NO JOK(E) PART II

Yes fans, our old friend, the Pere Slob is back again at MARIAN this year. Most of us thought, or hoped, that he had flunked out by now, but with a few A's in P.E., D and B and Band, he's back. Fighting a never ending battle with the flies, Pere Slob horde's empty coffee cups, old potato chip bags and cigarette ashes to throw in his frenzied fits of rage. Pere Slob wouldn't be so bad, but it seems he is picking up a super-strong following—garbage loves company.

The forces of good, the guys and girls in white - the Perc staff - venture out at frequent intervals to engage in combat with this foul fiend but each time his fickle finger of filth pushes back their small gains. Won't you help us stamp out this part-student, part-animal. Help us during national, tell-a-friend-he's-a-slob or throw-away-your-garbage-week, Nov. 11-17.

"Hi! How's it going?"
"Oh, pretty well. How are you?"
"A, ok, I guess."
(Pause)
"That's good."
"How's mid-terms?"
"Pretty bad, I got two tests in an hour and I haven't had much time to study for them."
"Wow! I just got done with my last one."
"Yeah. How was it?"
"Ok, I guess. I should pull my C."
"Good."
"Going to the dance this week?"
"Ha, think I'll study."
"Yeh, maybe I will too."
"Well, that's a nice outfit you got on."
"Thanks."
"Well, gotta go, lotta things to do, places to go and people to see."
"Yeah, me too."
"Bye."
"Bye."

WHAT'S HAPPENING AT MC OR THE VAST WASTELAND CONTINUED FROM COL. I

After being so political-minded for so long, the CARBON comes back to reality with the schedule of activities for the week-after. To-nite at 9:00 in the MARIAN Aud is a super-won-derful Doyle Hall film, "Georgy Girl." It's 75¢ to get in, but it's a great flick.

Tomorrow night is the night all the men on campus (both of them) have been breathlessly awaiting. This is the one night of the year that the beauties of the campus treat their favorite hill-william to an evening of fun and games. There's still time, young ladies, to ask the Knight of your choice to the social event of the season. Don't forget to make him a suitable hint. Pastivities start at 7:30 at the old Mixed Lounge. Tickets are $1.50.

SUNDAY is High School Science Day at MARIAN (aren't we all excited?)! But what you can really get excited about is the MC Film Society's production of that classic and immortal epic "Escape to Loneliness" at 7:30 in the SA? Auditorium. Admission is a quarter but it's well worth it...Remember the Cellar Bowl!! (CONT. NEXT COL.)
Intramural action hits its peak this week in old Pollack Memorial Stadium with two games deciding the championship of the leagues and the suddenly traditional cellar bowl game, which incidentally is homecoming for both the Gross National Products and Intramural Team. Homecoming festivities, detailed elsewhere in this paper will prelude this very important battle for the basement.

Getting back to the two division title battles, gridiron, this game is anti-homecoming, for it will be Fruit of the Loom battling the Dirty Dosen to determine who represents the National League in the championship game of Nov. 17. Leading the explosive Fruit of the Loom will be Bob Jeffs and Mike Wichman, quarterback and split end, respectively. Larry Zagnon will also add an extra punch if he is available for action. Larry has been out most of the season with a broken bone. If the Loom's defense holds up, they could easily take the division title and the birth in the championship bowl.

But in their way is the tough sturdy defense of the Dirty Dosen led by their big linemen, Russ Bowers and Bob Shoemaker. This defense, however, if Dave Haire can come through with a couple T.D. passes to Tom or John Gannon, then the Dirty Dosen has the victory and the N.L. championship.

In the American League showdown, the Big Ten, after its second straight intramural championship, does battle with Nutty Nine Plus One.

In the American League standouts, the Big Ten, after its second straight intramural championship, does battle with Nutty Nine Plus One. Defense will play a big part in this one. If such is the case, the Big Ten, led by Dan Lempa and Pat Widolff, who has been scored on only once all year, will defeat Nutty Nine and move into the trophy class next week. But the Nutty Nine has two good offensive ends in Bill Dalton and Tom Knoll and if given any breaks, could capitalize. This contest should go down to the final gun.

