Blast Off!!

Oh! at last
It's the Beer Blast
Come and join
It's gonna be fun

Spend dollars three
And you are free
To drink all the beer
That's needed for your cheer

Come back for more
There's gonna be cans galore
To give you the spirit
To prove your merit

O! NEEL!

Give me your tired
Your poor and
Your drunk
They're in no shape
to drive!

Take one down
Pass it around
No more bottles of beer on the wall!

He's had one
For ever, pare like acre!

The views of this publication are those of the individual writer and do not necessarily reflect those of Marian College. Ha Ha
The recent occurrence in Doyle Hall, that is, the reported illegal restraining of students while an illegal search of their rooms was made, would tend to make one believe that the year is 1950, not 1978. It would also tend to make one believe that perhaps certain college officials have forgotten what student cohesiveness was able to accomplish in the 1960's. One thing this cohesiveness taught or made clear to certain administrative staffs was that students did indeed have rights, and were by no means second class citizens, nor would they stand idly by and permit actions to go unanswered that relegated them to the status of second class citizens.

What students of the 60's found out was, that those in like circumstances have a much better chance of preserving their rights by presenting a united front against the Gestapo-like tactics of certain administrations. The same thing remains true today. Those in like circumstances by uniting can still better preserve their rights. By the way, those in like circumstances are not just those whose rights have already been violated, they also include any person who is subject to oppression by the same authoritarian administrative staff.

J. Cain

FROM THE EDITORS...

The above editorial is vague and contains few if any actual facts. What it does contain are many value judgements.

Consider for the moment, that the student cohesiveness of the '60's facilitated the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities published by Marian College and distributed to all students. The Code outlines the College rights and student rights as well as prescribed conduct and sanctions.

The present administration must follow the Code as must the students. Therefore, if a violation occurs and becomes known to administrators, the administrators must comply with the duties outlined in the Code: to stop the violation and to impose sanctions on the violators.

If you, the student body, can look objectively at the present situation, free of any emotional or personal involvement and then continue to feel oppressed and treated like second class citizens, we suggest that you present to the Student Board an outline of the changes to the Code you deem appropriate. This is the only way to effect a change of this nature. Writing vague, emotionally charged statement to the CARBON which have no basis in fact cannot produce such a change.

P.S. The facts of the particular situation in question will not be argued by the CARBON editors in consideration of the privacy of those individuals directly involved.

FEATURE ARTICLE:"STUDENT ON LOAN"

From the U.S. Congressional Quarterly to the Indianapolis News to the CARBON. This statement may sound like passing the buck, but, in fact, it's the passing of information. How many of your readers have tried to get a loan for schooling but were unable to do so? The reason may have been that guaranteed student loans have been plagued by a high default rate by ex-students who don't want to repay either banks or the government for their educational loans.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph Califano, Jr. has made efforts to clean up these abuses. But his campaign must show more progress if the loan program is to survive intact under intensive congressional scrutiny. Congress then will consider extension of the Higher Education Act, which authorizes the student loans.

Other student aid programs that face inquiry from Congress are the Basic Educational Opportunity Grants and National Direct Student Loans both authorized by the Higher Education Act.

The Federal government and 31 participating state agencies

MATURE LIVING SEMINARS

"The Past: Mirror of the Present" is the theme for the series of Mature Living Seminars currently being presented by Marian College. This project is funded by the Indiana Committee for the Humanities and is directed towards participation by senior citizens. The series is not, however, limited to senior citizens, and offers an interesting educational supplement to Marian students who would like to sit in. Each Tuesday session consists of the presentation of a topical film, followed by group discussion. Leaders initiate the discussion by asking participants to make observations on the film, or to relate the film to actual living experiences. The sessions are organized and presented by members of the Marian Faculty, and other knowledgeable persons associated with specific topics.

The program is now at the mid-way point of the eight week series, with four seminars yet to be presented. The attendance so far has been good, and participant evaluation questionnaires show a positive response. For many of the participants the program has renewed interests in forgotten subjects, and has given them the opportunity to return to a learning situation.

