Think of receiving $10,000, $20,000, $30,000 or more, for de-e-nations.... Time, the weekly news-magazine, has adopted a free, one-page, ad policy for needy and worthwhile colleges across the U.S. The policy began a year ago when Time granted St. Joseph's College in Emmitsburg, Pa., St. John's, a full page, $6,000 add--free. St. Joe's reports that the college, to date, has received more than $80,000 in donations. Not too bad. Another college reports a single gift of $500,000. Even better. During the past year Time has granted over 100 full-page regional adds, among these were those of Earlham and Hanover. "Our purpose is to help alleviate an increasingly chronic plight of big and small colleges: chronically short of advertising dollars, most cannot afford the kind of influential messages that will attract a diversity of students and faculty and a healthy flow of funds," States a Time letter from the publisher.

When the free ad was granted to St. Joseph's last year, a proposal was presented before the Student Board and then before the Publicity Office, to look into the possibility of HARIAN placing an add. Immediate concern was expressed over the fact that an advertising firm would have to be elected, and money spent. But the proposal fell upon unwanted ground and failed to grow. Time had then responded to this by saying that they will help needy and worthwhile colleges even with the drawing up of the add.

But here is the opportunity again, this time absolutely free, only requiring a little time. It might be worth looking into.

Because of the lovely Indianacliss weather (isn't it gorgeous!?) the pool (indoor of course) has finally opened at these hours:

- Sunday: 7:30 p.m. Varsity-Alumni Basketball game in the Gym. This really separates the old men from the boys. After the game W.A.R.A. sells limin for those in need.

Monday, Nov. 5: 7:30 p.m. Lecture: Modern Views of God and Man "The Future of Belief" Fr. Pat Smith, Belief in whom? 7:30 p.m. Junior Honors: An Essay on Ham by Mr. David White. Clara Hall attendance mandatory.

8:15 p.m. Lecture: Introduction to Mythology "Heroic Searchers" Sr. Norma, - mythological scavenger hunts.

Tuesday, Nov. 7: 10:00 a.m. Sophomore Honors: The Brothers Karamazov by Mr. Turk - an angry expose written by the sisters Karamazov.

Wednesday, Nov. 8: 7:30 p.m. Lecture Music and theation.

- Thursday, Nov. 9: 12:30 p.m. Freshman Convocation "The Grading System" How they learn to hate.

- Thursday, Nov. 9: 1:30 p.m. Convocation Vernon Nickel, Expert in African Studies Kirk Haugh sits in the front row.

ACTIVITIES AND ALL THAT

Because of the lovely Indianacliss weather (isn't it gorgeous!?) the pool (indoor of course) has finally opened at these hours:

- Sunday, Lifesaving class 7-9: Tuesday, 3:30-7 (no assigned guard), class 7-9: Wednesday, 7-9: Thursday, 3:30-5, 7-9, r.a.g.: Friday, 3:30-5, 7-9, sister's recreational swimming Sat. 10-12; 2-5, sister's recreational swimming: Sunday, 2:30-4:30.

A fine film is that the sign says about "L'Avventura" which is set (as of now) for Nov. 10 at 8:00 p.m. The little sign says that it is "portraying through unusual or beautiful images the difficulty of communication." In other words, life at Marian College. The little sign also said that the movie was to be 115 minutes long; for those not math majors, that's 2 hours and 25 minutes of difficult communication.

For really fine entertainment this evening, head for the M.C. auditorium for the Presentation Hall Jazz Band. Tickets are $2.00 and $3.00 for students and adults (in that order) so come early for a really great show.

And to mingle politics with the good times, the convocation next Thursday, Nov. 9 at 12:30 in either the SAC or the MC auditorium (you really know's) will feature Vernon McKay, professor of African Studies and former Director of the African Studies Program at the School of Advanced International Studies at Johns Hopkins University (who does you think of that handle? He'll talk about "Southern Africa and U.S. policy." (Hurray for U.S. policy!)}

Hark! What's all the rejoicing about? Let me tell you, man. The harriers not only broke the ice for their first cross-country victory of the season, they came back and won their second victory two days later.

Last Tuesday, Coach Larry Bridges stood back and watched, all smiles, as his harriers treated him to one of those rarities called victory, rare until now.

The Knights traveled to Camp Attebury where that long-awaited first triumph became reality, a 23-33 reality. Jeff McQueen took first place with a sparkling 21:02 effort while Frank Della-Penna placed third with a fine time of 21:25. Marian's point total was based on a first, third, fifth, sixth, and eighth place finish.

