LACUSHERS AND ALL THAT

Lots of little bitty happenings are going to be happening this week at M.C. in the musical line. Like for instance, tomorrow night the auditorium is going to come alive with the happy happening sound of the "Happenings". They're going to turn it on at 8:00 and go through till 11:00 (as the tentative plan states) and will set you back $3.00 if you're an M.C. student and $3.50 if you're anyone else.

Public Service Notice: There's a sign on the Perg Bulletin Board that says, "For a hot date, call 368-". Not for Dan." hummmmm...

Our Parents and Friends and Indianapolis Alumni and goodness only knows who else are bringing in a different kind of sound for Friday night, Nov. 3 - "The Preservation Hall Jazz Band", one of the last original jazz bands, direct from New Orleans. Very terribly informed sources say that the Preserved Ones (and everyone in the band is over 70) are simply fantastic.

They were set up to preserve the sound they originated - that groovy cause between the blues and jazz (Halluana, brother!) When Billie and Dade Pierce start to come on to begin the program at 8:00 this Friday, the doors of the auditorium will be beaten down by those poor, unfortunate who didn't get their tickets in time.

These are only $3.00 for adults and $2.00 for students, so decide what you are and get your tickets. Don't be left out in the cold (no pun intended) when this fabulous bunch drop in.

Does anyone have a radio they'd like to donate to a very worthy cause? Call 268 anytime after 7:00 p.m. on any Thursday night.

Watch the chapel for notices of the Reformation Day Celebrations.

PROTEST IS THE ESSENCE OF REFORM - 30 OCTOBER 1967

NO JOLK(S)

Yes, it has started again this year-on that campus where one doesn't have to read the newspaper to catch the gesain-the problem of communication. Plagued by rumor and failure to get, or to give, a communication gap is again frustrating students and administrators. Witness the proposal to house guests in the students' rooms over Thanksgiving and the need to comply students for the Welfare Committee, two prime examples. In the former the students were not contacted and in the latter a four hour S.B. meeting produced 21 names from which only 1 were to be chosen. In trying to obtain both sides of the stories, I was unable to match student fact with administrative fact, the result, a third party just as confused.

Why has this gap widened? I see a few reasons. One, the students/administrators are still viewing each other as enemies. It is held that whatever one person proposes the next must oppose. Too, some of the administrators are fearful and distrustful of the students. The administration in continuing to back their "immature stand" only further breeds an immature attitude which becomes expected from the irresponsible students. Likewise, the administrators feel that by relinquishing some of their power the students might take over. And three, the majority of people on campus really don't know the real story and, therefore, breed rumors that spread like wild water. Resolutions: both "camps" should strive to be truthful and as cooperative as possible, never wishing to alienate the other. An air of mature conversation should pervade any discussion and not an air of temper-tantrum throwing children, the latter each deed eat on their own ways. Students should strive to know the whole story before they spread detrimental rumors. The campus publications, coffee hours, and just hall sessions can be utilized to bring pertinent problems out into the open. It is a shame when enemies quarrel but it is a worse shame when friends do the same.

HARRIERS RUN FOR NOUGHT; INTRAMURALS ROLL ON

Rose Poly's Engineers romped to their second successive dual cross-country meet triumph over Marian on the Riverside trails October 21. Jeff McQueen, recently recovered from a "nasty" virus, turned in his best performance, a fine 23:15 effort while Mike Nasly finished at 24:12.

Un in Anderson it was the same story as the Ravens flew in and swooned to another lopsided verdict over the hard luck NC runners, The Knights avenged a "slam" as Jeff A. J., McQueen placed fifth at 23:50. With the usual second-place NC runner having his troubles, Frank (Street Shoes) Della-Boona moved into the position as the #1 Knight with a 2:15:40 checking. W-w-what's up Collins?

October 21 intramural grid action was rocked by upsets and a four-way tie for first was created in the process as the season reached the halfway mark.

The last two undefeated teams were jolted from that status to highlight the action of the day. The Brains? dropped the first bomb by handing the Big Ten their first loss, 12-6. The Manuh Mixers also dropped their first contest, a 20-19 squeaker, to Terrible Ten and His Helpers.

The Frollickin' Frosh romped to a 25-12 decision over the "nameless" W.C.C.F.'s, the Cash moved down the Lost Souls by a 39-7 count while the Gray Power boys notched a 12-7 victory, their first, over the Intramural Team.

In yesterday's action the Cash shifted to high gear and rolled to an overwhelming 27-0 victory over the "nameless" W.C.C.F.'s.

