

Marian Waits for 'Public Eye' To Open

"The Public Eye" is to be presented by Marian's theater department Oct. 21, 22, 23, and 24. A one-act comedy written by Peter Shaffer, it was first performed at the Globe Theatre in London in 1962. A semi-circular, arena type seating plan will be used on the stage which space accommodating one hundred persons for each production. Student tickets are 50 cents.

The play centers about a jealous husband who suspects his wife of marital infidelity. Julian Christoforou (Jack O'Hara), the detective, is hired by the husband, Charles Sidley (Dave Hixon and Max Henschen—doubly-cast part) to investigate his wife's capricious escapades. Although the two never actually speak, a love affair ensues between the detective and Charles's wife, Belinda (Connie Eaton and Becky Brunson—doubly-cast part).

Sidley, a sarcastic and conservative man of 40 who holds a straight-laced attitude towards life, is startlingly contrasted by his charming young wife of 20, who has a bubbly and robust zest for being alive.

Julian Christoforou, on the other hand, is a man of gentle eccentricity, intelligent but scatter-brained, and has good insight. Holding true to his previous commitment of aiding in the re-tying of the marriage knot, Julian succeeds in this endeavor. The action of the entire play occurs in the husband's office.

TEMPERS run high as Becky Brunson and Dave Hixon, husband and wife in "The Public Eye," argue throughout the performance.

AUFS Specialist Analyzes Social Change in L.A.

In two of the Latin American countries, a dramatic change is now taking place in the centuries-old social order which has relegated the indigenous Indians to a life of poverty and subservience to their Spanish masters.

Significant efforts are being made in Peru and Bolivia to bring the long-neglected Indians into the life of the nation. The success or failure of these efforts will be important not only to the future progress of Peru and Bolivia, but to the rest of Latin America as well.

Dr. Richard L. Patch of the

Dr. Richard W. Patch

American Universities Field Staff (AUFS) will bring first-hand information of the current situation in the two countries to the campus on Nov. 3 and 4.

A noted anthropologist, Dr. Patch has made Latin American affairs the subject of his research and writing for more than a decade. He has made specialized studies in industrialization and migration patterns in rural Peru and agrarian reform in Bolivia.

He has engaged in an ethnography of a highland Peruvian Indian community and has surveyed social and economic trends, urban-rural social interaction and resettlement trends.

Dr. Patch has also made a study of colonization for the Bolivian government and was a member of the Inter-American Development Bank Mission for Rural Development to Bolivia.

Besides writing periodic AUFS reports on his research, Dr. Patch has also contributed chapters to Social Change in Latin America Today (1960) and Expectant Peoples (1963).

A former Fellow of the Institute of Current World Affairs, Dr. Patch received both his bachelor's degree and his doctorate from Cornell University. He joined the AUFS in 1957 after a year of teaching at Tulane University. Since 1963, he has served concurrently as Visiting Professor of Anthropology with the Land Tenure Center of the University of Wisconsin.

On Wednesday, Nov. 3, Dr. Patch will give a public lecture at 7:30 p.m. on "Social Change in Latin America" (Focus on Peru and Bolivia—Implications for U. S. aid programs.)

Dr. Malm Speaks On Asian Music

Dr. William P. Malm of the University of Michigan School of Music, one of the foremost authorities on Japanese music, will be the guest of the college music department and the Non-West Studies program, Tuesday, Nov. 9.

Two formal lecture demonstrations are scheduled, one on Asian music at 3:30 p.m., the other on Japanese music at 7:30 p.m. Discussion groups and individual student conferences with Dr. Malm are also planned.

Dr. Malm is the author of a volume, Japanese Music and Musical Instruments, illustrated by Japanese artists and printed in Japan.

Lectures are open to the public.

Life on Other Planets

Dr. L. M. Levitt, scientist-astronomer and director of Fels Planetarium, Philadelphia, will speak on "Other Life in the Universe?" at the Nov. 4 assembly. This is a rescheduling from the "snowed-out" date, last Feb. 25.

