Mr. Shultz Demonstrates Own Miniature Computer

Professor - inventor explains binary number computation via electrical impulses.

Boolean Algebra, or the algebra of logic. His computer converts the numbers dialed on a telephone dial which are in modulus 10, to modulus 2 by means of electrical circuits controlling neon tubes.

Fr. Bruno Backes 1st Marian Priest

Father Bruno Backes, O.F.M. Cap., first Marian student to be ordained to the priesthood, will receive Holy Orders at St. Mary's Church, Marathon, Wis., Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 26. His first solemn celebration of the Eucharist will take place Sunday, Nov. 29, at Sacred Heart Church, Evansville, Father Bruno, known on campus as Bill, was one of the first class of men to enroll when the college became coeducational in 1954. He was a graduate of Mater Dei High School.

After two years of college he entered Holy Cross monastery of the Capuchin Fathers at Mt. Calvary, Wis. While at Marian he was vice-prefect of the campus fraternity of the Third Order of St. Francis.

Players Attend Annual Festival

The Players will take Lillian Hellman's "Little Foxes" to the annual play festival sponsored by the Catholic College and Theatre Guild of Indiana Nov. 14 and 15 at Evansville.

The program will include a one-act play or short selection not exceeding 30-40 minutes by each participating group. Saturday night, Nov. 14, the host group, Evansville Catholic Theatre Guild will perform an entire three-act play, "Good Morning, Miss Dove."

Theater critics will view each production and give critiques. The main purpose of the festival is to share a living interest in the theatre with others who wish to see it alive and active in Indiana.

Marian College will present a scene from the third act of "Little Foxes." The cast will include Mary Ann Drew, Kathy McCarthy, Judy Pille, Charlotte VanNoy, and Jack O'Hara.

Pete Thoman and Clement Richard will assist with the technical work involved in the production.

Lay Apostles To Speak Here

Three recent college graduates who have completed tours of duty as Extension Volunteers and Papal Volunteers in Latin America will be on campus Nov. 23.

At 3:30 p.m. they will conduct an open lecture session to acquaint students and guests with the challenge and rewards in the much needed services performed by their respective organizations.

Speakers will be: Marty Klest, Loyola University, Chicago; Jean Miano, Rosary Hill College, Buffalo, N.Y.; and Sallie Whelan, Bradley University.

The challenge they will offer is: "If you settle for mediocrity, you may find life more tranquil; it will also be much more dull. The true sense of value of living comes in serving others."

Catholic Theater Guild Brings Play to Marian

The Catholic Theater Guild of Indianapolis was established nearly 11 years ago under the auspices of furthering good art and drama in the theater field.

The Guild will present the third act of Plain and Fancy in the college auditorium Dec. 4-6. The play will be shown at 8:30 the first two days and at 7:30, Dec. 6.

Michael Cancilla '64 has the lead role in this musical comedy in which two amiable Broadwayites are brought into contact with members of the stern Amish sect of the Pennsylvania Dutch.

18 Colombian Students To Arrive Here Nov. 23

Eighteen South American students from Javeriana (Xavier) University, Bogota, Colombia, will be studying on campus Nov. 23-Jan. 22. The visit of these ten women and eight men is part of the exchange work-study program which took three Marian students to Bogota last summer.

Tom Alsop '65, Dick Powell '65, and Steve Noone '64, spent ten weeks studying at Javeriana University and working in one of the poor sections of Bogota. They became acquainted with both the Colombian culture and the Colombians themselves. This education in the customs and culture of a country is what the Colombians hope to learn during their stay in Indianapolis.

Following an orientation period in North American customs and family life, the visitors will attend the regular classes in English composition, U.S. history and government, and sociology. To improve their familiarity with the English language, they will have sessions in the language laboratory, listening to tapes.

A special lecture series will present the major phases of North American culture, including literature, art, education, economics, and sociology.

Attendance at sessions of such parish organizations as CYO, YCA, YCS, and YCW are scheduled, as well as tours to social welfare agencies and centers of cultural interest.

Of special significance will be the tour of an Ideal Farm near Rushville, to be conducted by Father James Burns, associated with the Christian Family Movement.

Leaders of this movement have also assisted in recommending homes for the exchange students. By coincidence, a Marian alumna, Judith Hirn Ehmann '59, and her husband are volunteer CFM workers at Bogota this year.

In the planning are projects directed to acquainting the students with the existence of poverty in this country and the steps taken by city and state governments and by religious and other private organizations.