11:00 (A.L.) Pubars vs KKK
12:00 (N.L.) Intramural Team vs Gross National Products

The first annual cellar bowl will fall (literally) on this Sunday. The high noon game will match the scoreless Intramural Team against the cumulative 6 point Gross National Products. UPI gives the Intramural Team a 12-6 edge, while AP calls it a 6-6 deadlock. The Star and News don't know anything about the local tilt, besides an hour of birthday and spills on the

What may be the most expensive and entertaining weekend on MG campus is fast approaching; namely, Homecoming Weekend. It is hoped that everybody and especially the guys, are stashing the pennies.

There are those who believe that student government is a farce, and a big waste of time. With these students I must agree. More often, there are those who don't know the Student Board does anything. Interestingly enough, even though the Student Board seems to do little, without it, this campus would be chaotic. Its absence would be noticeably missed. Students who dedicate themselves to Board work are too often subjected to much criticism, and too little well-deserved praise.

The work the Board does must be done by somebody. Inefficient as it is, the Board does this task admirably. Suggestions for initiation of a student senate seem ridiculous. On a campus like this, any large body of discussion would get little past the oral stage. If anything, we need a stronger presidency to cut through red tape.

Meanwhile, I salute the Board. It should be kept because it is what suits us best. Meanwhile, let those who criticize, step forward and lead.

Q. Why must visiting guests pay a $2.50 per night room fee, and where does this visitor's room fee go?
A. "MARIAN COLLEGE assesses a room fee for visitors, just as any hotel does. The minimal sum of $2.50 covers the expense of service rendered to visitors." Herman Buerschen

Q. Why must resident students pay a room fee if they do not leave the campus over extended vacations?
A. "The student contract for room and board does not include the vacation periods as established by MARIAN COLLEGE." Herman Buerschen

Q. Thursday, several Doyle Hall residents' rooms were inspected by you. Does this mean that an entire inspection of Doyle Hall will be made on your part?
A. "No inspection is intended at all. I have visited several rooms to check the living conditions of the students to make sure that it is on a level of suitable living as a benefit to the student. It is merely a fulfilling of my obligation as head of student Services and is intended to the advantage of the students." Dean Pille

INSIGHTS • A LOOK AT UBI

Switching from national issues to our own little nation here at MG, I think that it's time for a student who is not a member of the Union of Black Identity to speak out on UBI. The chief complaint of white students with regards to UBI is that it is unnecessary and tending to further polarize the races. Comments such as "I think I'll form a club for Irish identity or French identity" are not uncommon, but they only serve to show the lack of sensitivity of many of the students.

This lack of sensitivity may be due to a number of factors, but I believe the chief reason for it is the conscious and often unconscious feeling of many people that every other ethnic group has at one time or another been discriminated against and yet survived to be "melting into American society without any cry of "Powe-ER." What these people do not realize is that an Irish or French immigrant was still white - they could at least identify with other groups in so far as they had the same skin color. A black man, however, is black, and it is much easier to discriminate against one with this outstanding characteristic than one against one with less obvious traits.

In conclusion, it is much easier for a black man here at MARIAN to become lost in the crowd and to be outstanding only because he is black. This, then, is the purpose of UBI, to prevent the black man from being considered a type of oddity, as some students would consider him and to show that he really is human - a person. It is true that UBI is attempting to accomplish their goals could develop into a closed type of society, but it hasn't as yet and this is one writer who believes that it will continue to become a very worthwhile and beneficial organization.

LET'S STOP GOING TO MASS

... and start celebrating the Eucharist. There is a difference, and I believe it is more than just a difference of words.

Some students feel that they don't get anything out of going to Mass. It doesn't do anything for them, and so they don't go. It's easy, and it's relevant to society, looking for a big production, surprises, entertainment, or a kind of magical phenomenon which sends out comforting vibrations, chances are he will not find it at Mass. And if a sense of duty or fear takes him to chapel anyway, week after week, going to Mass will get to be a pretty boring and empty experience. No one ought to be expected to submit to empty boredom once a week in the name of religion.

Celebrating the Eucharist is something else. It involves coming together, listening, remembering, thanking, giving, and sharing a meal. These things are important human actions which can and should mean a great deal to us if we let them. Done together with others consciously and intelligently in a truly human way, they add up to an effective experience. This is what the Eucharist can and should be.