Bugle Corps Looks Onward to Derby, Veterans' Parade

One thousand dollars worth of new drums and bugles, 24 frosh and a snappy new "odd ball" cadence give Marian's knights of the silver horns a new look. Under John Sweany's award-winning drum-majoring, the second year corps will perform in the Veterans' Day Parade, the Christmas Parade in Indianapolis, and, hopefully, in the Kentucky Derby Parade. Again, of course, they will try for a repeat march in the "500" Parade.

College events for which the Corps will play are Parents' Day, Homecoming and Field Day.

The Corps' repertoire will be increased considerably this year by the use of rotary valve bugles which are capable of "chromatic" or complete half-tone scales.

Fr. Frazee on TV

During the past summer Father Charles Frazee has been participating in an interfaith panel on the similarities and the differences of the Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish faiths.

The discussions, which have been taped for television viewing, are currently being run on Sundays, 12:30 p.m., as a public service feature on WFBM, Channel 6.

Administration, Students Welcome New Faculty

The college extended a hand of welcome to ten new full-time faculty members, five part-time instructors, and two professors who have returned from leaves-of-absence.

The English department has been expanded this year in the persons of Mr. John L. Darretta and Mr. E. Forrest Scarborough. Mr. Darretta, a native of Yonkers, New York, received his B.A. from Iona College in 1963, and his M.A. from Fordham University in American literature.

Mr. Scarborough holds a B.A. and an M.A. from the University of South Carolina and Indiana University, respectively, and is currently pursuing his doctorate in comparative literature at Indiana University.

Sister Mary Norma, O.S.F., a former Marian student and recipient of a Ph.D. in classical languages, art, and archaeology from St. Louis University, teaches Latin and Greek.

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin with a master of science degree has become a full-time instructor in the mathematics department. He is Mr. Robert Gasper who has taught in the Evening Division at Marian, on the Indianapolis campus of Purdue University, and at the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. Arthur Schultz, of the physics department, is now a full-time instructor teaching physics and mathematics. During the past three years he has lectured part-time here. A graduate of Purdue University, he is a registered Professional Engineer and has held an instructorship in the physics departments at Purdue University's Indianapolis and Lafayette campuses.

Mr. Alexander McDonald, a former resident of the state of Michigan, received his Ph.D. in music from the University of Michigan. Mr. McDonald teaches classes in music theory and history and directs the Marian Chorale.

Mr. Larry Bridges, holder of a master's degree in physical education from Indiana State University, is the new coach of track and cross-country. While enrolled (Continued on Page 4)

Enrollment Reaches 1000

Enrollment at Marian College has risen to a total of 1066 this year. Indiana leads with 589 students from Indianapolis and 291 from other parts of the state.

The next states in line are Ohio with 54 students registered and Illinois with 44. New York and Kentucky each have nine students, while Michigan and New Jersey have six each. Next in line is Wisconsin with 5, Pennsylvania with 4, Iowa with 3, and Delaware, Maryland, Minnesota and Tennessee with two.

Florida, California, Nebraska, South Carolina, West Virginia, Kansas, Massachusetts, Washington, D. C., Texas, Washington, Virginia, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands each have one representative.

Foreign students number 25. There are four students from India, Japan, and Hong Kong. Tanzania, Kenya, Bolivia, Trinidad, Jamaica, Germany, Malaysia, Colombia, the Philippines, Lebanon, Ecuador, Cuba, and Viet Nam are each represented by one.

College To Host Parents Oct. 24

Parents' Day, an annual event, will be held on Sunday, Oct. 24.

Beginning at 10 a.m. with Holy Mass in the Chartrand Chapel, the day will proceed with a buffet brunch in the college cafeteria and tours of the campus.

At 1:30 p.m., Msgr. Francis J. Reine will deliver an address in the auditorium. He will be followed by Andy Wagner, president of the Student Board and Mr. D. L. Conolty, president of the Parents and Friends Organization.

The day will be concluded with student entertainment, including the Concert Band and the Drum and Bugle Corps, and a reception in the Music Building.