The Brains? and The Big Ten moved into a first-place tie when the two teams previously tied for top honors were bumped. The campus seniors ran nest the Gray Power boys 12-0 while The Big Ten kept pace with a smashing 21-6 verdict over the Frollickin' Frosh.

The Intramural Team scored two second half touchdowns to turn back Terrible Ten ? Co. 12-6 and those Lost Souls of the camel outfitted an undemanded Manuh Mixers by a 12-6 count.

Comments: If this is the type of Board reports that is needed the Carbon has no need for a Board Reporter; the Secretary of the Board could just as well publish the minutes. Perhaps the comments in this report do not meet with the agreement of all, but shouldn't this generate some discussion and then lead to action in the form of letters to the editor expressing divergent opinions. Or better still how about Board members individually making known their views on legislation in reports to the Carbon?

THE FACE BETWEEN ONE AND THREE

IT'S ALL ON THE FRONT THIS WEEK

THERE'S A FACE FOUR TWO-TOO
PROPOSALS FOR A NEW CONFESSION SCHEDULE

In order to make that soul-cleansing process a little more efficient and amusing, the CARBON comes through with some novel proposals. The first problem is to attract lost souls even to the general area of the chapel. This can be done through publicity—advertising in local papers, psychicello posters, spot announcements on WIPB and so on. Now, once we have the lost souls in the chapel they must be kept there until they actually decide to venture into the "box". This can be done by serving refreshments, (non-toxic of course) providing entertainment, fixing an atmosphere. Now they are ready— but we must keep them there. To avoid having the "good sinners" wait in line we propose a Super Express Lane—seven funeral songs or less and/or one mortal sin. We will not alienate the "better people", we must exclude the really lost souls, the once-a-yearers, by having them seen by appointment only. This cuts down on the frustration of having to wait in line. And for the mediocrity, the truly people who fall in between, we propose simply a mass absolution at set time intervals. Yes, if the church is going to stay-a-race with today's fast-moving society, it must be willing to go all out.

Back our proposals—protest—self-immolate yourself or something.

The writer of "Setting Things Straight" column, being closely associated with this issue wishes to present the following commentary.

The decision to put someone in your room was made without your permission. Neither your Student Board nor your Dorm Board were contacted. You were not represented or even considered. You were not officially notified before this question was brought before the Student Personnel Office.

Miss Diver asks that the students cooperate in accommodating the delegates to the conference. This writer asks of Miss Diver that the students cooperation be sought before or immediately after a decision concerning themselves is made. When asked why the residents were not notified, the Dean of Women replied that there was no time to do so. However, that decision was made during the summer, months before the residents returned. The Student Board President could have been notified by phone in a matter of minutes; the Dorm Board Presidents could have been contacted by mail in a matter of days. It would then have been their responsibility to inform the residents. This writer asks how much time did the Student Personnel Office need?

Will astounding Miss Diver, this reporter noted a very real reluctance on her part to give the complete truth. Three times Miss Diver was asked who made the decision to house the delegates in the residents' rooms, and three times she replied: "If the decision had to be made today and I had to make it, I would say yes." Another question was answered in like manner. The question, "What if the residents refused to cooperate?", was answered with "I assume that the residents would want to cooperate." These replies are examples of the communication gap between some administrators and the students, a gap that the Dean of Women and the Dean (Cont, R. 9)
LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

As members of the MARIAN College community we face the considerable challenge of education daily. Education, especially at MARIAN, is a difficult process most successfully participated in by adults. We feel that the environment, in as far as it can be altered, must be made conducive to student responsibility and freedom, both of which are characteristic of adulthood.

Frequently, our rules which seem unnecessary, but are told they were instituted for the purpose of creating responsibility. This is simply not the way it works. Rules do not create responsibility; in fact, they inhibit its development.

Rules which do not provide a greater freedom than that which they restrict, have no legitimate reason for their existence.

There are, in existence at MARIAN, a number of such rules but I wish to focus attention on one peculiar to Clare Hall residents. The present hours regulations affecting Clare Hall are not serving their purpose and therefore should be revised. The present unlimited weekend hours must be seriously addressed. They provide no greater freedom than that which they restrict. They perpetuate a parental environment, an unnecessary stress on a mature college woman in pursuit of self-fulfillment.

It is not my purpose to provide rationale for remaining out all night, for such rationale should not be necessary. It is my assertion that these residents should be free to return or remain out on the basis of their adult judgement to do so and not command.

Sincerely,
Tom Turner
President of the Student Board