Going to Mass implies a duty, something to be gone through or perhaps avoided. Celebrating the Eucharist involves an experience, something which affects and means something to us. The Eucharist isn't magic. It is an action of human beings united in Christ. And like other human actions, it will succeed according to the understanding and effort we bring to it.

Father Bernard Head

(CONTINUED FROM COL. 1) will be in the M. H. Aud. and is entitled "Language, Silence and the Theatre." Sr. Francesca is really enthused about this one, so do try and make it. He'll discuss modern theatre and its relevance to society.

Fr. Head's lecture is on "The Question of Value in the Modern World" and he'll use Salinger's "Franny and Zooey." This should prove interesting.

Uncle Barry still is interested in setting up a Student Sage Food Committee. There is no joke to this... he really wants students to sit on an advisory-type board. (P.S. I think the object is to improve the service and the... products... of the cafe). Anyone interested, see Barry -soon. Do your act of Christian charity for the year; volunteer.

Dear Editor:

In order to let the public know that there is an Inter-Club Council and we do have meetings, we felt that a Carbou report the Friday after each monthly meeting might be worthwhile. After all most of the student body is represented on this Council - those in clubs anyway.

To begin with ACS, Booster Club, CINMJA, Home-SO, SEA and UBI were unrepresented.

We revised Inter Club's Constitution and explained the mandatory system to be used by all treasurers. A report was given on a freshman evaluation survey of Club Day and because of poor response (15) we concluded no freshman interest is such an event. The club presidents were made aware of this fact.

The Young Republican Club petitioned the right to be recognized and due to lack of a quorum we couldn't vote.

As far as club co-ordinator goes: Art club and the Players want to thank all who've given time to the coffee house project on south campus. And they still need workers - all day Saturdays and Sundays.

Mental Health is sponsoring a toy drive and that's about all for club activity in November from those at the meeting.

1. U. Inter Visitation - a student view

The question over the newly authorized inter-visitiation at Indiana University has brought a wealth of controversy to good ol' conservative Indiana. It has evoked a typical, simple, paranoid retort from the Indianapolis Star in the form of what they call an editorial stating, "The teaching of moral standards is intrinsic to education and education from which it has been subtracted is crippled,"

Earlier in the same editorial the paper noted that, "the spread the craze for authorized necking parties in campus dormitory rooms is going to continue until college and university authorities summon up the gumption and courage to put a stop to it." (Star, Wed. Nov. 6)

I could not resist a few comments on this "reasonably" described feature. Most Star editorials usually only make me laugh. First, I must heartily disagree with the premise that education should inculcate morality. If morality were a purely absolute phenomenon then maybe it could be taught like a course and tested, taking off for wrong answers. But if we, like myself, believe that morality is relative and primarily the individual's concern then it becomes very hard to legislate.

Secondly, it is definitely true that dorm rooms make a nice place for a little huggy-bear, kissy-face and/or other activities with your, or anybody else's, girl. Circumstance is a main factor in virginity. Whether it is to be lost in a dorm room, the back seat of a car or a motel room does make some but still little difference. Furthermore, virginity can be lost in more ways than what's thought as the only. It's importance here is that if closed door inter-visitiation is allowed it must be understood that such activities could and probably will take place but this must be taken into consideration when the proposal is

A peek into the future... Next Friday the fine film series will present "One Potato, Two Potato..." the mental health Christmas drive is coming... so is homocoming.

Speaking of Homecoming, the general theme for the floats, etc. will be Carnival Knights.

It was decided upon for several reasons: it gives unity to all the events, more variety for float themes, and because the parade is after the game "pioneer spirit" would hardly be needed. Floats must be finished for 5:00 p.m. judging on Friday, Nov. 22 (so says the Booster Club).

As noted in last week's Phoenix (that... other... publication on campus, besides the Star), there is an alternative to Dr. Lord. If you need medical help and for some reason do not desire the services of Dr. Lord, call the Pharmacy at the Northwest Medical Center and ask for Mr. Roskopf... 821-6700. He will secure an appointment with one of the doctors there.

One final note: The placement office tells us that TODAY USAF Sgt. McKinney wishes to interview both men and women. Also, from the bureau of the Census, Mr. Hartman will be interviewing for management training program (man and women) positions with the federal government.