Board President Urges Support

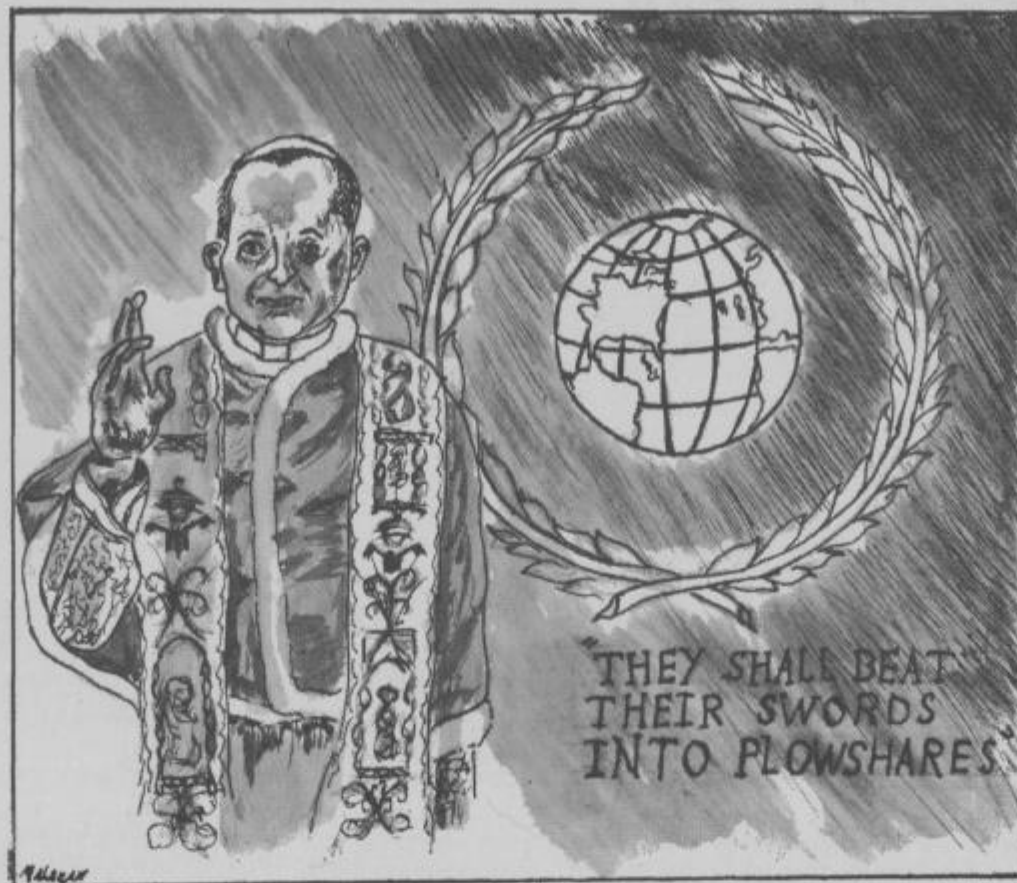

Whenever I am asked to speak on student government, I am always confronted with the problem of limiting myself. The scope of student government is so encompassing that it is always impossible to single out one specific area of discussion. But when the Phoenix staff asked me to write an editorial, I decided to discuss one particular problem of Marian's student government, and that problem or issue is communication between the students and their government on campus.

As long as I have been involved in student government, I have been taught that the most essential aspect of student government is the contact maintained between the executive board and the student body at large. And for the same period of time I have heard the perennial complaint that Marian's Student Board does not have adequate contact with the students. Therefore the conclusion of the argument is that the Student Board is not as effective and representative as it should be.

In my opinion all three of the above points are true. I believe communication to be the lifeblood of student government. In addition, I concede the point that this vital communication is inadequate on our campus and that this has jeopardized the total effectiveness of the Student Board on Campus.