Most significant in the ten weeks' experience will be the students' residence with local families which have extended hospitality to one student each. Over 75 Marian students have volunteered their services.

Directing the entire program is Sister Mary Edgar, chairman of the division of modern languages and professor of Spanish.

Jody Peloza To Coordinate State Mental Health Drive

Jody Peloza, sophomore, has been appointed co-ordinator of the College Unit Christmas Gift Project of the Indiana Association for Mental Health.

The appointment was made by Roger Ward, chairman of the State Christmas Committee of the

Jody Peloza

Indiana Association for Mental Health and two-time winner of the Memorial Day 500-Mile Race.

A graduate of St. Agnes Academy in Indianapolis, she has served as chairman of her high school chapter of the Marion County Student Mental Health Association and student chairman for the entire county.

It is part of her responsibility to encourage colleges and universi-

Sadie Hawkins Dance: Men Are on the Run

The Sadie Hawkins dance, annual tribute to Dogpatch, is schedule for Nov. 14, 8-11 p.m., in the mixed lounge.

In the finest Marian tradition, girls ask boys to the senior-sponsored fling.

Dress will be hillbilly. A king and queen will be chosen on basis of costume. Prizes will be given for the most original boy's corsage.

Admission is 75 cents a couple. Music will be by record.

Associates Elect Rocap President

Marian College Associates elected new officers at their annual dinner, Oct. 26.

Mr. John Rocap is president; Mr. George Schnieders, vice-president; Mr. Leonard Beckerich, treasurer; and Mrs. Agnes P. Connor, secretary.

Composed of 132 individual members and 17 organizations, this year, the Associates are a group that contributes financially to the college's scholarship program, student loan fund, and athletic program.

Anyone contributing $25 or more can be included in membership.

Entertainment following the dinner included songs by the Bel Canto and the Choraliars and a humorous prose reading from James Thurber's University Days by Jack O'Hara. A special feature was an excerpt from Brigadoon by Barbara Titzer and Mike Cancilla.

Relax; Read a Book

by Judy Swan

Now that mid-terms are behind us, don't you feel like pampering yourself just a little and indulging in some pleasant, non-required reading?

To help you relax and "unwind" from the tension of exams, you might enjoy Too Young to be a Grandfather, by Willard Temple, or Joy in the Morning, by Betty Smith.

Or, if you're the type who gets completely absorbed in tales of mystery and suspense, The Spy Who Came in from the Cold, by Le Carre, or Three Blind Mice, by Agatha Christie, are guaranteed to make you entirely oblivious to your roommate's hi-fi, the leaky faucet, and even class bells.

If your penchant for history and politics simply cannot be confined to the classroom, I recommend Herbert Hoover, by Lyons, Germans Against Hitler, by Prittie, or A Coffin for King Charles, by Wedgwood.

And if, like so many of us, you can never seem to read enough about the late President, then this, the month of November, would be an especially good time to read Four Days, U.P.I. and American Heritage, A Tribute to John F. Kennedy, Salinger and Vancouver, or The Kennedy Wit, by Adler.

Apathy: Omnipresent Haze

"What can we do to eradicate student apathy?" This is the question which is foremost in the mind of every student leader of every student organization on Marian College's campus.

At a time when the administration is most progressive and the school as a whole is experiencing a period of rapid growth and change we find the student body being smothered by the heavy, motionless atmosphere of apathy and provinciality. Throughout the students we can witness a yellow, stagnant cloud of indifference which threatens to stifle the spirit of the college and even the spirit of intellectual curiosity and freedom.

This lethal cloud of apathy is a result of a distorted picture of the students' obligations and interests. While recognizing that a student must devote primary attention to his academic program, the student must also realize that he has obligations which extend beyond the student community. Every student should be an active, informed, and responsible participant in the democratic life of campus, local, state, national, and international communities.

The problem is clear and the solution is exceedingly difficult. Student involvement and commitment is the fresh, vigorous, breeze which can free us of this apathy. The Student Board's primary purpose is involving the students in lay, Catholic leadership activity. The Inter-Club Council is programming all clubs specifically to meet the problem of apathy by student commitment.

But in the end, the problem of student apathy can be solved only by you—the student. Each student must form a truly Christian commitment to life. Each student must realize the need to educate the whole man. Each individual student must show an active, committed involvement in student policy and government. Board meetings and projects should be attended. Club and Inter-Club functions should receive wide participation from the students. In short, every student must commit himself to the new spirit and life of Marian.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

Congratulations are in order, it seems, to all you staunch Johnson supporters. But rather than dwell on the subject, we've decided that this column could be best utilized this month by devoting it to consoling the Goldwater fans on campus who are having a difficult time crawling into the woodwork.