The M.C. harriers were motivated, to say the least, Thursday at Riverside as they ran to their second straight triumph of the season. With Cleon Reynolds threatening to withdraw their scholarships, the Knights rushed to even a third effort to pull this one out. With Cleon's shouts ringing in his ears, "A.J.," McQueen crossed the finish line first again with a fine 16:56 clocking for the 3-mile course. Frank Della-Penna made it an M.C. 1-2 finish, taking second with a speedy 17:05 effort. Mike Nealy took fourth place with a 17:18 time. Don Bruning, running in his first collegiate meet, turned in a fine 17:50 performance for a fifth place finish and Steve Kluss finished in the final scoring position for Marian with a time of 18:31 and 7th place. The final score: Marian - 19, Attebury 30.

Marian's cross-country season will end with the first annual Marian Invitational at the Riverside trails on Nov. 13. Participating in this extravaganza will be Butler, Greenville, and Attebury.

A cage crew from Fort Ben Harrison provided the first competition of the exhibition season for Cleon's Gagers last Wednesday night out at Lawrence Central. The Knights outscored the servicemen in the scrimmage but the over-all performance indicated that there is considerable room for improvement if the team is to better last season's record of 16-9.

One bright spot was the crowning of John "Dean" Hendricks, who came on strong during the latter part of last season to take up the slack left by the departure of Tom Clark. M.V. P. Jean Anculet gave a consistent performance in the error-filled scrimmage, both in shooting and general floor play. Big Joe Bittlamer is off to a slow start but should come around in time for the November 14 home opener against Huntington. Injuries have been a problem for Bob "Tombo" Hericks and Larry Brodnick. Tombo has been smarting with a bruised knee while Larry turned an ankle in practice just recently.

Freshmen should offer some help since Cleon has cutouts himself in the recruiting department. Mike Wichman showed definite signs of promise during the scrimmage and at 6-1 hrs. to be rated as a comer.

Let's go gang, get high. In two weeks its round-ball time again and this time the guys aren't going to be stopped in the first game or the M.A.A.A. playoffs.

BOARD REPORTS

The Student Board conquered the element of time Wednesday night when they met for only 3 hours. A preliminary report on the Happenings Concert lists a $663 loss, however, the total committee report will be presented as soon as possible. There was also a question raised as to the effectiveness of the social committee. This discussion was cut short by Steve Miller who brought up the timely comment that the social committee members should be present to present side of the picture.

Legislation was raised recommending that attendance at convocations will be no longer mandatory. Some good points were brought out in discussion of the motion.

1) By not requiring attendance at 8 out of 12 convocations perhaps the convocations committee will be able to limit their selections to 5 or 6 areas that would attract more students.

2) Because of the many diversified lectures that MARIAN offers during the evening, the students have a variety to choose from and these lectures might suit their tastes better than the required lectures.

3) Tom Turner argued that sometimes students unless required to attend events will not go and thus miss part of their overall liberal arts education. Perhaps these lectures will still draw these students enough publicity is forthcoming from the convocations committee.

Bob Hammers introduced a motion that would allow alcoholic beverages at off-campus functions. This motion was tabled and will be considered at the next meeting.

The Board also had an impromptu discussion about the conference of Nuns that will be housed at MARIAN over Thanksgiving vacation. There seemed to be no strong opposition among the members over this issue. However, some thought the Student Personnel could have been more "tactful" and others felt that notification had not been far enough in advance. Some clarification of the situation was given by Steve Miller who said the plans for the conference were made 2 years ago and that the housing coordinator for the conference had intended to send personal letters to the students.

In any case Ed Ottenmeyer stated that there might have been "some misplaced aggression" against the Student Personnel Office. Tom Turner made a point about a definite communication breakdown. And the meeting ended with a motion passed saying the Student Board would like to offer its assistance for the upcoming conference.

Q. Why isn't the library open later at night?
A. This question was asked of Sister Clarence Marie, Librarian. Sister Marie replied that there didn't seem to be a need for later hours. She further remarked that neither the Academic Dean nor the Student Personnel Office had received many requests for the library to remain open longer. If the students feel that there is a need for later hours either of the two above offices may be contacted.

Q. Which facilities in the SAC building are available to the students after 7:00 p.m.?
A. Miss Diver, Dean of Women, was asked this question. Miss Diver replied that everything except the departmental offices and the auditorium are available. However, the snack bar in the SAC building closes at 10:00 p.m. Students using the booths and tables after 10:30 p.m. are asked to confine themselves to a certain area. This will aid in the cleaning of the Perc. In the future, the entire area will be closed at 10:30. Also, in regard to the student publications office, Miss Diver asks that only the publication staff members use this area.