If any of the following titles sound interesting then go have a look in Room 251 one Tuesday...

1) The Doll's House - Oct. 10 10:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m. Rev. Bernad Head and Sister Adele Zahn
2) From Betsy Ross to Woman Boss - Oct. 17 (same time) Sr. Susan Bradshaw and Rosie Kelley
3) Once There Was A City - Oct. 24 10-2 William Doherty and Frank Chase
4) If You Don't Come in Sunday...Don't Come in Monday Oct. 31 10:00-2:00 Mary Haugh

Convocation on Women's Issues

Indiana State University and the Indiana Committee for the Humanities will present a Listener's Theater "From Suffering to Suffrage," dealing with American women from 1789-1920. The program is sponsored locally by the Campus Ministry and the History Dept. and will be presented at 12:30 on Tuesday, Oct. 17, in the Piehe Theater.

"From Suffering to Suffrage" will employ dramatic readings to highlight the main points in the history of American women from 1789-1920. Materials for the programs were compiled from actual historical documents including essays, diaries and public speeches as well as from legends and poetry. This information is rarely presented in history and literature courses and provides a new viewpoint on an important facet in America's development. To date, previous touring segments have played before more than 4000 persons throughout Indiana.

ARE YOU WILLING TO HELP?

Sister Barbara Ann is asking each student to bring back just one can of vegetables after mid-term break so that the Annual Christmas baskets can be packed for the nearly 75 families that she and Sr. Mary Rose send out each year. Bring your donations to Rm. 156 of the Biology Dept. Your generosity is greatly appreciated. Thanks.

ARE YOU RETURNING TO COLLEGE AFTER BEING OUT OF SCHOOL FOR MANY YEARS?

There are many people at Marian College who are doing just that! If you would like to meet informally with some of these people to socialize and discuss common concerns, bring your caf lunch or sack lunch to Rm. 127, end of first floor corridor in Clare Hall (coffee and tea will be provided), on Wed. Oct. 18 at 11:30. If you can't make it then come any time before 12:30.

JOCK BRIEFS
Meet our famous freshman, Kimberly Hermesch. Kim's a 1978 graduate of Jac-Cen-Del High School and is from Osgood, Indiana. She was chosen among thousands of outstanding American High School Athletes from all over the United States to participate as a member of the All-American High School Basketball Team. Yea!!

To be selected to this highly elite position is based on a combination of highest honors in athletics and scholastic achievements. Kim certainly has both areas under her belt. She's in the American High School Athlete Book of 1978; she's on the All-American Girl's Basketball Team; she's been awarded a certificate and patch, "High School All American" in recognition of outstanding ability in basketball, sportsmanship, and involvement in extracurricular activities.

Kim is majoring in music education here at Marian and is planning to play basketball on the team. Good luck, Kim, and keep up the excellent work.

The Biology and Conservation Club is alive and well on Marian College Campus! Along with its periodic picnics by the lake, the club sponsors many projects to maintain the beautiful 114 park-like acres which surround us.

Every Friday afternoon at 1:45 the officers (and any other interested parties) join forces to combat such things as erosion on the side of the hill, and excess weeds on the circle in front of Stokely. We have many more projects planned so if any one is interested we meet in the Biology wing at 1:45 - TODAY!!

Biology Club Officers,
Mark, Lisa and Mary

BOOSTER CLUB MINUTES
At Tuesdays meeting, the theme for Homecoming Week was chosen. This year it will be "Reminiscing".

We have been issued a parade permit for Saturday, November 11. The parade will start in from of Clare Hall and proceed to the Naval Armory via Cold Springs and 30th Street. Each class and any club is encouraged to enter a float. Also, any individual who would like to decorate their car, please do so. There will be a $10 prize awarded to the best decorated float or car.

This year there will again be a spirit banner contest. More on this later.

Booster Club is considering getting a powder puff football team together.

We will be trying to go to an away volleyball game, possibly October 28.

It is being discussed whether to have Booster Club meetings in the evening so more members can attend.

A group of Marian College Alumni have issued a challenge to who ever our intramural football champs are. They (the Alumni) have already begin practicing. This will be discussed later with the intramural teams.

