FROM ELS.....

I appreciate the desire of the CARBON editors to promote good feelings among the students for whom Marian College is "home", and those who are visitors. The CARBON has, as long as I have been here, served as a responsible forum for opinions, and, it seems to me, has extended as a matter of policy equal courtesy both sides of any question.

In the issue of Thursday, March 16th, which carried a few of my comments concerning ELS, Pam reviewed in an editorial some of the major decisions that were reached to help implement a better relationship between ELS students and Marian students, particularly residents of Marian Hall. Pam's comments seem factually correct. Although my recollection of the time frame differs, somewhat from hers, let me do Pam the courtesy of assuming that she checked it out, and that her statement about the length of time it took me to respond to her invitation to write an article for the CARBON is also correct.

My major disagreements with Pam are as follows: She has incorrectly assumed that my inability to answer her request immediately (and let's be fair, she asked several times) meant that I wasn't really interested in the welfare of the students, both Marian and ELS who were involved. In between orchestrating medical treatment for students who needed heart surgery, serving as a substitute in classes where the teacher was sick and our regular substitutes could not be reached, and arbitrating several volatile disagreements (all part of my job), the invitation to communicate with the Marian College community about ELS in an article for the CARBON seemed too often, by pressures I could not ignore, to get bumped lower than I would have ever desired on the list of things to which I owed my personal attention.

Sometimes it seems that the whole world clamors for me at once, and while it is at times nice to be so popular, it can leave the impression with those who are waiting for your answer to a request that they have been forgotten, or that their needs are not considered important.

It would be wrong for me to fault Pam for not inquiring into the reason my response took so long (although I would have appreciated her doing so), since her journalistic duty was met at the point when she reminded me of my promise to submit an article. I regret that the juxtaposition of my own comments in the March 16th CARBON with Pam's reply created the impression that my statements were not sincere. These remarks have been accompanied by an invitation to Pam to evaluate with me work currently in progress concerning the decisions reached earlier this month. Again, I appreciate Pam's concern, and join her in eliciting your constructive suggestions.

Director, ELS

DEAR DR. COATES,

There is a subtle undertone of martyrdom in your letter that necessitates a reply. To get straight to the point:

1. My comments ARE factually correct as well as my time frame. Early the week of February 5-11, (I'm sorry, I can't remember if it was on Tuesday or Wednesday) the CARBON received an inflammatory letter from a Doyle Hall resident concerning ELS. After consulting Dr. Appleby, the CARBON advisor, I talked with Col. Wagner, Dean Woodman, yourself, Mrs. Cox, John Ruffra, and Frank Ziegler (R.A.). A final meeting between the above was held on Fri., Feb. 10th. It was at that time that you agreed to write an article concerning that very important topic—ELS at Marian. The next time I saw you in person was the following Thursday at which time you stated that you had not yet written the letter but you would have for the next issue. Despite your busy schedule, couldn't you have found the opportunity to write in a little sooner? A month is really too much. To sing my own sob story—at the time of those meetings (about 5 hours worth), I was in rehearsals for two plays concurrently besides school, work, and the CARBON. I found the time because I thought the problem required it. I didn't have to, I don't live in Doyle with the problem!!!!

2. In your fourth paragraph, you state that sometimes you are so popular that you "can leave the impression with those who are waiting for your answer to a request that they have been forgotten, or that their needs are not considered important." Believe me Dr. Coates that the CARBON is not an ego trip for me and it was not my needs that I was considering but those of the men of Doyle.

3. You felt that my comments in the March 16th issue of the CARBON created the impression that your statements were not sincere. However, the point of my editorial was not questioning your sincerity, but was stating my opinion that your sincerity is of no avail without immediate action. In February, the semester was still young. Action then could have resulted in a better understanding between ELS and Marian students at Doyle Hall. Now it's too late for this semester. With a month left, what could possibly be done?