Q. Why aren't "Free" phones made available to students in the administration building?
A. This question was also asked of Miss Diver. Miss Diver replied that if phones were installed in the administration building, the residence phone bill would increase because of the increase of calls. If day students wish to have a "free" phone system they may contact the Student Personnel Office. However, what would keep the dorms from using a service that the day-hops pay for?

Miss Diver also pointed out why the present "free" phones should be used only by residents. The residents pay their own phone bill, which is a fixed rate subject to change. If there is a greater amount of use of their phones by non-residents, it will be the residents who will suffer an increase in the phone bill.

D.K.

NOT THAT IT MATTERS MUCH, BUT...

Three of us who read the newspapers were delighted this past week to learn that Jackie Kennedy, America's sweethearty, has decided to escape the rigors of her housework for a few days to succumb to the wandering with a few intimate friends. What was originally planned as a quiet, private visit to the Cambodian ruins (and indeed, it is sometimes difficult to conceive of Cambodia as anything but ruins) has almost taken on the proportions of an official state visit by a head of government.

There has been some speculation on the part of our ever-speculative State Department that Mrs. Kennedy's visit may effect an improvement in the somewhat-less-than-chummy relationship between the U.S. and Prince Sihanouk's government. This would seem to be a logical line of reasoning to take. After all, Jackie's quite a charmer, and is decidedly better-looking than Dean Rusk will ever hope to be.

Perhaps it would be wise for our government to extend this policy to other corners of the world where our welcome has worn thin. If Jackie Kennedy can win Cambodia for the West with but a few toothy grins, why couldn't the State Department requisition the services of some more "All American girls" to prove to the world our good intentions. Imagine the impact that Lurleen Wallace would have in Moscow, Even a strong-woman like Abdul Gomel Nasser would be perfectly defenseless in the presence of Tuesday Weld. Why, America has more sweetheart hearts than the Sigma Chi boys ever dreamed of! Oh, if only Mary Pickford hadn't had her hair straightened!

ANOTHER CARBON AD

The open-minded CARBON will consider any and all letters and/or questions for "Setting Things Straight" despatched in the CARBON office.
LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

I would like to set Things Straight so to speak. In your last issue of the CARSON, you implied that the Drum and Bugle Corps is an extra-curricular activity. This I do not feel to be the case. Can you show me any extra-curricular activity that has a scheduled meeting time set down in the college catalog? Can you show me any club or social group that meets three times a week, and this is for every week of the school year? Can you show me any group, other than student government, that is more involved with putting the name of MARIAN on the state and national map?

We are unique in that we are the only college Drum and Bugle Corps in the country. We are shown to look at and to some give the impression of haughtiness. However, we are working for MARIAN College to help her take her place in the sun. We are not asking for credit for anything that we do not feel is justified. We work hard and long to put on a show or a parade. We always represent MARIAN College first and then the city of Indianapolis or the State of Indiana second. To belong to the Blue Knights takes sacrifice, both in time and in money. It costs to belong to the Corps. It always costs when the goals are high enough. We are enough to give our time and our money to MARIAN and hope that in some small way we can bring some glory to our alma mater.

We strive to learn music fundamentals in the Corps as well as marching techniques. This may sound easy to some, but you are welcome to come to any of our practices and see just what goes on there. We own all of our instruments and our uniforms. We bought them with hard work and effort. When the Corps goes by, you are locking approximately $11,000. This covers instruments and uniforms but not the flags of the color guard or their rifles. The MARIAN Flag alone cost $275. We did this on our own for MARIAN. The school has not had to pay for the Corps. We are a class in this school, a hard working class, full of spirit and ready to roll up our sleeves and go to work and see that MARIAN gets its share of publicity. If we were a marching band as most other colleges have, there would be no problem about credit. All the schools that we have investigated give credit in some form for their marching units. We are only asking for one credit per semester for an average of 5 hours per week of marching and practice.

As far as I personally know, we are the only group that functions for the entire year. A club is a club and it is voluntary for the most part with meetings once and twice a month. These are learning situations just as athletics is a learning situation. We too have a learning situation but we carry it one step further for the betterment of MARIAN College thru publicity. We have our attendance sheets and our rigid discipline. A Corps member is automatically dropped when he misses three consecutive practices without a valid reason. Others have been dropped for infractions of the rules. No club can do this. We are a class and should be treated as a class, not as an extra-curricular activity.