But there is a fourth point to this argument which I have not yet mentioned, and that is the opinion that adequate communication between Board and students is impossible. I violently disagree with this and intend to disprove it by a four-point program which, in fact, will eliminate the problem of inadequate communication on this campus. The program will consist of the following four steps:

1) The Student Board has taken steps to encourage the improvement of the campus publications. Of course, the Board sponsors its own newspaper (The Carbon) which is responsible for reporting the progress of Marian's student government, but this year we will attempt also to furnish all campus publications with accurate Board news. In addition, the Board members themselves will often contribute articles to the publications.

2) Within two weeks the Student Board's new office on the ground floor of the administration building will be open. This will enable the students to have a particular place to contact their representatives. All complaints, suggestions, requests, and items for legislation can be brought to this central office.

3) A new filing system is being instituted so that now, material of interest will be available in the Board office to the different student groups and clubs. Files are being prepared on Board policies, services offered, minutes, and other information. Also many publications of student interest have been purchased and will be made available in the Board office. These publications deal with the role and structure of student government and the many areas of student involvement and interest.

4) And finally, each month the Board will sponsor a special Board report at which time the four executive members will give a summary of the Board's progress up to that date and an idea of the topics to be considered in the future. This will be known as "The Board Reports" and will be held in the auditorium each month (attendance optional). The reports will be brief and a question and answer period will follow.

This is an honest attempt on the part of student government to increase its communication with the students. It requires much work on the part of the Board and is a sincere fulfillment of the Board's obligations in regards to communication.

Therefore I ask that you be as responsive and responsible in accepting your part in solving the problem of communication. We are offering you the opportunity to participate in your government, so don't miss your chance. I am looking forward to your full support and participation in this program.

—Andrew Wagner
Student Body President.

Pope Paul's Visit Evokes Comment

by Dianna Mann and Maureen Northcutt

The effect of the recent appearance of Pope Paul VI at the United Nations is undoubtedly still being felt throughout the world. His visit was an undisputed precedent in the history of the Catholic Church and touched not only its members but Christian and non-Christian brothers alike.

The students of Marian College expressed diversified opinions on the significance of His Holiness' visit and the possible results of his speech to the members of the General Assembly.

The consensus was that it signified a true Ecumenical Spirit by its appeal to all mankind.

According to senior Daniel Armstrong "his visit had importance insofar as it was a symbol of his position as a Space-age Pope."

Sophomore Barbara Brown feels "proud that people all over the world received the leader of the Catholic Church with such enthusiasm and admiration."

"The value of his visit," said junior Carol Schwacke, "lies in the fact that the Catholic people have shown the world they are interested in peace and are willing to do something to promote it."

Although it was a successful as a gesture of good will, its political importance was questioned by many students.

For men to lay down arms and to forget war would be the ideal, but the inability of the UN to act effectively was the main reason Marian students felt the Pope's words will not be heeded.

"The fact that the UN recognized him as one whose opinion may have some effect on world peace was more important than anything else," according to freshman Steve Gutzwiller.

In regard to the large welcome given to Pope Paul, senior Sue Charbonneau felt that "everyone went to see the sight rather than to heed his words."

In general, many Marianites agreed upon the diplomatic success of the Pope's visit, but few were optimistic concerning the political impact.

A Browser's Find

The real man needs no proof that he is a man. Only the individual who is not sure, desperately reasserts his masculinity. The real man, calmly and unselfconsciously, just is. He is for that, a richer human being, more sensitive to his own feelings and more capable of possessing, controlling, and sharing them with others. There is nothing uneasy about this man's terms with life, no need to hurt in order to win, no need to ponder the impression he will make. His is the sure grace of maturity.

"Just wait until next year," grumble freshman convicts Steve Taylor and Linda Bauza as they serve their sentence in the Kampus Klink.

Frosh Bow to Sophs — Who Says?

by Sue Reinhart, freshman

Reporter Roving reporting, and this is my story, as I saw it.

The date: Sept. 22, 1965.

The place: Marian College.

The sun was shining brightly that day as we, poor, innocent, little freshmen, assembled to the rousing sound of the school pep song. Completely bewildered, we obediently donned our bright blue and gold beanies and began dolefully memorizing the endless sheets of information thrust at us from all sides.