The next Booster Club meeting will be Tuesday, October 10 at 12:30 in the Psych lab. Any Booster Club Functional Board member who cannot make it, please see one of the officers before Tuesday.

IF THE SHOE FITS.....

Your mind
and a cement bridge
they seem to go together

But then again
they seem to repel one another
like a pair of cyclotrimychs
their brains racing
towards opposite ends
of the emotional spectrum

And while I have a warm feeling for you
your holier-than-thou attitude and non-acceptance of something different reduces me to a sad and empty person.

And I pray, not for myself, but for you.
That you may be forgiven for taking his power of judgement, into your own hands.

And that someday you may also have a prayer
For someone like me.
promise to repay the loans if the student does not. States are reimbursed by the Federal government for 80% of their repayment costs. For most students, the government does pay interest on loans while they are still in school. These loans are supposed to be repaid within 10 years after the student leaves school, at 7% interest.

The underlying problem of abuse is that too many students are refusing to pay back loans, sticking the government with the bill. In May of 1978, more than 400,000 loans were in default, involving a total of $400 million.

HEW officials say that the main cause of the problem has been the chaotic management of previous administrations. Even with limited manpower, HEW failed to take the most obvious step against defaulters—sending them a bill. Obviously, most people weren’t anxious to volunteer payment for bills they never received.

A lot of people who haven’t paid have been among those in vocational schools and large numbers of drop-out students who were unwilling to repay loans for what they considered a “rip-off.” In addition, the declining value of a college degree on the job market left many graduates resentful, and often simply unable to pay back their loans.

Several strategies are underway to collect payments. The one strategy that has had a substantial impact has been to ask the Justice Department to prosecute defaulters. In many cases the threat of prosecution alone is enough to persuade defaulters to begin to repay. Califano said about 1,200 defaulters a week were persuaded to begin to repay loans—a rate four times that of a year ago.

The future availability of educational loans to students will most likely be determined by the success of Secretary Califano’s efforts.

THANKS!!!!

We’d like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who helped make Clean-Up Campus Day a success. Small prizes for individual achievements were distributed. Peggy Brennen and Laurie Wolvorton won the award for Most Cigarette Butts Collected. The Most Trash Collected Award was acquired by Liane Brookhart, Johanna Cundari, and Margaret Johnson. Mary Hoste was awarded the prize for the Biggest Piece of Trash. The two-time winners were Tina Miller and Mary Beth Simmerness who attained the prizes of Most Unusual Piece of Trash, and Most Beer Cans and Bottles. A special note of thanks should be given to Tina Miller for her valiant efforts in securing a beer can on the edge of the lake. Due to the slippery ground, Tina could not avoid a swim in the lake and a fight with a large spider. That surely is a dedicated worker. Again, thanks to all who made the day a success.

SEE PETER

Hello, childings. See Peter here (so are other people too, of course, but I’m the only one that counts.) And you can take that to the bank. Damn straight, Mister! Ha! Later, baby! Who loves ya? I — (Sorry, but See Peter has heard Village People’s “Macho Man,” once too often, and has had a Macho O.D. So, I, Bette, will continue this.)

Kiddies, Danny Kasie, former teacher and director at Marvin, is now directing the Eggleston/Novelle classic, “Hoosier Schoolmaster”, at the Indiana Arts League, 820 E. 67th Street, November 3. More on that as soon as I can focus again.

Greg Bauer and Linda Leonard continue to chew scenery at the Black Curtain (after all, it is a dinner theatre.) (Just kidding, kidz! - Margo)

And be sure to see, “I’ll never See Another Butterfly”, soon to be unleashed on an unprepared college campus, in a fifty park-like acres, in a galaxy far, far away (from Poland).

And, finally, let’s all hear it for TAG (Theatre Arts Guild, acronym lovers.) Long may they wave (whatever that means).

So, adieu, my darling public, as I — omigod, See Peter's loose! He's chewing on Sr. Elizabeth John and spitting out the gistl! Ohh! It's all right, he's washing her down with the right wine (Ripple, 1977).