As you stated, there are members of the

John B. Baker
Faculty Coordinator
Drum and Bugle Corps

P.S. We are appearing on National Television in color this year, once for sure and possibly twice. Has any other group done this for MARIAN?

Dear Editor:

No man is an island, but the general attitude on the MARIAN College campus will not even allow for a peninsula. The term individuality is used paradoxically - in theory it is promoted but in actuality it is condemned. Creativity is stifled under a conservative security blanket. People are afraid to be themselves. They are constantly reminded do only what is expected of them. Any person attempting to reform to rejoin the campus is immediately termed a rebel. Fresh ideas are crushed in an archaic atmosphere of passivity; hile cliques are frowned upon, they are also forced upon any individuals who refuse to conform.

Why, at MARIAN, is there a reluctance to discuss life? Can there be no intellectual conversation without embarrassment?

Apathy is an over-used word in today's society; at MARIAN College it is an over-used fact.

Tess Eicherberger

To the Editor:

I would like to address myself to the author of an editorial in the October 20, 1967 issue of the Carson and to the people who read it.

I have credentials to do so because I'm not of the generation that created the turmoil in the world to which you object nor am I of the current college generation. I'm a Senior at MARIAN and spent nearly eight years in Strategic Air Command. I have been shot at in anger and shot back, and I know the widows and children of close friends who weren't as fortunate as I was in similar exchanges. Don't ever let anyone convince you that those men or their families loved war either before or after the fact of their deaths. What they loved was a way of life.

I requested a release from active duty in 1966 but not solely because I disagree vehemently with the Pentagon policies of the Secretary of Defense. I retain a commission as Captain in the U.S.A.F. Reserve.

As I understand "Mr. JeKie's" objection, he didn't like the idea of college administration hiding a poster publicizing the recent protest march on Washington. He does not give the administration sufficient credit for its foresight and wisdom. He must realize that any individual who assumes the right to protest also assumes the responsibility to offer satisfactory alternatives. The only publicized alternative the protesters in Washington offered was to stain the uniforms of American servicemen with snittle. The news services reported only the unruly conduct of the crowds, the violence, the hate and destruction spawned forth by the "nacists".

I can understand the College's reluctance to have such behavior associated with Marian's name the student body or faculty, and I don't interpret that as sympathizing with current U.S. Foreign Policy or denying young minds a chance at enlightenment.

There are provisions within the social and political framework of the United States which allow for such and intelligent discussion and realistic attempts to change unfavorable conditions. It is for these provisions that many of my friends have died, and I cannot conceive anyone scoffing at their sacrifice or wiping their feet on the American flag.

I respect the dissenter's right to dissent but I cannot approve if he abuses the system which allows him to dissent or refuses to accept the responsibilities that go along with the privileges.

I wish I could shake the hand that turned the nooter to the wall. That hand was joined to a mind that knew what Washington would be like and didn't want Marian to have any part of it.

Donald J. Wassel

the editor did not accuse the administration or any specific person of taking down the nooter. In fact, it was not the administration, as was admitted to the editor by the person involved.

RELIGION

Hassan Bedreddin, clad in rags, ill-shed, Sought the great temple of the Living God. The worshipers arose and drove him forth, And one in power beat him with a rod.

"Allah," he cried, "thou seest what I got: Thy servants bar me from the sacred spot."

"Be comforted," the Holy One replied; "It is the only place where I am not."

SLOBS AND SWEATSHOES # PART III - LAST OF A SERIES

Gathered forth we are here today to draw attention to one of the Ten Commandments. No, please don't stop reading this now. Exposure to a very integral part of a college education is my aim. What is one thing you have to do every day, day in and day out? Meet, deal and communicate with people. Nothing is as interesting as what takes place between and after class - the bull sessions, intramurals, extracurricular activities, and guess who went out with what's his face...

No one can deny that people are undoubtedly the most interesting and unusual things on earth. And surprisingly enough, Marianites have much to offer too. We are all in the same situations. Sure this ain't paradise, but to us it's home. So stop thinking of those residents of Doyle Hall as a bunch of drunken slobs and the same of the Clare Hallers - they're not just a bunch of sweatshoers...

Why not take the big move. Turn around, meet your neighbor. Communicate. And guys, is it necessary to be passionately in love with a Marian honey before you take her cut for a coke? It might prove to be a rewarding experience, but then it might...

"Brotherly love" is the motto for the week! And its done by exercising your face muscles - smile - it matches anything you wear!
