staff members, and budgets. All of these cuts have resulted in loss of services to students who pay dearly for these same services. Along with these budget cuts, the administration has caused a great deal of inconvenience for the students. They started off first semester by keeping summer guests in Doyle Hall until the same day that students were returning for the start of the first semester. This resulted in students having to move into filthy rooms. After this they turned Marian into something that usually takes a great deal of time and planning, a "Cultural Center." At this point, Doyle Hall was turned into a Hotel with everything but room service for its guests. Those instances are just a few of the so called advantages of going to a prestigious institution.

It is evident by the declining enrollment and high attrition rate that Marian must do more for its students. Parsons College, a private institution which was once located in Denison, Iowa, was in the same position that Marian is today; that was two years ago. Parsons College died; it is now W.L.I. or Maharishi Institute of Technology (T.I.C. Center). Is Marian College dying?

"Marvin Medical Center" * glossary of terms at end of article

While making rounds in Marvin Medical Center, Nurse Nightingale paused briefly in Ward 2, more commonly known as "The Cell".

Glancing inside the doorway, she assessed the furniture arrangement. Nurse Nightingale charted that there had been no change since the last shift. "I must report this to Dr. Sage immediately," she exclaimed.

Upon viewing the chart, Dr. Sage involuntarily cringed. He swiftly apologized for his lapse of manners, while Nurse Nightingale observed the situation. "Dr. Sage, how could you, in my presence?" Running out of the room, and leering at patient recorder, Nurse Nightingale stumbled into a visiting social worker taking a survey. "Excuse me, Nurse, may I ask you a personal question? How do you feel about premarital heterosexual interdigation?"

"I have nothing against it," she replied sharply, "some of my best friends are homosexual." As the day shift came on duty, Nurse B.D. Superior appeared to take over for the night.

She was warned to watch the patient(at) in Ward 4. Entering the darkened room nicknamed "The Lounge," she was startled by the severity of the diagnosed case "twins Simias" complications of the syndrome included anoxia and diaphoresis. Nurse Nightingale realized that this problem was reaching epidemic proportions in Marvin Med. Centers?

Will the patient be placed in isolation?

Will the epidemic continue to spread?

What will the prognosis be?

Stayed tuned for further episodes in future Carbons!

Currently a poll is being taken in Doyle Hall seeking backing for the NSCA extension of guest hours. Many hours of tedious, boring work has been put into the formation of this proposal. It is vitally important to the success of this operation that you, the people who will benefit the most from adoption of this policy, take the time to complete and return this poll. Without student backing, all efforts in this area will prove fruitless.

Linda Klemes and Marla Tabe have submitted letters of support of this policy as evidenced by her father's letter in this publication. However, as emphasized by Linda, student support is essential. The NSCA committee has laid the egg; it won't produce unless you fertilize it.

The games covered in this article include the games up to Sunday. Last night games will be in the Western Conference. A week ago we suffered our first forfeit of the year, as 1 East couldn't get the doctors on time and gave the game to Omars Tent Makers.

Then Mazuri fought off a hard charging White Lightning team 40-33. Vico called 12 for the winners, Risen hit 10 and Tom Kaspar nailed a three pointer for the losers. All the Marbles lost the string alive by beating Pit 45-27. Ciner hit 12 and Rare 8 for the victors as Wally hit 8 and Seital 7 for Pit.

In a head to head match, All the Young Dudes pulled away in the last moments to beat Jamaican Holiday 48-47. Getto hit 16 and Shires 12 for the winners, Curt came 16 as Lynard and Meyers each hit 10 for the Holiday.

In the last game of the day, 1 Eta Théo defeated the Truckers 45-28. Boone lined the nets for 23 as Zidron was next with 7. The Truckers had Starling hit 7 and Cerson 6. A week ago Monday, 1 East again let the league down and forfeited to 2 Eta Théo.

All the Young Dudes came out firing and blew the Holiday away in the second half to take the game 46-31. The Dudes were led by O. Dentons and Mellow Fellows 3 as Getto, Sten and K. Denton each hit 6. Again, Curt was high for the Holiday as he came 13, Lynard and Jimmy each hit 7.

Then All the Marbles ran away from a robbery White Lightning team 41-26. Chart hit 17, Stockham 16, Hallett and Ciller 12 each for the Marbles. Bink hit 7, Kline and Risen 7 each for the losers.

Sunday Omars Tent Makers downed the Holiday 50-41. Disco and McDride hit 12 and Fank 10 for the winners. Lynard had 12 and Jimmy 10 for the losers.

All the Young Dudes had to give everything they had to down Pit 42-32. 2 Eta Théo was in the lead which won for the winners with 11. Scotty scored 8 and Wally, Rob, Ron, and Schroth each hit 4 for Pit.

Then the Truckers came from behind and took 1 East 37-26. For lead the way with 15 as Cerson hit 10. Cannon capped 10 as Record and Jerry Stockham led 7 each.

Lastly All the Marbles downed White Lightning again, this time by a score of 49-13. The winners were paced by Jim Stockham's 10 and Ciller and Bekart's 8. Alumnus Dennis Kline led the losers with 6.

The last game saw 1 Eta Théo came out on top by holding off Mazuri 50-46. Boone and Joe led the victors with 14 as Zidron summed 10. Dally led Mazuri with 16 and Jackson added 8.

Game of the week: Marbles vs. Eta Théo Sunday 4:00 PM

Till the sun comes back, Wally
On January 21, the 1976 season of Marist College's Women's intramural basketball started. Returning teams from last year are the 1976 champs of last volleyball season; Dipshits, the basketball champions B.S. Bombers; talented Schuck's Garden and Nazuri; and the bustling but talented Fruits and KLN's are bouncing back from a poor volleyball season. The Fast-Fingered ladies and B&D's are new teams. Early season favorites look to be the Bombers (although Jan Stark has gone) and the B&D's, Schuck's Gardens, Nazuri, and Fast-Fingered Ladies will also be strong contenders.

Last Monday Schuck's downed the Dipshits 18-2, B. Ell scored 8 for the victors and Diana Kramer got the lone two for Dipshits.

In a close tilt KLN's wiped the Fruits 10-6. Nazuri rolled over DSA 10-3 with J. Jones getting 8 points for Nazuri and E. Watson scoring all 3 of DSA's points. The Bombers were just allowed by Fast-Fingered Ladies 10-3. Ann Hornin scored all 6 points for the Bombers while yours truly sat on the sidelines with others, but I'm back and ready to play this week.

On Wednesday, the Dipshits broke loose and scored all of 6 points, but still lost to Fast-Fingered Ladies 10-6. W. Hennessy scored 4 for the losers and S. Toczowski had 8 for the victors. B&D's creamed Nazuri 16-2, but I heard it was a rough game. J. Jones scored for Nazuri while Frank B. and E. Hill split B&D's points. DSA shut out the Fruits 12-0 with a Summer bashing in 4 points. KLN's were also shut out by Schuck's 15-0. Main scored 7 points.

The game to watch Monday will be Bombers and Schuck's at 8pm. Wednesday's games are postponed to a later date due to a movie being shown that night.