4. I did receive your invitation to evaluate your work in progress regarding the plans you have to alleviate the situation in Doyle Hall. I will be contacting you shortly. The ELS students, Marian men at Doyle, and the CARBON appreciate your concern. And, better luck next year!

Amiably,

Ms. Pamela A. Wetula
co-editor, CARBON

TO THE MASSES'.....

In the past much discussion, and unfortunately much frustration, has occurred in relationship to the ELS program and the problems stemming from it. I have either read or heard what Dean Woodman, Dr. Coates, the CARBON editors and the girlfriends of the ELS students have to say about the dormitory conditions at Doyle Hall, but the above listed people neither live at Doyle nor have constant contact with the feelings of the Marian men and the foreign students. Therefore, as a resident of Doyle Hall and a staff member of the college, I would like to share my feelings and the interactions I have had with these so-called troublesome situations.

I do not wish to harshly criticize the administration of either Marian College or the ELS program, for that would only lead to more animosity. However, I would like to offer some possible solutions. Tragically, the housing situation used at Doyle Hall this year was not conducive to open, friendly interactions between the students of the two different programs. As the men at Doyle can probably testify to what I will say, the housing situation at the men's dormitory is one wherein the vast majority of the ELS students live on either three main or three east wings at Doyle Hall. Such an arrangement has caused students to realize that each group is in some way different from the other, and they are. But, this sort of segregation allows for prejudicism in the sense that each group becomes resentful of the other and has greater opportunity to attack the idiosyncrasies and peculiarities of the other group. Such pettiness is hardly a trait of mature individuals and responsible students. As a resident assistant, I am greatly attuned to this hostility amongst the students, for I have heard the complaints of both sides. Yet, no valiant nor logical attempts by either administration have been made to remedy the situation which leads me to believe that they are either blind or unconcerned. Meetings are nice, but without a positive, systematic plan of action, they are worthless; note that action is the key word here.

Being a resident of Doyle, I can sense a disquieting air in the dorm which has left many students uncomfortable. If the ELS students are to learn English and if Marian students are to gain an empathic attitude towards cultural differences, then, it is my opinion that the housing arrangements need to be reevaluated and changed in some way. In numerous and, at times, quite tedious meetings, this problem has been alluded to without much success. Since it is already April, it is truly too late to do anything now. However, this month, Marian students will be filling out housing contracts for the next year. This will be an excellent time for Dean Woodman, John Ruffra, and the resident assistants to analyze the situation for the 1978-79 academic year. I suggest that five or six rooms on each wing be reserved for ELS students. Since there are about 15 rooms on each wing, that 5 or 6

rooms reserved for ELS should not hinder Marian students to still congregate with their friends on a particular wing. Also, this arrangement would allow ELS students to learn English better and to become more aware of American culture and customs. Let us be more realistic! Cramming 40 ELS students on one wing does not give them an opportunity to practice English nor the desire to do so. After all, living with one's cronies does make these students want speak English for there are no students there with whom they can do so. In addition, as children learn culturally accepted behavior from their parents, so would the ELS students learn behavior appropriate to American society by imitating our students. But, I believe that this can only occur if ELS students are properly integrating with Marian students. Such integration would also permit Marian students to become attuned to foreign beliefs and to realize that the ELS students are not some strange disease, but quite friendly and fun-loving people at that.

Optimistically,
Pat Price

To the Marian College Community!

Well, with Spring Break a thing of the past, it's time to start thinking about the Care—a—thon. I'm sure a lot of people know nothing about Care—a—thon, the annual fund-raising project the proceeds of which go to the Kenny Rogers Scholarship Fund. Kenny was a Marian College student who graduated in 1970. This scholarship was started in his name to provide an opportunity for other black, underprivileged persons to attend college.

The Care—a—thon this year is on the calendar for Wed., April 19 through Fri. April 21 in the Perc. It's always a good time as well as a good cause so plan on stopping in for a few hours.