Thus began our fateful ten days of initiation—time in which we lived in fear of the infamous KKK. The Kampus Keystone Kops lurked everywhere—ready at any moment to snatch us up and throw us into the Kampus Klink.

Like fugitives, we cautiously walked the halls, peeping around corners, trying to avoid the sophs. Our attempts to overthrow them, in the form of SOS, or Stamp Out Sophomores, were soon dispelled.

Dorm life became insufferable. Sophomore slavemasters dragged us from our rooms and put us to work. We dared not refuse their demands—the fear of receiving a summons loomed large in our minds.

Long, at last, came the day of the Beanie Bounce. The evening began with Kangaroo Kourt. Justice was meted out, the Kops said. But we were doubtful as we watched "guilty" fellow freshmen serve their sentences. They ranged from an impromptu ballet and slightly wet game of musical chairs to shaving water-filled balloons and "mouthing" watermelon. Afterwards we joyfully burned our grubby, well-worn, hated, yet beloved beanies.

Finally, we have been accepted into the ranks of the Marian student body. Do we want revenge, you ask? Not now, but oh, wait 'til next year!

by June Obert, sophomore

"Stop, Freshman, in the name of sophomore law and order!" growled Sergeant Soph. Everwatching, a Kampus Keystone Kop. "Don't you realize that by not singing the school song with the greatest possible fervor, you are violating the supreme code of the KKK? Deputy, help me throw him into the Kampus Klink."

Shaking with fright, the culprit whimpered, "Please, Most Esteemed Officer, I just arrived at the Pep Rally and I haven't received my copy of the song yet."

"Throw him into the Klink and give him a summons for being late," Sergeant Everwatching commanded.

With that, Deputy Hugo T. Prison properly installed the guilty party in his cell amid shouts of sophomore jubilation.

Patrolling the campus a few days later, Officer Everwatching and his loyal deputy made the scene at the tennis courts just in time to haul in Maureen Gies and Gary Bronkella on the charge of watermelon-seed spitting. Rumor has it that Park School boys are eagerly awaiting next summer's crop of watermelon.

Rioting in the form of a tug o' war claimed the two law enforcing agents' attention on the afternoon of Sept. 29. Largely through their supreme muscular superiority and physical prowess, the male members of the KKK suppressed the insurrection of the freshman boys.

Meanwhile, KKK women, aided unexpectedly by five Kampus Kuties, out-tugged the female violators. Because of the nature of this offense, Sergeant Everwatching demanded that all beanies be worn until the Kampus Keystone Kourt had heard the case.

The court room din lowered to a hush as Judge Welch, impressively draped in his judicial robes, entered and took his chair. Looking pleadingly first to the judge and then to the twelve jurors, the criminals realized that no mercy would be extended to them. In pursuit of justice, all defendants were found guilty!

Law and order having been restored on Marian's Campus, the members of the KKK returned to their roles as students, confident that there would be no further uprisings—at least not this year.

Baritone Finds Receptive Group

Marian College was proud to present a distinguished personality in the vocal arts, Eugene Holmes, as this year's premier for the annual assembly series. Mr. Holmes, a baritone of established fame, entertained the students and faculty with his rendering of the German lieder, the aria and the Negro spiritual.

A native of Brownsville, Tenn., he has invested in a busy concert career, performing with the St. Louis Opera Guild and at the Grand Opera Workshop in West Virginia under Boris Goldovsky.

At the moment, Mr. Holmes has a full schedule at the Indiana University School of Music working as a graduate assistant and singing the lead baritone in the Opera theater associated with the university. He has also sung with the Washington University Opera and appeared as soloist with the St. Louis Symphony.

Verily, we can agree with the noted conductor, Izler Solomon, when he exclaimed of Holmes' talent: "This is a beautiful voice and he has fine musicianship . . . he will go far!"

The Phoenix and the Fioretti recently received honor ratings from the Catholic School Press Association.

These ratings are presented to publications which exhibit outstanding achievements in literary and journalistic endeavors.

