LET'S PRETEND

You are a visitor, touring Marian College. You are amazed at the neatness and cleanliness of the buildings. You proceed to your last stop—the Student Lounge. What's this? Why this must be the "Wreck Room!" Scattered furniture, a carpet of ashes and dirt, and coke bottles scattered anywhere and everywhere, except in the cases where they belong, compose the scene before your eyes. Can this be the same school?

And that ping-pong table. Couldn't a couple of ingenious fellows find a better way to bring it up to standard height by means other than coke cases? Any volunteers? See your Student Board Representative.

PLEASE BE PATIENT

Sorry gang, but you will have to wait a few more days for the juke box in the Lounge. After some rough handling and constant playing it needs a few days rest in the hands of a good mechanic. It will soon return with a coin slot, record changer, and a bright coat of paint, not to mention the latest in popular records.

Just in case you haven't heard, let it be known to one and all that St. Patrick's day is a week from Thursday. It will be a great day for the Irish.

O THOSE CORNERS!

For all those who as yet have not learned how to keep a car on the road and off the campus lawn, see Father Courtney. He will be glad to lend advice—driving and otherwise!

The coffin has been lowered into the grave. As the clods of dirt hit the coffin his brother cries, "If only he had been more careful!" Yes, if only he had been more careful, he might be sitting next to you now, enjoying his morning coffee while you shoot the breeze. But he isn't because he wasn't careful...

Careful about what? His health? He was in perfect health. His grades? He made good grades and he enjoyed his classes. His manners? Now it may sound silly, but it may be that he wasn't careful of his manners. I don't mean table manners, or holding the door open for people. I mean what happened when he stepped into the parking lot. His safety manners were bad. He stepped from behind a parked car into the path of an oncoming car. A near collision. He reached his own car, got in, and took off like a streak of lightning. He was going too fast when he hit the curve behind the gym...

The corner of the building is repaired. Life at Marian goes on as usual, but one student is missing. If only he had been more careful....

Editor's Note

While the above story, definitely fictitious, it is not far from becoming a genuine reality. For those who think this is the '500' or something, they are in for a discouraging let-down. Let this be the last warning. Anyone caught speeding, speeding tires, or squealing brakes in the parking lot will be suspended. Clear? Good, now let's quit trying to show off our car's power and drive like rational human beings. We don't want any uncalled for funerals at Marian.
LET'S DO IT

In case you didn't know it the 10:30 period on Thursday is reserved for assemblies. The programs presented at this time are just as much a part of your education as your language and history classes.

It is not necessary to police or coax the students to take their meals at the appointed times. It is presumed that all students have sense enough not to miss their meals. It is also presumed that it should not be necessary to police the attendance at assemblies. Sensible students realize that assemblies contribute to their education as much as their credit classes. These students go to learn and enjoy.

The anti-intellectual, and we seem to have a few of them, who prefers his euchre game to a class belongs elsewhere.

SAVE YOUR PENNIES

Use them for...
The doggie to be given away by the CSMC on Friday at noon.
The Bishop's Relief Fund that begins on Sunday. The money will go to the victims of war.

You have used them for...
The CSMC mint boxes. The amount collected so far is $6.00. Thanks for digging deep.
The Red Cross. Let's have a 100% in enrollment.

REMEMBER

The Forgotten Saint, better known as St. Joseph, will celebrate his feast day on March 19th. Thursday is the day to begin a novena to him.

Just a thought. Mid-terms begin on March 21st. It would be nice to have someone in heaven pulling for you.

ORCHIDS*To those students who by their politeness and interest have continued to make a good impression on visitors.

Again to the six students who participated in the mock UN Session at IU for a job well done.

ONTIONS*To the students who are majoring in cut classes.

COMING SOON*Tables and chairs for the Percolator, courtesy of the Student Board.

ITS A DATE

Home Ec Club meeting will begin at 4:00 on Tuesday, March 15th, in the Clothing Lab.

The Science Club will meet on Sunday, March 20th, in the Chemistry Lecture Room at 2:30.

FROM THE DESK OF FATHER STINEHAN

There will be a meeting on Thursday, March 10th, at 12:00 in room 205 for all those interested in serving.

Amateurs and professionals alike are welcomed.

TENNIS ANYONE

Spring is here and Marian's sport interests will soon move outside. New additions to recreational facilities will be a softball diamond and two tennis courts.

Those wishing to sign up for the first tennis games will please see Charlie Pooner.

SCIENTISTS

The Science Workshop sponsored by the NFCCS will be held this weekend at St. Joseph's.

A Science Symposium will be held at Xavier on March 21st.

Those interested in further details concerning either event are requested to see Martha Printz.

HELP WANTED

A piano player is needed for the new male combo. Contact Jim Daniels.

All those interested in cleaning out the Lake will please give their names to Harry Reith. This would be a very good project.