The entertainment is largely provided by faculty and students doing whatever it is they do best. We are looking for interested persons to sing, dance, act as disc jockey, put on skits, ect. So, if you'd like to help out, or allyou want is a stage to stand on while you ham it up, please contact either Nancy Smith (ext.421) or Mary Hazel.

See you at the Care—a—thon. Watch for further developments.

In response to my request last week for contributions of events for this column, I wish to thank Sr. Jean Gabriel for bringing it to my attention that the ARTS Section of the Sunday Indianapolis Star contains a FULL PAGE (!) of various entertaining events throughout the city. Since it would be impractical for the CARBON to reprint the listing, I will feature primarily weekend events and selected weekday programs. I do urge students to use the regular feature of the STAR as a guide to fine entertainment around the city. I ask students, faculty and staff who know of any activities which they feel would interest the Marian Community to please leave written information in the CARBON mailbox in the student Services Office, or call me at ext. 567. Thanks.

YEARBOOK ALIVE AND WELL AT MARIAN COLLEGE

As of March 21, 1978, work on the Marian '79 was well underway. Work on the yearbook has been divided among the staff by four different divisions: business, layout, literary and photography.

Sr. Carol Slinger is the business manager of the Marian '79. Her staff includes: Greg Smith, Mike Helms, Janet Thrasher and Joe Horan. At the present time, the business staff is at work on a set of four letters to be sent out concerning subscriptions and patrons dealing with the books of '77-78. Students and alumni will be given the option of getting a full refund of the amount they paid toward the '77 book or applying the money to The Marian '79 which will include a 32-page section highlighting specific events and activities of the years 1976-77 and 1977-78. This section will also be printed as a separate supplement available for purchase by those alumni not interested in buying a '79 book. Contact is also being made with those businesses and individuals who bought ads and patrons in the '77 book asking if they wish their ad to be carried over to the Marian '79. The business department of the yearbook will also handle the new ad campaign for the Marian '79 and sell subscriptions to this book.

Elaine Poett heads the layout staff which includes: Sheila Naylor, Sr. Michelle Corliss and Diane Pitzer. It is the job of the layout staff to design the yearbook page-that is, to arrange photos and copy on the page, using the given space effectively.

The literary staff whose editor is Beth Wathen includes Peggy Clegg, Eileen Herbertz, Karen Davis and Georganne Kempe. This group will supply the written word to accompany the photographs of a given event or activity. The copy written by the literary staff will record the spirit and general feelings fof the school year.

Chris Noel is the manager/editor of the yearbook's photography staff. Photographers for the Marian '79 are Johanna Cundari, Joan Merkel, Evelyn White, Beth Wathen and Tom Hornbach. The yearbook is especially pleased to have the help and guidance of a professional photographer, Mr. Gary Yohler. Mr. Yohler is a Marian alumnus who has agreed not only to take all student photos, but also to instruct our own photographers in camera technique.

Yearbook meetings are held every Thursday evening at 6:30 p.m. in the yearbook office. This office is located in Studio 4 of the Art Dept. in Allison Mansion. A theme has been chosen for the yearbook and under the direction of its faculty advisor, Sr. Mary de Paul Schweitzer, is off to an excellent start.

We feel confident that it will be an accurate and appealing representation of the coming school year.

TO THE MASSES

In answer to the recent article in the March 16 issue of the Phoenix Booster Club would like to clarify some of the point brought up concerning our club.

The survey stated "75% stated that its purpose was to promote spirit, boost morale, encourage involvement and organize events on campus? 10% said that it only coordinates Homecoming and Field Day... of the respondents, only 10% felt that it achieved its purposes."

We would like to point out that the cheerleaders are funded by and considered a part of Booster Club.. Though their activities Booster Club does promote the spirit and boost the morale of Marian College. Booster Club does try to encourage involvement and organize events on campus. Our meetings are publicized well enough inn advance and we have always encouraged open attendance.

