A WORD OF SAFETY.....

Lately, there has not been a rash of fire drills at Doyle Hall, and in the opinion of this pen pusher, there should be at least one before the closing of the year. Perhaps John doesn't think a drill is necessary since the three prank alarms earlier in the year, but the practice would do all the young men good. Not only the young men but the new R.A.'s could use the experience of evacuating the building.

A fire drill would also allow this semester's new students and ELS students to get used to the sound of the alarm and learn the correct procedure in leaving the building including which exit to use. Also to show them alternate routes on case the usual escapes are engulfed in flames. This familiarization to the dorm could save someone's life.

Mike Davis

Continued.....

While most anyone will tell you that it is important to be able to get out of a burning building, not everyone is willing to expend the time to practice efficient evacuation. This attitude was especially obvious during the 1:15 am drill held in Clare Hall last Tuesday. While many gave the time of night as the reason for their grumbling, I have seen and heard just as fervent complaining after drills held at earlier hours. Perhaps they don't understand the reasoning behind such late night practice alarms. I'd like to mention just a few. 1. At night, there is a maximum number of residents in the building. It is important for the R.D. and the Fire Department to know about how long it takes for the ENTIRE residence hall to empty. 2. It is advantageous for the Residence Director and the R.A.'s to find out those individuals who are exceptionally heavy sleepers. In the event of a real fire, they need to know just who they'll have to literally drag out of their bed to save their lives. 3. Many ELS students are experiencing fire drill procedures for the first time. They must learn to recognize the alarm in the event of a real emergency! Something we have heard all of our lives could be a real source of confusion to our friends from around the world.

It would be unfortunate (terrible even), if someone from either of the two dorms were ever seriously injured in a blaze. Sometimes the student can take too light an attitude towards it. Many people approach ALL alarms as drills instead of potential fires. Instead of making a quick exit, you see them strolling down the hallways. I just hope they don't get hurt!! DON'T FOGET PROVIDENCE COLLEGE!!- IT COULD HAPPEN HERE.

TO THE MASSES

Early Tuesday afternoon a large sign promoting the Care-a-thon was placed on the wall of the front entrance to the auditorium in Marian Hall. Since most students and faculty use this pass-way, it was thought to be an excellent location for advertisement. The exact spot desired for the Care-a-thon sign was occupied by a class office campaign sign, which was to be removed by election day Wed. The Care-a-thon sign was temporarily hung above the other sign. Late Tues. night the girls who hung the sign were informed that it was no longer on the wall, but was now rolled up on a near-by table. Thinking it would keep until morning, the girls did not break into Marian Hall to re-hang it. By Wed. morning the sign could not be found in Marian Hall. Maybe it fell and someone picked it up to return it. (But it was hung securely in the first place.) Maybe someone found it offensive and removed it, or maybe someone wanted to save the wall from the destructive effects of tape! It was suggested that maybe someone moved the sign to a better spot. The question was settled when the poster was traced and found, crumpled and soiled, in the trash bin behind the caf. Everyone agreed that this was an unattractive location, and the effectiveness of the sign was considerably reduced.

I'm not trying to blame the maintenance workers; it's part of their job to keep the school clean. I can't however, understand why someone would remove a sign without explanation to those whose property it is, and then leave it where it is bound to be disposed of by maintenance; Whatever the intentions of the person may have been, the results were not desirable.

I see the Carbon as more than an opportunity to air complaints, but in fairness to the organizers of the Care-thon it seemed that something should be said. The Care-a-thon can be both a worthwhile and an enjoyable experience for the college community. Several students and faculty members are working on it now, trying to make it successful. The loss of one sign might seem trivial, but it must be discouraging to see hours of your time wasted. I'm sure that any help would be appreciated, be it sign-making or performing an act on one of the three nights. If you want to help out, info can be obtained from Nancy Smith, Mary Hazel, Paula Dwyer, Mary Wilhelm, Mr. Kelly, or Mr. Pedtke. The Care-a-thon is coming up soon, so hurry up and get in touch if you're interested!

BRIEF ENCOUNTERS OF THE WORST KIND

"Marriages are made in Heaven". But, to-day earthly marriages have taken over from the Heavenly unions causing rough currents in the otherwise calm sea of life.

Divorce is the force that had altered the course of normal, real, meaningful life. Man, in the wrecked ship called Marriage is unable to see the shore of reason. All that he sees is a show of fakeness and vagueness in marriage today. Both parents go out to work. Children grow under the "protection" of a babysitter, away from the motherly love and fatherly care. And soon they grow out of the four walls of their home and start imitating their peers. Tired parents have no time for their children's welfare. They can do nothing but depend on the schools. But the schools can do only very little for their child. Youngsters grow up doing what they themselves think is right. And society is polluted by these badly disciplined generation. They see not much difference in fight and wrong or good and bad. They know not the meaning of love for that is what they lack and that is what they seek. What's worse, when the axe of divorce chops the knot of matrimony children are tempestuously tossed and unable to depend on anyone true and kind to guide them. Divorce is the monster that had engulfed the sanctity of matrimony. Marriage, which is a vow for life, is brutally bruised by the absence of true love. True love can soften the hardest heart and heal the sorest soul. If one had chosen the right partner they need not think of this "escape" called Divorce. "True love is a blessing." We will have it if we are worthy of it. We could be worthy only if we try. We who are in college would sooner or later tie this knot onto our lives. So, let our attractions to each other be not only physical but mental and mendable. This would ensure a smooth running boat in a rough sea of life and enable us to see the shore of reality through the telescope of harmony. Our encounters need not be brief and bad but lasting and true!

SEE PETER REPORTS'.....