So—if you are a senior, you can boast that your candidate, Cathy Hunger, was crowned 1964 M-Club Queen.

FYI

If you are a resident of the men's dorm, you can congratulate yourself on the terrific job you did in sponsoring the Mandah Mixer, one of the best attended and most successful campus mixers.

FYI

Members of the junior class can boast of a TV star in their midst, Sue Charbonneau. She appeared on the WFBM-TV program "Easy Money" Nov. 3 and 5, as a member of the Our Lady of Fatima Retreat League team. Sue is also remembered for her spectacular performance when President Johnson appeared in Indianapolis earlier this fall.

FYI

Congratulations and thanks go to The Black Market Boys (see picture, page 3) who donated a stereo and radio to the school. The boys won the gifts in an auction sponsored by the Heritage restaurants. Bids were made according to the number of food tickets the bidder held and by pooling their tickets, they were able to win the stereo and radio, which they presented to Monsignor Reine at the residents' picnic Oct. 14.

FYI

It was announced in a recent issue of Chemical & Engineering News that the Marian chapter of ACS-SA has been selected as one of 31 outstanding chapters chosen from the 427 in the country.

FYI

Best wishes for a safe and relaxing Thanksgiving vacation. We thank the Pilgrims for making this vacation possible, and mid-terms for making it necessary.

This column will be an attempt to offer criticism of performances at Marian. Only after a performance has been critically recognized has the work of art been consummated.

"An Evening with the Meredith Willson's" is the first performance to come under our scrutiny. Alternating songs from Willson musicals with jokes and monologues, the husband and wife team presented a very charming and relaxed image. Their personalities were at all times ingratiating and entertaining.

However, we feel that their carefree program might have been improved had it been better rehearsed. From the vantage point of the wings, it was obvious that the program was largely impromptu. For example, Willson asked his wife to sing a song at the end of the program for which she was unprepared—thereby necessitating Mr. Willson's throwing his wife the lyrics a few bars at a time.

A dedicated artist, Mr. Frans Reynders, delighted Marian, Nov. 5, in a series of pantomime sketches. Attempting to please many tastes, Mr. Reynders' program varied from a surrealistic comic eating scene to a serious plea for peace among men.

The skill born of talent and discipline was apparent throughout the program, although the grace of Mr. Reynders made his mimics seem very easy.

An artist in love with his work, Mr. Reynders stayed after his performance to give a demonstration of the mime to interested students.

..... by Judy Pille

When student effort reaches near professional performance level, special recognition should be given. This is the case with Jack O'Hara's readings about college life presented Oct. 18, as part of the Parents' Day program.

What could have been only a mildly entertaining delivery of the writings of James Thurber and Ogden Nash became hilarious fun for the audience due to Jack's facile mimicry and superb timing.

Shop Our Ads

Through the perseverance and constant drive of a dedicated business manager, the Phoenix proudly carries a variety of ads geared particularly to the college set.

As with the daily press, advertising plays a large role in the life of a newspaper. It is a business venture, wherein the advertiser expects results if he is to remain long in that agreed relationship.

Therefore, we encourage one and all to patronize our advertisers. And while doing so, why not subtly and nonchalantly drop a word or two that you too read the Phoenix.

Wholesome Lightheartedness Characterizes Willsons' Style

by Judy Pille

Meredith Willson's personality is very similar to the tone of his hit musicals. "The Music Man" and the "Unsinkable Molly Brown" were lighthearted, wholesome treats for the theater, which is becoming increasingly riddled with themes of futility and despair.

Appearing at Marian, Oct. 17, Meredith Willson and his wife, Rini, charmed the audience with their relaxed, down-to-earth manner. Even more gracious off-stage, the Willsons expressed sincere admiration for the beauty of Marian's campus — especially the vivid autumn colors resplendent upon their arrival.

When asked why his plays always seemed so wholesome in treatment and theme, Mr. Willson replied that he simply tends to write in the style that suits him best. He agrees with Somerset Maugham, that a writer does not invent, he remembers. For Meredith Willson, memory harkens back to a happy youth spent in a wholesome small town atmosphere.

Commenting on the new dramas which treat themes of frustration or despair, Mr. Willson said that he didn't like the present trend of breaking down so many of the things that generation after generation have lived by.

Drama, Mr. Willson contends, is not creative just because it drags out ugliness.