As criteria, the panel of judges analyzed the artistic layouts, the systematic organization, the journalistic content, and the overall appearance of the publications submitted. Also, major consideration was given to the presentation of a Catholic viewpoint.

Changes Add Beauty, Comfort To Campus Living

by Colleen Sharer and Eileen Witte

Have you looked beyond your books and class schedule yet this year to notice all the improvements and additions on campus? Even if you've ventured only as far as the Perc, you've discovered old friends in new, modernized surroundings. Those fortunate enough to have cars on campus may have noticed improved roads and those on foot may now enjoy an official shortcut through Park School.

Resident students can't help noticing several important changes. A second wing on the men's dorm contains a soon-to-be-completed lounge. Both residence halls have seen personnel changes over the summer. Clare Hall is under new management in the person of Miss Maureen Farrell. Father John Elford now proposes to aid in the maintenance of peace and order on South Campus as a resident in the new dorm.

Fashion firsts include legalized legs with the new ruling allowing Bermudas and slacks on campus.

Among all these new sights, along the resurfaced roads, in the new buildings as well as the old, is Marian's newest and largest addition, 380 smiling freshmen.

That Was The Dorm That Was

Attention, inhabitants of the new men's dorm! Were you feeling low a few weeks ago because you had no mirrors in which to survey yourself in the morning? Did the lack of a recreation room leave you with nothing to do . . . but study? Did you turn blue with frost each morning as you showered in a curtainless cubicle?

If so, console yourselves with the fact that you have been preceded by others whose conditions were even more lamentable than yours.

Earlier residents of the college lived in a remodeled greenhouse which originally belonged to the Allison mansion.

But relief has come! You are now the proud first residents of a new dorm equipped with all the luxuries any "knight" could desire.

Spotlight on Sports

by Chris Sweeney

Welcome back sports' fans. This year should be a real boomer for Marian athletics. Already varsity Cross Country has begun. Intramurals have gotten under way with a quick start. The girls' Volley Ball League has opened its sessions.

But the big news this year rests in the new and promising varsity basketball team.

Although Marian lost its ace, Chuck Federle, such outstanding men as Jim Chase, Tom Clarke, and Larry Brodnik appear to compensate for this loss. The team officially opened practice sessions on Oct. 4. Some 29 men turned out, with some regulars still on the way. So many freshmen came that Mr. Reynolds has arranged a regular freshman schedule.

The first varsity game is set for Nov. 23 at Franklin. This game will be followed up with another away game at Peru, Ind., against Southwestern Texas. The Knights are taking on a tougher schedule than last year but are up to it.

Undoubtedly the Marian basketball team will better last year's record. Perhaps student backing this year would benefit the team as well as the student body. Spirit is essential. The team has its own spirit. All that remains is that this spirit be coupled with that of the student body.

With such material as Bernie Schneider, Maury Bubb, Larry Schmalz, George Gerencser, and Jean Ancelet, and the big three who were mentioned before, Marian should have a fine year.

Jim Chase, the team captain, has promised to lead the Knights to a successful season. Let's help them and do our part!

Nine Teams Kick Off '65 Pigskin Panorama

Marian's Intramural Football League started off with a boot Sunday, Oct. 3. Eight teams braved their opposition. The team posing the biggest threat appeared to be the Carpetbaggers who defeated Manuah's Mixers by a 13-0 margin.

Another contender for the championship is the 68-plus-Tax who downed the Best 26-6. The Nutty Nino beat U.N.C.L.E. 38-13 in a high-scoring contest.

Probably the most hard-fought and exciting game was played between the 1969'ers and the Umgawas. The freshman 1969'ers fought the Umgawas to a 0-0 tie.

In the main event, Oct. 10, the Carpetbaggers and the McCoys fought to a 12-12 tie. The Nutty Nino topped the 1969'ers 25-0. The Manuah's Mixers moved into the win columns by defeating U.N.C.L.E. 18-0. The Best beat the Umgawas by a margin of 13-0. The 68-plus-Tax had a bye.