N Zdrovya, comrads. See Peter here (and God knows where you are.) As I write this, Snow White has been running for four days, and is about ready to drop. Nevertheless, she carries on for three more shows: Fri. at 8:00, and Sun. at 1:00 and 8:00. If you haven't seen it, see it. If you won't see it, read the book. (O.K. Snow, spit it out—Bette) It's nice to hear all that screaming and yelling from the audience, but you're making too much noise. The kids can't hear. (I can't believe the stage. There's more glitter than in my bedroom—Margo) Coming up: more afternoon recitals; an art dept. show, and—One Acts. Those same people that brought you "Gianni Schicci" and "Snow White" bring you "Mrs. Dally Takes a Lover" More on this later.

Well, we fixed the Pillow Person as best we could. (You'll know which one it is by the lobotomy scar.—Bette) (Aye sorry, I didn't know pillows so fragile. Aye bane goin' after Snow White now. Skoal!!—Ben) (You're a married man —Margo) (Hee-Hee-Hee! —Ben) (GRACK —lick-the censors)

See Peter (See L. Test in "The Ice Cream Conehead at a Baskin-Robbins near you.)

The Convention and Visitors Bureau of Bloomington/Monroe County, in conjunction with the Hoosier Hills Festival, scheduled for May 26 through June 4, has announced yet another addition to their growing schedule of events.

Officially opening the Hoosier Hills Festival on Friday, May 26, 1978, shall be the first annual Hoosier Hills Festival Queen Pageant.

All young ladies residing in Indiana for at least six months and a resident of the U.S. for at least five years, and between the ages of seventeen and twenty-four are eligible.

Young ladies shall be judged in the performance of swimsuit, evening gown, and ability to communicate. The young lady chosen to preside over the 10-day Festival events will represent the Hoosier Hills Festival in Indianapolis at the Indiana Rose Festival—Miss Indiana World Pageant in early June.

All Indiana young ladies interested in requesting entrance forms should contact The Convention and Visitors Bureau at 411 Gourley Pike, Bloomington, Ind. 47401 or call (812) 344-8900. Entrance deadline has been set for Wednesday, May 17, 1978.

It should be noted that the newly-crown queen will win $125.00 and will be awarded another $100.00 for entry into the Rose Festival, the next step towards Miss USA World crowning. First runner-up will receive $75.00; second runner-up will be awarded $50.00; third runner-up will win $25.00. Each of the winners will also receive merchants gifts. The Queen will have a car at her disposal for the entire Festival. For more info, call our office at (812)334-8900.

TO THE MARIAN COMMUNITY

Well, folks, Care-a-Thon is almost upon us it's this coming Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. Besides the ol' faithfuls (Mr. Kelly the Chess King, the Jail, Paul Kasey as DJ) we have such personalities lined up as:

Wed. Ken Elmendorf and Elmer Dorf
Theresa Reuter
Gina Navarra
Thurs. J.J. Ross and the Supremettes!
Veronica Lewis
Ron Dye
Wilma Brown
Fri. Sherman Crouch and Band

We're still more than interested in any additional volunteers to aide in entertaining the mob, or even volunteers to aid in antagonizing the mob (make the folks pay to stop your act.)

It's all good fun and for a good cause, so please come and bring your friends and some funds.

See you there!

CO-ED VOLLEYBALL

Co-ed VB began this week and will continue for several more weeks. Defending champs IAT seem to be early favorites as they easily won two matches this week. The other undefeated team in league B is I Tappa Keg although they had a close contest with IAO that went three games on Wed. The Mutts And Jeff's are undefeated in league A but they went the full three games in both matches played. The Roudies are also a strong team, taking both matches in two games. These four teams seem to be early favorites, and the big matches take place Wed. with IAT vs. I TAPPA KEG (league B) with MUTTS and JEFF'S vs. ROUDIES (league A). For next week's complete schedule see the Clare Hall bulletin board or the one by the gym. Standings after one week of playing:

LEAGUE A	W	L
Rowdies	2	0
Mutts and Jeffs	2	0
Mahops	1	1

THE EXPERIENCE OF AFTERNOON PERFORMANCES
or ONE DAY DURING CHILDREN'S THEATER!!!!

The lights went out for the one minute warning before the show would begin. The audience exploded in fear! ( most of them were under the age of 10!) The lights came up and there was a sigh of relief from the children (and their teachers), and then appeared the Story Elf, who was about to take them on a journey to the Kingdom of the good King Absent-minded.

This has been the scene in Marian Hall Auditorium for the past 3 performances of SNOW WHITE & THE PILLOW PEOPLE. The children have been excellent as audience for the cast that is so wide and diversified in their interests. The light-hearted atmosphere the children created for the performers made the show easy to enjoy, but made it difficult for the players to stay in character! For instance: Last Tuesday, When Snow White made her appearance at the afternoon performance, the "gentlemen" in the audience went wild with whistles, wolf howls and a few bold kids shouted "What a Fox!!" This caused Snow White (Sue Thompson) and King Absent-minded

Sista n Edgar
(Paul Jarboe) to almost break their characters and begin laughing. But they didn't -good for them!!! The children took the characters to heart and followed the plot intently. They enjoyed the King, liked Dim-Witty, loved the animals, and the Pillow People but were in awe of the Prince and "FOXY" Snow White. They despised the Wicked Queen Bella and booed and hissed her when she tried to eliminate Snow White. After the performance, the actors go through the audience and greet them! The children liked talking to the characters and shaking hands with them. A few of the worldly young ladies (about 10 years old!) inquired about Prince Goodhearted's real name and number, (Greg Smith). The guys in the audience wanted similar info on Snow White, but such knowledge is a remote secret & known to few. The show is GOOD and I recommend seeing it!!