"I don't think that recounting the dismal, ugly facts of life belongs on a stage," he added; "There has to be some kind of moral restraint."

Call to Priesthood, Religious Life Heeded by Seven MC Students

In the past few months, three former students have joined the clerical ranks and four have entered the religious life.

Tom Widner, a 1964 graduate, entered St. Mary's College, Sept. 15 to prepare for the diocesan priesthood. During his years at Marian, Tom participated in YCS, CSMC, Glee Club, journalism, and dramatics.

The Sisters of St. Francis of Oldenburg welcomed Miriam Kaefer, a last year sophomore from Harrison, Ohio, Sept. 8. Miriam was assistant editor of the Fiori. She also gave swimming instructions and was active on the tennis courts.

Lester Weiss, also a sophomore, joined the Holy Cross Fathers, Notre Dame, Sept. 17. Lester served as vice-president of SEA and was a member of The Players.

Representing the class of '67 are: Jeanne Mauch, Ann Wilmering, David Lambert, and Ed Shaefer.

Jeanne Mauch, from Carthage, Ohio, entered the Medical Mission Sisters in Philadelphia, Sept. 25. Choral club, pep band, Legion of Mary, and yearbook staff are some of the organizations with which she was affiliated.

Maryknoll, New York, was the destination of Ann Wilmering of Indianapolis. Ann was a CSMC and Sodality member.

Kryter Sketches Asia's Cramped Living Conditions

by Sue Charbonneau

"Their lives are conditioned to space shortage," Harold Kryter said of the people he observed during his recent trip to the East.

At his lecture, Oct. 21, entitled "The Lure of the Orient", Mr. Kryter, a retired electrical engineer consultant, guest speaker for ACS-SA, showed color slides of his journey. No matter where he traveled — China, Southeast Asia, or Japan — the most pressing problem was over-population.

He stated that Japan alone has 90 million people and yet is only the size of California. Hong Kong has crowded 3,600,000 people into seven square miles. Mr. Kryter explained Japan's system of water supply: water is turned on for four hours every fourth day. Tourists are asked to shower in a plugged tub so that the used water can be collected and used again for scrubbing.

In the canal city of Bangkok, Thailand, a large percentage of the inhabitants live along the docks in "junks." On these small 30-foot crafts, life, birth, and death take their normal course in an abnormally small space.

Numerous slides portrayed the cramped huts packed on the Hong Kong mountain sides, the junks crowded into harbors, huts pitched on the roofs of modern buildings — all of which, he added, represent heaven to the Red Chinese who managed to escape Communist domination through the Bamboo Curtain.

1964 Advent Gives Birth To New Liturgical Ritual

By Sandra Whitman

Sunday, Nov. 29, will be a day of firsts for Catholics living in this age of aggiornamento in the Church. It marks the first Sunday of Advent, the first day of the new church year and most of all the first day of usage of the vernacular, English, in our worship.

Advent is a traditionally rich season of expectation, of waiting, of yearning, or preparing. As Christians, as People of God, we re-live each year the eschatological mystery; we look ahead to the Second Coming of Christ; we commemorate the historical coming of Christ; we enjoy and celebrate the real coming of Christ in special grace on Christmas Day.

This year, 1964, proves to be an advent season in itself, a time of awaiting for the first big outcome of the spiritual "updating" taking place. The public, social worship of God in the liturgy will now be expressed in our own tongue, in words that we openly, understandably utter as a real expression of ourselves in union with Christ in the Sacrifice to the Father.

English will now be used instead of Latin in the Mass with the exception of most of the Canon and parts of the Communion service.

In the opening part of the Mass, formerly called the Mass of the Catechumens, now the Liturgy or Service of the Word, the Introit, Kyrie, Gloria, the Epistle, Gospel, Creed and the restored "prayer of the Faithful" or "common prayer" will be in English, as well as the Offertory verse.

Only the Sanctus-Benedictus of Canon of the Mass will be in English while the rest, including the Preface and consecration prayers remain in Latin.

In the third part of the Mass, the Communion service, the Lord's Prayer and the Agnus Dei will be in English. At the communion of the people, the Ecce Agnus Dei and the triple Domine, non sum dignus will be in English, as will the Communion anthem.

So begins the Advent season of 1964 but it is only the beginning of the fulfillment of a long awaiting for a renewed spirit in the Church.