The standings after the first two weeks of play are as follows:

68-plus-Tax	1	0	0
Carpetbaggers	1	0	1
McCoys	1	0	1
Manuah's Mixers	1	1	0
Best	1	1	0
Umgawas	0	1	1
The 1969'ers	0	1	1

Will Diamondmen Sparkle in Spring? Support Needed

Baseball season is a long time away, but it is not too soon to start thinking about next season. Last year's uniforms were multi-colored and old.

This year, the Booster Club is planning to give this phase of the program a "new look" and everyone's help is needed.

The club is sponsoring a concert Oct. 30. Entertainment will be provided by the Towne Hall Trio, and all of the proceeds will be turned over to the athletic department.

With this money, the baseball team and the students will have something to take pride in.

Don't forget . . . Oct. 30, 8:30 p. m., the Towne Hall Trio.

New Faculty

in graduate work at Indiana State, Mr. Bridges served as assistant track and cross-country coach.

A Marian alumna from Seymour, Ind., Miss Kathleen Simmons, has become a full-time laboratory assistant in the biology department.

The recipient of a B.A. and an M.A. from the University of Notre Dame, Mr. William Pedtke, has joined the philosophy department as a full-time instructor. Mr. Pedtke had previously taught at Duchesne College in Omaha, Neb.

Clare Hall, the women's residence is being directed this year by Miss Maureen Farrell of Indianapolis. Before coming to Marian, Miss Farrell attended Danville Junior College, Danville, Ill.

New part-time instructor in the theology department is Mr. John Lowe, a graduate of Pasadena College and the Butler University School of Religion. Mr. Lowe has also had graduate courses in theology at Nashotak House, Nashotak, Wis., and in social work at the Loyola University School of Social Work, Chicago.

The new German instructor, Mrs. Valda Nesaule, is pursuing

Inexperienced Harriers Improve With Each Meet

Although dropping their first three meets, the Marian cross country team has shown a definite and promising improvement. It must be mentioned, however, that the team's first few opponents were more experienced than our Knights.

On the other hand, the Marian team, led by George Hynek and Marty Liddy, gave Butler, Rose Poly, and Indiana Central a good run for their money.

George Hynek has placed first of the Knights in two of these meets and Marty Liddy once. Other regulars include John Okane, Dan Gonzalez, Joe Byer, Mike Mealey, and Dave Ellsworth.

Summer 'Cooler'

It was a cool summer for Marian students who were wise enough to take advantage of the new outdoor pool facilities located on South Campus.

Not only did students of Marian make use of the pool, but also alumni of the school along with their families. Special rates were offered to this group.

graduate work in comparative literature at Indiana University. Mrs. Nesaule also teaches German and Russian at the University's regional campus in Indianapolis.

After a leave of absence to complete his graduate studies at Catholic University of America, Rev. C. Patrick Smith has resumed his previous position in the theology department.

Mr. Robert Moran, who has been pursuing doctoral studies in theater at Indiana University, has returned to the speech and theater department here.

Three Indianapolis Certified Public Accountants with M.B.A. degrees have taken positions in accounting and corporation finance in the Evening Division. Mr. John H. Shroat, Indiana University, is teaching advanced accounting; Mr. R. L. Krentler, cost accounting; and Mr. Thomas Miller, corporation and business finance.

Mr. Larry Bridges, our new coach from Indiana State, promises an improvement on last year's record.

The staff of the Phoenix and the student body wish the cross country team the best of luck in its future outings. Marianites also hope that the team never runs out of breath!

Fall Lectures Feature Series

Marian Lectures this fall comprise five series. "The New Mathematics" deals with the modern approach in the teaching of elementary mathematics, while "Law for Women" discusses legal questions of special concern to women.

Three distinct series are devoted to aspects of religion, namely "The Early Church," "Religion and Modern Psychology," and "The New Testament."

Speakers include faculty members of Marian College, Loyola University in Chicago, and Cardinal Ritter High School in the city, as well as Indianapolis attorneys.

The series, which began the week of Sept. 26, will continue through November.