In regards to the feeling that we only sponsor Homecoming and Field Day, we would like to point out that they are two of the biggest events on this campus and they are not easy jobs. We are a small club with limited funds and limited manpower. It would be difficult for us to put forth a honest effort with more than these two activities.

We regret that only 10% of those surveyed felt our club achieved its purpose. We have attempted ot explain the purpose of Booster Club as we see it. We hope to have made you aware of the situation as it now stands.

BOOSTER CLUB MINUTES

Plans for Field Day are now underway. It will be held on Wed. May 2. All classes from 11:30 on will be canceled with the exception of night classes. These will be left up to the discretion of the individual teachers. Many of last years events will be repeated with some new ideas. Once again, there will be point competition between classes. The girls powder puff run offs will be on Sunday and the finals will be on Wed. afternoon.

Seniors, be thinking of your choice for Marian Maid and Knight. Elections will be on Wed., April 12, along with Prom finals. If a run-off is necessary, it will be on the 14th or 17th, in front of Marian Hall. Be thinking ahead of 1 guy and 1 girl from the senior class. Underclassmen do not vote.

Booster club still needs some help in coordinating Field Day activities. If you can help, but can't make it to our next meeting, Thursday at 12, please call Cindy, ext. 426 or any of the Booster Club officers.

MY FAIR LADY

She visited us last Friday night and entertained us for three memorable hours. While uncovering the richness of the English language, she also exposed the psychology of women and men. The Student Board should carry on such screening of educative movies. Sure, they are old, but "Old is Gold!"

Speaking of MY Fair Lady, ---why doesn't the Music Department and Theater Department of Marian Collage join hands once again and stage this classical musical which is indeed a theatrical masterpiece of our time. "Gianni Schicchi" flashed great talent; "Earnest" emerged victorious; "Pillow People" are going all out to do their best. Well then, why can't My Fair Lady be a reality at Mariah? Let's try it next semester. Let's give it a touch of class!!!!

to concerned or unconcerned students-

We all have arrived safely into a new season that is Known as Spring. A time where this, dreary, snow-dredged campus comes back to life. Most of us here at Marian have enjoyed the refreshing and warm weather, and many of us are partaking in outdoor sports and taking in the rays.

With the season change there is also a trickling of attitude change in the air. Many of Marvin U's populous are out of their confines and beginning to roam free. This new-found independence has limited the complaints about conditions on-campus and off. Perhaps the dark spector of apathy is taking his or her leave of us. Since we'll once again become interested with on- campus organizations and the like, in order to uncloud their minds.

Hopefully this new-found freedom will allow us to relieve tensions and anxieties in order to get our morale up. Even if we don't rush out and align ourselves with a new group or get re-aquainted with an old clique, it's always nice to know where one's options lie.

SPRING SPRINGS!!!!!!

Nature is waking from a deep slumber. The record breaking snow fall and the blaring blizzard seems to be nothing but a dream now. We are all waiting for the day when the thick curtain of clouds would move out and let the sun shine in and warm the air. We waited not in vain. The campus itself has changed since we left before the Break to break the fast and feast at Easter. The ground that was covered with the white blanket is now clean. Pathways upon which we glided and slid are now dry and clear. The air is cool and soothing, birds are flying and singing the songs of Spring while working on their nests. And soon soft leaves would spring from the nodes into giant trees and it would be Green —green — green everywhere!!

While Mother Nature is changing her attire from white to green a lot of things are springing up at Marian itself. A set of people are trying to get into their pillow cases, while beautiful settings are being shaped in the auditorium. The International Club of Marian College is trying to organize a Soccer match for the Marian Day.

So it's all going to be a Spring of activities, with the Baseball team joining in and adding their bright, brisk colors. Friends, Spring is the time when you get out of your room and zoom into liveliness. So let's get up and join the Spring crowd!!