Jockeys Capture Second Consecutive Championship

by Jim Nalley

This past Sunday saw the close of the regular football season at Marian, as the Jockeys defeated the Castoffs to clinch the intramural championship for the second consecutive year. Led by the cool head and sure arm of Tony Ardizzone and the very able pass receiving of Harry Sanders and Gene Payne, the Jockeys' two season record was marred only by a 13-13 tie late in the season to a keyed-up Carpetbagger squad.

OTHER GAMES of the day saw the second place Bears display their long bomb technique in downing the Packers 25-13. The Carpetbaggers, playing in the light of their new-found glory of the week before, scored in the last minute of play to win a cliffhanger from the Lump-Lumps 19-13, with Rick Malad going in for the winning touchdown. The final game was a clash between two freshman rivals in which the Manuah-Mixers emerged as the 19-6 victors over the Studz.

Sunday, Nov. 22, the champion Jockey team will play host to the second annual All-Star game. The Jockeys suffered their only defeat,

Tennis, Volleyball Court Ladies in Fall Season

The Girls' Tennis team defeated Indiana Central 2-1 in its first match. In singles: Ann Stewart won 6-2, 6-3. In doubles: Sue Charbonneau and Evelyn Looney won 6-3, 7-5, in a closely contested doubles match, Ricky Augspols and Kathy Stapleton were downed 6-4, 6-4.

Fortune, however, did not follow them to Ball State where they

New Cheerleaders Added to Squad

Two freshmen, Patty Able and Carolyn Weymouth, and a sophomore, DiAnn Blazic, have been elected to share cheerleading chores with returning sophomore yell leaders Provy Tantillo and Rosie Thomas for the 1964-65 year.

The three new cheerleaders were selected from a group of about 30 girls by faculty and student members of the athletic department.

Carolyn, from St. Mary Academy, is a former cheerleader for Cathedral High School while Patty comes to Marian from Sacred Heart Central High School.

Marian women have formed two volleyball teams to take on opponents from Butler, Nov. 16. Later games are not yet scheduled but a four-school tourney is being considered. It would include: Marian, Indiana Central, Franklin, and Normal Colleges.

On the varsity squad are: Rosario Guaman, Ann Delmas, Ricky Augspols, Diane Schuck, Colleen Sharer, Clara Kramer, Frances Feistritzer, and Judy Dekemper.

"B" team members are: Janet Kelly, Pat Otten, Eileen Witte, Deanna Sipes, Linda Heichelbech, Eileen Crosby, Diane Rumpke, and Ann Massa.

Knightcap

Sports Editor
Denny Hoffman

The outlook for Marian's varsity basketball season has changed from darkly pessimistic to mildly optimistic. The fact that only five players could boast of college experience made it seem the Blue and Gold would suffer from a green bench. But several of the freshmen are showing enough potential to prompt senior Chuck Federle to predict a 15-9 season. That would be the team's first winning season, and the reversal of last year's record.

Federle is the only senior on the squad. Last year he led the team in scoring with 19 points per game. He is working for his fourth letter in as many years. The other returning forward is 6'2" Jim Chase. Jim hauled down a record 219 rebounds last year as a sophomore. Bernie Schneider is the other remaining starter from last year. He is a guard who shoots well, but not often. Besides being the chief playmaker, Bernie led the Knights in free-throw percentage, 65 of 73 for .890.

Two other players saw limited action last season. Maury Bubb is a 6'1" junior guard who missed several games due to illness. Kie O'Connor, 6'3" forward, provides the needed muscle under the basket. Both men shoot well from the outside.

Though most of the new players are native Hoosiers, three hail from outside the state. Chuck Smith is a 3-time letter-winner from Cardinal Newman H. S. in W. Palm Beach, Fla. Dick Cook, a 6'2" graduate of Bishop Flaget H. S., Chillicothe, Ohio, was twice voted Most Valuable Player and scored 1,000 points in his varsity career. Nick Mayback played his high school ball in Paris, Ill.

Four of the starters from last year's Sacred Heart Central team, Indianapolis, are in Marian's freshman class. Joe Bittlemeyer at 6'6" is the tallest man in the school; he is trying for the open center position. Larry Schmaltz led his team in assists for two years. He is a 5'11" guard. The others are Jean Ancelet and Steve Burkhardt.

From Indianapolis Cathedral come two guards: Larry Brodnick and Hugh Baker. Larry was named to the All-Sectional Team in Indianapolis last year. Hugh, only 5'4", is the smallest man on the squad, but he makes up in spirit, what he lacks in size.

Other freshmen in the struggle for the starting five are Phil Hall, Scottsburg, Ind., and Jeff McQueen, All-County guard from Southwestern H. S. in Shelby Co.
